HISTORY PROFESSOR SELECTS BEST BIOGRAPHIES OF 1925

Poet, Author, King and Labor Leader Are Subjects; 'Brigham Young' of Value to Sociologists

Asked to select a few of the outstanding biographies, published in 1925, Dr. Andrew Fish, assistant professor of history, said that one of the most important was "The Life of Keats" by Amy Lowell. "It is the life of a great poet by a poet," Dr. Fish said. Miss Lowell was well-equipped to write a life of Keats. Her book is a result of long work and exhaustive study, and she handled the subject thoroughly. "Seventy Years of Life and Labor," the autobiography of Samuel Gompers, for many years the president of the American Federation of Labor, is considered one of the most significant works of the years because of Gompers' long connection with the organized labor movement. The book is the record of his substantial success in the fight for recognition of the unions, and its political and social significance is great. "Anatole France at Home," by Jean Jacques Brousson, has made quite a stir. This is not the usual eulogy, but a word picture of the man himself, as he lived, with some of his shortcomings included. It reads like a biography rather than a series of pictures of France in different moods. France, as he is pictured by Brousson, who was his secretary, will hardly be selected as a hero by conservative reading circles. "The official royal historian, Sir Sidney Lee, has not dared to take too much liberty in the presentation of Kingly character in 'King Edward VII, a Biography.' It is an interesting, conservative work, written from the royal viewpoint. Of course, you know, we are too close to the life of King Edward for anyone to be really accurate in the description of his personal life. "We know King Edward was not a deep thinker, not a student, not a scholar, but was a man of the world who enjoyed the good things of life. The royal biographer could not play up these facts. Neither does he give the part which King Edward played in the alliances made before the war—especially the entente between Great Britain and France. The full story does not appear. I am afraid that for a real picture of King Edward, we will have to wait awhile. "Brigham Young," by M. B. Werner, is an interesting work of particular value to the sociologists."

ity of which she is a member. Miss Houston did considerable work on the Emerald while attending the University and was a member of Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity.

Mrs. O. V. Meyers of Medford and Mrs. Charles E. Cochran of Moamouth, are visiting their daughters Dorothy Myers and Ruth and Jane Cochran at the Chi Omega house.

Blanche Allen went to Albany with Josephine Ralston yesterday to be a guest at her home for the week-end.

Clifford Powers, of Portland, member of the class of '26, who is not attending school this year spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Fred Henningson, sailed from San Francisco for China January 23. Fred was a freshman in economics last term and a Phi Gamma Delta pledge. He will remain in Shanghai three years where his father is in business.

Robert Davis, cadet colonel from O. A. C. is a guest at the Phi Kappa Psi house. Mr. Davis attended the the next two weeks. The Delta Zeta house is her headquarters.

Catherine Mayhew, Agnes Palmer, and Mildred Vaughan left the campus Friday for Portland where they will spend the week-end.

Dorothy Mielke of Portland withdrew from school this week on account of illness. She expects to be back spring term.

Helen Mielke of Portland and Mary Wood of Albany, cousin of Catherine Dorris, left the campus Monday after spending the week-end at the Alpha Omicron Pi house.

Nell Elliott, freshman, has withdrawn from school because of illness. She left recently for her home in Klamath Falls, expecting to be back on the campus next term.

From the Alpha Delta Pi house comes the news that Dorothy Jane Baxter, Walla Walla, was married last week to Donald Dent, a graduate of W. S. C. Mr. Dent is a Phi Delta Theta.

Lelah Stone, senior, has returned after a year's absence away from the campus.

Mary Beth Smith, junior, is back this term. She has resumed her residence at the Delta Gamma house.

A number of Delta Gammas are spending the week-end in Seattle. The party includes Alice Dell Johnson, Audrey Jensen, Martha Swafford, Hazel Ingram, Lois Scoffain, Florence Linbloom, Daisy Gerber, Madeline Andrews.

Among the house guests this week-end at the Tri-Delt house are Frances Benedict, Portland; Jane Pride, Portland; Frances Crissel, Portland; Jo Ringo, Portland; Helen Campbell, Salem; Shirley McGuire, Portland; Jessie Bell Endicott, Bandon; Mary E. DR. JOHN HENRY NASH SENDS PRINTED GIFTS

Noted Printer to Visit Eugene February 19 and 20

Dr. John Henry Nash, eminent printer of San Francisco, who received his degree of Doctor of Letters at the University of Oregon last spring, sent gifts to the wives of a number of his special friends on the campus during the Christmas season.

These gifts were copies of a limited edition of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "Songs from the Portuguese," which Dr. Nash had recently finished printing.

Those who received these specimens of the printer's art were Mrs. W. R. B. Wilcox, whose husband, professor of architecture, and Dr. Nash were close friends; Mrs. George Rebec wife of the Dean of the graduate school; Mrs. H. D. Sheldon, whose husband is the chairman of the administration committee; Mrs. J. Milton Miller, secretary in the arts department; and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, wife of Dean Allen of the school of journalism.

Dr. Nash ranks among the greatest of all printers, according to Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism. The noted printer will attend the conference of the State Editorial Association which will meet in Eugene February, 19th and 20th.

Gravy Grabbers Establish Tongue 'Slinga Bulla' Added to List of Useless Campus Organizations

Handshaking and bull throwing have long been favorite sports but never have they received such stimulus as recently, when all the would-be arm wavers, politicians and also rans got together and bestowed the honor of another organization upon themselves. The new organization is "Slinga Bulla" and was established as a result of the banding together of several well known non-essentials of the bull throwing and self help honor groups.

Vic Wetzel, champion Snooker player of the south end of the campus.

Fred Martin was unanimously voted president of the organization, and Jim Johnson has been elected vice-president. Both of these men are masters of their craft and the society expects much from them. Wilbur Wester holds the high office of "Keeper of the Bull and Master of Ceremonies."

At the last meeting of the group the most important item in the order of business was the selection of an emblem that may be prominently displayed upon the chests of the members. The emblem selected was designed by one of the members, Bob McCabe and is a small golden shovel with the letters "G. G." engraved upon the front. Mr. McCabe explains the pin as an emblem of free speech and powers of persuasion.

dope, also enough to fill your pipe. Ask Jimmie Leake.

"Say, what a whale of a difference a few cents make," is just as valuable in buying pipes as it is in buying cigarettes. You can get a two-bit or a seven dollar one, but they won't taste the same. Obak has the most complete display of pipes—with a special make and brand for every college student. Ask Joe Bates.

We understand that a few of the boys are addicts to the chewing tobacco habit. Harold Brumfield relishes the weed and is a firm believer in it. There's many species but he has tried them all and endorses Obak's brands.

Be ever mindful of the fact that Obak's tables are "hotsy totsy" and when you aren't out with your "Sleepy Time Gal" they are at your disposal. Obak's place has ever been for a place where "men are men," and that's what gives it collegiate atmosphere.

Obak's Advice to Smokers

No it isn't fishing time, but say, fellows, try some Flycasters tobacco. It's a mixture and say, it's sure hot stuff. Any old pipe is a good one when you use Flycasters. Ask Bill to give you all of the
