

Oregon Daily Emerald Editorial Page

Edward M. Miller Editor WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1925 Frank H. Loggall Manager

Sol Abramson Managing Editor
 Jalmar Johnson Associate Managing Editor
 News and Editor Phones, 655

Harold Kirk Associate Editor
 Webster Jones Sports Editor
 Philippa Sherman Feature Editor

Wayne Leland Associate Manager
 Business Office Phone 1895

Day Editors
 Wilbur Wester
 Mildred Carr
 Esther Davis

Night Editors
 Lynn Wykoff
 Ronald Sellers
 Paul Luy

Upper News Staff
 Mary Benton
 Margaret Vincent

News Staff
 Mary Baker
 Jack Hempstead
 Claudia Fletcher
 Lylah McMurphy
 William Schulz
 Mary Conn
 Barbara Elythe
 Pauline Stewart
 Jane Dudley
 Grace Fisher

Business Staff
 Si Slocum Advertising Manager
 Calvin Horn Advertising Manager
 Advertising Assistants: Milton George, Paul Sletton, Emerson Hazzerty, Sam Kinley, Vernon McGee, Bob Nelson, Ruth McDowell, Dick Hoyt, Web Jones, John Davis, James Manning, Foreign Advertising Manager
 James Manning Circulation Manager
 Alex Scott Assistant Circulation Manager
 France McKenna Circulation Assistant
 A. R. Scott Circulation Assistant
 Mary Conn, Mable Franson, Specialty Advertising
 Office Administration: Marion Pfy, Herbert Lewis, Ben Bethews, Frances Hare

The Oregon Daily Emerald, official publication of the Associated Students of the college year. Member of Pacific Intercollegiate Press Association. Entered in the postoffice at Eugene, Oregon, as second-class matter. Subscription rates, $2.25 per year. Advertising rates upon application. Phone—Editor, 1320; Manager, 721.

Day Editor—Geneva Drum Night Editor—Paul Luy Assistant—Earl Raess

Putting the Girls Where They Belong; A Matter of Good Sense and Economy

With all the seriousness of a Punch and Judy show, Mrs. Irene Gerlinger, University regent, advocates, in reply to the suggestion that O. A. C. and Oregon be united under one head, that a single plant be operated under a 24-hour day, with three eight-hour shifts, the first shift to be called the normal school, the second the college, and the third the university. As the president of any institution faces a 24-hour task anyway, that would not interfere with the plan. This, says Mrs. Gerlinger, would be the ideal solution, provided a paid board of three members of the prevailing political party be substituted for a president, since running school affairs is like running a farm or a home, and really doesn't take any fitness or preparation, being simply a matter of inspiration.

Such economies! Where on earth did she get such funny ideas? We quite agree that the traveling board of politicians would be a wonderful substitute for a president; in fact, we are rather selfishly chagrined that Mrs. Gerlinger thought of the idea before we did. But as for the rest of her proposition—that pertaining to the establishing of a three-shift day—we think the idea is all wrong, to say the least.

The Emerald has figured out a much more feasible, and, we believe, more intelligent solution for this lamentable situation (as affairs now stand) than the one our regent presented. The main point in favor of our solution is that it will be highly popular with all the college and university folk of the state, whereas Mrs. Gerlinger's wouldn't get by even a little bit.

The Emerald solution, given with the hope of bringing about the desired ends of more economy and more politics and less scholarship is as follows, to wit:

(1) For a president of Oregon colleges and universities establish a board of three paid politicians. (Apologies and thanks to Mrs. I. H. G.)

(2) (The Emerald's own idea) Establish two great state colleges, putting all the women from Oregon Normal, Oregon Agricultural College, and the University of Oregon, at the present O. A. C. campus, and all men from the above three institutions at the present University.

As soon as the big idea is grasped—women at O. A. C. and men at Oregon—the multitudinous advantages from the proposition literally benumb one with their magnificence.

First of all, consider the marvelous football team next year with Jones and Schulmerich playing together. We wouldn't even need a coach and with the money saved could establish a free student bus service between Corvallis and Eugene.

The saving in clothing and entertainment would be most ponderous. The men would wear overalls, and the women bonnets and aprons. Gone would be the golf knickers and the marceles with the accompanying costs; and great would be the rejoicing in the hearts of the fathers and mothers to see the appearance of the blue denim.

Another important item would be to get all the girls enrolled in the home economics department at O. A. C. Girls are naturally fitted for that sort of thing, in fact, very few are able to do anything more complicated than housework. Therefore, to put them in their own element would be the kindest thing the legislature could possibly do.

Getting the ag. department at Eugene would be a great advantage to the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, as everyone knows that Eugene soil is better than that of Corvallis, and a removal of the experiment stations to the land of oil wells would merely substantiate the truth.

Last, but not least, this action would decrease the divorce rate in Oregon, since there would be fewer marriages.

Of course the single difficulty that presents itself in this proposition is that the wear and tear on the pavement between Corvallis and Eugene would be quite severe. But since the State Highway Commission has to worry about that, we won't mention it to the taxpayers.

By this time Mrs. Gerlinger will have realized her error. We shall be pleased to print a statement of her unqualified approval of our plan whenever she finds it convenient to drop us a card.

DEPARTMENT ISSUES EDUCATION MAGAZINE

The November issue of "The High School," a publication issued by the school of education at the University for the interests of secondary education in Oregon and the Northwest, has recently been published. This magazine is issued quarterly and the current issue is the first this term.

Feature articles are "The Dalton Plan at Newberg" by James T. Hamilton, superintendent of schools at Newberg, Oregon; "The Library of the Small High School" by Cora L. Turnridge, librarian of the University high school; and "Teaching Costs in Oregon High Schools" by Harold Benjamin, former principal of the University high school and now an instructor at Stanford. Professor Hari R. Douglass is the editor of the publication.

MUSIC RECEIVED BY LIBRARY

The University library recently secured from Rex Underwood, 56 copies of orchestral scores and chamber music, including compositions of Schumann, Dvorak, Brahms, and Mozart. These are copies Underwood brought from France last summer.

GRADUATE PUBLISHES GEOLOGY TEXT BOOK

Dorothy Dixon, '25, who was a major in the University geology department, and who is now full time assistant in the University library, has just completed a bibliography of the geology and geography of the state of Oregon, which is taken from the earliest known records of the present time. The bibliography contains short articles, bulletins, and books; and was begun by Rachel Husband, who graduated from Oregon four years ago. There are 1057 articles, also a subject and author index.

"I have tried to make it just as comprehensive as possible, by cross references," said Miss Dixon, who has done reference and research work in the University of Oregon, Portland, University of Washington, Stanford, and Berkeley, libraries. The work was started in 1921, and has now been approved by the University committee on publications, and will go to press in a few weeks.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Alpha Chi Omega announces the pledging of Olive Jessie Banks, of Silverton.

SEVEN SEERS

AMONG THE MANY THINGS WE GIVE THANKS FOR ON THANKSGIVING DAY IS THE FACT THAT IT'S A HOLIDAY.

THE PRIZE WINNER FOR TODAY

We sincerely believe that Hal Bromfield, who maintains such a tasty and elaborate boudoir up at the A. T. O. castle, deserves this dainty luster-ware tea set, so that he can correctly entertain his many friends and admirers who drop in at the tea hour. We do not wish to imply by this that Hal is a tea-hound.

Speaking of limericks, how's this for the result of a pleasant five minutes' time? Needless to say, it would help considerably to revive our knowledge of the old language. Try it next time you have a spare moment.

Fuit olim Romanus rex Nero,
 Quen agi ut mœreatur spero,
 Dum Roma incendit,
 Fiddibus cecinit;

Fuit vir selestimissimus vero.
 Which means in everyday English: There once was a Roman king, Nero, who would probably give $100,000 for a drink of ice water right now. When the City Hall was on fire, he refused to help the fire department, and even went so far as to play the fiddle meanwhile. Oh, gee, wasn't he a heck of a wicked guy!

OH, YES, MR. KELLY
 Western Union Telegram referred to Etiquette Department of Seven Seers:

FOR FIRST TIME IN LIFE AM IN QUANDRY STOP AS LIONEL STRONGFORT HAVE ASKED ME TO TEA AT EUGENE HOTEL STOP HE REFUSES TO WEAR ANYTHING BUT BATHING SUIT STOP WHAT SHALL I WEAR QUESTION MARK OLIVIA VAN ENDA OLIVIA VAN ENDA HOTEL TERMINAL MERELY MATTER OF FORM STOP SUGGEST YOU WEAR AIR OF MYSTERY STOP ETIQUETTE DEPARTMENT

Be that as it may, we saw an ad in a downtown music store that read like this:

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS AND ACCORDIANS

This week's cyanide sherbet goes to Jack Seabrook and his latest of "lotsa wise klocks." Jack wants the pun pulled this way:

Jack (or any wisecracker): "You can't beat these women. Here they are wearing their stockings in sausage fashion."
 Victim: "Sausage fashion—how come?"

Jack: "Hot, Hot! Below Knees. Hot, Hot!"

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

"Pardon me, Miss, but your petticoat is showing."

Recent snapshot of Ted Gillenwaters, erstwhile basket-maker, heart-breaker and after-dinner speech-maker, making an emphatic announcement of the fact that pigging will be allowed for those who will remain here for the holidays and who plan on seeing the Wash-Ore game over the grid-graph. Those who attend the matinee dance that afternoon will see that Ted means what he says to such an extent he carries his plans in detail.

In hopes that there will be as lusty a flock of communications to take up extra space in today's paper we'll let the column go at that.

P. S. We nearly forgot to remind you not to forget yourselves over the week-end, even though you haven't had a square meal since you left home. SEVEN SEERS.

PROMINENT MEN AGREE TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

With the exception of a few speakers, the program for the annual high school conference to be held December 4 and 5, is complete. Copy for the official two-day program has not yet been turned over to the printers, according to Carl Dahl, general chairman of the conference, but will be ready soon.

Speakers of note from various parts of the Pacific coast have agreed to address the high school delegates when they assemble here. Dean Marion Brown, of Oakland, California; Marshal N. Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal; Arne Rae, editor of the Tillamook Herald; C. A. Howard, Marshfield; Rex Putnam, Redmond, Oregon; and James C. Nelson, Salem; all state educators, are among those who have already accepted the request to speak.

A special edition of the University News Bulletin is being sent out today to the various high schools in order to acquaint them with the program and features of the conference.

Theatres

COMING—Charles Chaplin in "The Gold Rush."

REX—first day: Bebe Daniels in "Lovers in Quarantine," a sparkling romantic comedy of ludicrous situations, pep and personality, with Harrison Ford and a clever supporting cast; Jimmy Adams comedy, "Fair But Foolish;" Kingogram news events; Dorothy Wyman, maid o' melody, in musical comedy settings on the organ.

COMING—Rin Tin Tin, the wonder dog, in "Tracked in the Snow Country," with June Marlowe and Mitchell Lewis.

HELLIG—Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, Douglas McLean in "Introduce Me." Thursday night association vaudeville.

McDONALD—first day: James Cruze's heroic romance of the lightning riders of the old frontier, "The Pony Express," with Wallace Beery, Betty Compson, Ricardo Cortez and Ernest Torrence heading a cast of Paramount players 2,000 strong; Felix, the cat, cartoon comedy; Frank D. C. Alexander, wizard of the Wurlitzer, in atmospheric and setting on the organ.

Classified Ads

FOR SALE—Prof. Reddie's former home on Birch Lane. An extraordinary home, style and architecture entirely different compared to other homes. A long list of furniture and furnishings can be bought with this property. The furniture being mostly Teakwood. Can show property by appointment only. Phone 742, 882-J. Dennis J. Koupal.

FOUND—Pair of glasses. Inquire at Emerald business office. Owner may have same by paying for this advertisement.

REWARD—for any information leading to discovery of heavy dark blue overcoat. Size 40. Stolen from Oregon bldg. Nov. 20. Clayton, 1785-L.

LOST—Gold fountain pen with initials, "B. M. A." somewhere on the ground floor of the Oregon building at noon last Monday. Finder please leave at Emerald office.

LOST—Unbreakable fountain pen, owner's name on it. Finder please call 1895 or 721.

ANNOUNCEMENT
 Sigma Chi announces the pledging of James Johnson of Oakland, California.

LEVEN OAK
 Service Station
 Quick, clean, efficient service will be our policy.
 Free Crank Case Service
 RUN IN AND GAS
 WITH US
 Dorris & Smith 11th & Oak

The largest selling quality pencil in the world

17 black degrees
 3 copying

Superlative in quality, the world-famous

VENUS PENCILS

give best service and longest wear.

Buy a dozen

Plain ends, per doz. $1.00
 Rubber ends, per doz. 1.20
 at all dealers
 American Lead Pencil Co.
 220 Fifth Ave., N. Y.

Your Photograph
 A Treasured Christmas Gift
 TELEPHONE 1697 FOR APPOINTMENT

Kennell-Ellis
 PORTRAIT STUDIOS
 961 Willamette Street
 Next to Rex Theatre Telephone 1697

"WHEN THE FROST IS ON THE PUMPKIN"
 Then It's Thanksgiving!
 Come—Seat Yourself and Guests at Our Table

Don't hesitate, bring your guests to our eating place. They will relish the sumptuous courses planned for our Thanksgiving Dinner.

PETER PAN

As an Appreciation

We have authorized our advertising agency to place this advertisement in the Emerald.

The College men and women of the University of Oregon, as patrons of our line, have been quick to see the advantages of stage travel—frequent schedules—up-to-date equipment—and courtesy on the part of our operators.

Vacation Time is coming—the stages are at your service.

Oregon Stages

Travel by Motor Stage
 Safely Comfortably