

GIRL DEBATERS MAY TAKE TRIP

Advisability of Tour To Be Decided At Next Meeting Of Student Finance Body

Contests Will Be Scheduled With Several Colleges If Plan Receives Sanction

An eastern tour for the University women's debate team will be the big forensic event of the year for girl orators if arrangements for the trip can be completed. The matter will involve an addition of $525 to the regular forensic budget. Its advisability will be decided at the next meeting of the finance committee of the executive council next week when all angles of the proposition will be presented.

Provided the trip is sanctioned by the financial committee, debates will be arranged with a large part of the following institutions: University of Montana, University of North Dakota, Northwestern University, University of Michigan, Ohio State University, Oberlin College, Cornell University, West Virginia University, Miami College, Kansas University, University of Colorado, University of Arizona, University of Southern California, and Stanford. The girls would go east over the northern route and return by way of the south.

Plans Recommended

Debate officials are suggesting the special eastern trip for the girls because it would not only increase interest in forensics, but, since it is the first girls tour for a good advertisement for the University and the state of Oregon.

A resolution passed Monday night by the forensic committee of the executive council enthusiastically recommended the extra appropriation on the part of the finance committee for the tour. Other contributions from sources such as the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club and similar organizations in the city of Eugene besides alumni association support, would provide approximately enough funds, it is suggested.

Three Week's Trip Planned

Were the girls to take the trip, they would leave about one week before the end of the winter term and be gone about three weeks. An older woman will accompany the girls to act as chaperone and handle publicity arrangements, whether the chaperone would be a member of the faculty or a prominent alumni, would be determined later.

"I am very much interested in stimulating added interest in debate," said Dean William G. Hale of the law school yesterday. "I can readily see where this tour would arouse interest in debate on the campus and in the state at large. I can also realize where it could be made an advertising asset to the University in this state and nationally. I was under the impression that O. A. C. received much favorable advertising for sending its men's debate team east last year. It is one way of exhibiting the intellectual achievements of the University."

Forensic Budget Low

According to J. Stanley Gray, Oregon forensic coach, O. A. C. last year was allowed $2300 for debate and oratory work during the year and this year the budget calls for $2400. In contrast to this, the forensic budget of the University was only $575 last year. Without the aid of the women's tour which would make this year's budget $1500, forensic expenses this year would be little more than last year's.

The speakers' committee will hold a short meeting at College Side Inn at 12:30 this noon. The committee includes: Jim Forestel, Jack Her-ring, Ray Moser, Bob Gardner, Steele Winterer, Fred Martin, Wilbur Wester, Ted Gillenwaters, Bob McCabe, Bob Love, Ken Stevenson, Bud Christenson and Dud Clark.

TEXTILE CLASS TO VISIT LARGE WORSTED MILL

Miss Margaret Daigh's class in textiles is planning to kill two birds with one stone next Saturday morning when the students in addition to taking part in the noise parade, visit the Oregon Worsted Mill in Portland. Besides Miss Daigh, most of the twenty girls in the class will make the trip. Problems and methods in connection with the study of wool will be noted.

Miss Daigh, who is a University of Washington graduate, has charge of the classes in clothing and textiles in the household arts department, which were conducted last year by Miss Mary Davis.

WOMEN'S HONORARY FRATERNITY ELECTS

Phi Chi Theta, national women's honorary commerce fraternity, elected officers for this year at a meeting held yesterday. They were: Ida Bell Tremayne, president; Antoni Koberstein, vice-president; Alice Olsen, secretary; and Glenna Fisher, treasurer.

One of the functions of this organization is that it offers every year a $50 cash award to the best all-around senior girl in the department. Last year this prize was awarded to Mary Jane Hathaway.

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE ENDS WITH $620 SUBSCRIBED

Team Workers Commended At Final Luncheon

Over the top by twenty dollars. Such was the actual result of the Y. M. C. A. drive which was brought to an official close at the luncheon of team workers at the Y last yesterday noon, when the total amount raised was announced as $620. Chairman Bob Hunt commended the workers at Wednesday's luncheon.

Friendly Hall subscribed $56, more than any other one men's living organization. Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma led the fraternity houses.

Roland Davis as director of non-fraternity men solicitation and in charge of the team captains, and B. T. Kendall, president of the University Y. M. C. A. both expressed appreciation for the support given them by the men working under them for the work done in putting the drive across better than it has ever been before.

Chefre Hipe, with $40.50 led the team securing highest number of pledges from non-fraternity men. All other captains reported a marked increase in results yesterday over those of Friday of last week.

"I am greatly delighted with the success of the canvass," declared Rev. Henry W. Davis, director of the United Christian work, yesterday, "and with the manner in which it was put over. Bob Hunt, as general manager, Bart Kendall who was responsible for the living organizations, and Roland Davis who organized his forces for covering the unaffiliated students all proved themselves to be real leaders. The captains and team members were equally loyal. No small part of the success was also due to the publicity given by the Emerald."

"This survey," Mr. Davis continued, "as announced in the published budget, will be spent by the Y cabinet in the upkeep of the Hut, the employment work, new magazines and papers, the bringing of speakers to the campus, and in conferences with students of the Northwest, and a small part for the budget of Harold Rounds, an alumnus of Oregon who is doing a great work in China."

Wilford Long, treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. will take charge of collecting the pledges which are all due by December 1, 1925. Fraternity presidents will be asked to cooperate in collecting the money and letters will be sent unaffiliated men when the pledges are due to be paid.

SAMARA INITIATES THREE

Samara, women's honorary science fraternity, initiated three new members last night at the home of Miss Ethel Sanborn. The initiates were Madeline Ford, Mildred Baily and Gladys Moeller.

Following initiation a dinner was given at the Anchorage, honoring the new members.

see much of the city because Dean Dymont was vaccinated for typhoid, and remained close to his hotel, but they managed to visit the World's Fair Exhibition and the Exhibition of Beaux Arts.

From Paris they began their journey to the battle fields on bicycles. Apparently this mode of travel is quite satisfactory, for, Mrs. Dymont writes: "We enjoy the cycling greatly, and as we take it by lazy stages we have not become very tired."

Three days were spent at Verdun, from which place they visited many surrounding points. They found everywhere barbed wire, trenches, dugouts, old guns, shell holes and much debris.

Fort Douaumont, taken by the Germans and recaptured by the French in 1916, and around which some of the most bitter fighting of the war took place, was described by Mrs. Dymont as extremely interesting.

"It has underground rooms and tunnels, electric-lighted when the Germans had it," she wrote. "There was the room of the commanding general, sleeping rooms, kitchens

TIPS:-

WE WATCH THE MARKET

Is it better to buy a quantity of eggs now or will they be cheaper? Shall I buy the winter's potatoes now or tide myself over for a few weeks in the hopes that they will be cheaper?

We watch the market closely and you can profit by our knowledge. If eggs are going to be more expensive later on we will tell you. If you should buy apples now we will let you know.

The Table Supply watches the market for its customers.

Do you ever ask yourself questions like these? We are more than glad to help you answer them.
