Personal Items Gathered From Former Students Now On Campus

Among the visitors at Susan Campbell hall is Marie Briggs of Salem. Miss Briggs is an ex-'24, and a former journalism major. Before coming to the University Miss Briggs served one term as page in the state senate, and she has since been a legislative clerk, and private secretary to a former state treasurer, acquiring more than the usual familiarity with the way state business is done and with the personalities of those who attend to it.

Three medical Theta Chis are here for Homecoming. Ralph Poston ('23), Dwight Gregg ('22), and Wilbur Bolton ('24). Poston, whose home is in La Grande, was a glee club member while in college. Gregg is an Ashland man. Bolton, from Antelope, is the red-haired member of the trio. Besides which, he's a Phi Beta Kappa.

Melvin Kaegi (ex-'24), of Ashland, is at the Theta Chi house. He's in business in the Lithia Water city.

Velma Farnham, former student and journalism major, is on the campus for Homecoming. Miss Farnham is advertising manager for the Tillamook Herald. While on the campus, she was Oregon editor, 1922-'23, and a member of Mortar Board and Theta Sigma Phi.

Elsie Bolt, who left school last spring on account of ill health is being welcomed back by her many friends on the campus. She looks "hale and hearty" and says she is as well as she ever was. Elsie left in May, and would have graduated in June. "I have spent most of my time at home in Lebanon this summer, getting well," she said.

"Teaching is fine and eastern Oregon isn't half as wild and woolly as I thought," reports Charlotte Newhouse, ex '25, who came down from Heppner, Oregon yesterday for Homecoming. Charlotte handles the commerce department of the Heppner high school.

Frances Simpson, '25 graduate in journalism, arrived on the campus early yesterday from Heppner, Oregon, where she has been occupied this fall instilling the principles of journalism in the minds of small high school literary aspirants. Frances is busy renewing old acquaintances around the shack, and on the campus.

Myron Shannon, class of '25, is back for Homecoming. Myron was manager of the Oregonian in '23 and '24. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Sam Cook, class of '25, varsity letterman, is on the campus for Homecoming. Sam reports that he is running his father's big ranch near Pendleton. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Across the McKenzie Pass from Bend, Margaret Inabnit, graduate in Sociology last spring has journeyed for Homecoming. Margaret is one of the charter members of the new Sociology fraternity, Alpha Kappa Delta. She says she doesn't know what she is going to do this year. She thinks she may continue her studying in Portland.

Jane Gavin, assistant to Dr. Bertha Stuart last year, is on the campus for Homecoming.

August DeWitt, ('24), editor of the Oregonian, star tennis champion, member of the Woman's Order of the "O" and former secretary to Dean Virginia Judy Esterly is on the Oregon campus for Homecoming. Miss DeWitt is now private secretary for President Landers of the Oregon Normal School.

Miss Rosalia Keber '24, day editor of the Emerald, Theta Sigma Phi and Mortar Board, who is now working on the Salem Capital Journal, is here for Homecoming. Miss Keber is staying at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

Jens Tergeson, member of Oregon's backfield for the past two years also arrived early. He registered as a rancher from Pendleton.

COLLEGE PAPERS TO OPPOSE SPORT COMMERCIALISM

Next Convention of P. I. P. A. Will Be Held In Reno At University Of Nevada

In a formal resolution, the Pacific Interscholastic Press Association, composed of editors and business managers of 12 coast university and college newspapers, yesterday decided to embark on a general editorial campaign in opposition to football commercialism.

Officers Are Chosen

This was one of the final acts of the annual conference here which came to a close with a banquet at the Osburn hotel last night.

The next convention to be held in 1926 will take place at the University of Nevada, situated in Reno. The Nevada Sagebrush will be the host.

Other resolutions were:
1. Freedom from faculty supervision and censorship.
2. College papers should be maintained as college newspapers and not as publicity organs for off-campus organizations and enterprises.

3. World news service in papers which are equipped to handle it and which are not handicapped by competition with metropolitan newspapers.

News Service Planned

Reinauguration of the intercollegiate news service was also made by the conference when it was decided to have the California Publications' office act as the clearing house for such news. This office was also appointed secretary of the association.

University credit for major workers on college and university newspapers was advocated by the association.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP WILL NOT BE AWARDED

Dean George Rebec, chairman of the University foreign scholarship committee has announced that the Rhodes scholarship to Oxford University will not be awarded this year in the state of Oregon. Since the scholarship is tenable for three years, there will be one year out of every three in which there will be no election.

Mrs. Clara Fitch, secretary of the foreign scholarship committee, Dean Rebec will give advice for those who are to qualify next year.

A candidate to be eligible must be a male citizen of the United States, unmarried, between the age of nineteen and twenty-five; and he must have completed his sophomore year in college.

Candidates are selected by their own college or university according to qualities of literary and scholastic ability, physical vigor, force of character, leadership and qualities of manhood. These details are also considered by the state committee in the final selection.

The stipend has been raised from 350 pounds a year to 400 pounds, which is equivalent in American money to about $2,000. It has been found that even this sum is not sufficient to meet the increase in the cost of living in England.

NEW SCENE FOR AGGIE-OREGON GAME OPPOSED

Alumni of the University decided by a unanimous vote yesterday morning at their semi-annual meeting to go on record as opposing the transfer of the O. A. C.-Oregon game to Portland in the future. No game to Portland in the future. At the same session, president and secretary were reelected.

"You don't see Stanford or California moving up to San Francisco for their games; Homecoming wouldn't be Homecoming without a game with our old rival;" "It is commercializing the game;" "We must remember that we owe something to the campus and Eugene;" were typical sentiments expressed in the discussion of the proposed scheme.

Committee Suggested

A recommendation was made and approved that the Alumni council appoint a visiting committee composed of six alumni, one being a faculty member, another a regent, and three others not connected officially with the University but chosen from the three congressional districts of the state, and the president of the Association, ex-officio member.

The chief function of the visiting committee would be to make an official visit to the University once a year and submit a written report to the Alumni Association and Council. It was particularly stressed that the attitude of the committee should be a constructive rather than destructive one.

Before the committee will actually function, the sanction of the faculty and the regents will be sought, Harold Young, president of the association pointed out.

New Publication Considered

Mr. Young reported that in Alumni Council meeting the proposition that "Old Oregon," official publication of Oregon Alumni, be consolidated with a new publication which is being forwarded on the campus, and be put under student control. As no definite plan had been formulated by the students here, the association was able to take no action, but referred it back for student development with favorable comment.

A motion was made and passed that a satisfactory field secretarial service for the Alumni association be established throughout the state. Mr. Harold Young, '14 and Miss Jeannette Calkins, '18 were unanimous (Continued on page three)

OREGON ALUMNI INFLUX BREAKS FORMER RECORD

More Oregon alumni and ex-students were "back to back our Oregon" this year than at any previous homecoming, according to Miss Jeannette Calkins, alumni secretary.

Although complete registration figures had not been compiled last night, it was believed the total of visiting "alums" would be more than 3000.

The grads have come from far and near and they represent nearly all professions. Each graduating class, it was thought, had at least one representative. Ellen McCornack, class of 1878, the first graduating class of the University has registered. Mrs. McCornack was the only woman in that class, which had an enrollment of five students. She is the daughter of Dr. Condon, early Oregon geologist, for whom Condon hall is named. Mrs. McCornack has done considerable work along that line.

"An unusual feature of this Homecoming is that every one of the eleven members of the Alumni Council, except Dr. Harold Bean, of Portland, was here," said Miss Calkins. That is a record attendance, she said.

At the meeting of the council, the members voted to thank the student committees for the splendid work done on the Homecoming plans, and especially James Leake, for his excellent work as chairman of the committee. The process of registration was facilitated this year by the use of registration cards, according to Miss Calkins. In former years the registering was done in a book and took a much longer time. The cards will be filed and used to check alumni files and for news items for Old Oregon.

FROSH FALLS FROM PILE

The last night of bonfire building was rather a painful one for Mervin Chastain, freshman and Phi Delta Theta pledge, who suffered a dislocated shoulder as a result of a fall from the top of the pile of materials. Chastain lost his balance and fell about four feet when he was caught by some protruding object. According to spectators it was necessary to get a block and tackle to remove him from the pile. The physician who was called to replace the joint reports that the boy is none the worse for the experience.

OREGON UNABLE TO WITHSTAND BEAVER ATTACK

Webfoot Penalties Destroy Team's Scoring Chances; Aerial Plays Little Used

By Web Jones

Moving with speed, deception and power, the line-plunging attack of the big Oregon Aggie eleven crashed through the Oregon varsity yesterday afternoon on rainswept Hayward field by the score of 24 to 13.

By official account, 22,200 spectators, the largest crowd to attend a game in the history of the state, witnessed the battle.

Coach Schisler's team failed to open up its aerial attack and relied on heavy plunging and conservative football for its points. The super-accurate toe of Wes Schulmerich and his line plunging were the outstanding features of their backfield.

Oregon Offense Good

Oregon's offense was far better than it had been this year but the defense failed in the pinches. Real power was shown near the start of the second quarter when the team marched down the field from its own 35 yard line, on 16 plays, to a touchdown. "Locomotive" Jones, the human steam roller, carried the ball for 40 yards in this drive.

The first score of the game came ten minutes after the Beavers received the ball on a kick on Oregon's 35 yard line.

Snier, Denman, Edwards, and Schulmerich started a steady drive for the goal line, reeling off five and ten yards to a play over the line. The line plunging was wound up by a clever end run for the touchdown, the shifty Denman taking it over.

Punting Is Persistent

Vie Wetzel's punting was not consistent. He got off some kicks above average but his short ones took down his average. Snider of O. A. C. out-did himself in the kicking department. Oregon had a distinct advantage, however.

The second Oregon touchdown came as the result of a blocked punt on O. A. C.'s 6 yard line. Bob Mautz, playing his best game this year, was responsible for the score. He rushed Snider of his feet and fell on the ball. Three line-pounding plays by Jones and Vitis carried it over.

Aggies Place Kick

Twice Oregon was within scoring distance, but through penalties was unable to carry the pigskin over. O. A. C. did not rely on the much touted place kicking of Wes Schulmerich until near the end of the game when quarterback Edwards maneuvered his team into position and the halfback booted the ball over the goal posts. Three times the Aggies were within kicking distance but did not attempt it.

The heart was taken out of the Oregon team by costly fumbles and heavy penalties at critical times. Two penalties of 15 yards each in one quarter set the varsity so far back they were unable to retrieve the distance in the period.

Teams Open Np

It began to look like a track meet in the last half when the polished passing attacks were let loose. The backfields of both teams played "toss the ball" and a fast one from Denman to Edwards netted 38 yards. Schulmerich heaved another one to Edwards for a good gain. Then Louie Anderson opened up. Anderson to Mautz, to Jones, and to Vitis netted over 30
