

FROSH POINTED FOR ROOK GAME

Fracas With O. A. C. To Be In Corvallis Nov. 13

GOOD GAME EXPECTED

Advantage In Weight Lies With Aggie Men

With the University of Washington freshman football game down in history, the Oregon yearling squad is now pointing all efforts towards the annual game with the Oregon Aggie rooks at Corvallis, Friday, November 13. The rooks won the fracas last year 14 to 13.

In addition to the players already known, a number of new ones have been given the squad. Practice last night consisted mainly of dummy scrimmage. The men were worked hard until dark.

Team Underrated
The results of the Washington game shows that the freshman team has been under rated all season and has as good a team, if not better, than the northerners. The local first year men outplayed the Washingtonians all through the game but a bad break in the final quarter resulted in the visitors taking home the long end of the score.

The Washington game served one purpose, if none other, that of giving Coach "Spike" Leslie, a line on his men. A big job confronted the coach at the beginning of the season when over 100 aspirants answered his call. The task has been difficult in picking out the best eleven men. All men given a chance to show their wares in Saturday's game gave good account of themselves.

Men Play Like Veterans

The entire line played like veterans. Grear and Slausson at ends were down on every punt and the recipient of several passes. Martin and DeMott, tackles, played varsity brand of football. Martin who made a sensational tackle of the fleeting Washington back in the third quarter of the game, also gave a very good account of himself as a punter. Behind the line, the coach has two well balanced sets of backfield material. Gould and Gooden, fullbacks; Hagan, Eddie, Coles and Ostrum, halfbacks; and Wilson and Woody, quarterbacks, all made good showings against the Washington baby Huskies. Hagan, half, is fast and shifty, making the only touchdown for the frosh. Wilson and Woody, quarterbacks, both showed good generalship. Woody, who played the greater part of the game, showed ability in returning punts. He also did most of the punting, averaging about 35 yards.

The Oregon Aggie rooks, like the Washington team, will outweigh the local squad. They are not to be taken as easy. In the several games played so far this season they have exhibited a good brand of football. In the ranks of the Aggies are a number of prep school stars.

The Oregon green cappers survived last Saturday's fracas in pretty good shape. A few minor sprains and bruises were the only injuries. Red Slausson, end, is now in the infirmary with an attack of boils which will probably put him out for the rest of the season. Slausson played a very good game against Washington.

FROSH CLASSES EXCUSSED

No classes for freshmen Friday and Saturday, November 13 and 14, was the decision made by the faculty members at their monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon. All classes and laboratory periods Friday and Saturday morning composed of freshman will be dismissed. Classes which are not entirely composed of freshman, or in which the frosh do not predominate so that the instructor feels the class should be excused, will be held as usual.

DRIVE FOR CHRISTIAN WORK FUND STARTED

Faculty To Be Solicited; $800 Is Worker's Aim

The United Christian Work drive for $800, to be raised among the faculty for its work at the University of Oregon was launched yesterday noon at a luncheon held at the "Y" hut. Warren D. Smith, president of the United Christian Work board, spoke, and started the campaign with a subscription of $25.

Under the direction of Homer Rainey, chairman, 25 volunteers from the faculty of the University expect to see the members of the faculty, 142 in all, for their subscriptions. Reports will be made at another luncheon which will be held next Wednesday at the Hut. The hope is to raise the entire budget so as to meet all expenses and to pay off the Work's $600 indebtedness.

The purpose of the Work on the campus is to furnish the cooperating churches a means of united effort in the employment of interdenominational workers and teachers, in giving effective faculty and community backing to the local Student Young Men's Christian Association, and in furthering the interests of religious education among the students.

Its program of service includes the handling of the rooming problem for men, and the maintenance of an employment bureau through which $40,000 was earned last year by men who are working their way through school. It serves the foreign students on the campus, fosters the Student Volunteer Association and the Cosmopolitan Club, and promotes vital Christianity on the campus by bringing the best men available to the University to speak upon Christian themes, and by promoting discussion groups and Bible classes.
