vs.
OREGON

Enthusiasm Waxing Hot;
Homecoming Crowd
Will Be Largest In Grid History

BY W. J.

A record crowd for a football game in the state of Oregon will watch the 22 grim warriors tomorrow afternoon on Hayward field. From every part of the state, graduates and football enthusiasts are coming back for the classic on the gridiron schedule. The annual game has established itself as the greatest battle of the year.

More than 20,000 people will watch the game from the covered grandstands. The new grandstand with a seating capacity of 4400 will be used for the first time.

The biggest attendance at a football game in the gridiron history of Oregon will exceed that of last Homecoming by five thousand and the California-Oregon game this fall in Portland by two thousand which up to this time holds the record.

This is Oregon's initiation into the much sought realm of paying, big-attendance football. Football enthusiasm is running higher this year than ever before. Attendances are larger all over the country and Oregon has fallen in with the swing of things. More and larger facilities are needed to take care of the increasing crowd. Stadiums are in demand. Oregon has progressed in drawing power but there is no place to handle the crowds.

Oregon is moving in big league company for the first time in football history so that it keeps the officials busy finding room for the spectators.

In the two games played in the northwest against conference teams and the one this Saturday the total attendance will approximate 50,000. The Washington game at Seattle promises to be a record breaker. That can be put down on the schedule as the big game of the year.

The magnet that is drawing thousands this week-end is the quality of the game. Recognized as a battle from start to finish thousands are expecting that fight and spectacular football that has characterized these games in the past.

There is the feeling among the enthusiasts that this is the Aggie's year. They are coming back to see them mop up the field with Oregon. O. A. C. has been the underdog for many years and now interest is high in seeing that underdog come out and win. It is the same feeling that makes thousands watch California games in the hope that the Golden Bears will be toppled from their lofty position.

Never before has such enthusiasm been shown about the great American sport in the northwest as has been evidenced this season. Teams are better, they are crowd pleasers and conference teams in the Pacific northwest are crowd drawers without an exception.

The Orange and Black with its five or six thousand supporters enters the game, an overwhelming favorite for the first time in many years. On paper the dope gives them the edge. Their supporters are justified for their heavy well-drilled eleven has made a fine showing this season.

L. H. Gregory, Oregonian sports editor, figures the dope about even according to the reports of Stanford coaches and players.

But the thing that draws them back—hundreds of miles over the state is the battle! Two teams perfectly trained and usually playing over their heads in this clash, is worth two ordinary games.

TRADE JOURNALISTS MEET
Ralph D. Casey, of the school of journalism faculty, Alfred Powers of the Extension division, and Dean Earl Kilpatrick of the Extension division attended a monthly meeting of the trade and class journal association in Portland, Tuesday. The association met at the Washington Street Hazelwood where John P. O'Hara, former University of Oregon history professor, addressed the group. Mr. O'Hara is at present editor of the Catholic Sentinel.

PACIFIC PRESS MEMBERS MEET TO OPEN TODAY

Editors And Managers Of University Publications To Be Here At Homecoming

Association Will Discuss Subjects Of Common Interest To Schools

Approximately twenty-five delegates will represent their respective schools at the meeting of the Pacific Intercollegiate Press Association, which will be held on the campus this week-end.

The association is the outgrowth of an organization of press representatives of coast schools who were primarily interested in an intercollegiate news exchange. For the past few years annual meetings made up of the editors and managers of the school newspapers have been held at various schools, last year the convention being held at the University of Washington. Matters of common interest to universities and colleges, such as fraternity rushing, student organization, and student publications are brought before the body for discussion.

Many Schools Represented

One or two delegates of each of the following schools are expected to be on the campus during Homecoming: the universities of Washington, British Columbia, California, Stanford, Southern Branch, California, Southern California, Idaho, Nevada, Willamette, Washington State College, Whitman College, and Oregon Agricultural College, Whitman College, and Oregon Agricultural College.

Meetings To Be Separate

So far no set program has been prepared. The editorial and managerial meetings will be held separately, all meetings being conducted as round table affairs. The school of journalism and the Emerald will act as hosts. Dean Eric W. Allen, Prof. Ralph D. Casey, Professor George Turnbull, and Prof. W. F. G. Thacher will probably take an active part in the meetings.

The tentative schedule as arranged by Frank Loggan, manager of the Emerald, and Edward Miller, editor, follows:

Friday—9:00, session; noon, luncheon at College Side Inn. 1:30, session, rally in the evening followed by smoker.

Saturday—9:00, session, Homecoming luncheon; game; 6:00 dinner at Osburn; Homecoming dance.

—Say Hello To Alumni—
'OLD OREGON' ISSUES
CALL FOR ALUMNI NEWS

A second call for alumni notes on Homecomers has been issued from the editor of "Old Oregon," alumni magazine. Students must turn in material before next Wednesday and the notes are to be personal on returning alumni. Names must be spelled correctly with the date of graduation recorded. In the case of alumni who have not graduated, the years they were in school are desired. It is desired that the news of what alumni are now doing be sent in. Prizes of $3, $2, and $1 are to be awarded for the best news notes. The notes will be used in the December issue of "Old Oregon."

At registration, alumni are to sign cards stating their occupations, classes and space is given for notes for the magazine. Notes are to be turned in at the alumni office in the Administration annex.

Torch Procession Will Be Headed By Order of "O" Men

EVERY Oregon man whether freshman or senior should be in line when the colorful pajamarino parade starts from the "O" tonight on Skinner's butte at 7 o'clock. Wear yellow or green pajamas and if you don't have a pair that hue wear any colored pair, but be there.

All order of the "O" men will assemble at the Southern Pacific fountain promptly at 7 o'clock in order to be ready to lead the parade. A large number of Order of "O" men should be in line with the additions from the visitors who wore the Lemon-Yellow in past years. Wear your "O" sweaters. —Say Hello To Alumni—

FROSH GRID WARRIORS TO MEET ROOKS TODAY

Oregon Babes Too Much for Roseburg Legion

Forty-five fighting yearling football players, imbued with Oregon fight, and Coach "Spike" Leslie and three assistant coaches, Dick Reed, George Allison and George Bliss, leave this morning at 11:30 o'clock for Corvallis where the Oregon Aggie Rooks will be met in a hard tussle on Bell field.

Although the freshman football schedule does not call for many games played this season. All season, Coach Leslie has been pointing his men for this one game. The Aggie Rook game, which was won by the Corvallis lads last year 14 to 13, is the incentive of all first year men who have toiled ceaselessly through the gridiron period.

In a football game played at Roseburg on Armistice Day the yearling second team defeated the heavy American Legion team of that place 21 to 0. The freshman team although outweighed fought throughout the game. The three touchdowns were made with two forward passes and once the ball was bucked over. Llewellyn, fullback, scored one touchdown from a line buck and the other touchdown came as a result of a well executed pass from Jost to quarterback, made the three try for point boots. "Tiny" Wade and Bonnett, tackles, played a good game. Hinds, guard, was also in a number of plays. Coles and Llewellyn starred for the yearlings in the backfield.

The probable lineup for the Aggie Rooks is as follows: Parker and Carr, ends; Luce and Ebert, tackles; Eilers and Carlson, guards; Hokum, center; Maple, quarterback; Essman and Fulerson, halfbacks; and Whitlock, fullback.

The lineup for the Oregon freshman will be as follows: Grear and Pope, ends; Martin and DeMott, tackles; Thompson and Flegel, guards; Sandvall, center; Woody or Wilson, quarterback; Gould and Gooden, halfbacks, and Eddie, fullback.

Y. W. OFFICIAL IN CHILE
Miss Tirzah Dinsdale, former secretary of the Y. W. on the Oregon campus, is now doing Y. W. C. A. work in Santiago, Chile, according to Miss Mary Dallera.

Students must secure tickets for the Homecoming game at the Co-op in order to be admitted to the rooting sections. Last year students delayed securing these tickets until the last day when a long line was waiting when it came time to start the game. Marion McClain, manager of the Co-op requests that as many as possible secure their tickets today.

VARSITY SQUAD SET FOR BIGGEST BATTLE OF YEAR

Rejuvenated Eleven To Take Field At 1:30 Saturday; Shields-Hodgen Are Out

Players Are Physically Fit For Gridiron Struggle; Morale Of Team Is High

By Web Jones

The stage is set for the game of games of the season with the completion of the last hard practice on the two weeks intensive drill for the varsity squad last night. The rain soaked gridiron was used for two hours of signal work.

The field was slippery, but it has not had enough rain to make it quagmire and on a fairly firm foundation the squad was able to maneuver with some sort of sureness among the pools.

Mystery has covered Hayward field for the past week. What will come out of its secret recesses will be shown Saturday when the "new" varsity trots on the field. These two weeks of practice since the Stanford game has worked wonders with the team. It has not gone backward in any way but has continued on its steady climb toward perfection.

Two Men Out

The two major casualties of the team were not out in suits which means that they will not play in the game Saturday. Gene Shields' ankle is still in a bad shape and Beryle Hodgen is limping.

The men who ran signals as the first team last night were in fine condition. There will be no more fear on the part of the coaches that the men will be injured before the game, because the tapering off has started and no more dangerous

VESPERS TO BE HELD TWO HOURS EARLIER

University Vespers will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday, November 15, instead of 4:30 as usual. This change has been made for the benefit of "Homecoming" guests who may wish to leave for their homes before the regular time.

Bishop Walter T. Sumner, who will be the guest of the University all next week, will make his first public appearance at the vespers.

The program will be as follows: Lamentation—Guilmet, Organ; (played in honor of Dr. P. L. Campbell) John Stark Evans. O Lord Most Holy, chorus; University of Oregon choir.

Reading and Prayer, Bishop Walter T. Sumner.

Land of Hope and Glory, chorus; University of Oregon choir.

Benediction, Bishop Sumner.

'Old Grad' Return Will Be Featured, By Glad Welc m

"MAKE the alumni feel they are really back home. It's their Homecoming, not ours."

Such was the admonition of James Leake, general Homecoming chairman, on the eve of what portends to be Oregon's greatest and best "Old Grad" celebration.

"There's little doubt that this eleventh annual alumni fete will be a success," added Leake, "but it means nevertheless that 2755 of us active students must make the 'alums' glad they are back. 'So say hello; show them 'Oregon spirit' still lives."

HAYWARD FIELD STAFF SELECTED BY MOESER

Men Asked To Report At 11:30 a. m. Tomorrow

Nearly 100 men, all members of either the athletic managerial staffs, Oregon Knights, To-Ko-Lo or Gra-Kos, will report to Hayward field at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow to do administrative work before and during the game.

Each man has been selected for the special work he is to do, and has been assigned a definite place by Ray Moeser, athletic manager, who declared the failure of a single man to report would materially weaken the staff.

The men are not to participate in the rooters' stunts, as they will be kept busy elsewhere. They are to report to their captains when reaching the field at 11:30.

The complete roster follows:

Ticket committee—Ken Stephenson, chairman; Bob Love, Jimmy Johnson, Carrol Williams, Bill Prudhomme, Burton Nelson, Forrest Wright, Wade Newbegin, Allen Boyden, Vern Dale, Ben Souther, Tom Montgomery, Ronald McCraith, Elton Gant, John Nelson, Roy Weaver, Bur Abner, Ronald Christie, George Schade, Fred Joy, John Sherman, Larry Osterman, Lester Olson, Bob Heitkemper, John Hendren, Bruce Fenton, Reg Mortimer, Ab Lawrence, Fred Ziebrith, Don Grilley.

ANATOMY CLASS WANTS CATS
Cats, big husky specimens, are wanted by the class in comparative anatomy. The biology department offers a premium of 25 cents for each desirable looking cat which is delivered at Dandy hall.

Because of the scarcity of animals to work on, the anatomy class is making slow progress, according to Dr. R. R. Heustis, of the department. Cats which are sacrificed are not tortured, but are being gassed with the same sort of gas that the students are exposed to every day in the classroom.

Parade, Frosh Fire, Rally and Smoker Will Start Program

By Edward Smith

Oregon's eleventh annual Homecoming is here. Today, the highways and byways of the Pacific northwest—and the world—lead to the University. The influx of alumni, which is predicted to be the largest in the University's history, will start early this morning and by nightfall, Oregon will have reclaimed hundreds of her former students.

'OREGON FIGHT' SAID TO BRING BACK ALUMS

Ex-Varsity Football Star Speaks At Assembly

"It's the 'Oregon fight to win' spirit that brings the old 'alums' back year after year for Homecoming; it's the 'Oregon fight to win' spirit that has time after time caused the Oregon eleven to outclass the O. A. C. team when the latter was doped to win, and Oregon was considered the underdog. This spirit, and this alone, will win on Hayward field Saturday."

These were the words of Ed Bailey, prominent alumnus and ex-varsity football star, who spoke at the assembly yesterday in the auditorium of the Woman's building. Bailey told of his happiness in anticipation of Homecoming, which he declared was the red letter event in the year for him, as well as to numerous other old-grads, because of the opportunity it gave for the renewing of college friendships.

Walter Malcolm, president of the associated students, who presided at the assembly, emphasized that an attitude of friendliness and hospitality should be assumed by every member of the student body during Homecoming week-end. Oregon, he declared, is no longer a small town college, in a small town, in a small town state.

James W. Leake, chairman of the Homecoming directorate outlined the events for the week-end. He urged all students to remember the "hello" tradition. He also declared every student is expected to take a personal interest in all activities of the week-end to make this year's Homecoming the "biggest and best."

Freddie Martin, yell king, in a short talk outlined rally plans for the week-end. He spoke of the Oregon spirit, asking all students to "remember at all times that you are an Oregon student."

"Retain a friendly attitude to the visiting team and rooters," he advised.

—Say Hello To Alumni—
EDITORS TO SPEAK

Two of the speakers for the High School conference, December 4 and 5, Marshall N. Dana, associate editor of the Portland Journal, and Arne Rae, editor Tillamook Headlight, have been selected. On Saturday, December 5, Mr. Dana will address the high school editors on the subject "Editing the Editor." Mr. Rae will speak on the subject of advertising.

ALUMNI TO REGISTER

An information bureau for alumni will be conducted in the Administration building throughout the period of registration, which will begin this morning and continue until late Saturday. Tickets for the Homecoming dances can be obtained there. Upon registering the "alums" will receive a paper "O" bearing the Homecoming slogan, "Back—to Back... Oregon" and a space for the name and class. All houses are urged to see that their "alums" register.

—And tonight, Oregon students, both old and new, gather. In four or five short hours, the Homecoming directorate has planned a program that should prove fit for the eve of a Homecoming O. A. C.—Oregon game.

In chronological order, there will be the "pajamarino," the frosh bonfire, the Homecoming rally and the alumni smoker—each event in itself worthy of an entire evening.

Parade Starts at 7:00
The "pajamarino," which this year takes the place of the customary Homecoming noise parade, starts at 7:00 o'clock, according to the edict of Ed Therieau, parade chairman, from the "O," which will be emblazoned on Skinner's butte by a pyrotechnical display.

This display, which will be accompanied by the lighting of torches by the marchers and the flashes of sky-rockets, will be the signal for the starting of the procession, which serpentine down the butte to meet the band, the drum corps and the Order of the "O" at the S. P. fountain.

Serpentine, the "pajamarino," pausing only at shows, restaurants and hotels, will make its way to Old Kincaid field where the "frosh" bonfire will be lighted. Early this morning, the frosh were still working and the success of the pyre was assured.

Rally Program Ready
The rally follows the ceremonies at the bonfire and will be held in the Woman's building.

The rally program was completed yesterday, James Forestel, chairman, announced. Speakers will be Bill Hayward, Bob Mautz, Dick Smith, Charles "Beauty" Robinson and Del Obersteuffer. Yell King Martin will have charge.

George Weber's orchestra, it was announced, will play while several peppy stunts are also included on the program of the rally which, according to Martin, will be positive proof to all "alums" that the old Oregon spirit still lives.

The alumni smoker, with seniors of the University as hosts, will follow the rally. The smoker will be held in the men's gym. This feature, an innovation this year, will hereafter be an annual event, it is planned.

—Say Hello To Alumni—
SIGNIFICANT DECREASE IN INFIRMARY NUMBER

That word "Pajamarino!" Somehow, it gives Dr. F. N. Miller of the dispensary, the shivers. "It suggests undue exposure, and we anticipate quite a crop of sick ones after the week-end," he said in emphasizing the need of students taking better care of themselves during the two or three days of festivities now upon us.

"We probably won't have any one, or, at most, only a few at the infirmary, Saturday, the number already having decreased to practically none. As long as anyone can hobble about at all, he won't come near here, for fear that we will order him to bed, but as soon as the game is over, we'll probably have a full house," he went on, as though speaking from past experience.

Perhaps more care will be taken when the students remember that doctors at the dispensary, as well as anywhere in town, have authority to issue statements that students have been under their care, when ill, and not to excuse them.
