

Society

By Lyla Lou McMurphy

The past week brought an increased number of social activities on the campus, although the social season does not commence in earnest until after the class parties which will be held Friday. The social calendar in Dean Esterly's office is fast being filled and indicates a busy season this year.

Dances, picnics and other entertainments were given by several of the houses the past week in honor of their pledges, and the week was marked by a number of teas.

The Journalism Jamboree, the traditional frolic of this department, is to be one of the big events of next week-end. All students taking any work in the department, whether majors or not, are privileged to attend the party. Each year the students come in more grotesque and ridiculous costumes, which add materially to the good time of all. It is strictly a no-date affair.

Of course there are many picnic parties while the weather remains so delightful, and the grill dances in town draw large crowds which make Friday and Saturday evenings busy ones for the co-ed and her escort.

On Saturday evening members of Pi Beta Phi entertained their fifteen pledges and guests with a picnic-dance at Seavey's Ferry on the McKenzie river. The group of about fifty couples left at five grounds. After supper was served, dancing occupied the remainder of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leslie were patron and patroness for the affair.

As a courtesy to their house-mother, Mrs. R. J. Marsh, who is being welcomed to the University this year, members of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority were hostess at a delightful tea Sunday afternoon at their chapter house. Faculty and town folk called between the hours of three and five.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Marsh, Miss Myrl Allman, Miss Betty Hayter, Miss Maud Kerns, Mrs. J. O. Holt and Mrs. F. G. Young.

The rooms of the Alpha Omicron Pi house were colorful Saturday evening as the setting of the dance given for the pleasure of the pledges by members of the house. Gorgeous autumn leaves in many hues were used about the rooms and orange colored candies cast a dim glow over the house.

Mrs. Lucy Abrams, Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miner were patron and patronesses for the dance.

Mrs. Walter Snyder was hostess for a meeting of Gamma Phi Beta alumnae at her home Thursday afternoon.

About one hundred Eugene and faculty matrons called at the Alpha Chi Omega house Thursday afternoon, being asked to come at tea time to meet Mrs. A. C. Hart who is here from Medford to be head resident for the girls this year.

Asters, zinnias and red salvia were attractive in the rooms, while red candles formed a lovely centerpiece for the tea table.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Hart, Miss Wava Brown, Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly and Miss Phyllis Coplan.

Musical numbers were arranged by Miss Louise Stoila and Miss Frances Morgan, vocalists, and Miss Edith Shell, pianist.

Mrs. Peter Crockatt and Mrs. Clifford Manerud poured.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Floyd Westfield entertained alumnae members of Alpha Delta Pi at their regular session.

Jr. (Lucy Hoover) Miss Gladys Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wright of Hood River, became the bride of John Findlater, formerly of San Angelo, Texas.

Mrs. C. O. Pick, Jr., was the bride's attendant and Mr. Pick was the best man. After the ceremony a buffet dinner was served at the new home of the bridal couple at Long Island moorage.

News of the wedding is of interest to college students, Mrs. Findlater being a former student and a member of Alpha Phi. Mr. Findlater is studying medicine at the University of Oregon medical school in Portland.

The Y. W. C. A. bungalow was the scene of an attractive tea Thursday afternoon, which the association sponsored in honor of the freshmen and other new members on the campus.

Members of the council and advisory board were in the reception group. Miss Dorothy Dougall, social chairman, was in charge of the tea and program.

Plans are being made for a benefit bridge party to be given Wednesday, October 26th, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. The Eugene alumnae of the sorority are sponsoring the event which will start at two o'clock. Table reservations may be made at Graham's shoe store.

Alpha Phi pledges were guests at a dinner dance given in their honor by the sophomores at the chapter house Friday between six and nine. Small tables were placed in the living rooms where music and dancing were enjoyed between courses. At each table were decorations carrying out a color scheme of pink and white and candles shed a soft light over the rooms.
