

Y. W. CAMPAIGN ENDS; $1000 IS AMOUNT RAISED

Pi Beta Phi Leads Houses With Total of $86; Team One Contributes $210

Dean Esterly Discusses Problems Of Students Not In Living Groups

As the result of an intensive three day finance campaign among girls in living organizations, the Y. W. C. A. treasury is swelled to $1000. The remainder of the quota of $1600 will be raised during the coming week by a group of girls who are canvassing the town.

Team one, of the seven teams, appointed by Ellen McClellan, general chairman of the drive, headed the list with a total of $210. Barbara Blythe is captain of this team and the other members are: Dorothy Straughn, Edith Bader, and Geraldine Troy. Phi Beta Phi contributed $86, while several other sororities approached this amount.

Seven Teams Canvass Campus

Other teams and the amount raised by them are:

Team two: Catherine Struphler, captain, Alice Southwick, Doris Kindle, and Marjorie Myers.

Team three: Constance Roth, captain, Anita Kellog, Elanor Beckwith, and Edith Huntsman, $202.

Team four: Alice Olsen, captain, Frances Schroeder, Mae Mordoff, Ellen McClellan, and Helen Oates, $160.50.

Team five: Ruth Corey, captain, Annette Heckman, Thama Barnard, and Dorothy Hobson, $46.

Team six: Sarah Starr, captain, Audrey Lundy, and Florence Hurley, $110.

Team seven: Marie Gilkeson, captain, Betty Alexander, and Bernice Rasor, $61.

A willingness to cooperate in every way, and an active interest has been taken in the campaign, according to Miss Magowan, secretary and she predicts a successful year for the organization. About 480 girls subscribed.

Dean Virginia Judy Esterly, in speaking to the members of the committee at a luncheon at the Anchorage Thursday stated that the spirit of the Y. W. C. A. is symbolized by its religious activities and its service to the campus. One of the most valuable things it does is secure employment for girls who, without this aid would probably never attend a class in a university.

Big Problem Faces University

She believes that one of the biggest problems facing the University of Oregon is the increasing number of students who cannot live in organized groups. Because these students are more or less 'out of things' at times, she feels that something must be done, and that the Y. W. C. A. is the logical organization to solve the problem. She asked that the girls give some other colleges and universities have coped with. The increase in students not in organized groups has increased 20 per cent this year.

KWAMA TO ENTERTAIN FROSH GIRLS TODAY

Kwama, honorary sophomore organization for women, is entertaining all freshman girls this afternoon at a tea, which is to be given in Alumni Hall at the Woman's building between the hours of 4 and 6.

Beside the usual forms of entertainment, a musical program will be given, consisting of vocal solos by Pauline Knowland, and Esther Setters. Alice Jean McClellan will also give a violin selection.

Invitations have been issued to all freshman women and even through some mistake a girl fails to receive her invitation, Kwama is anxious that she come.

Campus Janitors Find New Shelter For Wandering Tub

"Where is my wandering bathtub tonight?" is the cry of some forlorn soul. At least, someone's bathtub is lost, Saturday night draws near.

A little blue bathtub stood lonesomely in the niche in the brick wall before the Woman's building yesterday morning. How it came there history sayeth not. In the cold and open air of morning it had a rather depressing effect on the passer-by.

The janitors took the wandering property to the heating plant, where it would have a chance to warm up once more.

It is suggested that the rightful owner claim his tub once more before the weekly bath night rolls around again.

DO-NUT BASKETEERS TO BATTLE MONDAY

Sigma Nu's Will Tangle With Kappa Delta Phi

Preliminary disbursements of the doughnut aspirants will follow Monday afternoon. At this time two teams will vie for a place in the running. Sigma Nu's delegation of basket slingers will tangle on the maple court in the men's gymnasium with the five or more from Kappa Delta Phi.

This will be the only game for campus followers on this eventful day as the varsity squad will take the floor for its preliminary conditioning workout.

These hectic struggles are scheduled for Tuesday between the compact teams of Kappa Sigma and Alpha Tau Omega and Psi Kappa, winners of the league last year, vs. Friendly hall.

Final elimination games will be played the following week, as only the three mentioned will take place next week, due primarily to the forced vacation caused by Armistice Day and Homecoming week-end.

One thing should be brought to the view of coaches, declared officials of the physical education department. And that thing is this—"Coach William Reinhart, of the varsity basketmen, desires that all aspirants for positions on the Oregon five should refrain from representing their organization by playing in the doughnut league."

This statement is made due to the slight tremor which was caused when a varsity athlete, although not a letterman, entered a contest this week and proved to be the winning streak. However, according to the ruling of intramural athletics this contest is valid.

HARD LUCK STRIKES FROSH GRID TEAM

Hard luck seems to have settled down over the freshman football camp. In the game last Saturday with the University of Washington babes, a streak of hard luck loomed the game for the local yeasters after it had been apparently won. Now comes more misfortunes in the fact that six freshman first string men have been unable to report for practice this week.

Irving Flegel, guard, was called to Portland the first part of the week and it is not known whether he will finish the present term. Sandvall, center, Hagen, halfback and Jamison, end, have been in the infirmary all week suffering from influenza. Red Slausson, end, has also been confined in the infirmary with a bad case of boils. DeMott, tackle, was badly injured in Saturday's fracas and has been hobbling around all week.

Last night the freshman football squad resumed practice against the varsity. Practice all week has consisted in the practicing of fundamentals and blocking. According to "Spike" Leslie, coach, a good many ragged edges were noted in the Washington game and it will take some time to smooth them off.

WOMEN'S CLASS TEAMS CHOSEN FOR SWIMMING

Instructor Will Announce Schedule Of Contests In Tuesday's Emerald

Tryouts Result In Choice Of 67 Women To Enter Meets During Season

Women's class teams for swimming were picked yesterday by the committee consisting of the four class managers, Dorothy Evans, senior; Margaret Pepon, junior; Nellie Johns, sophomore; and Dorothy Brown, freshman, with Elizabeth Loundsbury, student head of swimming, and E. Trommel, coach.

FRATERNITY HONORS MANAGER OF GUARD

Eugene S. Kelly, business manager of the Eugene Guard, was elected to honorary membership in Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity, at a meeting held yesterday. He will be associated with the W. F. G. Thacher chapter at the University here.

Mr. Kelly is a graduate of the University of Oregon with the class of 1921. He was prominent in Emerald work and in other student activities. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, and of Beta Theta Pi.

Honorary membership in Alpha Delta Sigma is only conferred on men who have attained success in advertising or publishing. Several prominent men in the newspaper and advertising business of the state have accepted membership in the Oregon chapter. Alpha Delta Sigma now has chapters in 30 of the leading universities and colleges in the country.

STUNT PRACTICE

The second bleacher stunt practice will be held this morning at 10 a. m. in the new grandstand. Everybody that signed up for these practices are urged to attend, in order that the feature can be carried out. Practice periods for next week will be announced in Tuesday's Emerald.

Orders For Dyeing Pajama Suits May Be Left At Co-Op

Thirty Cent Charge To Be Made

All men who are not members of living organizations on the campus and who wish to participate in the big pajamarino parade are requested to leave their pajamas at the Co-op Saturday. They will be collected up from there and taken to the dyers.

Names of the owners should be written plainly on the garment or attached to it in order that there will be no confusion in returning the suits to their proper custodians.

A small charge of about thirty cents will be made for dyeing the garments. The committee in charge of the affair wants as many men as possible to cooperate with them to insure the success of this particular phase of the program which really starts off the entire week's celebration.

THREE ONE ACT PLAYS TO BE SEEN DEC. 11-12

Edna Millay, Kreymborg, Yeats On Program

A series of three one-act plays, a comedy, a fantasy and a serious play, are to be given by the advanced dramatic students on Friday and Saturday, December 11 and 12 in Guild theatre, according to Miss Florence E. Wilbur, head of the dramatic department. The one act plays are used, she says, to give the students an opportunity to do different types of work.

"Monday, a Lame Minuet," by Alfred Kreymborg, will be presented with the following cast:

Mrs. Jones .....Frances Vaughan
Mrs. Smith .....Katie Buchanan
Mrs. Brown .....Constance Roth
Mrs. Meek .....Lucille B. Jeffrey
Mrs. Snubs .....Mary Fitch
Mrs. Weeds .....Margaret Achterman
Stage manager—Grace Potter; costuming and designing, Helen Webber, Constance Roth, and Lucille Jeffrey.

The second play, a fantasy, "Aria Da Capo," by Edna St. Vincent Millay has as its cast:

Columbine .....Florence Couch
Pierrot .....Arthur Gray
Cothurnus .....Cecil Matson
Thyriss .....Alfons Korn
Edgar Buchanan

Stage manager, Mary Fitch; costuming and designing, Dorothea Drake, Norma Jane McClary, and Adeline Zurcher.

The third and more serious play of the series will be "Riders to the Sea," by Yeats, the cast of which is:

Maurya .....Eleanor Beckwith
Kathleen .....Margaret Booth
Nora .....Ethel Clark
Bartley .....Cecil Matson
Neighbors .....Margaret Powers, Margaret Achterman, and Edgar Buchanan.

Stage manager—Edgar Buchanan; costuming and designing, Margaret Booth and Edgar Buchanan.

The plays have been delayed because of the crowded calendar of activities, says Miss Wilbur, but the present date is definitely set, and tickets will be on sale in ten days or two weeks.

ARTISTS' AID REQUESTED

A welcoming cry has been made to all campus artists for work on the 1926 Oregonian, according to Wayne Leland, art editor.

This year, said Leland, there will be opportunity for many of the aspiring artists to do work on section heads and it is the desire of the department to give as many students a chance to do work as is possible. The section heads will be done in two colors.

Christmas is the last date for anyone interested to turn in his work. Names should be turned in to Wayne Leland as early as possible.

VARSITY WOMEN FOR DEBATING TEAM SELECTED

Bateman, Mather, Cherry, Mc Kercher, Blackaby, Helliwell, Compose Squad

Four Preliminaries Held To Determine The Winners; Teams for Year Complete

In the varsity women's debate tryouts last night, six girls were selected as the squad which will compose the teams throughout the year. Winners last night were:

Mildred Bateman, Margaret Blackaby, Francis Cherry, Mae Helliwell, Vera Mather, and Cecil McKercher.

"Resolved: That faculty members should have academic freedom in United States colleges and universities," was the subject debated by the girls last night. They presented five minute constructive speeches and three minutes of rebuttal in order that the judges Mr. J. Stanley Gray, and Robert D. Horn, forensic coaches could determine the most effective speakers.

Among the varsity squad for this year are several experienced varsity girl debaters. Mildred Bateman has debated two years in intercollegiate competition. She is a senior, and at present is chairman of the forensic committee of the executive council. Vera Mather is a new student at Oregon this year, coming here from Canada where she was a member of the women's varsity debate team at the University of British Columbia.

Last night's tryouts complete the series of preliminaries which decided the debate squads for the entire year. Starting with the freshmen men's tryouts on Thursday October 29, there have been four preliminaries. The varsity men competed on Friday, October 30 and the freshmen girls on Thursday night of this week.

Besides the women's varsity squad named above, the personnel of the teams is as follows: men's varsity; A. Bazzil, Donald Beelar, Hugh Biggs, W. Clark, Walter Durgan, Roland Davis, Robert Gledhill, Jack Hempstead, Jimmie Johnson, E. V. Ludington, Benoit McCroskey, Jack McGuire, Max Robinson, Hershell Brown, Ralph Bailey, and Mark Taylor.

SENIOR PICTURES TAKEN FOR ALUMNI MONTHLY

The first bit of preparation for the Christmas issue of "Old Oregon," alumni magazine, edited by Jeannette Calkins, was made yesterday when a group of seniors was photographed on the senior bench. The picture will probably be the cover of the magazine. Senior stentons and Order of the "O" sweaters were much in evidence. Those who were photographed on, and around the bench were: Lylah McMurry, Mildred Bateman, Geneva Smith, DeLoris Pearson, Anna DeWitt, Peggy Boyer, Margaret Vincent, Steele Winterer, Bob Mautz, Bob McCabe, Walter Malcolm, Ed Miller, Jimmy Harding, Cylbert McClellan, Bob Gardner, Ken Stephenson, and Chuck Stockwell.

Miss Calkins is urging students to co-operate with her in getting out the next issue by turning in at her office news of alumni for the "News of the Classes" department. It is her desire to have this a big department with news of alumni who returned for Homecoming and those who were unable to be here. Names must be spelled correctly and they are to be recorded.

Silver Loving Cup Award For Best Homecoming Sign

Plans and specification for Homecoming signs which are required to be submitted to the sign committee of the Homecoming directorate are coming in very slowly, according to Tom Graham, chairman of the sign committee.

Keen competition is expected next week-end for the large silver loving cup which is offered each year. Last year the cup was won by Beta Theta Pi. The signs this year will be judged from the standpoint of attractiveness as well as the spirit of welcome which they portray.

"NO TALKING," EDICT FROM MRS. M. WATTS

Less talking in the reading room of the old library this year and more freshman present! Not so good! upper classmen, not so good!

Mrs. Marian P. Watts at the reference desk, finds the studious throng, even more studious and less talkative. Since the large reserve has been placed in Condon hall few upper classmen inhabit the library. Whether the frosh are naturally self disciplined or just afraid of library step ceremonies she did not say, but they do take fewer liberties than those feeling more at home in the magazine department.

Literary and Current Event magazines are read more than any others. Mrs. Watts says she occasionally sees a youth exhausting a popular fiction number but most of them keep up on current events. Some, perhaps absent mindedly, carry the magazines home with them. In this way quite a number are lost each term.

There is one big fault of which all classes are guilty. "We sometimes wonder if students can read," said Mrs. Watt, speaking of this. "So many trays are left on the tables in the catalogue department and when put away they are usually in the wrong nook, in spite of the sign, 'please return trays to places, using number guides.'"

VARSITY SQUAD PLANNING UPSET IN O. A. C. GAME

Players Speed Up Offense; Surprising Results Made In Co-ordinating Playing

Frosh Squad Gives Peppy Resistance For Polishing First String Players

By Web Jones

The scrimmage this afternoon will wind up the hard week's work which the varsity football squad has been sent through by the coaching staff in preparation for the annual struggle for the championship of Oregon on November 14. It has been a week of work in the rain with numerous handicaps on account of injuries. At the first of the week nine varsity players were out of practice because of injuries, major and minor, sustained in the Stanford game. Now the majority of these men are out in suits but are not able to mix in the hard workouts.

Offense Speeded Up

The first week of the drive for the Homecoming game has been spent in speeding up the offense. More co-ordinated team play has been drilled on and surprising results are in store for the followers. Never has the team gone backwards and as demonstrated in the Stanford game they are on the up hill climb. The new offense which will be used in the O. A. C. game, will probably be the first real highly developed offense that the Oregon team has shown this year. The team looks good. Four nights have been spent in everlasting drill on running through those old plays and the new ones so that there is polish in every move of the machine.

Few Changes In Lineup

A few changes in lineup will probably be seen in the team that goes against the Aggies. Bert Kerns, varsity tackle has been shifted to the guard berth and has been going good in practice. Homer Dixon who played a fine game against Stanford will get the call for his tackle. Nick Carter, a heavier man than Carl Johnson but less experienced, will probably start at center. The backfield combination will probably be the same with the group of new backs in readiness to enter the game. Arnie Kiminki, Red Langworthy, Fred Harrison, and his ankles hold out. George Mimaugh, and Pete Moteschenbacher, are the reserves behind the line.

The fierce scrimmage last night between the varsity and the frosh team did not show the varsity up to any too great advantage. Several regulars were out of the mix, however. Spike Leslie's crew of slippery green cappers passed and plunged through a variety of plays for much yardage against the varsity team.

The line composed of Bob Mautz and Ick Reynolds, ends, with Biggs, and Powers alternating, Bert Gooding, and John Warren, tackles; Gene Shields, and Walt Scolefsky, guards, with Bliss alternating. Nick Carter, center. In the backfield was Mimaugh and Harrison quarters. Vitus, Langworthy, and Kiminki halves, Jones and Moteschenbacher, fullbacks. They took the ball for a third of the time but failed to show any spectacular playing or consistent line bucking. The loss of the regulars was felt, against the light, fast charging, fighting frosh eleven with its almost unending list of reserves.

The regular varsity ran signals for three quarters of an hour in the first secret practice of the week on the new plays to be used. The cripples were sent in for a rest before the scrimmage started.

UNIFORMS DELAYED

Word has just been received by Sergeant Powers from the Associated Army Stores, in Seattle that due to lack of material the uniforms for the new cadet officers would be delayed about twelve days. They will, in all probability be here by the twentieth.
