STUDENT FEE OFFICES OPEN 8:00 A. M. TODAY

Student fees are due and payable at the University business office starting today and continuing for ten days until October 24. University officials again urge students to come early and avoid the rush.

Fees will be $5 per term higher this year than formerly, due to the extra tax voted by the student body last year. This extra fee goes into the general fund for the student union building, the building of new grandstands and the erection of a basketball pavilion.

The cashier's window opens at 8:00 o'clock in the morning and remains open until 5:00 o'clock at night on week days and on Saturdays it closes at noon. The schedule this year allows the student two Saturdays in which to pay his fees.

LIBRARY ASSIGNS ROOM FOR VARSITY DEBATERS

Material For Questions To Be At Reserve Desk

Varsity and freshman men debaters will do their reference work in room 30 on the reserve floor of the main library as a result of arrangements made with the reference department by Jack Hempstead, men's debate and oratory manager. Material will be on reserve at the desk on the second floor. Books dealing with every phase of the questions are being collected and a bibliography is being made.

The special room will be a convenience to all candidates for the men's debate squads of the school. This same room will also be used by women debaters when the questions for the freshmen and varsity girls' debates are announced this week.

Resolved: "The nations of the world should adopt a policy of hands off in China," is the question of the varsity men's debate with O. A. C. this year. Tryouts on this subject will be held on October 30 to select the varsity debate squad for the season.

"That the federal government should discontinue granting subsidies to the states," is the subject for the freshmen men's debate with O. A. C. which is to be held in April. Tryouts on this subject will be held on October 29.

A magazine bibliography including references on each of these subjects is now being collected in addition to the books to be used for reference. While a number of the magazines are in duplicate separate form, a majority of them are contained in the yearly volumes on the main floor of the library.

Some magazines on the federal subsidies question will be called in from the various state high schools which are debating the subject this year and to which the material was sent recently.

Bibliographies will be posted on the reserve floor and main floor. The books in the library on the Chinese question have been put on reserve. Students must sign for material under the same conditions as ordinary reserve books and will use room 30 for the debate work except when using bound volumes of magazine references.

REARGUMENT OF CASE SET FOR OCTOBER 20

The case pending before the Supreme Court at Salem concerning the validity of the auditorium bonds issued by the city of Eugene for the construction of a municipal auditorium on or adjacent to the University of Oregon campus is to be reargued the 20th of October. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court by the city of Eugene last May.

The city and University are being represented by Mr. Foster of the firm of Potter, Foster and Immel, and Mr. Bean of the firm of Williams and Bean. Dean Hale is cooperating with them in arguing the case before the Supreme Court.

'OLD OREGON' TO HAVE HOMECOMING ISSUE

"Bunk" Short To Contribute Page of Cartoons

Homecoming stories, Homecoming humor, Homecoming plans, will feature the next issue of "Old Oregon" which will be off the press the first week in November, thus reaching all alumni before the week-end of their return to the campus. Jeannette Calkins, editor of the alumni magazine, returned late Monday night from Portland where she worked during the week-end arranging for special features for her magazine.

"We are trying to make the Homecoming issue the best number we've had," Miss Calkins said yesterday. "We are planning a page of Homecoming cartoons by 'Bunk' Short, '23, whose work as a cartoonist was well known on the campus. Another member of the alumni association, Leonard Jordan, '23, is writing an article on the athletic situation from the alumni point of view. 'Mr. Jordan,' Miss Calkins said, 'is a member of the Portland Alumni belonging to the Order of the 'O.'"

The section devoted to news of graduates will be larger than usual as the class secretaries are sending letters asking for news of members of the different classes.

Instead of individual letters going to each alumni of the University, as has been the custom, an invitation will be carried through "Old Oregon." Formerly, letters were sent to each ex-student, but owing to the great number of alumni, it is thought advisable this year to discontinue the custom and to issue a general "bid" to everyone.

Some of the features of the issue will be a double page spread devoted to football, a humor section concerning Homecoming and a Homecoming poem by Dean Collins, '10, who is contributing a poem to each issue of this year.

DEMOLAYS LUNCH AT ANCHORAGE THURSDAY

A get-together and get-acquainted hour with the glad hand of welcome conspicuously present will be the DeMolay luncheon that is scheduled for next Thursday noon at the Anchorage. There will be an opportunity to meet DeMolay brothers from all over Oregon and even further afield; a real "bull fest" for members of the order.

A jazz orchestra will play popular selections during the luncheon, the committee in charge has announced. Professor Dunn, of the University faculty, who is keenly interested in the new campus DeMolay organization, will deliver an address of welcome. Plans for the future will also be discussed. Tickets for the affair are now on sale at the Co-op.

Frosh Squad Battles With Varsity; Chemawa Game Is First On Schedule

Sandvall, all-star center from the Portland interscholastic league and one of the best bets for snapper back, is out for several weeks, due to a wrenched knee. A large number of other men are suffering from less serious injuries but enough to hamper them from participating in scrimmage.

Chemawa First on Schedule The not too-highly touted Indian eleven have a very good team this season. In the two games played thus far they defeated the strong Commerce high school eleven of Portland and The Dalles pigskin warriors, state champions of two years ago, were also forced to defeat by the red men. The mainstay of their team is a 190-pound full-back who has yet to be stopped.

It is planned by Coach Leslie to use at least thirty men in the game Friday as it will be his only chance to get a good line on the men before the University of Washington babes invade the local camp, Saturday, October 31. The probable starting line-up for Friday afternoon's game is as follows: Kippel, center; Thompson and Flagel, guards; Martin and DeMott, tackles; Burnell and Johnson, ends; Woody or Wilson, quarterback; Gooden or Gould, fullback; and Ostrum and Hagen, halfbacks.

THREE PLAYS COMING; FANTASY CAST CHOSEN

The advance class in dramatic interpretation is working on the first of three plays to be given in the near future. The program, complete, will consist of a comedy, a tragedy, and a fantasy; the last of these being the one worked upon now. "Aria Da Capo," a play in one act, by Edna St. Vincent Millay, is considered by dramatic critics to be one of the best one-act plays ever written by an American, and the participants will have plenty of opportunity to show their ability.

There has been a try-out for the five parts and the results are as follows:

Pierre, Arthur Coe Gray, '27, and as his understudy, Cecil Matson, '23; Columbine, Florence Wilton Couch, '26, understudy, Dorothy Koepke, '28; Cathurnus, Cecil Matson; Corydon, Edgar Buchanan, '27; Thyriss, Alfonz Korn, '27.

The class in play-producing will do all the staging for the plays as a part of their training. "All of the classes," Miss Wilbur finds, "though not very large, are very interested; and I find it very delightful to work with them."

Beard, Roy Herndon, Bill Kidwell, and Cecil Matson.

Robinson Encourages Drive Claude Robinson, former president of the A. S. U. O., in a letter wishing the Y. M. C. A. success in the drive, wrote as follows:

"Tell Mr. Davis that I esteem the Y. M. C. A. institutions in the various cities, aside from their other activities for the fact that a wayfarer can always go there and be assured of a clean place to live in at moderate rate. Besides he is welcomed in a manner that is not mercenary. This, indeed, is a great boon to a young fellow without a great deal of money in a strange city."

HALE TO SPEAK ON COURT

Dean Hale of the school of law will speak next Friday before the Lions' club in Salem on "America and the World Court." The dean is also scheduled to address the members' meeting of the Eugene Y. M. C. A. on the same subject, Friday evening.

MISS ALDEN SPENDS STRENUOUS VACATION

Summer school in Columbia University, attendance at the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of her alma mater, and a visit at her home in New England; these were the activities of Miss Florence D. Alden, of the physical education department of the University of Oregon, during the past summer.

The first thing on her vacation program was to attend the Smith College anniversary at Northampton, Mass.

The most impressive ceremony at Smith was the procession in which marched 6,000 alumni and students dressed in white wearing their class colors and carrying banners. "Everyone was there," Miss Alden said, "from the freshmen to graduates of fifty years with hoary hair and long skirts."

From Northampton, Miss Alden went to Teachers' College at Columbia University, New York, for a six weeks summer course. Here, she kept an apartment with three other women from the coast, Miss Florence Evans, who plays for the gymnastic and dancing classes at the University of Oregon; Miss G. Barbara, head of the physical education department at the Washington State College, Pullman, Washington, and Miss Alice Evans of Pomona College, Claremont, California. After summer school, Miss Alden visited her home in Springfield, Mass. She returned home by way of the Canadian Rockies, stopping often to take horseback trips into the wilds of America.
