If these two stations, operated by the Portland Oregonian and the Oakland, California, Tribune, are willing to cooperate with the University again this year, debates by radio will probably take place next spring with a California university.

Grid-Graph Party Today Is Expected To Pay for Machine

Out with your shekels everybody and buy a ticket to the gridgraph! Ted Gillenwaters says that if the student body turns out and backs the showing of the California-Stanford game the net proceeds will pay the last installment on the gridgraph.

At the meeting yesterday, Order of the O men agreed to support the affair and further it as much as possible.

This game is to be one of the most important of the year and the fact that it will be shown on the gridgraph in minutest detail, making it possible for everyone to follow it carefully, is decidedly in its favor.

Tickets are on sale at all the houses for 35 cents. Reserved seats will be held for the football team and they will be the guests of the student body in this respect.

Dancing will start at 2:00 and will last till 5:00. There will be plenty of room for everyone, says Gillenwaters.

Several other girls from Washington University are expected early this morning. Mortar Board is a well-known honorary society for senior women. Only five women were elected last spring for membership this year. They are: Eloise Buck, president, Louise Inabnit, Janet Wood, Margaret Boyer and Dorothy Meyer. Girls are chosen for this society on the basis of leadership in activities and scholastic standing.

OREGON GRAD GETS BARTOL FELLOWSHIP

Dr. Arthur Bramley, who was graduated from the University of Oregon in December, 1922, has recently been appointed Bartol Fellow of the Bartol Research Foundation of the Franklin Institute, at Philadelphia, and has now taken up his work there.

While at Oregon, Dr. Bramley majored in physics. After his graduation in December, he remained until the spring of 1923 at the University.

He then received the Experimental Science Fellowship at Princeton, where he was awarded his Ph.D. last spring.

The laboratories of the Bartol Research Foundation are equipped with all primary essentials for investigations in modern physics, particularly those pertaining to fundamental problems in electricity. From time to time the foundation will appoint fellows who will pursue investigations in its laboratories.

PRINCE LUCIAN CAMPBELL

Late president of University in whose honor memorial services will be held tomorrow.

UNIVERSITY MAY SEND Y. W. DELEGATE EAST

An invitation to the national biennial convention of Y. W. C. A. delegates was read at a meeting of the campus organization's cabinet Wednesday evening. The convention will be held in April at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The possibility of sending a representative from the campus was discussed, and methods for securing finances for the trip were suggested. No definite plans were formulated. Smaller colleges sometimes send a delegate jointly by pooling expenses. Miss Florence Magowan, secretary, says that if the University is represented at all it will probably be by one of its own students.

Representatives from all departments of the Y. W. C. A. attend the national conventions. A portion of each day is set aside for student meetings which are called national student assemblies.

The convention committee urges that the University of Oregon send a delegate, and points out in the letter of invitation some of the benefits to be gained at such a gathering. The goal set for the entire northwest section is 15 students.

FORTY STUDENTS VOTE FOR NEW PUBLICATION

Rolf Klep Named Chairman Of Executive Committee

Oregon should have a literary publication of some sort, was the opinion of the 40 students and faculty who met yesterday afternoon in 105 Journalism. An executive committee, was appointed by Ed Miller, who acted as chairman. The committee consisted of Rolf Klep, chairman; Philippa Sherman, Mary J. Shelley, Douglas Wilson, Carvel Nelson, Robert Lane, and Glen Burch. This group will look into the matter more closely, and see just what steps are most advisable.

The question of financial backing, which has been the unsolved problem of all former literary magazines on the campus was discussed by student members of the group and Dean Eric Allen, of the school of journalism. A committee formerly appointed had drawn up a dummy, based upon an amalgamation of the proposed magazine with Old Oregon, the University alumni publication. A majority vote of those assembled, however, preferred an independent publication, provided it could be made financially possible. Otherwise they would consent to the suggested oblation.

The amalgamation would combine the alumni news with stories, both serious and humorous, cartoons, news and articles of the University, features, essays, and all general forms of expression. There (Continued on page four)

FUTURISTIC ART ARMORY ATTIRE FOR INFORMAL

Mystery Surrounds Dance Features For Evening; Programs Are Appropos

The last dab of paint had been applied, the final piece of drapery hung, every bit of decoration was in its place, and the mess of debris removed from the floor when a sigh of relief went up from the group of faithful sophomores who early this morning viewed the result of their efforts in the armory, the scene of the annual sophomore informal tonight.

The decorations and color scheme, which is probably the most distinctive developed on the campus in several years, combined with subdued lights, and pulsating music, will provide a source of never ending happy remembrances which will be haunting you in future years.

A. Lawrence Decorator

Clever programs which match the combination of modern and futuristic art in the decorations will furnish a motif for many a memory book. Ab Lawrence, who has been the guiding spirit in the origination of the decorations and general plans for the dance, is to be congratulated upon the marvelous effect he has obtained.

A veil of mystery surrounds the features which the committee is arranging for, mysterious things generally are good and this will not be an exception to the rule, according to Bert Randall, general chairman of the dance.

"SINGING FEATHERS" PLACED IN LIBRARY

"Singing Feathers," by Theodore Acland Harper, is one of the 31 new books which have been added to the general collection at the library. Three others are, "Amateur Collector," by Dr. George C. Williamson; "Life of John Hay," by William Roscoe Thayer; and "Taming of the Frontier."

"Taming of the Frontier," is written by several authors. It is made up of stories of western cities. The story of Portland, entitled, "A Pilgrim's Progress," is written by Dean Collins. A third edition copy of "Pinochio," by C. Colodi, translated from the Italian by Carol Della Chiesa, has been purchased for the Homer collection. It is a large book with dark blue binding and gold lettering. It is decorated throughout with full page illustrations done in colors by Attilio Mussino. On the outside front cover there is an illustration of "Pinochio," which is also done in colors. The book was printed in Italy by R. Bemporad and Figlio.

PITTSBURGH PLAYER, GRAD, VISITS CAMPUS

Carson Bigbee, most illustrious of the three Bigbee boys—Myron, Carson, and Lyle—who starred on the Oregon diamond a decade ago, was a campus visitor yesterday.

Bigbee, a member of the World's Champion Pittsburg Pirates, is visiting at the home of Mrs. Bigbee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nort, of this city. He started for Eugene when the series ended, six weeks ago, but idled his way along, camping, hunting, and fishing en route.

Carson Bigbee and his brothers played for Oregon when Bezdek was coach. When Bezdek became manager of the Pittsburg National League team, Bigbee accompanied his former mentor to the Smokey City.

He was instrumental in bringing the title to Pittsburg this year by crashing out a double in the eighth inning of the crucial game. He went in as a pinch hitter with his team one score behind, and drove out the winning bingle.

FRESHMAN WRESTLING PROSPECTS BRIGHTER

Conference To Plan Games For Coming Season

Prospects for an active freshman wrestling season are brighter this year than ever before, according to Earl Widmer, varsity wrestling coach. He recently received an invitation to attend a conference of high school and college freshman wrestling enthusiasts to be held in Portland, Saturday afternoon.

The purpose of the meeting, according to a letter to the wrestling coach, is to bring about a standardization of the rules governing this class of competition, and to allow the representatives of the different institutions to arrange their schedules for the 1926 season.

Heretofore the Oregon freshmen matmen have been hampered by the lack of competition, the only meet of the year being with the O. A. C. rooks. Consequently, when these men became eligible for the varsity team, their inexperience proved a severe handicap to the varsity as well as to the men.

This year, however, the frosh will probably meet several of the stronger high school teams in the state, Oregon's future varsity teams will be greatly aided, and the already increasing interest in wrestling will take a decided jump.

At the northwest amateur invitational boxing and wrestling meet, held in Portland recently by the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, Leroy Oxford and Burl Betzer, represented the University of Oregon, and made a very favorable showing, declared the coach.

DEBATE MEN PREPARE FOR FUTURE CONTESTS

Triangles Arranged With Four Western Colleges

Oregon debaters for the triangle with University of Washington and University of Idaho have begun preparation on the question, "Resolved: That the United States should have a separate department for the army, the navy, and the air service."

There will be five men working on the two sides, affirmative and negative. They are: Ralph Bailey, pre-law, and Dudley Clark, sophomore in economics, who will compose the affirmative side. Men who will work on the negative are: Jack Hempstead, sophomore in journalism, and Mark Taylor, sophomore in business administration. The fifth man will be chosen by J. Stanley Gray, head forensic coach, in the next few days.

The five men who are working on the Chinese question which will be used in the first intercollegiate debate which is with O. A. C. on December 10, are meeting three times a week. Intensive training is being given them due to the approach of the contest.

Other men on the squad recently chosen for the entire year will be used in the other two debates, one is a dual with University of Southern California. The other is a triangle now with University of Bristol Columbia and another institution, which is being arranged.

Freshmen men debaters are working on the Federal subsidies question under Robert D. Horn, assistant forensic coach. The team is divided as follows: affirmative; John Galey, George Belloni, and Joe McKeown. Negative: Roy Herndon, Avery Thompson, and Melvin Johnson.

Ethelyn Forrest, Charlotte Winnard, Sinferso Padillo, and perhaps one or two more University of Oregon students will motor to Corvallis in the later part of this afternoon to attend part of the Oregon Student Volunteer convention at O. A. C.

The convention opened yesterday evening and the last session will be held some time Sunday afternoon. Those attending the convention from the University of Oregon plan to attend the banquet and evening session of the conference this evening. One feature will be the re-union of the Oregon delegates who attended the Student Volunteer Convention at Indianapolis last year, who will all sit at one table.

Student delegates from Willamette, McMinnville, Pacific, the University of Oregon, and other educational institutions in Oregon are attending the convention.

X-RAY MACHINE IS REPAIRED

The dispensary X-Ray machine, which was not used for a while, awaiting new equipment, is now running, and an average of two or three cases is handled each day. The special room used has been re-wired and a new tube stand received so that better work may be done than in former years. A small charge is made for this work as for medicines and dressings, to cover expenses of the same.

Large Audience Expected; Devotional Program Will Replace Regular Vespers

Gilbert of Portland will read this program, while Judge Lawrence T. Harris of Eugene will be the principal speaker.

Students are urged by Bob Hunt, chairman of the student committee in charge of arrangements, to turn out in a body, as this is their first opportunity to show appreciation of the twenty-three years of service devoted by President Campbell to his position as head of this institution. Friends of the late executive, residents of Eugene, and faculty of the University are expected in such numbers by the committee that to accommodate everyone the women's gymnasium will be used instead of the Music building, where the usual Vesper services are held.
