

TEAM AWAITS VANDALS

Huge Pep Rally Forecasts Victory For Oregon

PEPPY THROG AVOWS DEFEAT FOR INVADERS

Traditional School Spirit Comes to Life In Parade And Huge Pep Assembly

"Make 'em Feel Spirit And We Will Win," is Plea Of Coach Billy Rinehart

Victory looms today! Oregon's "thundering thousand," as of old, came to life anew last night and with a gigantic rally, combining a parade and an assembly, vowed defeat for the invading Vandals today.

"Oregon spirit is here more than it has ever been," Billy Rinehart, the varsity backfield coach, declared when he talked to the quiet, hushed throng in the men's gymnasium, final scene of the rally. "Get out there behind the team—make 'em feel the old spirit, and we'll win."

Football Stock Above Par

And the "thundering thousand," almost two thousand, in reality, answered with a mighty "yea-eh" that it would. Oregon's football stock is high above par today.

"Fighting spirit is needed for the team—Oregon's got it," "Dick" Smith, Oregon's head coach said while "Baz" Williams, the line coach, declared that 75 per cent of Oregon's games had been won on fight alone.

The occasion for this fighting verbosity came as the climax to the rally parade, which, led by the new R. O. T. C. 50 piece band, had started at the Kappa Sig corner, wound about over the campus and finally entered the gym. Then the varsity and coaches were brought in.

Parade Half-Mile Long

It was a real rally, all agreed. "Rah! Rah! Oregon," the University's traditional marching song, might well have been called the theme of the parading thousands, but "Mighty Oregon," "To Hell, To Hell With All the Vandals," and "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," each added their touches of Oregon spirit.

Yell king "Freddie" Martin, with his two recently appointed assistants, Fred Hendricks and "Bob" Warner, made their presence known at all times along the entire line of the parade, which, it was estimated, was easily a half a mile in length.

"It was great," was Freddie's characterization after the rally. "Remember 2:05 o'clock in the center grandstand today, gang, and remember Oregon fight."

TENNIS TOURNAMENT CLOSES NEXT MONDAY

The Fall tennis tournament narrowed down with the matches played yesterday and everything is in readiness for the final match coming Monday at one o'clock.

In the hectic match played yesterday Cohn took the long end of the majority of sets played and defeated Hartman, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The second match, between Coffin and Neer, terminated at the end of the second set. The first set went to Coffin 6-4 but Neer took the second 9-7. The rest of this match will be played off this morning.

The winner of this match will meet Cohn Monday for the championship of the University of Oregon.

Chinese Art Work Lends Atmosphere To Holiday Party

Rare and beautiful lacquer, together with century old temple gongs, tiny Chinese snuffboxes of jade, a huge incense burner of pieces of incredibly lovely embroidery does give atmosphere, does it not? An opportunity to see all these things will be given those who attend the celebration of the fourteenth anniversary of the rise of the Chinese republic, an entertainment given by the Chinese Students' Club Saturday evening.

The main program, which begins at 8 o'clock, will be held in Alumni hall. After this, those who are interested will be shown through the Murray Warner collection of Oriental art by the courtesy of Mr. Warner. All who care to come will be very welcome, it is announced.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY ADDS NEW MEMBERS

Several of Former Staff Are Back This Year

A great many changes have been made in the student assistant staff of the University library, according to M. H. Douglass, librarian.

All of the new women employees have had previous library experience. The members of the circulation department are Elizabeth Schaub and Dorothy Bassett, formerly of the Portland public library; Mary Ward of the Oregon state library of Medford; Hazel Johnson, an Oregon graduate and formerly of the University high school library and the Eugene public library; Ralph Highmiller, Glenn Burch, Carl Hemphill and Robert Giffen. Margery Myers, formerly of the Medford public library; Ethel Howard of the Jefferson county library at Medford, and Mabel Turner of the Spokane public library, are in the English-History reserve room.

Mr. Douglass stated that the best changes for positions in the library are for those who have had training or experience elsewhere.

Of the older members of the staff, Wilma Boisselier, Josephine Evans, and Elizabeth Cheney have returned as student assistants. Mabel Klockars, a part-time assistant in the reserve department last year, is now successor to Mrs. Oscar Richards, who has resigned.

Miss Oleta Sullivan, who for several years has been a worker in the circulation department has now been transferred to the School of Architecture, where she is now in charge of the reading room.

F. B. SAYRE MENTIONED FOR HEAD OF OREGON

The name of Francis B. Sayre, son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, is suggested, in a dispatch from Salem to an evening paper, as worthy of consideration in connection with the position of president of the University of Oregon. The origin of the suggestion is not given, and the statement is made that Mr. Sayre is not a candidate for the place and that the matter has not been taken up with him. He is now professor of international law at Harvard university.

OREGON GIRL AT CHICAGO

Margaret Scott, '23, formerly of Portland, has accepted the position of editorial secretary of "Factory," manufacturing magazine published by the A. W. Shaw Publishing company of Chicago, according to word received on the campus. Miss Scott majored in journalism while at the University, receiving the B. A. degree in that school.

MUSIC SCHOOL TO OFFER NEW BAND COURSES

Odd Fellow's Band Leader Comes to University Highly Recommended

Department Created to Give Instruction in Brass and Woodwind Instruments

Creation of a department of brass and woodwind instruments was announced yesterday by Dean Landsbury of the school of music, Alfred Corwin, at present director of the Odd Fellows Band of Eugene, and a student of the Dammrosch school for bandmasters, will give instruction in this department, which will be under the supervision of Rex Underwood, head of the department.

Instruction Demanded

"There has been a large number of calls for instruction in these instruments," the dean stated, "and with the need of development of material in the brass and woodwind section for the University orchestra, we deemed it advisable to add a man to our staff to handle this work. In looking for a man to give this work we were very fortunate in finding, according to all recommendations and credentials presented, just the type of person we desire. We have every reason to believe that he will be a distinct acquisition to local musical circles."

Has Had Expert Training

"Mr. Corwin served in the French and United States armies in France during the war," continued Dean Landsbury, "and was wounded twice while serving at the front. He spent several months in the hospital and was placed on the inactive list as a result of his injuries. He was then sent to the Dammrosch school for bandmasters, and to the bandmasters school in Chicago where he was given expert instruction in band music. Besides band music, he has had work in composition, piano and pipe organ, which has given him an excellent, well-rounded training in music. His instrument is the clarinet, and he is a very capable soloist. At present he is conducting the Odd Fellows Band in Eugene. His contract with the University calls for the teaching of brass and woodwind instruments, and leaves him free to engage in any band work he may desire, and in all probability he will continue with the local band."

Course Fee Reduced

"Although Corwin is a stranger to the community, his credentials have given a very favorable impression, and I am sure he will meet with much favor and popularity," the dean continued.

Classes in this department will begin Monday, October 12, and any students interested in this work will be able to find Mr. Corwin at the music building after that date. Owing to the fact that the work is new and more or less experimental, the rates have been reduced very low, and will be only $15 a term. Students desiring to register in these classes will be exempt from the usual late filing fee.

PHILOSOPHY CLASS DIVIDED

An extra hour of credit is being allowed those philosophy students who wish to do additional work in reading and discussion. Under this plan, the philosophy classes have been divided into two parts, the general and the intensive.

Rooters Supplied With Megaphones By Harold Lloyd

Team Line-Up Printed On Mouthpieces

Megaphones, 6,000 in all, will be provided for the Oregon-Idaho game today it is announced. They will be of yellow cardboard, so they will add to the colorful array of Oregon's rooting section.

The line-ups of the teams, a place for the summary, and a large picture of Harold Lloyd, who is coming to a local theater soon in his latest picture, "The Freshman," will be printed on the side.

The megaphones were sent to the University by Harold Lloyd himself. All college towns where the picture is to be shown will receive them, it is said.

The picture, "The Freshman," includes scenes from the Stanford California game last year, and many scenes were made on the University of Southern California campus. All extras in the picture are students of U. S. C., some 800 taking part in the various scenes.

The megaphones will be handed out at each entrance to Hayward field.

ORR LEADS EIGHT MEN IN LAST ABILITY TEST

Eight more men were successful in passing the physical ability test which was given yesterday afternoon. Out of the eight, the one making the highest number of points was C. F. Orr with 87. R. Henningsen and Harry Root were next in line with 58 and 55 respectively.

Men passing the test were as follows: C. F. Orr, 87; R. Henningsen, 58; Harry Root, 55; M. D. Stansbury, 53; R. L. Heedon, 37; D. McDonald, 35; F. W. McKenna, 27; and Allen Bailey, 25.

R. D. LAWRENCE RETURNS

Raymond D. Lawrence, new instructor in the school of journalism, who had charge of the publicity for the All-Oregon Exposition in Portland this summer, has returned from a two weeks' trip to that city. Mr. Lawrence will meet his classes next week.

Two New Varsity Yells Are Given Tryout at Rally

Two new yells received their Oregon baptism last night at the pep rally and will be given their initial big-league workout today when the Varsity meets the Vandals. The yells, as named by yell king Fred Martin, were: "The Tornado," "O-o-oh—Oregon—O-o-oh—Oregon—O-o-oh—Oregon," and "Oregon, Fight, Fight."

The thundering thousand, after the yells had been practiced a time or two, literally shook the walls of the men's gym with their titanic verbal outbreak. Martin, and his assistants, Warner and Hendricks, were the co-eds, who mixed joyous tears with their vociferous applause.

OREGON CLUBS JOIN FOR DANCE TONIGHT

Music, Eats, Autumn Leaves Features of Evening

A big dance with a four-piece orchestra, refreshments, and all the elements of a good time will be featured at the get-together of the men's and women's Oregon clubs tonight from 8 to 11:30 in the sun parlor and dancing room of the Woman's building.

Because of the increasing number of organizations, it was impossible to make arrangements for all of the unaffiliated students to participate in "Open House," and the dance tonight is to enable those students to be brought together, and give them an opportunity to get acquainted.

The patronesses and patrons are: Dean and Mrs. H. D. Sheldon, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Fish, Miss Gertrude Talbot, and Miss Fanny McCamant.

Brilliantly colored autumn leaves will be used for decorations, and punch will be served during the evening. The affair is to be no date, and very informal—campus boys being very proper.

The Chinese club is giving an entertainment also in the Women's building, so the Oregon club members and guests are asked to enter the building on the south side.

Those on the committee in charge of the party are: Ardath Caldwell, Bill Hayden, Mary Benson, Gudrun Anderson, and Louis Carlson.

F. G. YOUNG DESCRIBES STATE FOR BRITANNICA

F. G. Young, professor in the Sociology department, has received word from the publishers of the Encyclopedia Britannica that his article on "Oregon," which was requested of him by the publishers, has been accepted. Professor Young wrote an article on "Oregon" five years ago for the supplementary edition at that time. In recent years the demand has been so great that another supplement is necessary to make the encyclopedia up to date.

Professor Young spent most of the summer working on his article.

RUTH DELAP TO VISIT

Ruth DeLap, former journalism major, and member of the Emerald staff, is employed at the county court house, Klamath Falls, Oregon, where she holds the position of deputy clerk. Miss DeLap does not expect to return to school this year, but has made plans to visit the campus during Homecoming week.

Idaho, the most spectacular rushing team in the Pacific Northwest, is in for some tough competition this afternoon on Hayward field in the eighteenth game with Oregon, their traditional rival. In spite of Coach Mathew's laconic statement, "We expect to win," the varsity goes into the fray better off in many ways than in the 13 times Oregon has handed the Vandals the short end of the score.

Last night the Vandal horde arrived, 28 strong. Most of them are giants. And don't let anyone tell you that the Idaho line is light, for it is made up of "mooses." Coach Mathews saw the Multnomah-Oregon game Saturday and tucked away in his foxy head is the idea that his squad is going to win. But the visitors are doomed for the surprise of their lives when Oregon's rejuvenated varsity takes the field in its first conference game.

Teams Work Hard

For the past week the team has been drilled and drilled for three hard hours a day and they have absorbed a lot of footbal. It is not the disorganized group that scraped through the Multnomah game, but a heady, powerful machine which needs only a game to bring out its power.

For one thing the varsity is just about 100 per cent better on the offense than last Saturday. That has been the big object of the workouts the past week. The defense needed only the week's polishing for it worked reasonably well against Multnomah. The entire team has been reorganized. You will see a squad of veterans starting the line today with the exception of one man.

Oregon for the first time since the days of "Bill" Steers has a punting staff that can stand the pace. There are three men in the backfield who can punt on an average of 35 to 40 yards consistently. Passers in quantity sprinkle the Webfoot backfield.

Then there are the first caliber reserves. Many games Oregon has played Idaho with only 11 men. That is not the case this time. Fast backs, heady quarterbacks, and experienced linemen are on the bench waiting for the call.

Peak Not Reached

The one thing that is unavoidable at this time of the season is
