

SELF SUPPORT DATA COMPILED

Of 2751 Students Enrolled
27.15 Self Supporting;
871 Partly Independent

288 of Sophomore Class
Work May Completely
Through The University

Of the 2751 students registered at the University for the fall quarter, 747, or 27.15 per cent, are wholly self-supporting; 203, or 7.38 per cent, are from 99 to 75 per cent self-supporting; 404, or 14.68 per cent, from 74 to 50 per cent independent; 264, or 9.60 per cent are partially self-supporting; and 401, or 14.58 per cent, state no means of income. These are the figures just given out by the Registrar's office.

Of the 1092 sophomores in the University, 288 are wholly self-supporting; 90 are from 99 to 75 per cent self-supporting; 190 are from 74 to 50 per cent so; 108 are partially self-supporting; 279 are dependent for all of their income; and 137 state no source. This is the largest of the four classes on the campus this fall.

187 Freshmen Self Supporting
One hundred eighty-seven of the 923 freshmen are wholly self-supporting; 62 are from 99 to 75 per cent self-supporting; 141 from 74 to 50 per cent self-supporting; 93 partially so; 268 dependent for all of their income; and 172 state no source. The freshman class rates second in number of students.

One hundred and thirty-seven of the 415 registered in the senior class are 100 per cent self-supporting; 34 are from 99 to 75 per cent so; 42 from 74 to 50 per cent; 33 are partially so; 116 are non-self-supporting; while 53 state no source of income.

Of the 118 juniors registered in the University this fall, 22 are 100 per cent self-supporting; 6 are from 99 to 75 per cent; 16 are from 4 to 50 per cent self-supporting; 17 are partially so; 42 are wholly dependent; while 15 gave no information as to source of income.

Sixty-one of the 85 graduate students are 100 per cent self-supporting; two are from 99 to 75 per cent; two are from 74 to 50 per cent self-supporting; four are partially so; nine are non-supporting; and seven state no information concerning source of income.

Half Special Students Independent
There are 118 special students, Eugene Bible University students, law specials, first year law, second year law, third year law, and veterans' bureau students here at present. Of this number, 52 are wholly self-supporting; nine are from 99 to 75 per cent so; 13 are from 74 to 50 per cent; nine are partially so; 18 are non-self-supporting; while 17 state no source of income.

The men are far ahead of the women in percentage of self-support. Five hundred fifty-four men and 193 women are totally self-supporting; 160 men and 43 women are from 99 to 75 per cent so; 309 men and 95 women are from 74 to 50 per cent independent; 179 men and 85 women are partially self-supporting; 146 men and 586 women are wholly dependent for their incomes; while 140 men and 261 women make no statement concerning support. This makes a total of 1488 men and 1263 women at Oregon this quarter.

DEAN HALE TO SPEAK

William G. Hale, Dean of the school of law, will speak at the Armistice day exercises, to be given under the auspices of the American Legion, at the Armory, next Wednesday, at 11 o'clock. His subject will be "International Peace."

Dean Hale is also scheduled to address the congregation of the First Methodist church of Eugene, next Sunday evening, on the same subject.

H. R. TAYLOR COMPARES INTELLIGENCE SCORES

Prof. Howard R. Taylor, of the psychology department, has completed the computation of the average scores of 454 men and 409 women who took the eight psychology tests given the freshmen. Various comparisons have been made between the average standing of the men as compared with the average standing of the women.

That group of tests which depends chiefly on the ability to deal with situations in terms of language includes: completion, artificial language, analogies I, absurdities and opposites. The tests dealing with number of concepts are: arithmetic, analogies II, and number completion.

With the exception of completion, the women were found superior in the linguistic tests, while in number concept tests the men in every case were superior.

In completion, which involves principally knowledge of word meaning, the men are better than women. The men were also considerably better in arithmetic.

The women lead in artificial language, which is a test of quickness and accuracy in translating meaning into a new set of symbols. Also in analogies I, involving seeing similarity in word meaning, the girls are slightly superior.

The women are quite a bit better in absurdities. Professor Taylor says this result is peculiar, because absurdities is a sort of disguised general information test, and men usually make higher scores than women in this sort of thing.

Y. M. C. A. OFFICIAL SPEAKS AT LUNCHEON

A message of confidence and faith in the present religious movement in the world today was the theme of an informal address given by Gail Seaman, inter-collegiate secretary of the Y. M. C. A., on the Pacific coast, at a luncheon held in his honor yesterday noon at the College Side Inn.

Mr. Seaman briefly based his confidence in the movement on the facts of its tremendous growth in the last half century, its world wide influence, its status as primarily a youth movement, and its Christian, unselfish basis. He stressed the undeveloped field for this work among the educational institutions of the Pacific coast states, and predicted a bright future for the work such as the Association is now doing.

MISS WILBUR TELLS OF WORK IN PHONETICS

The importance of phonetics in correct speech was emphasized by Miss Florence E. Wilbur, dramatic instructor, in an address to the students of the public speaking classes in Villard hall yesterday afternoon.

The demand for a standardization of English speech has arisen in the last decade, and to meet this demand the International Phonetic Association of English speech has arisen. This system provides a uniform method of pronunciation, which is an obvious advantage to the drama and to correct cultural speech, said Miss Wilbur.

After telling of the work of the phonetic association, Miss Wilbur described certain speech defects, lisping, stuttering, and stammering, and told of the methods used to correct these faults.

MEET AT CORVALLIS

Several members of the faculty and a number of townspeople will attend the all day session of the state meeting of the American Association of University Women to be held at Corvallis today. The honor guests for the occasion are Miss Lois Hayden Meek, national secretary of education at Washington D. C., and Dean H. D. Sheldon of the education department here. He will speak on "The Education of Tomorrow." The program has been arranged by Miss Mozelle

Hair of the extension division, who is president of the Oregon A. A. U. W., and will preside at the meeting. Mrs. George Rebec and Miss Mary Kent, of the extension division were selected as delegates by Dean Esterly to represent the University.

ATTEND MEETING

The four members of the faculty of the chemistry department, O. F. Stafford, H. G. Tanner, B. J. Williams, and F. L. Shinn, went to Portland today to attend the monthly meeting of the Oregon section of the American Chemical Society. This organization meets at various places in the state once each month to consider matters relating to chemistry.
