

Plans Are Under Way for Annual Co-ed Jamboree

Frolic Stunts Will be Given By Each Class At Event This Year

Fancy Costume is Needed For Entrance to Floor

All committees have been appointed for April Frolic, annual co-ed ball, and plans for each stunt are being developed, is the report of Louise Inabnit, who has charge of the affair. This year stunts will be given by each class, and all girls, in order to gain admission to the ball room must be in fancy costume. This is a new plan, as formerly one-half the living organizations on the campus each gave a stunt, limited as to time and expense, in competition for a cup.

As a result of the rapid growth of the University, Women's League voted last fall to have only inter-class competition. Under the old plan as many as 10 or 12 stunts were given in one evening, making the program entirely too long and compelling much hard work on the part of the different houses and halls whose turn it was to participate in the contest.

Class Talent to be Shown

In addition to the above advantages, the new plan will be better because it will intensify class spirit among the University women and will allow the best talent of each class to be combined in four longer, better stunts.

The affair is sponsored by Women's League and the money goes into the general fund of that organization. Fifteen cents will be charged for entrance to the dance and entertainment, and there will be a section of reserved seats in the balcony for town people, the price of which will be 50 cents. Other balcony seats, not reserved, will be 35 cents. Ice cream bars will be sold during the entertainment.

Committees Named

The committees which have been appointed are: senior stunt: Vivian Harper, chairman, JoAnn Warwick, Lois Shields, Betty Lewis and Betty Alexander. Junior stunt: Doris Brophy, chairman; Lucille Pearson, Hazel Mary Price, Grace Cobb, and Jean Richards. Sophomore stunt: Alice Douglas, chairman; Mary Clark, Elizabeth Talbot, Katherine Mutzgin, and Rae Stanley. Freshman stunt: Ena McCune, chairman; Frances Wardner, Leah Lumpee, Katherine Sten and Adalia Everts. Annette Heckman will be floor manager and head of the ice cream sale. Floor cops will be Harriet Osborn, Florence Hurley, Elizabeth Latham, and Mildred Onslow. Kathryn Ulrich will be chairman of the ticket sale, and assisting her will be Marjorie Best, Edna Ellen Bell, Winifred Morris and Nancy Peterson. Patronesses, chairman, Maurine Johnston, Delia Sherwood, assistant.

Four Students in Law School Enter Hilton Oratorical Contest

Four law school students have enrolled for the Hilton oratory contest which will be held the first of next term. They are Herbert Graham, Edward Grant, Donald Husband, and Margaret Woodson.

The subject of the contest, which is held every year, will be, "Shall the Power to Determine the Procedure by Rule of the Court be Vested in the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon?" This question occupied the chief place on the program at the last annual meeting of the Oregon Bar association.

The winners of the $50 cash prize for the last three years were Rupert Bullivant, Paul Patterson and Howard McCulloch.

The prize is offered by Frank H. Hilton, Portland attorney. He is a graduate of the Stanford law school, who is interested in the development of the Oregon school.

Old Oregon To Feature Howe Grid Article

Marshall Dana Writes Story on "Old Oregon and You"

"Old Oregon" will be out the middle part of next week, and, according to Jeannette Calkins, will be the best and most entertaining issue printed this year.

One article of special interest is "How the New Coach is Coaching," written by Prof. H. C. Howe who is exceedingly well versed on capable coaches and correct methods of coaching because of his years of close observation of such and because of the honorary position he holds as president of the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference. Mr. Howe describes the new coach's methods and the important factors in efficiently training the boys.

Jack Hempstead of the 1928 class has in this issue a story on his interview with Alexander Campbell Duff Gordon, an Australian and student of this University, who compares the differences in the system of education between Australian and American schools and gives facts on the student life at the University of Australia.

Other articles of interest are by Marshall N. Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal, in Portland, who wrote on "Old Oregon and You," and "Early Days in Oregon Football History" by Walter L. Whittlesey, a 1900 graduate. The latter saw all the Oregon football games from 1894 to 1900 and is now an assistant professor in Princeton University.

First Big Track Event Attracts 100 Candidates

Showing in Distances Is Encouraging; Kelsey Takes Over Team

Competing for the first time this year in a meet with all events, the 100 varsity and freshmen tracksters lived up Hayward field Saturday.

"The meet showed that the freshmen were weak in the weights, distances and middle distances and fairly strong in the sprints and jumps," Bill Hayward, coach, said.

Walt Kelsey, captain of the team, will take charge of the men during Hayward's absence since the coach ill. There will probably be no competition next Saturday as scheduled on the training program.

The showing of the distance men was encouraging to coaches. Vic Wetzel made a good heave in the javelin when he put it 177 feet 4 inches. Jumping and weight events were handicapped by the cold weather.

Type Founders company. The machine, which will be set up tomorrow by a man from the company, is the only one of its kind on the coast. It was sent here for the purpose of demonstrating it to the Oregon Newspaper conference members. It will be in operation for demonstration during the conference, so that any one interested may see it.

Varsity Swimmers Lose in Hard Match With O. A. C. 36-32

With the score wavering for the entire afternoon from one team to the other with Oregon in the lead most of the time the relay decided the swimming meet last Saturday in favor of the Oregon Agricultural College team by a score of 36 to 32.

Three Oregon men made letters in the meet. Robert Boggs started out with a wonderful sprint in the 220 yard free style and loafed through the last lap to win easily in 2:53. Don McCook won the medley after a poor start and trailing the crew in the breast stroke. However, he made up for the ten foot lead of Wernmark, the leader in the back and breast stroke, and finished an easy first. Bill MacGregor in the breast stroke approached Pacific coast record time when he won the event in 3:03. He led the way for the entire race.

Byerly was barely outclassed in diving by Jordan of O. A. C. and made only second by the narrow margin of 4 of a point.

Before the relay the meet stood Oregon 32, O. A. C. 31. Oregon's relay team composed of Stone, McCabe, Biggs, and McCook dropped behind and lost by a margin of six feet.

Better Hospital Facilities Urged By Fraternities

Committees Named By Council to Draft Resolution

Better hospital facilities are needed on the campus was the opinion expressed in a motion passed at the meeting of the inter-fraternity council Thursday night.

In order that the position of the council may be more definitely emphasized, a committee was appointed to draft a resolution which will go into detail concerning the infirmity situation. This committee consists of Douglas Wilson, chairman; Bruce Curry and Walter Pearson.

In the discussion of the situation at the meeting, it was brought out that University health service officials have been trying to provide better accommodations, but have been unable to relieve the situation.

The rushing rules committee reported to the council that it had sent out a large number of questionnaires to colleges and universities in the United States regarding rushing rules at these institutions. Replies from these are expected in the near future.

The joint committee of the inter-fraternity and panhellenic council, appointed to investigate the annual high school conference, with the object of making it more beneficial to both the students and the campus, reported to the council. No action has been taken by this committee so far, but the problem has been under discussion with the heads of the departments of the University and high school principals.

Four Former Oregon Students On Staff Of Paper In Marshfield

The Southwestern Oregon Daily News, of Marshfield, lays claim to being the only daily newspaper in the state of Oregon, if not on the coast, having an all-University of Oregon editorial staff, according to the March pre-conference number of the Oregon Exchanges, a magazine edited monthly by George Turnbull, professor in the school of journalism, for Oregon newspapermen.

The Marshfield paper has on its staff: Taylor Huston, ex '24, city editor; Pete Laurs, ex '27, reporter; Alfred Erickson, '24, reporter; and Emily Houston, '25, society editor.

"Confessions of a Woman Reporter" is the title of an article written by Jean Strachan, '22, in the same number of Exchanges. In this sketch the author relates personal experiences of a reporter covering a small town for news.

"S. F. Blythe, Venerable Pioneer of Oregon Journalism," is the title of an article by Joe D. Thomson, editor of the Hood River Glacier. This is the life story and a character sketch of one of Oregon's earliest newspapermen. Mr. Blythe who was 84 years old last Sunday, is the grandfather of Barbara Blythe, a sophomore in the school of journalism.

Change of Date May be Arranged

The administrative committee is endeavoring to change the meeting of the board of higher curricula from April, to the first of March, according to Mrs. C. L. Fitch, secretary of the administrative office. This would enable the general catalogues to be issued earlier.

THE COLLEGE COFFEE CUP

When you drag yourself out of a warm bed on one of these cold rainy mornings and rush around to get off in time for an eight o'clock you don't always have time to eat but you do stop for a cup of hot coffee. That coffee always seems to hit the right spot and give the day a good start.

Then at night just before you settle down to work, a cup of coffee served with your dessert at dinner gives you a good feeling all through and makes the evening easier. Concentration shorter and studying isn't hard after the mild stimulation coffee brings.

Coffee is the finishing touch for everyday dinners as well as for guest dinners. A meal is never quite right without its cup of coffee if the coffee is good. But nothing is worse than a poor brand of coffee.

We keep in stock for you coffee that is fresh and delicious — and at the same time, inexpensive.
