

Oregon Leads North Section Of Conference

Victory Over Corvallis, 32 To 17, Leaves Varsity on Top

Second O. A. C. Game Will Decide Title

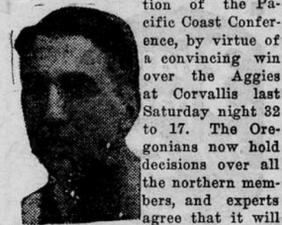

Beavers are Scheduled For Hard Contest With Huskies Tonight

Conference standings:

Northern Section
Team	W	L	Pct.
Oregon	9	0	1.000
O. A. C.	4	1	800
Washington	2	4	.333
Idaho	2	4	.333
Montana	2	6	.250
W. S. C.	1	5	.167

Southern Section
Team	W	L	Pct.
California	4	0	1.000
Stanford	3	1	.750
U. S. C.	0	6	.000

A new week finds Oregon's basketball team firmly entrenched in the leadership of the northern section of the Pacific Coast Conference, by virtue of a convincing win over the Aggies at Corvallis last Saturday night 32 to 17.

Charles Jost take a miracle to keep them out of the play-off in California.

This week practically will clean up the schedule, as the remaining competition will be limited to O. A. C.'s trip through the inland empire for games with Whitman, W. S. C., Idaho, and Montana.

The Aggies have two games this week—with Washington at Seattle tonight and Oregon at Eugene, and it will take all they have to break even. The Huskies also play Washington State and Idaho in their respective lairs and like the Beavers, must hustle to keep their heads above board.

California appears to have a strange hold on southern honors as the Cardinals bowed twice to the Nevada five over the week end, and the Bruins out-shot the Trojans in Los Angeles, 23 to 16. Stanford and California will meet Saturday night in Oakland for the second of a three game series and indeed Oregon must win but one more tilt to clinch the southern section championship.

By showing a hot-proof defense, out-speeding, and out-shooting the O. A. C. netmen, Oregon's hoop ringers established an undisputed claim to the northern leadership by conquering the Ags on their home floor, 32 to 17, Saturday night. The Webfoots worked steadily and confidently, piling up points at consistent intervals.

To give some idea of the tightness of the Webfoot defense, the Beavers caged only four goals during the entire game. Four of these were from long range and two were from under the hoop. Burr pushed in a one-hander after Jost had fouled him and Graep left his man for an unimpeded tally—both after the tilt has been sewed up.

The entire Oregon team functioned well, with "Duke" Okerberg particularly outstanding by his heavy scoring and Jost for the way in which he manhandled his fellow townsman, "Long Shot" Bill Burr. Hobson, Gunther, and Westergren opened the eyes of the Aggies by their speed and floor work. Captain Baker, of O. A. C. led his flock with three long baskets.

The Lineups:

Oregon (32)	vs.	(17) O. A. C.
Gunther (6)	f.	(6) Baker
Hobson (16)	f.	(4) Whitvok
Okerberg (16)	c.	(4) Pinkerton
Westergren (9)	g.	(4) Burr
Stanger (1)	g.	(3) Graep

Subs: O. A. C., Ward for Graep, Oregon, none. Officials: E. C. Hunter, (Idaho), referee; Ray Brooks, (Portland), umpire.

Different Ideals of Economic World Desired by Paul Blanshard, Lecturer

"Wealthopia," "Workopia" and "Poweropia" Form A Summary of Reformed Industrial Conditions

"The object of the social sciences, such as economics and sociology, should be to build up, not only in picture, but in actuality, a more just world," declared Paul Blanshard, field secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy, in addressing the various economics classes of the campus Monday morning on "Ideals of Labor."

And yet, a perfect society, he said, must almost necessarily be a Utopia of the economist, because in a large measure this individual preaches and helps bring about the vast machinery of large-scale production which is in its very nature detrimental to the good of the single laborer.

The machine has ably assisted mankind by rapidity and cheapness of output, but there its good ends. The machine, the speaker contended, has made of man, a mere automaton, who sits all day long doing one single, even ignorant act—for example, to use of his own demonstrations, the stabbing of a hog every thirty seconds, as in the huge slaughter and packing yards in Chicago.

Mr. Blanshard would create three ideals of the economic world in order to do away with, and counteract the present tendencies of economics: "Wealthopia," a world of more just distribution of money; "Workopia," a world striving for a more just distribution of work; and "Poweropia," a world in which labor shall have more power.

His Wealthopia would be fostered because of the present inequality of money as between individuals, as typified in New York's Fifth Avenue and the poverty of the East Side. He bemoans that wealth is not based on merit—the rich man may not even have the brains that the slum laborer has.

Discontent in America is created, he declared, by the relative distance of the man on the top of the social ladder from he who grovels at the bottom.

Real wages—that is, wages actually in terms of what money can buy today, and what it could have bought yesterday—have come up only 28 per cent in America as compared with a rise of 50 per cent in production in the last quarter century, he showed. * It is this condition.

Amundsen to Lecture Here on Pole Flight

Students To Be Charged To Hear Famous Arctic Explorer

Motion Pictures Of Flight to be Shown

Thrilling Journey Into the Northern Lands Will Be Described

The story of the north will be related in picture and word when Captain Roald Amundsen, famous Arctic and Antarctic explorer, appears before University students and Eugene citizens Wednesday night at the Armory.

Motion pictures taken by Amundsen himself when on his thrilling airplane expedition last May during which he came within 130 miles of the north pole, will be shown. This feature is combined with the lecture. The Associated Students provided for his lecture, and the Heilig theatre arranged for the films. Amundsen talks in Portland tonight.

The lecture by which the pictures and the story of Amundsen will tell a complete portrayal of the trip to the ice bound arctic when the entire expedition was cut off from the world and for many days believed lost. After leaving Spitzbergen bound for the North pole last May, two airplanes each carrying three men, and headed by Captain Amundsen, and Lincoln Ellsworth, who commanded one of the planes, they travelled for a distance of 600 miles over ice and snow.

In descending to make observations and take pictures, Amundsen's plane crashed into solid ice when his motor suddenly stopped. The other plane was also damaged beyond repair when it crashed three miles away. The two parties met the next day when drifting ice brought them within a short distance of each other. With a temperature of more than 12 degrees below zero, two members of the Ellsworth crew fell into the icy waters and almost lost their lives trying to reach Amundsen and his crew.

Plane is Repaired

The great fight the men made in repairing the motor of the plane, construction of a runway to raise it into flight, living a month on scanty rations, the final successful flight of the plane upon which depended their only chance for life, will all be told in the program tomorrow night.

Amundsen has just recovered from a cold, which for a time seemed likely to prevent his lecture here.

Tickets Cost 50 Cents

Student tickets may be obtained with other tickets secured at the Co-op and the payment of 50 cents. The purpose of the fifty cents admission is for the Heilig as remuneration for the films to be shown in connection. It is reported that most of the tickets have been sold and students desiring to attend the lecture tomorrow night are warned to obtain their tickets early, in order to be assured of a seat.

William L. "Bill" Hayward, Oregon's veteran track coach and athletic trainer, who is sick in bed with a slight attack of pneumonia, was better last night, according to Mrs. Hayward. He will be at home a week or more, however, it is expected.

His physician, Dr. Orville Waller, believed the illness was a result of a cold caught last week, which came more severe after "Bill's" trip to Corvallis with the basketball team Saturday. He was forced to bed when he returned.

Walter Kelsey, track captain, is supervising track work during Mr. Hayward's absence.

Phi Delt Convention On Campus This Week

The Phi Delta Theta convention for Kappa Province, held every other year, will meet at Oregon this week-end. Seven colleges will be represented. The delegates will arrive Friday afternoon and leave Sunday.

Call Made for Junior Vodvil Acts and Ideas

Song and Dance Revue Try-Outs Today, 1:30 At Campa Shoppe

Programs Will Include More Stunts This Year

Variety of Talent Needed For Show, Says Love

Toe dancers, soft-shoe dancers, high kickers, songsters, people who are gifted at patter and chatter stuff, short sketches and song and dance acts are being sought by Bob Love and Barney McPhillips for the lovely Junior Vodvil material.

"The campus is full of talent, but it does us no good unless the people come and try out," declares Bob Love. "We want all the students who are gifted in any line of entertaining to get to work now so that we may have a plenty of variety to work with, and great time to do it in."

Intermission on Program

The leading idea for the vodvil this year is to have a greater number of acts of a shorter duration, giving the effect of a variety show. There will be approximately 12 acts. These will include an April Frolic stunt, a Webfoot weekley in which different phases of campus life and activities will be shown, short sketches, and several other forms of entertainment. The program will be given in two parts, the first intermission will be filled by the orchestra while the second part will terminate in a song and dance revue. The latter feature will be under the direction of Barney McPhillips, who will begin work on it at once.

Girls who are interested in trying out should call Esther Setters at 772 immediately, as tryouts for it will be held at the Campa Shoppe at 1:30 today. Aspirants for the chorus need not be accomplished dancers, but should be somewhat clever with their feet, declares McPhillips. There will be no favoritism shown in the choosing of the hours, it all lies in one's feet, is his assertion. The tryout is being held now so that it will be finished to have a well-trained and finished act when the final date comes.

Tryouts March 5-6

All those who have acts for the vodvil should see Bob Love or call him at 1396 as soon as possible.

A wealth of certain acts will be needed and all those who are capable of putting them on are urged to report.

Tryouts for vodvil acts will be held March 5 and 6, but it is necessary that those who would take part begin work on ideas now.

A lottery to determine which organizations will be partners for the canoe fete will be held soon.

Thacher to Preside At Alumni Banquet

W. F. G. Thacher, professor in the school of journalism, will act as toastmaster at the annual Founders' Day dinner of the Oregon Alumni association of Phi Kappa Psi to be held at the University club in Portland next Saturday night. It is expected that about 100 alumni will attend this meeting.

Thirty members of the Eugene chapter are planning to attend the dinner. The entertainment is to be handled by this group. Shirley McServe of Los Angeles, national president of the fraternity, will attend the dinner. Albert Sinclair, captain-elect of the 1926 football team, will be on the program, which will include short talks by members of the active chapter from Eugene and local alumni.

Dime Crawl Receipts Amount to $108.29

The final amount made on the dime crawl, according to the report of Annette Heckman, treasurer of Women's League, was $108.29. The report published last week was not final as several of the living organizations on the campus had not yet turned in their money. This fund will be added to the for-ign scholarship fund for next year.

National Fraternity Installed on Campus

Installation of the Oregon chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociology fraternity took place Saturday, February 13. Dr. Phillip A. Parsons, professor of sociology, was the installing officer.

The purpose of this organization is to stimulate discussion and research among upperclass sociology majors.

Those installed as charter members were Dr. F. G. Young, Dr. Kimball Young, Miss Margaret Cressch of the Portland school of social work, Margaret Inabnit, Marion Wagnini, Mildred Batemen, Helen Hershner, Katharine Reade, Thora Boesen, Edna Spenker, Charlotte Winnard, Elizabeth Manning and Elizabeth Beans. Officers are Marion Wagnini, president; Mildred Batemen, vice president; Helen Hershner, secretary; Katherine Reade, treasurer.

Alpha Kappa Delta was organized in 1920 at the University of Southern California. It now has 11 chapters. Professor Detener of Wisconsin is the national president.

Senior Records For Year Book Due Wednesday

Write-Ups Must be Taken To the Oregana Office In Journalism Shack

The senior write-ups for the 1926 Oregana are slow in coming in, and all material must be collected at once, Wednesday, February 17, has been set as the "deadline" for these to be handed in, according to Wayne Leland, editor.

The information concerning each senior should include all fraternal organizations, major, home town, offices or important committees during the four years in college and may be given to Doris Brophy, editor of the senior section or the editor, at the Oregana office in the Journalism building.

A representative from each living organization is responsible for the senior information of that particular group. Some of these are still out and unaffiliated students are especially slow in handing in the desired information.

The printing of student pictures is being done now at the Kennell-Ellis studio, and the work of mounting will begin next week, it is announced. Mary McClellum is in charge of this work, and anyone with experience in mounting, wishing to help, may see her. The mounting will be done under the supervision of a representative from the Hicks-Chatten Engraving company, Portland.

Frosh Basketeers Lose Tilt to Rooks At Corvallis, 31-29

Oregon freshmen basketball team lost the O. A. C. rooks Saturday afternoon at Corvallis 31 to 29.

The game was closely contested with the frosh holding an edge as time waned. A sudden spurt by the rooks erased this and they slipped under the tape by a one basket margin. Scallon, of Oregon, and Ellis, of O. A. C., ex-all-state forwards, took the scoring honors, collecting 25 points between them.

Lineups:

Frosh (29)	vs.	(31) Rooks
Scallon (13)	f.	(12) Ellis
Emmons (4)	f.	(9) Gibbons
Ridings (5)	c.	(2) Parker
Miligan (7)	g.	(6) Owens
Bally (7)	g.	(2) Bellville

Referee: Ray Brooks, Portland.

Twenty Submit Stories In Marshall Contest

About 20 manuscripts were handed in for the Edison Marshall short story contest, which closed Monday. There were fewer this year than in the last year or two, according to Prof. W. F. G. Thacher, there were two or three handed in without the name of the writer, in spite of the specific instructions.

Graduate Manager's office reports that all reserved seat tickets for the game with O. A. C., Friday night are sold.

State Session Of Retail Men Has Increase

Merchants Association Convening on Campus Number over 200

H. D. Sheldon Addresses First Meeting of Group

Affairs Will Close With Banquet and Dance

With more than 200 delegates from all parts of the state present, the twenty-second annual convention of the Oregon Retail Merchants' association, started a three-day session on the University campus yesterday, following a get-together banquet Sunday night. The attendance set a new record, being 10 per cent greater than last year.

Fifteen various merchandising lines are represented by the 200 delegates, according to O. F. Tate, of Portland, secretary. They included department stores, dry goods stores, men's furnishings, grocers, butchers, hardware, farm supplies, coal dealers, hay, grain and feed, builders' supplies, sporting goods, photographers' supplies, cigars, women's apparel and confectionaries.

Colored Caps Worn

The delegates, under the guidance of the school of business administration, become schoolboys for the convention period. As a result, those who are attending their first session here are wearing green caps; those who have been here two years, red caps; three years, yellow caps, and four years, black caps. The four-year "students" receive diplomas this year, at ceremonies to be held tonight.

Registration of delegates, followed by a general meeting during which the annual reports were read, characterized the morning session, held in Villard hall. The convention was called to order by H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education.

Dana is Indorsed

Included among the proposals of L. L. Thomas, of Marshfield, president of the association, was the indorsement of Marshall N. Dana, of Portland, for appointment to the United States shipping board. General applause greeted this proposal. The state association now numbers 1200, the president reported, and is accomplishing work in its line second to none on the Pacific Coast.

Robert C. Line, merchandising expert of Columbus, Mont., gave the first afternoon session address, on the subject, "A Merchandising Campaign for the Year." David Faville, professor in the school of business administration, followed and outlined the results of a questionnaire recently completed on installations.

Banquet is Held

Last night the Eugene Boosters club gave a banquet and entertainment for the visiting delegates. Today will be given over to trade displays, with each group discussing a program organized especially for its class of business. The groups are grocers, dry goods, hardware and general stores. The annual banquet and dance follows at night.

Tomorrow morning, a general meeting will again be held, while the final meeting will be a luncheon with Chamber of Commerce at noon. Election of officers, selection of the next meeting place and a meeting place and a meeting of the newly elected directors will take place then. Mr. Dana is to give the luncheon address.

Don Z. Zimmerman In Army Basketball

Don Z. Zimmerman (Oregon '24), three-year letterman in basketball and baseball, has made the West Point hoop team, and played in two of the Army's big games. The latest news of the former Oregon man, whose home is in Eugene comes in a letter from Senator Stanfield. "Cadet Zimmerman made a creditable showing in both games," he writes, speaking of the contest with Lafayette and Columbia. Don played fullback in several games at West Point last fall.
