

IDAHO RALLY CALLED TONIGHT ROOTERS TO MEET AT 7 P. M.

TEAM SELECTED TO START GAME AGAINST IDAHO

Opening Lineup Includes
Several Veterans of '24;
Bench Full of Reserves

Finishing Touches Put On Varsity in Passing and Kicking Offense Tactics

The varsity practiced long after dark last night perfecting Oregon's new offense. Soon the ghost ball will make its appearance and signals will be called after dusk. Last night, passes, line plays, punts and everything were worked over. Dick Baz and Bill were in the thick of it putting the final touches on the squad. It was a rehearsal of the concentrated work that has been going on all week.

The line up which will probably enter the game Saturday was announced last night. There will be many substitutions if the present plans of the coaches work out. It is noticeable that the varsity which begins the tilt contains more experience that went in the Multnomah game. Two veterans, Bob Mautz and Sherm Smith, will go in as ends. Both are experienced in the passing game, for last year they played against the Vandals, and it was in that game that Smith distinguished himself. Tackles will be Al Sinclair and Bert Kerns, strong men of the line and two year veterans. Sinclair makes his initial appearance this year on the varsity after a year's absence. He was tackle on the frosh squad of 1922 and center on the 1923 varsity. Bert Kerns is a seasoned linesman. Guards will have the same combination as last year. Ken Bailey, back in the harness for the rest of the season and Gene Shields on the opposite side of the line.

The center will be fighting Carl Johnson, veteran of last year.

Mimnaugh To Start

The starting backfield combination will have Louie Anderson at Quarter, George Mimnaugh, passer, punter, and runner at one halfback berth. Beryl Hodgen, hard hitting line plunger of last years frosh, at the other half, the only new man to start in the lineup. Locomotive Jones, faster than last year, and with a year's play to help him out, will fill the fullback position.

There is a complete team on the bench ready to fill in the gaps and go in when called. Walt Socolofsky, Harry Leavitt, and Hall Harden at guards. Bert Gooding, veteran, will undoubtedly get in at tackle, with John Warren and Homer Dixon for the other side. Ends will be Frank Riggs and Dwight Hedges, Nick Carter will substitute at center. In the backfield, Vic Wetzel, Red Langworthy, Otto Vitus, and Parley Stoddard will alternate with the starters.

Vandals In Hard Battle

The Idaho football squad comes here little marred in strength or morale after the close call with the obscure College of Idaho last defeated their opponents, 16 to 14, week end when the Vandals barely Anson Cornell, famous old Oregon football man, has developed a wonderful team at the little school half the size of Willamette. They were so strong that the Idaho coach considered his team lucky to win.

"BRING out those rooters lids tonight and for the game tomorrow. No one is too good to wear the colors of Oregon and those hats are needed to help put the old time pep into things," says the yell king. "If you are too proud to wear your lid, don't come. If you are too poor to buy a lid, try to make a credit transaction with the cop. Every, loyal Oregon man will be there with a rooter's lid and a good pair of lungs hitting on both cylinders."

FROSH PRESIDENCY RECEIVES SUPPORT

The inter-fraternity council last night by a unanimous vote went on record as favoring cooperation with the general movement of making the freshman presidency a position of respect. Fighting clear of any possible misinterpretation that might raise this office higher than any freshman ought to go, the council's motion provided that the freshman president should be considered the same as any other freshman, implying by this the individual was not to be exalted too highly, but at the same time would not be subject to ridicule and abuse for the sole reason that he held this office.

The council in order to discourage mistreatment of incumbents of the freshman presidency, adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That inasmuch as a distinct effort is being made on the part of the student council to enforce Oregon traditions in a definite and organized manner, the inter-fraternity council go on record as opposing unorganized and uncontrolled campus disciplining.

TYPING CUPS AT U. H. S.

The newest cup in the University high school's case was won last spring by placing third in the state high school typing contest sponsored by Oregon Agricultural College. With the cup came a pennant in O. A. C. colors. The cup for first prize in the Lane county typing competition was again won by University high school last year and remains in its trophy case.

TWELVE NAMED ON DIRECTORATE OF HOMECOMING

Biggest and Best Event In History Is Promised By Jim Leake, Chairman

Efforts This Year Directed Toward Swelling Of the Alumni Representation

Homecoming Directorate
General chairman, James Leake; assistant chairman, Elam Amstutz; secretary, Dorothy Myers.
Committee Chairmen
Dance, Douglas Clark; luncheon, Edith Sorenson; decorations, Hugh Biggs; parade, Ed. Theriault; welcoming, Ward Cook; accommodations, Earl Smith; feature, Lee Luders; rally, James Forestel; finance, Ken Stephenson; publicity, Edward Smith.

With the announcement late yesterday of the appointment of the 12 members of the directorate, plans for Homecoming, now a little more than a month in the offing, began to take material form. The appointments were made by James Leake, general chairman of Homecoming and Walter Malcolm, student body president.

"Obviously, this year's Homecoming will be the 'biggest and best' in history," Mr. Leake declared emphatically. "But on the other hand," Mr. Leake said, "it will be our principal aim this year to make Homecoming the most interesting and entertaining in history."

"There will be the customary events, including the gigantic noise parade, the bonfire and rally, the luncheon, the dance and, of course, the Oregon-O. A. C. game," he continued, "But to these it is our hope to add other features. No, nothing has been decided yet but announcements will be made soon."

Students Support Asked

In a general statement to University students, Mr. Malcolm and Mr. Leake both asked the hearty support of the student body in assisting in plans towards the success of Homecoming.

"Homecoming, as the name implies, is an event especially for the 'old grads' who are expected to return to the University during this week-end," Mr. Leake said. "We wish every ex-Oregon alumnus to return this year and only with the entire cooperation of the student body will this hope be attained."

Large Quotas of Alumnus Wanted

"From today on until November 13, when Homecoming starts," he added, "every effort to have alumni plan to return to the campus for the week-end should be made. This can be done principally through correspondence and each student should write at least five letters to this end."

Malcolm to Work on Plans

Directions of this year's Homecoming plans will be carried out, as in former years, principally by the directorate which will be composed of the committee chairmen and which will be under the personal supervision of the general chairman, Mr. Malcolm, it was announced, will also take part in the meetings of the directorate.

The directorate, which will meet for the first time in Johnson hall Monday at 4:00 o'clock, will select five or six students to serve on the various committees. Announcement of these appointments will be made early next week, it was expected.

OREGANA PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED BY BETTY CADY

'Old Oregon Trail' Seal Done
By Avarad Fairbanks To
Be Used in Year Book

Staff Appointments Made
By Editor; Assistants To Be Selected at Later Date

"The 1926 Oregana is planned to be of interest to alumni and people of the state in general, embodying an 'Oregon State' theme or motif," was the statement made by Elizabeth Cady, editor of the year book. The "Old Oregon Trail" seal, done by Avarad Fairbanks, is to be incorporated in the cover in bronze against a background of brown. The size of the book will be changed from the usual seven and a-half by ten and one-half inches to nine by twelve inches. This latter size is that used by practically all schools in the country for the last year.

Staff Appointed

The staff, which follows, is complete with the exception of assistants who will be appointed later. George Ross, who was advertising manager last year, will be business manager for the new book. The associate editors have all had experience before, Hilton Rose having been in charge of medical; Rolf Klep, art, Sol Abramson, administration, and Lillian Luders, underclass department on the 1925 Oregana. Wayne Leland, art editor, assisted in this work last year, Ellen McClellan will handle the mounting, and Ralph Staley the collecting of photographs.

Other members of the staff are: men's athletics, Dick Syring; women's athletics, Mildred Carr; military, Webster Jones; medical, Herman Semenov; women's activities, Pauline Stewart; satire, Robert Keeney; college year, Elizabeth Beans; administration, Douglas Wilson; seniors, Doris Brophy; juniors, Alice Kraeft; underclass, Ruth Corey; men's organizations, Lawrence Armand; women's organizations, Dorothy Ward; honoraries, Mary Benton; dramatics, Lylah Murphy; music, Ruth Miller; forensics, Jack Hempstead; publications, Frances Bourhill; dances, Philippa Sherman.

The contracts for engraving, photography, etc., will not be let until next week, according to Miss Cady and George Ross, business managers.

DEAN ESTERLY AND MRS. WARNER RETURN

Dean Virginia Judy Esterly and Mrs. Murray Warner, curator of the Murray Warner art museum, assisted at the opening of the All-Oregon Exposition in Portland Monday, and helped in the booths and administration tables at the bazaar for several days. Mrs. Warner was guest of honor at the exposition Tuesday. She has donated many valuable pieces of oriental art to the bazaar.

Flora Edwards and Mary Stewart are assisting Mrs. Esterly in her office during the absence of George Benson, secretary to the dean of women, Miss Benson left yesterday morning for Portland where will return Sunday.

OREGON ROOTERS! Your seats at tomorrow's game will be the two middle sections of the new grandstand and will be reserved especially for you. A central part of the stand is being reserved for the band. The women will sit along both sides of the main rooters sections. There are enough men and women in school to nearly fill the new stand so be there early and show the old time pep and fight.

'OLD OREGON' HONORS PRINCE L. CAMPBELL

Many Prominent Writers
Contribute To Issue

"Old Oregon," alumni magazine, has started on another year's career. The first issue of the term came off the press yesterday, containing several articles in memoriam of President Prince L. Campbell, whose death occurred this summer. "An Appreciation of President P. L. Campbell" written by Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, regent of the University, was reprinted from the Portland "Spectator." Another article, giving an account of his life includes an article written for the Oregon Journal by Marshall N. Dana.

Eric W. Allen, Dean of the school of journalism, is the author of another story about Campbell, "President Campbell's Achievement." A picture of the former executive of the University faces the first article.

Among other material in the new issue of the magazine, edited by Jeannette Calkins, is found an annual fall greeting from the President of the alumni, F. H. Young, an account of the get-together dinner of the Portland alumni at which new officers were elected, and a story of the All-Oregon 1925 Exposition, which is being given in Portland. Pictures of the executive committee accompany the article.

Sports, edited by Dick Syring, include football dope on the varsity and frosh teams. A picture of Coach Smith appears with a quaint picture of his team of 1900.

News of campus activities takes a prominent place in "Old Oregon." An article describes the new fraternity houses; another records grades made by the various organizations. In the regular department of campus news are small stories on campus affairs.

Dean Collins, columnist on the Portland Telegram, is the author of a poem "When I Go Back to Oregon." His work is in the poetry department of the magazine. Editorials and news of the classes complete the alumni publication. The next issue will be ready before Homecoming.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS TO MEET; IMPORTANT

A very important meeting of all sophomore and upper-class managers is to be held at 1:15 today at 105 Commerce Building. Ray Moeser, manager of the staff, makes a special plea that all members be there or leave a good reason at the graduate manager's office.

In case any member of the staff cannot be there, he is requested to send a freshman member in his place.

W. R. SKIDMORE IN KANSAS

William R. Skidmore, former chemistry major, received his doctor's degree from the University of Iowa last August, according to word received by Dr. F. L. Shinn. Mr. Skidmore was awarded his bachelor's and master's degree from the University of Oregon about three years ago. He now has a position at Ottawa University, in Ottawa, Kansas.

Yell Practice and Talks By Coach To Follow Parade

Oregon's pep and spirit is coming back on the campus with a big pep rally tonight as a starter for tomorrow's crucial game with Idaho. The rally will start at 7:00 p. m. from the Kappa Sigma corner and will cover most of the campus in its route, finally ending up at the men's gymnasium where the first yell practice of the year will start.

All of Oregon's yells will be given a thorough workout and every effort will be made to "spike up" the varsity for the big battle. Coaches Smith, Williams, Rhinehart and Hayward will be there along with members of the team, according to Fred Martin, yell leader.

JIM FORESTEL HEADS RALLY COMMITTEE

New Features and Stunts
Will Be Outlined

Realizing the important part that Oregon rallies play in relation to football contests, a permanent rally committee was appointed last night with James Forestel as chairman.

Five big rallies will be given during the grid season, including tonight's rally for the Idaho battle. The same committee will be in charge of all of these "serpentine events."

The rally committee is as follows: James Forestel, chairman; Fred Martin, yell king; Fred Hendricks and Bob Warner, yell leaders; Wilbur Webster, publicity; Hugh Wallace, Limy Flynn, William James, Don Jeffries, Dona Flemming, Marion Wagini and Dorothy Douglas.

Support Is Necessary

"Coaches and players are worked up to a keen point over the prospects for Saturday and are deserving of every bit of support that lies within the power of the student body. Come out, get the spirit tonight, then to go the big battle at Hayward Field Saturday and show the team they have a loyal and fighting stand full of rooters.

"It is going to take that old fighting Oregon spirit in the stands Saturday to win the game."

CHEMISTRY TEACHERS ATTEND CONVENTION

The four professors of the University of Oregon chemistry department attended a meeting of the American Chemical society, held at Los Angeles during the first week of last August. Papers on subjects dealing with chemistry were presented by the Oregon instructors before the association.

This Summer was the first time that the American Chemical society, which convenes twice a year, has met in the West for a number of years. The organization has about 15,000 members, including professors and technical chemists as well.

Prof. O. F. Stafford delivered three papers before the association on the following subjects: "Use of Wood Waste as an Industrial Fuel in the Northwest;" "Kood Waste as Raw Material for Gas Making;" and "Investigations in the Pedagogy of Chemistry." Prof. F. L. Shinn presented a treatise on "A Subiodide of Cadimium," while Prof. R. J. Williams had for his subject the "Correlation of Organic with Inorganic Chemistry," and Prof. H. G. Tanner's paper considered the "Identification of Novit," the decolorizing charcoal.

The parade will be lead by the new 56 piece R. O. T. C. band followed by seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, while the girls will fall in along the line of march. At the gym the girls will occupy the balcony and the men will remain on the floor. It will be a short pep rally and will not delay early dates.

Spirit At Low Ebb

"At present Oregon spirit, better known as 'fight' is at a low ebb. Tomorrow afternoon the varsity faces the crucial game of the conference season," said Fred Martin. Bob Mathews has his Idaho Vandals all primed to beat the varsity. Last year they did beat us and broke a jinx of many years. It is up to the student body to fire the team up, if they don't, Idaho will undoubtedly repeat its victory of last year. So far this year the student body has laid down on the job, we have not given the team the backing it deserves. Turn out for the rally, get fired up over the big game and instill the necessary fight into the varsity. It is up to every Oregon student to do his or her bit to start the varsity off on a most successful season. Rejuvenate that fight.

"It is going to take that old fighting Oregon spirit in the stands Saturday to win the game."

POLICE ASK STUDENTS NOT TO DRIVE TO GAME

University students are urged by the police department to leave their cars at home Saturday and come to the Oregon-Idaho game on foot in order to lessen the traffic problem. There will be many outsiders in town on that day and their cars will occupy all of the available parking space near Hayward field. Placards advertising the game have been posted over the city. The routes to be followed by autoists in reaching the field are indicated on the signs by large red arrows. This system will distribute the traffic more evenly over the different streets and will in part do away with much of the congestion.
