

Adult Education Move Organized At Conference

Definite Plans Made for Teaching Illiterates Says Dean Rebec

The education of people out of and beyond school years is reached through adult education, explains Dr. George Rebec, who has just returned from a conference held at San Francisco, February 8 and 9, for the purpose of organizing an association for adult education.

The world movement for adult education extended definitely into America when the Carnegie corporation displayed interest in having it here, and called a number of conferences, the San Francisco session being one.

According to Dr. Rebec, the background of the Carnegie corporation is to explain the adult education idea and situation as unfolding themselves throughout the world in several parts of America, and after that, to undertake the question of definite organization, both for the country as a whole and for different sections.

Dr. Rebec reports the conference was very interesting. Albert Mansbridge of London, founder of the Worker's Educational Association, was the guest of the conference and the regional chairman was Henry Suzzalo, president of the University of Washington. Melville A. Brannon, chancellor of the University of Montana, Rufus Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, L. S. Klinck, president of the University of British Columbia, A. C. Crane, president of the University of Wyoming, and C. H. Marvin, president of the University of Arizona were among the representatives of the conference.

The movement for adult education in China began during the war when an officer in charge of a brigade of laborers found them suffering from loneliness and homesickness. "They could write no letters home, and could not read the ones sent to them. When the officer thought of teaching them how to read, he was confronted with the difficulty of the Chinese script, said Dean Rebec. "To be able to learn this requires a large amount of time. Finally the officer had the happy idea of working out a simple form of Chinese writing consisting of 1200 signs. Nearly all the men acquired this and the problem of home communication was solved. The process has been adopted by tens of millions of people in China." Education for adults in America is being reached through libraries, correspondence courses and by various ways, says Dr. Rebec.

Dr. Rebec states that the idea of educating adults has been taken up in Europe by Denmark and other Scandinavian countries, Germany, Great Britain and Czechoslovakia.

Committee Meeting Of Rummage Sale Workers Tonight

The first meeting of all committee workers and committee heads for the student body rummage sale planned for March 6, to increase the Fine Arts building fund, will be held tonight at 5 o'clock in Villard hall, according to Frances Morgan, general chairman.

Definite plans for collection and sale of the material will be discussed, and it is hoped that all workers will be present in order to secure better cooperation in the work. Committees have been at work for over a week and actual collection of material will be furnished by February 26, allowing a week for clothing to be cleaned and priced for the sale.

A representative in each living organization will be responsible for the collection of possible rummage sale material from that group, and students living out in town will be given a chance to contribute. A ANALOGIES I. Many perfect scores were made on this test. Mr. Taylor says it is too easy for college students, but it is difficult to make one that is more in keeping with the others.

"FISH is to SWIM and MAN is to (Paper, Time, Girl, Walks)." The correct answer would be "walks."

It looks easy, but Mr. Taylor says that it is surprising how many mistakes are made.

There are 50 possible points, the average being 27.5. Men averaged 25.6, and women 29.7.

ANALOGIES II. As the first analogies test was in words, this one is in forms.

"—is to—as—is to—, or—or x, or—, or O." The correct form is "—."

In this there were 25 possible chances to score. The average was 12.1, with men making 11.8 and women 12.3 points.

NUMBER COMPLETION. The student in this test has to work out the formula as shown in the example given. For instance, "9-13-3-6-7—" The right number would be "14," since "9" was doubled to make "18," "3" doubled to make "6," and twice "7" equals "14."

One student made the 25 possible points in this test, but 86 make zero, bringing the average down to 0.4. Men made 10.1, and women 8.4.

ABSURDITIES. This is another test that is too easy for college students. Forty-six made perfect scores, while the average was 16.8. Men scored 15.8, and women 17.8, on an average. Only two of those tested scored zero.

In the directions, the student is told that the sentences given below are absurd, but can be made reasonable by the change of a single word.

In "I have three brothers, Paul, Ernest, and myself," the word "myself" would be underlined by the student to show that it is the word that renders the sentence absurd.

OPPOSITIVES. Although a hard test, this is very good for determining vocabulary, accuracy of vocabulary, and knowledge. For example four words are given: (1) warm, (2) heavy, (3) long, (4) short. The student is told that two of these words are either the same or opposite. In this case, numbers (3) and (4), or "long" and "short," are the opposite, and are set down as such.

Out of 27 possible points, the highest score made was 24 points. The average for those tested was 7, with men averaging 6.5, and women 7.5.

"In classifying students on the basis of the test score," says Mr. Taylor, it seemed best to make the classification as similar as possible to the grading system of the University. Therefore, the freshmen were graded as follows: I, five percent; II, 20 percent; III, 25 percent; IV, 25 percent; V, 20 percent; VI, 5 percent.

"College women cluster around the same 'above average' score," he continued, "while men vary from a few exceedingly brilliant, to a few very unintelligent. In this way, women usually have higher average scores, but men, on the whole, make the higher individual scores of the two."

Oregon Professors Will Give Lectures In all Parts of State

Members of the faculty will lecture under the auspices of the Extension department in various parts of the state during the month of February.

On Friday, February 19, Averd Fairbanks of the art department will address the Women's Club of Moro, Oregon, on sculpture.

Dr. Rudolph H. Ernst, of the English department, will go to Portland on February 20 to give a lecture on "Direction and Achievements of World Literature" before the Graduate Club of Portland Extension center.

"Demands of Education in Washington's Time and Now" is the subject Millard L. Gilbreath will discuss before the Parent Teachers' Association at Elmira on Monday, February 22.

Mozelle Hair, of the Extension Division, will give an illustrated lecture on "New York City" at a meeting of the Cottage Grove Women's Club, on February 23.

Dr. E. S. Conklin, of the psychology department will address the local teachers' institute in Silverton, on Saturday, February 27. The subject of his address has not been announced.

of the business done by the state legislature has to do with business and yet most business men stay away from legislature as if there was a keep out sign tacked above the capitol door, said Hemming, who has made a study of the situation. Three things keep the business man away from the legislature. First, the federal control of business, second the state control of business, and last, the voluntary control. It is up to the business man to let the men at the legislature know what their problems are, or the legislature will not know how to meet their needs. The legislature of Oregon, Hemming continued, was wishing someone was there who could tell them the facts about the business men and what they wanted.

Robert C. Line, of Columbus, Montana, spoke on "What to do With Dead Stock."

Basketball Pavilion Funds Now Available Reports Ted Larsen

The sum of $105,000 necessary for building the new basketball pavilion, can be secured from financial houses in Seattle, Portland or Eugene, according to a statement by Ted Larsen, chairman of the A. S. U. O. building committee, last night.

After conferring with various banks, the committee has found that money for financing the new building may be borrowed through a system of bond issues. Although no transaction has been made, the committee expects to have a definite report on both the building and financing of the pavilion ready early next week.

Present construction plans have been turned over to Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the school of architecture, for revision. A final capacity of at least 9000 seats is expected. Dean Lawrence will provide as large a number as finances will allow.

Of the $105,000 to be raised $45,000 must be ready for payment on the completion of the building, about October 1, according to Larsen. The money will probably be borrowed through bond series of five to ten years. All firms that have considered financing the pavilion have offered the money at an exceptionally low rate of interest and on other favorable terms, Larsen reported.

He recently visited the University of North Carolina and spoke very highly of Dr. Chase, who has been tendered the presidency of the University of Oregon. While on the campus, he visited administrative officials of the University, and Dean Eric W. Allen and Prof. C. L. Kelly, both fraternity brothers from eastern chapters.

Mr. Anderson spent two years in southern Russia, where he was connected with the Near East relief work.

Injuries to Mat Men Weaken Prospects

Gloom, caused by two injured men out of five, settled down on the wrestling team after the return from the trip north, and unless more men can be put in their places or recovery is more rapid than anticipated, the meet with O. A. C. scheduled for this next Saturday in Eugene will probably be cancelled.

The team's showing on the northern trip which met both Idaho and Washington State college was disappointing. Idaho won 50 to 12; W. S. C. won 52 to 12.

It was due to the experienced squads that they met at both colleges and the inexperience of the Oregon men making the trip, all of whom were entering their second and third intercollegiate matches. Most of the men are from the freshman squad of last year and their showing against veterans of the mat could not be exceptionally good.

The meet with Washington which was scheduled for February 29 was set ahead to March 4 on account of conflicting dates at the northern school and an expected trip south for their wrestling team.

The wrestling turnout is promising but the showings are disappointing against strong teams like Idaho and O. A. C. Widmer had three varsity lettermen back this fall but none of them turned out for the team for various reasons from ineligibility to outside work. He has had great difficulty in making any kind of team out of the turnout.

Executive Secretary of Delta Upsilon Visits

Russell H. Anderson, executive secretary of Delta Upsilon fraternity, whose headquarters are in New York City, arrived on the campus Monday evening for a two day visit. Mr. Anderson is visiting the Delta Upsilon chapters throughout the country and while on the campus stayed at the Sigma Pi Tau fraternity.

He recently visited the University of North Carolina and spoke very highly of Dr. Chase, who has been tendered the presidency of the University of Oregon. While on the campus, he visited administrative officials of the University, and Dean Eric W. Allen and Prof. C. L. Kelly, both fraternity brothers from eastern chapters.

Frosh Basketeers To Play Aggie Rooks And Bend High Here

The Oregon freshman basketball team will play a quintet from Bend high school this afternoon at 3:30 in the men's gym, and the O. A. C. rooks tomorrow at the same time in the same place, in the final encounter of a four game series.

Coach Leslie's men have won all their tilts this winter except one, that with the rooks in Corvallis last Saturday, and are out to keep their slate clean by registering wins over both invading teams.

Dave Epps, frosh guard, who was kept out of last week's rook-frosh contests by an injured ankle is again in shape, and may be used against the Aggies.

The Bend team comes here with a good reputation, having disposed of all central Oregon competition in easy fashion. A win over the freshmen would be a big feather in their cap.
