

CHEMISTS PLAN NEWS SERVICE

Dr. Williams Elected Head
Of Oregon Group

NATIONAL SCHEME GIVEN

Organization Of Teachers Is Aim Of Society

There is a feeling among the chemists of the country that the importance of their services to the world are not fully understood or appreciated by the general public, according to Dr. Roger Williams, associated professor in the chemistry department of the University of Oregon, who was elected chairman of the Oregon section of the American Chemical Society at its meeting at Reed College recently.

"In order that the public mind may have a better knowledge of what chemists are doing, the American Chemical Society and individuals connected therewith have taken several steps," said Dr. Williams. "First, 'Science Service,' a national news service has been organized, at the head of which is N. E. E. Slosson, a man with training in chemistry, former associate editor of the Independent magazine. Then the American Chemical Society publishes a weekly spreading information about what chemists are doing.

Plan Prize Contests

"The third project consists in the conducting of prize essay contests each year, in which University and high school students over the country write essays on chemical subjects, the winners receiving valuable cash prizes and University scholarships.

"H. G. Tanner, associate professor, in the chemical department of the University who was elected secretary and treasurer of the Oregon section of the American Chemical Society, plans to send out a circular letter to the fifty odd members of the section to ascertain what each is doing in the line of research.

Nelson and Boyer were above the average as forwards, Boyer was the high scorer for the Oregon Club. Nelson was largely responsible for the showing of the Psi Kappa team, and keeps them in the running till the semi-finals, when they were eliminated.

Referee Wins Praise

Earl "Spike" Leslie won without a struggle the title of official referee, (he had no competition.) He was alert and of fearful meanness to wrong doers; and won the undying admiration of his many friends through his graceful handling of the whistle.

All in all the season was highly successful. The games were handled in a very efficient manner, fans were treated to some interesting games, and most of all the men enjoyed the competition, which is the primary object of the sport. Approximately 200 men took part, many of them were freshmen; this gives coach Leslie an excellent line on available material for his freshman squad.

M'CLURE, JOURNALISM TO UNDERGO CHANGES

Remodeling Will Be Done
During Vacation

Due to the removal of the University press to its new quarters behind the University depot, need for more class and office room, and for headquarters for The Emerald, McClure Hall and the Journalism building are both to be partially remodeled during the coming vacation period, according to Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, who is making the plans for the changes.

The old bindery room, more easily distinguished as the small white building at the north end of the journalism and across from the Art building, is to be converted into a business office for the Emerald. The present correspondence room in the basement of the Journalism building will be divided to provide office room for W. F. G. Thacher, and Raymond D. Lawrence, professors in the school of journalism. Professor Thacher's present office will be fitted up for the correspondent's work.

Edward Miller, editor of The Emerald, is to have his office at the north end of the room on the second floor of McClure, which, until this fall, has been used by the chemistry department. This large room, is to be so partitioned as to make space for two classrooms also.

The composing room, between the Journalism building and the bindery room, is to be made into a classroom. The old press room, in the basement of McClure Hall, has been turned over to the chemistry department, but no change will be made on this at present.

The actual work of remodeling has been held up until vacation time to avoid the inevitable disturbance of classes that would otherwise result.

FINAL MEETS THURSDAY EXPECTED TO BE CLOSE

The result of last Friday night's swimming meet placed the seniors in the lead for the championship with 96.5 points. The freshmen come second with 90.5, sophomores third, 55.5 and juniors last, 43.5. The final meets to determine the champion team will be run off this Thursday at 5:10 p. m., when the seniors will compete with the freshmen and the sophomores with the juniors.

A comparison of the time made by the seniors and freshmen in the various events last Friday indicates that some of the contests will be close. At this meet the freshmen defeated the sophomores 43-34, and the seniors the juniors, 51-24.

Beatrice Fish, senior won the free style in 29.8 seconds; the freshman winner, Olive Banks, made the two lengths in two seconds less, 29.8. Katherine Kershaw, Lois McCook, Olive Banks and Dorothy Brown, won the relay in 54.2 seconds. The senior team, Janet Wood, Elizabeth Lounsbury, Beatrice Fish and Katherine Sartain, won this event in 55 seconds, or eight tenths of a second more than the freshmen. Elizabeth Lounsbury took one minute 26 seconds for the five length swim; Lois McCook, freshman, one minute, 29 seconds.

In the side stroke the seniors have a decided advantage their winner, Jane Wood, making the event in 33.1 seconds, 5.7 seconds less than the freshman winner, Olive Banks. Elizabeth Lounsbury did the breast stroke in 34.8 seconds while the freshman winner came in second. In the back stroke, however, the freshman winner, Dorothy Brown, made the length in 16.9 seconds, while the senior competitor came in second.

Elizabeth Lounsbury scored 11.7 in her lives, and Janet Wood also of the senior class, 10.3, while the freshman contestant made 10.1. Beatrice Fish plunged 53 feet, which give the seniors the advantage over the freshman whose entrant for this event managed only 50 feet.

Debate Question Involves Foreign Control In China; Teams To Be Entertained

Klep Asks for Criticism Of Proposed Magazine; Student Control Planned

Mr. Klep, "is to find out from the campus at large if they are really ready to support a publication such as outlined above. Every other school on the coast has such a magazine and they are proving highly successful both financially and in the fashion they are received on the campuses.

"If any student sees any merit or has any criticism to make of these plans, which are as yet very rough, they would be appreciated. I believe that if this publication was made a student body magazine with the editor and business manager provided for the same as for other student publications that it could be made, a success right from the start. Such a step would immediately place the actual control of the magazine in the hands of responsible parties.

"We hope to have the thing well enough along to start actual publication by the middle or latter part of the winter term," said Klep, "provided that the student body wants such a magazine.
