MRS. GERLINGER SPEAKS

Idea of Memorial To Late President Urged

Laying of the cornerstone of the proposed fine arts building of the University as a part of the ceremonies attending the University's semi-centennial next fall was suggested by Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, member of the board of regents, in a luncheon address at the Eugene chamber of commerce yesterday.

"I am asking $100,000 from the people of Eugene as their contribution to the $300,000 fund required for the building," said Mrs. Gerlinger. "As I look back over the years of my connection with the institution, I can see that the present University is in great part the outgrowth of the fine spirit of one man, and that man is President Campbell. I see this spirit of his reflected in the faculty and the administration carrying on the work."

Talk With President Related

"This building," Mrs. Gerlinger, continued, "is to be in a sense his monument, and it is entirely fitting that it should be so." A number of years ago, the speaker related, she asked the President what building he would prefer to have named after him, in connection with the general building program, then under discussion. "With his accustomed modesty," she said, "President Campbell replied that he did not expect that any building should be named after him. I then urged that since without question one day there would be such a building we should like to know which one he would prefer, and he replied, 'The fine arts building.'" The late President's lifelong love of art and beauty was brought out by the speaker, who told of her last conversation with Dr. Campbell, then gravely ill, at which time he still looked forward to a trip to Greece and to Rome, where he might drink in beauties denied to him by his busy life as an administrator.

Money Gained At Exposition

"We owe it to the future," she continued, "to make the new part of the campus, on which the fine arts building would be erected, as beautiful as possible."

Mrs. Gerlinger reported $10,000 raised for the building by a letter campaign she put on several months ago. The exact returns from the All-Oregon Exposition, held in Portland early in October, are to be announced within a few days. The exposition, she asserted, had won friends as well as money for the institution, beyond the expectations of the promoters. The need for the building to house the valuable art collections already given or promised to the University, was stressed by the speaker, who pointed out that the present Woman's building where the priceless Warner collection of oriental art objects is kept, is not even fire-proof.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS TO SPEAK IN EUGENE

At an open meeting of the railway officials representing the Great Northern, to be held Friday, November 20, the northwest railway situation, a subject of statewide interest, will be discussed, according to announcement made yesterday by Peter Crockatt, professor of economics. The meeting, originally set for Villard hall, has been changed to the chamber of commerce rooms.

The question for discussion is of intense interest to all of Oregon. Dr. Peter Crockatt said, due to the possibilities which may arise in the furthering of railroad development in the state.

The railway party, which consists of M. L. Countryman, St. Paul, vice-president and general counsel of the Great Northern Railway; G. E. Martin, St. Paul, vice-president of the Great Northern; and S. D. Morris, Chicago, assistant to the chairman of public relations for all railways west of Chicago, sent a special request to Eugene asking permission and a prospective date to give this discussion.

"The importance of such a meeting can be noted, as these men who will speak represent a billion dollar corporation and have asked permission to discuss the situation before citizens of the state," Professor Crockatt said. "In all probability, it will develop into one of the biggest railway meetings ever held in the state of Oregon."

Economics classes on the campus will be addressed in the afternoon.

MEN VOLUNTEER SKIN TO SAVE CHILD'S LIFE

Four University students, Duncan Dashney, Proctor Flanagan, Dick Simonton and Roy Wheelhouse, figured in a skin-grafting operation, one of the largest ever performed in a local hospital, to save the life of Marjorie Hamilton, small daughter of J. M. Hamilton, 1157 High street last week.

The child, whose clothing caught fire while she was at play, was so badly burned about the back and shoulders, that immediate grafting was necessary, and doctors and nurses in the Pacific Christian hospital contributed as much as possible. Dr. O. C. Sether, who performed the operation, and who is affiliated with the Sigma Chi fraternity, called upon the local chapter for help and the four boys volunteered. It was necessary to peel from two to three inches of skin, two layers deep, from the upper leg of each person to cover the girl's injuries. She is responding well to the treatment, and the boys' legs, although the grafting was painful, are healing rapidly.

FIRST RECITAL TO BE GIVEN BY INSTRUCTOR

The school of music has a very active program outlined for the coming year, according to Dean Lansbury. The first event of the season will be the recital to be given by George Hopkins, assistant professor of piano, next Wednesday evening at 8:30, in the school of music auditorium.

Hopkins is a graduate of the University of Oregon in the class of 1921, and while attending the university was quite active in student affairs, being a member of Friars and Phi Mu Alpha. Upon his graduation, he became an instructor in piano in the school of music and also assisted in the direction of the women's glee club. In 1922 he was granted a leave of absence for two years, which he spent in New York studying piano and composition.

He returned to the University as assistant professor of piano. His recital Wednesday evening will be his first appearance since his return and in it he will feature a group of his own compositions. The program will start promptly at 8:30.

LIBRARY PUBLISHES OREGON VOTER INDEX

Science Academy Records Of California Procured

The subject index to the Oregon Voter is now completed. The reference department has published this index because of the large number of students and faculty members using the Oregon Voter for statistical information.

The Oregon Voter contains all statistics relative to Oregon's political, educational, economical and industrial institutions. M. H. Douglass, says it is the most used set of Oregon material in the library.

Extra copies of the index are being sent to the Oregon state library, the Oregon Agricultural College, and to the publishers of Oregon Voter.

After trying for fifteen years, the library has procured a complete set of the Proceedings of the California Academy of Science. It consists of volumes one to five, dating from 1854 to 1873. The books were bought at a second hand store in San Francisco.

The original copies of the Academy were all destroyed in the San Francisco fire and it is with much difficulty that even a second hand set is obtained. Mr. Douglass feels that the library is very fortunate in getting this one.

SWIMMERS TO BEGIN PRACTICE FOR YEAR

Varsity and freshman candidates for the swimming teams will open practice Wednesday at 4:00 p. m. in the men's gymnasium pool, states Ed Abercrombie, who is varsity swimming coach this year.

Practice for both varsity and first year men will be on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 4, until after Christmas vacation, stated the coach.

At the present time it is impossible to determine the strength of this year's team, but several lettermen are expected to report. The fancy divers, who have been working on tumbling for the past few weeks, will take to the water Wednesday evening at 7, says Abercrombie. "This work is to be in the women's pool, and practices hereafter will come on Wednesday and Friday at 7 p. m. sharp."

All divers are expected to report also in the men's gymnasium on Thursday and Friday for tumbling," he stated. This work is in addition to the regular work in the pool.

ORATORS TO TRY OUT ABOUT JANUARY 12

Debate oratory tryouts for the entire year will be held about January 12, according to J. Stanjei Gray, head forensics coach. Orators to represent the University in all of its five or six intercollegiate contests of the year will be selected at that time.

Mr. Gray suggested that those men or women in the University who contemplated going out for this year's speaking contests should decide the event they wish to enter and get to work at once on their manuscripts. He desires students interested to see him at once.

Contests to be held this year, in which Oregon students will be represented are: Tri-State contest, Idaho, Washington, Oregon; Pacific Forensic league contest; State Old Line contest, and State Peace contest; National Constitutional contest.

Extremely significant is the variation in the percentage of F's. From 26.63 in Political Science, and 11.55 in Men's physical education, the percentage dwindles to .39 in Sociology and .24 in Fine Arts.

Dragging down the I's seems also to be somewhat a matter of departmental registration. Military gives I's in 31.92 percent of all grades. Music follows closely with I's making up 27.83 percent, while Drama shows 24.24. Economics with 2.95 and Political Science with 3.26

Intra-Mural Basketball Resumes; Elimination Games Coming Soon

Psi Kappa squad and the Lambda Psi's five. With this contest the second round will terminate. Then the stage will be set for the third round.

When the third round is through but three teams will be left in competition. These teams will fight it out the following week for the highest honor on the campus given to any intra-mural athletic team, that of the "winner of the doughnut title." They will be the acclaimed victors of the athletic circle.

Players "Hopped Up"

This honor is but part of the reason the players want to prove themselves, it is rumored, as several secret statements have blown forth to the effect that some team of unknown name is out to win the championship, and that some other team is out to stop them.

This in itself tends to hop-up the players and some fighting game, of the combination of football-baseball-track-basketball will be seen on the court in the men's gymnasium this week and next.
