

Three Courses For Post Summer Sessions Planned

Credit Will Be Given for Subjects which Begin First of August

Stephenson Smith to Head English Surveys

Courses in English, history and education have been arranged by F. L. Stetson, director of the Eugene summer school for a post-summer session which will begin August 1 and last four weeks. Instruction will also be made available either through organized classes or directed individual study in chemistry, physics and zoology if there is sufficient demand. Credit to the extent of six hours may be earned during the four weeks by advanced or graduate students, Mr. Stetson said.

New System Introduced

Although there has been considerable demand in the past for opportunity to do summer work, and receive credit equivalent to a regular school quarter, next summer will be the first time organized classes have been conducted after the close of the summer session, Mr. Stetson said. The students who attend both the summer and the post-summer sessions will have a total of ten weeks instruction and receive regular University credit equal to a quarter's work.

California Man Coming

S. Stephenson Smith, assistant professor of English, will conduct the English courses in the post-summer session. The work will include English drama since 1860, Shakespeare's comedies, and Victorian and Georgian poets. A reading and conference course on American colonization will be given by George Verno Blue, graduate of the University of Oregon and assistant in history at the University of California. Problems in secondary education will be taught by Harold E. Benjamin, former principal of the University high school, who is now a research student at Leland Stanford University. Two or three hours credit will be given for each of the post-summer courses.

Students interested in the post session study should correspond with Mr. Stetson immediately in order that courses may be added or changed made. Those who attend the summer session will pay a $5 fee for the post-summer work, while those who only take the four weeks course will pay $10.

Mathematical Society Will Hold Conference

The second regular annual meeting of the San Francisco section of the American Mathematical society will be held at the University of Washington, Seattle, June 5, 1926. Members from California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and British Columbia belong to this section of the conference. Professors Edgar E. DeCou, head of the mathematics department; W. E. Milne, of the mathematics department and E. H. McAllister, head of the department of mechanics and astronomy will probably attend the Seattle meeting.

Senior Senioritas Will Entertain Men

SENIORITAS will be hostesses to members of the senior class this afternoon at the big annual spring picnic which will be staged at Seavey's ferry. Transportation has been furnished and all vehicles are scheduled to leave the administration building at 3:30.

Dancing to music by snappy symphonators will be a part of the evening's program. Food for everyone, singing around a bonfire for the sentimental; games on the green for those who like to gambel, and fun for all is the program that the committee promises.

This will be one of the biggest events of Senior Leap Week, according to plans. No dates will be tolerated.

Hall

Indiana, on July 22, 1881. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta, Phi Delta Phi, Delta Sigma Rho, and the republican party. He received his A. B. degree from Franklin college in 1904, and his degree of doctor of jurisprudence from the University of Chicago in 1907, when he was admitted to the Indiana bar. After numerous scholarships and fellowships, he joined the faculty of Northwestern university, where he remained until 1921. In 1921 he went to the University of Wisconsin as a professor of political science and an associate professor of law.

Dr. Hall was the unanimous choice of both the regents' committee and the board itself. He was also at the top of the list prepared by the advisory council representing faculty opinion.

The candidacy of Dr. Alfred H. Upham, president of the University of Idaho, was withdrawn at his own request several weeks ago.

Randolph Kuhn with Henry Hyak Printers

Randolph (Kap) Kuhn, '24, has formed a connection with the Henry Hyak Printing company in Portland as salesman and independent advertising agent. The company deals in special advertising typography and is considered one of the best in the northwest.

Mr. Kuhn was graduate assistant in the advertising department last year under W. F. G. Thacher, professor in advertising and the school of journalism. He was formerly connected with the Honig-Cooper Advertising agency in Portland.

Prospective Teachers Must File Schedules

Miss Katherine Slade, secretary of the appointment bureau, urges all students who desire teaching positions for next year to file their daily schedule with her. Superintendents from various schools are calling at the bureau now, and it is necessary to know where a student can be reached in case he is needed.

Library Affords Part Time Work For 40 Students Previous Experience Prerequisite for Applicants

There are now 40 part-time student helpers in the University library. There were about 100 names on the list of applicants received by M. H. Douglass, librarian, before the opening of the fall term of school.

"We have not, for the last few years," said Mr. Douglass, "been engaging many people except for stenographic work, who have not had previous library training. Most members of the present staff have either worked in some other library before coming here or else have taken library courses, some of them in our summer session."

Six members of the library staff have had experience in Portland libraries before coming to the University. In addition to experience in library work, Dorothy Bassett and Elizabeth Schaub, both of whom work at the circulation desk of the main library, took one year's complete training under the library association of Portland before applying for a position in the University library.

Two members of the staff had library experience in Medford, one in Eugene, one in New Jersey, one in Bend, one in the state library at Salem, one in Boise, Idaho, one in Ontario, one in Spokane, and one in Greeley, Colorado.

The student assistants at the library do various types of work. They are employed at the circulation desk, three reserve desks, in the reference and periodical department and in the cataloguing department. They check and index the newspapers, cut the leaves on new books and magazines and write orders for new books. "One boy with an automobile," said Mr. Douglass, "does messenger service. Most of the work done on Sunday and holidays is handled by the student helpers."

The local chapter of Alpha Xi Delta and the O. A. C. chapter held their joint Founder's Day banquet last night at the Eugene hotel, about 65 attending. Alpha Xi Delta was founded as a national sorority in 1893 at Lombard College, Illinois.

Herbert Jones Takes Engineering Position

Herbert Jones, '26, at present an assistant and next year to have been a graduate assistant in the physics department, has received an offer from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, representatives of which were on the campus about two weeks ago looking for material, to take a position in their plant engineering department.

He has resigned his assistantship here for next year and will report in Seattle July 1 to attend the special school for new members which will last for from four to six weeks. He then expects to be assigned work somewhere in the northwest.

Jones has assisted Dr. W. B. Boynton, head of the physics department, in his electrical measurements and photography classes, and Dr. A. E. Caswell, also of the department, in advanced general physics classes.

Lawrence E. Loveridge, a junior in the department, and at present an assistant in the general physics laboratory, will take Mr. Jones' place as assistant in upper division classes next year. A man to replace Loveridge has not yet been appointed.

Placement Tests Given To Freshmen Reliable

If the freshmen who have taken the placement tests given by the psychology department were to take a similar battery of tests, under similar conditions, the result of the two sets would be almost exactly the same.

Howard R. Taylor, assistant professor of psychology, has correlated the scores made by 208 freshmen and has found that, in scores ranging from 10 to 210 points, no score could change more than nine points in another test of the same kind. It is a 50-50 chance for their scores not differing more than two points, he declared. "This shows," said Mr. Taylor, "that the tests we give the freshmen are of the very best. They are more reliable for our very restricted range of college freshmen than the Army Alpha test was for the total range of American intellect."

Dean Hale to Teach At Summer Sessions

William G. Hale, dean of the law school, will teach torts, a first year law course, in the summer school in Leland Stanford university. Dean Hale will instruct during the entire session, which is divided into two terms, beginning on June 22 to July 24 and July 26 to August 28. He and his family will drive to California and in the last part of August are planning to take a trip through Yosemite valley.

Dean Hale is looking forward to seeing Justin Miller of the University of Minnesota, who will also teach in the summer school at Stanford. Professor Miller was an instructor in the law school here several years ago.

Miss Nellie Jenkins, clerk in the comptroller's office, left yesterday for Oakland, California, by motor, to spend the coming three weeks visiting with relatives and friends.

Gilbert Moves Faculty Members Buy Gowns

A motion that all faculty members procure academic costume for the semi-centennial anniversary of the University next October, was introduced by Dean Hale, of the school of law, at the last faculty meeting. It will be voted upon a month from that time. In previous years, except for the last two or three, students have petitioned every year to have those members of the faculty appearing on the stage at commencement time wear caps and gowns. If this motion passes there will be no need to petition hereafter.

The faculty is divided on the subject, mainly on account of the expense. Costumes for those people with doctors' degrees would cost from $35 to $70, on account of the hoods. For masters' degrees, robes would be from $25 to $50, according to the grade of material.

Helen Kiblan, member of Kappa Omicron sorority, is going to Corvallis today, to visit her sister Amelia, who is coming from St. Helens to take part in the typing contests being held at O. A. C. this week-end.
