

NOTED WRITER TO VISIT CAMPUS

Sherwood Anderson To Be Speaker This Term

TENTATIVE PLANS MADE

Three World Famous Men To Come Each Year

Sherwood Anderson, noted writer of modern fiction, will address the students of the University this term, it was definitely learned yesterday from Wilbur Hayden, A. S. U. O., concert chairman.

This will be a part of the plan of the committee to have three world famed men appear in Eugene during the year. Tentative plans for bringing Roald Amundsen, famous explorer, and David Starr Jordan, noted lecturer, are also being made.

Anderson Widely Known

"Mr. Anderson is one of the most widely read and discussed authors of the day," said Mr. Hayden, "and we feel that we are being privileged by having so famous a man come to the campus. His books and short stories are revolutionary in their ideas and style of writing and, although many readers do not agree with him, he is worthy of no little consideration." His latest book is "Black Laughter." The committee in charge of the A. S. U. O., concert series is working with the faculty committee on free charge to bring three world famous men to the campus during the year.

Charge to be Made

These are not to be in connection with the regular concerts given the students on their student body tickets. To cover the expenses, it will be necessary to sell tickets.

Syud Hossain, noted Persian lecturer, came to the campus last year through the efforts of the committee. Edgar Lee Masters and David Starr Jordan were also booked, but due to illness, their engagements were canceled.

DISPENSARY MOVES INTO NEW QUARTERS

The dispensary, where students of the University may go for free medical treatment, opened yesterday in its new quarters in the old journalism "shack," between the present journalism building and Friendly hall. The hours for the nurses are from 8:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 5:00 on Monday to Friday, and from 8:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 5:00 on Monday to Friday, and from 8:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 2:30 on Saturday. For the doctors they are from 8:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 4:00 on Monday to Friday and from 9:00 to 12:00 on Saturday.

Conditions in the new place are more convenient than in the old office in the north end of Friendly hall, according to Mrs. Donald Barnes, head nurse. The waiting room is larger than previously. There is a medicine room, minor surgical operations' room, separate offices for F. N. Miller, Del C. Stanard and Wilmoth Osborne, the doctors on the staff this year, an X-ray room with a separate place for developing in addition to a room where throat troubles will be treated. This latter is large enough for seven or eight people and the chlorin gas treatment used last year for colds will be given there.

EXTEMPORE SPEAKERS FORM PRACTICE CLUB

About a dozen men, and it is rumored that a girl is to be admitted to membership—all enrolled in first-year extempore speaking have formed a club for the purpose of criticizing one another's faults of speech habit.

Each Wednesday evening the club meets in the Sociology building, and discusses the class work for the coming week. Severe criticisms are made, according to one member—even more severe than those made by the instructors. The club will attempt to cultivate better speech habits among its members, who will derive helpful practice from actual speech situations.

According to members of the speaking club, the instructors were enthusiastic in their commendation.

DEAN ESTERLY'S OFFICE WILL BE MOVED SOON

Many changes in office quarters on the campus are being announced.

this term. Not only have the University dispensary and the alumni office been moved to different locations, but now Dean Esterly, Dean Walker, and Mrs. Fitch are to join the patrons of the moving van and will soon have their names nailed up on different doors.

Dean Esterly's office is being moved into the former seminar rooms of the geology department in the administration building. Dean Walker will move into the one vacated by Mrs. Esterly, and Mrs. Fitch will occupy Dean Walker's old office. According to Dean Esterly the changes will probably not be completed for about two weeks, and they can be found in their old offices until that time.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION TO MEET AT BUNGALOW

The Freshman Girls Commission will meet at the Y. W. C. A., Bungalow today at 5:00. Nominees for this year's officers will be presented at this time by the committee. Alys McClellan, Betty Higgins, Maxine Thomas and Vivian Blair. Elections will be held next Tuesday at the Bungalow.

Mrs. E. E. DeCou will give an informal talk concerning problems which the freshman women meet, and the possibilities of the commission in solving these difficulties. Dorothy Dougal, president of the organization last year, will give a resume of the work done by the girls in various activities.

Miss Magowan, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., asks that a large number of first year women come out to this meeting.

F. S. DUNN PRESIDES AT CORNERSTONE RITUAL

Prof. Frederic S. Dunn, of the Latin department, presided as deputy grand master at the ceremony of laying the corner stone for Eugene's new Masonic temple at Tenth avenue west and Olive street, Sunday.

A crowd of several hundred persons gathered for the ceremony where the first steel stanchions have been erected.

Professor Dunn expressed genuine regret at the passing of the old temple where the forefathers of Eugene Masonry gathered and where many of the younger Masons saw their first Masonic light. This regret, he said was overcome only by the pride with which the members of the order look forward to the completion of the new and imposing edifice.

REGISTRATION GAINS IN GERMAN CLASSES

Increase Shown In Face Of High School Ban

"Oregon is one of the few states left where German is not taught in the high schools," according to Dr. F. G. G. Schmidt, head of the German department, who has taught for 29 years on the university campus, and has seen the University of Oregon grow from a registration of 300 to 3000 students. Dr. Schmidt reports an increase of 20 per cent in enrollment over last year in the German department.

"Because German is not taught in the high schools we have no 'feeders' for advanced work. The first year college students show interest in their work, but the classes are hard to handle because of the great number enrolled."

The heavy work here, combined with the extension work in Portland, where 75 or 80 students are enrolled, many of them working for a M.A. degree, made it impossible for Dr. Schmidt to complete a group of illustrated lectures for this year. He plans to have them ready for next year, and the course will also include German life, culture, art and education.

Varsity Plans Surprises For Cardinals; Heavier Line Result of Shakeup

ner. He will add speed to the backfield combination but will lighten it somewhat.

Several backfield combinations have been tried out in practice the past three afternoons. A light backfield quartet has been sent in to work and proved successful, however, the heavier backs, with the showing made last night, will probably start the game. This combination includes Jones at full, Anderson at quarter and Vitus and Wetzel at the halves. These men, with the exception of Anderson are heavy, fast, and exceptional line plungers.

The Oregon defense and scoring combination is being formed around this husky combination.

The offensive has undergone considerable work this week as this was the outstanding weakness as shown in the California game last Saturday. This offensive is being built around a combination of deceptive plays which utilize the absolute synchronization of the entire team.

The players have been taught to time the plays and seem to have taken a new interest in their work.

With this as an incentive the coaches have driven the men hard and are anticipating a surprise when the Cardinal contest terminates.

The gloomy atmosphere which was expected to appear on the field this week was dispelled by the coaches and the members of the squad have taken a new lease on life and have that Old Oregon determination to fight for victory. Every man is out to upset dope predictions that Oregon will lose Saturday.

With this determination the team is bound to fight, even against great odds, and when an Oregon team fights—remember the Washington game last year.

Oregon also scored twice on Stanford last year when it was expected to lose by 40 points. Several of the players on the team played in this game and are ready to avenge the Cardinal and turn home with its first Pacific coast conference victory.

Oregon's hopes against Stanford lie in the men who will leave today which includes Coaches, Dick Smith, head, Billy Reinhart and Baz Williams. Players, Bob Mautz, captain and end; Nick Carter and Carl Johnson, centers; Gene Shields, Ken Bailey, Walt Socolofsky, Jack Bliss and Maggie Man-gum, guards; Al Sinclair, John Warren, Bert Gooding, Dix Dixon, tackles; Bob Mautz, Sherm Smith, Ick Reynolds, Frank Riggs, ends; Lynn Jones, Harry Leavitt, Red Langworthy, fullbacks; Louie Anderson, and Harrison, quarterbacks; Vic Wetzel, "St." Vitus, Minnow Minnaugh, Arne Kimminki, halfbacks.

Graduate manager, J. W. Benefiel; student manager, Dick Lyman; yell leader, Freddie Martin; athletic director, Virgil Earl will accompany the team.
