Gillette Springs Surprise in Two-Mile Run

Record of Conference For Mile Shattered by Montana Runner

"Is Gillette in this race?"

That was the question when every event was announced, of every one of the half dozen sports and editors and writers in the press box at the Pacific Coast Conference meet at Palo Alto last week-end. The plucky little Montanan was almost expected to enter the half mile and the quarter in his search for honors. The writers, seasoned to wonderful running and great runners were exuberant in the praise of Gillette and they unanimously voted him the honors as the greatest performer of the day.

You'd be surprised upon seeing Arnold Gillette. He is actually frail. He is thin and even lacks the barrel chest common to distance men. He is quite the opposite of robust. But with a shuffling jog which requires practically no effort he can make time around the track.

In the two mile no one conceded him a chance. Johnny Devine, the short little Washington State runner and national champion in the event, set the pace fully thirty yards out in front of the pack. It was a gruelling pace which left five men in the rear to gradually drop out of the grind one by one. Perhaps Johnny Devine was determined to run his opponents into the ground and he certainly did a good job of it. Gillette trailed the group for the first seven and a half laps and then with a marvellous sprint—after running a record mile a day seven and a half laps of a two mile—he shot out ahead of Ramsey of Washington, Bell of O.A.C., beating their powerful sprints and flickered his heels to Devine to win the race. It was a wonderful finish.

Judging from the bound around of applause that the 18,000 spectators in the bowl gave Gillette as he fell into the arms of his team mates after the race it was the greatest race of the day. Nothing excited it in interest except perhaps the performance of the Richardson-Charteris-Boyd-Neirbach quartet in the half-mile. Even the appearance of the great Russell Sweet and Phil Barber of California did not get the enthusiastic reception of the 18,000 persons who stood up for lap after lap watching Gillette, and wondering if he could win.

The mile came first and Gillette with no apparent effort won in 4:21.7, the fastest that it has been run on the coast. He walked off the field after the effort, took a few jogs and then rested. Twenty minutes later came the two mile and he stayed with the terrible pace to win in 9 minutes and 30.4 seconds, another phenomenal performance. In the wake of the four northwest college distance men who finished were five who had been literally run into the ground.

Two mile races, as a rule, are dull affairs, but the interest displayed in the two mile event and even the mile proved that they were popular races. Perhaps it was because the spectators could see entirely around the track from the steep wall of the stadium. But it was more likely on account of the remarkable exhibition of distance running given by Gillette, Devine and the rest.

Montana has a new hero now. No one suspected that Gillette could win two events in record time for each.

Doe Stewart, coach of the Montana four man team, was putting most of his hopes, as I gathered from talking to him, and well founded they were, in Russell Sweet. He didn't say much about Gillette. But Gillette proved the equal of the great sprinter.

High point honors at a conference meet like that means something. He is out now for national honors in the two mile which he barely lost last year at Chicago by getting third.

Will Sweet ever be able to run again?

Bill Hayward, who saw Sweet after his fall in the 220 with a pulled tendon, says that he will probably never be as fast as before.

Celebration Will Be State-Wide Affair

Semi-Centennial Plans Are Altered at Meeting in Portland

Committee Meets With Editors' Representatives

Dr. J. H. Gilbert Reports Progress to Date

Plans have been made to make the Semi-Centennial Celebration this fall a public, state-wide affair instead of a University celebration as was formerly planned.

This action was taken at a meeting in Portland the past week-end by Dr. James H. Gilbert, acting dean of the college of literature, science, and the arts, general chairman of the celebration, and Raymond D. Lawrence, instructor in the school of journalism, publicity representative of various Portland papers, and the Oregon State Editorial Association.

Dr. Gilbert outlined what has been done to date, explaining plans for the celebration. According to the chairman, the committee thought the celebration a fine idea and approved of the plan. They also thought that it would contribute to the intellectual advancement of the state and should be made state-wide and public.

The committee was composed of Donald Sterling, managing editor of the Oregon Journal; Walter May, executive news editor of the Morning Oregonian; Clark Leiter, managing editor of the Portland Telegram; Fred Bolt, editor of the Portland News; Hal Hoss, managing editor of the Oregon City Enterprise, and secretary of the Oregon State Editorial Association, who represented the editors of the state; Dr. James H. Gilbert, chairman of the Semi-Centennial committee; and Raymond D. Lawrence, chairman of the publicity committee.

Additional Courses Offered at Portland in Summer Session

Arrangements have been practically completed for the Portland Summer session to be held at the Lincoln high school from June 21 to July 31. The large number of inquiries received daily in the Portland office, 212 Medical Arts building, indicates that the 1926 enrollment will probably exceed any previous enrollment by more than a hundred, according to Alfred Powers, dean of the extension division.

Seven courses in education have been arranged in place of the five previously offered in order to satisfy the large number who will take educational subjects. One additional course in English will also be offered this summer.

Miss Mildred Harter, of Gary, Indiana, who has been secured to teach platoon work in education is one of the outstanding authorities in this field. She is particularly fitted in auditorium work, it is understood.

Many of those who plan to take work in the Portland summer session expect to come to Eugene for the post-summer session, August 2 to August 27, Mr. Powers said. The post summer work is being offered in several specially selected subjects.

An enrollment of 800 is expected at the Portland session. The lower floor, gymnasium, art rooms and laboratories on the third floor and the library on the second floor of the Lincoln high school have been reserved to accommodate the students.

Girls' Track Teams Meet This Afternoon

The final meet for the women's first string track teams will take place on the field south of the Woman's building this afternoon, beginning at 3:30 o'clock. Teams were announced last Saturday and those who were placed on the first teams for their respective classes will compete this afternoon.

Unless the "dope," as garnered from the outcome of the preliminary meets last week, is strongly upset, the sophomores and juniors will put up the hardest fight for class honors.

The second class teams will have their final meet Thursday of this week.

Frank Jenkins Guest Editor of Emerald

FRANK JENKINS, editor of the Eugene Morning Register, is "guest editor" of the Emerald today and in theory at least will control the policies of the University daily for the next 24 hours.

Mr. Jenkins, one of the best editorial writers in Oregon, graduated from Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, in 1906. From college he went to work on a syndicate newspaper in Hamburg, Iowa, and in 1912 became editor of the Register, six years after graduation. The Register, under the leadership of Mr. Jenkins has achieved an enviable place in the Eugene community, with a firmly established reputation for reliability in its news and editorial columns.

"For Us to Decide," is the title of Mr. Jenkins' editorial which will be found in the Emerald editorial column this morning.

New Professor From Indiana To Fill Vacancy

D. R. Davis Is Assistant in Mathematics to Fill Small Vacancy

Election of D. R. Davis, as assistant professor of mathematics to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Dr. L. L. Small one year ago was announced yesterday by Dr. J. H. Gilbert, acting dean of the college of literature, science and the arts.

Mr. Davis was graduated from the University of Indiana in 1917, and in 1923 he received his master of arts degree from the same institution. Next month he will receive his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago. His doctoral dissertation is on the "Inverse Problem of the Calculus of Variations in Higher Space." He has had several years experience as a high school teacher and principal.

The character, personality and ability of Davis are recommended in highest terms by authorities at Indiana and Chicago.

Mrs. Davis will receive her masters degree in mathematics from the school of education of the University of Chicago at the same time that Davis gets his doctor's degree. They are both members of the Methodist church and Mr. Davis is a Mason.

Adult Education Report In Extension Monitor

The next issue of the Extension Division Monitor which will be published at the end of this month will give a complete resume of the papers given at the Adult Education Conference held in Portland, April 10. The conference was held to survey briefly the various types of adult education that are found in Oregon and particularly in Portland.

Organizations that are functioning in the matter of providing adult education and of which resumes will be given in the Monitor include Reed College, Library Association of Portland, Night Schools, Labor College, Y.M.C.A., Northwestern School of Law, Portland Art Association, American Institute of Banking, Portland Chapter, Portland Center, University of Oregon, State Americanization schools, and others.

Journalism Students Have Stories Printed

Genevieve Morgan, junior in the school of journalism, has had an article, "Veteran of Oregon Journalism Retires," written for Professor Ralph D. Casey's class in specialized press, printed in the May issue of the Oregon Exchanges, a publication edited monthly by George Turnbull, professor of journalism, for the editors of the state.

R. R. Cronise, a former Oregon student, at present on the Albany Democrat-Herald, and chairman of the advertising committee of the Oregon State Editorial Association, has an article on "The Advertising Committee's Corner" in this issue also.

Spencer Crawford, another ex-University student, has contributed an article, "Country Shop's Mechanical Equipment."

New Pavilion Plans Formed By Committee

Two-tiered and Portable Bleachers Included in Contract

Room for Dr. J. H. Nash To Be Built Near Press

General Improvements of Campus Outlined

PLANS for constructing two tiers of permanent bleachers in the new basketball pavilion instead of the one tier and portable bleachers specified in the contract, were discussed at the meeting of the Regent-Student building committee last Saturday afternoon.

The committee, consisting of Mrs. G. T. Gerlinger, William S. Gilbert of Portland, and Fred Fisk, of Eugene, met with representatives of the student body to consider various improvements of the University. The contract as it now stands provides for a row of portable bleachers, extending out on the lower floor. This row would be removed after the basketball games, necessitating a large amount of labor and expense. To install another tier of bleachers permanently, above the first row, would cost approximately from $15,000 to $20,000 more.

Portables Could Be Added

If the permanent bleachers were built during the process of construction, correct allowance would be made for stairways and aisles. Otherwise the building would have to be partially reconstructed to make the changes. If necessary, in the next few years, the row of portable bleachers can be installed in addition to the two permanent ones. The architects have been instructed to study the matter, and bids will probably be called for later.

The committee also authorized construction of a 50 by 50 foot addition on the north side of the University press to provide a workroom for John Henry Nash, noted San Francisco printer, who was recently elected a special lecturer in the school of journalism and who will spend several weeks each year at the University.

Addition to Serve Students

This addition will also contain a printing laboratory for student use and a store room to be used by the University library. The building will be of concrete of the same plan as the present one.

Proposed improvement of the northwest corner of the campus at Eleventh and Kincaid as a memorial park, in honor of President P. L. Campbell was discussed.

George H. Otten, landscape gardener of Portland, who made plans for the new Washburne park, has plotted the entire campus and outlined the landscaping for the future. He is an alumnus of the University and has made a gift of these plans to the University.

The approximate cost of improving this corner of the campus is $2,500. Definite plans will be considered in the future.

Frosh Lose Relay Meet To Aggie Rooks 4 to 1

The frosh relay teams ran into some tough competition last Saturday in the relay carnival against the Aggie Rooks. After losing four straight races the Babes came through and won the medley which was the best race of the day. Cheshire running a 220 got a lead on Oglesby and gave a good lead to Joe Standard who increased it to 15 yards. McKittrick running the half mile and Little in the mile practically ran away from their men.

The other races were close, but not close enough to cause the rooks any worry. The results of the meet were: 3 mile relay: Rooks first; Bradshaw, McKinney, Black, and Darlington. Time 13:47.2. 880-yard relay: Rooks first; Twitchell, Lawrence, Ritter and Oglesby; time 1:33.5. Mile relay: Rooks first; Fain, Douglas, Davies and Hahn; time 3:36.4. 440-yard relay: Rooks first; Twitchell, Lawrence, Ritter and Oglesby; time 46 flat. Medley relay: Frosh first; Cheshire, Standard, McKittrick and Little; time 8:04.

The frosh will have a dual meet this Saturday with the University of Washington freshmen in Seattle.

Customs of 12 Nations to Be Shown May 21

Foreign Dances, Songs, Plays, to Be Given By Students

Program to Be Held in Guild Hall at 8 p.m.

Christine Holt, Director of Presentation

TWELVE nations of the world, each represented by players in costume representing the different countries, will take part in the Festival of Nations, a presentation sponsored by the Cosmopolitan Club of the University, to be given May 21 and 22 at 8 p. m. in Guild Theater. Christine Holt is director of the pageant with the assistance of Romula Avila, and Idella Tong.

"The object of the club is to give the public an idea of how things are done in the different nations," said Mr. Avila, who is the acting president of the Cosmopolitan club. "We are just charging enough to cover expenses. Because the seating capacity of Guild Theater is only 200, those interested should get their tickets early."

Lydie Coqblin to Sing

The French representation, handkerchief song, sung by Lydie Coqblin will be the first number on the program. Italy will present a song called "O Paradiso", sung by Silvester Brigham. A one act play entitled, "The Goddess of Hun", is the Japanese contribution to the program. It is a portion of a famous Japanese mythological presentation, "Amoro-Iwato", meaning "Rock Door of Heaven". Sumie Yamamoto, Japanese student from Linfield college, who is well known on the campus, will have the leading part.

Spanish Dance to Be Given

Etha Clark and William Forbis will present a Spanish dance, "La Paloma"; Siemon Mueller will sing a Russian Song, and selections on the steel guitar will be played by Simon Carbonell, for Hawaii. The Filipinos will present a one act play, "The Ghost", written by Carlos Romulo, a Philippine graduate of Columbia university.

McGrew Girls to Dance

Besides a Swedish dance, Helga and Bessie McGrew will give the dance ensemble, "Memories of Germany". For China, Ben Chan will demonstrate the Chinese art of self defense. There will also be an English sword dance. "The Choice of Hercules", a one-act play will be given for Greece. The last number, "The Spirit of Oregon", will be in an ensemble of the entire cast. The Philippine string orchestra will play selections during the evening.

The admission to the pageant will be thirty-five cents, and tickets may be obtained at the Co-Op and the Eugene Music Shop.

Railroad Man to Talk On Columbia History

E. F. Flynn, assistant to the vice-president and general counsel of the Great Northern railway, will give the assembly address this week. His subject has been announced as "The Columbia River Historical Expedition," and will take up something of the early history of the Columbia region, including the expeditions and discoveries.

Miss Pauline Knowland, from the music department, will furnish the musical number of the assembly program this week.

Second Year Women To Hold Meet Today

All sophomore women are urged to attend the meeting of the sophomore commission which will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock, in the Y. W. C. A. bungalow. This is the first meeting of the term, and the chief purpose of the meeting is to consider sending representatives to Seabeck. Miss Florence McGowan, campus secretary for the Y. W. will give a report of her recent trip to the National Conference of the Y. W. C. A. in the East. Reports will be given by the various committees. The meeting will be comparatively short, is the report of Constance Roth, chairman, but it is very important that all sophomore women attend.

Gillenwater to Sue Libeler in Moot Trial

IN order to get himself reinstated as a student in the University of Oregon and to obtain damages which will at least partially cover the cost of the damage done his character thru a libelous letter, Ted Gillenwaters, second year law student is suing Robert Chrisman, alias Yi Pry.

Chrisman, defendant, it is alleged, wrote a letter to Gillenwaters, in which he charged the latter with bootlegging. The letter got into the hands of the private secretary of Gillenwaters, who sent it to the faculty committee, with the result that Gillenwaters was dropped from the institution.

The amount of damages is to be decided tonight at the moot trial which will take place at 7:15 o'clock in the Lane county court house.

Attorneys for the case are Frank Keenan, Grant Williams, Edwin Keech, and James Powers. Lloyd Crow will act as clerk and Don Husband as bailiff.

First W.A.A. Ice Cream Social To Be Tonight

Entertainment to Be Held in Women's Gymnasium in Case of Rain

Tonight's the night when the ten courts become a dancing pavilion and the little house at the edge of the grounds becomes the dispenser of loads of fresh strawberry ice cream sundaes. It is the time of the big Strawberry Social that W.A.A. is sponsoring. The time is from 6:00 sharp until 7:30.

If, by any chance, Old Jupiter should forsake his solemn promises to hold the sprinkler right side up for the evening, the dance will be held in the gymnasium in the Woman's building. So tonight's the night, rain or shine.

Every student on the campus is invited to come out to this informal, no-date dance and help make it a success. The profits are to be used to help defray the expenses of Play Day, to be held here with O. A. C. next Saturday.

There will be plenty of dancing room and lots of strawberries and ice cream. The fact that you don't dance won't bar you from buying as many of the sundaes as you desire.

A jitney will be charged for each dance. The Oregon Aggravators have been engaged to furnish the symphony.

W. A. A. Has Asked that the Living Organizations on the Campus Lend their support by having their evening meal before 6:00 o'clock tonight, and incidentally, that all meals be desertless in order to give the sundaes free reign.

Education Honorary Initiates Four New Members Saturday

Phi Delta Kappa, men's national honorary education fraternity, held its annual spring initiation Saturday afternoon at the school of education. Initiates were Austin Hutcheson, graduate assistant in the history department of the University; William Bunch, teaching fellow in the mathematics department; Otis J. White, senior in education; and Roland Belslaw, junior in the physical education department. The initiation was followed by a banquet at the College Side Inn, where addresses were given by Prof. Peter L. Spencer, Prof. Oscar Richards, and Prof. Kimball Young. The topics were on opportunities for research in the field of education, national science, and social science.

Committee Appointed For Freshman Picnic

Definite plans for the Frosh picnic, to be held at Midway Friday, May 21, will be completed today at a committee meeting to be held in Dean Straub's office at 4:15.

The committees as named are: Transportation, Carl Klippel; Refreshments, Shirley Wolman, chairman, Agnes Palmer and Al Cousins; Entertainment, Tom Montgomery, chairman, Kay Reid, Arden Ferris, Elsie Goddard, and John Wharton; Publicity, Bob Galloway.

Huskies' Hits Hard, Timely, Win Tilt, 8-2

Home Run in First, Drives In Enough Runs to Put Battle on Ice

Tesreau Keeps Oregon Biffs Well Scattered

Game Fast; Fielding Good; Ashby's Work Steady

IN the fastest played game on the local diamond this season, it took the University of Washington Huskies exactly one hour and fifty minutes to hand the Oregon Varsity baseball nine an 8 to 2 drubbing.

A home run in the first inning started the ball a rolling for the Huskies and didn't stop until the sixth. By this time Coach "Tubby" Graves men had scored their eight runs. Washington's three scores came in the first inning after Shager, first man up, singled, Malone singled. With two men on bases, two outs and two strikes and one ball on Wallingford, left fielder and fifth man in the batting order, Bill Ashby's fourth pitch was lifted high into center field for a home run, and two runners cantered in ahead of him. The visitors scored another in the second, two in the fourth, and one each in the fifth and sixth innings.

Oregon Tallies Scattered

Oregon's two lonely tallies came in the second and seventh. Jones lifted one of Tesreau's slants for a three-put swat in the second and scored when Minnaugh singled. Adolph tripled in the seventh and a nicely placed sacrifice hit by Minnaugh scored him for the Webfooters' second and final tally.

Bill Ashby on the mound for the Webfooters pitched fairly good ball, allowing the winners ten safe blows. After the fatal first inning he kept his hits well scattered.

Big Elmer Tesreau had an easy time of it for the Huskies. He allowed the Webfooters nine safe bingles and was never in hot water. Tesreau took things as they came and only on two occasions bore down.

Shager and Walby Hit Hard

For the visitors, hitting honors seemed to be fairly well divided. Shager and Walby both drove out two safe swats. Wallingford's blow, however, in the first inning proved to be more timely than any of the rest. Johnson, playing shortstop for the Huskies first time this season, played a good game. He fills the position like a veteran.

"Plunks" Reinhart, varsity center gardner, carried off the batting honors for the Webfooters with three safe blows in four trips to the plate. He also has three putouts to his credit. Edwards came through in his usual style and made two hits out of four times at bat. Kuhn, batting for Ashby in the ninth, drove out a nice Texas leaguer into right field.

Condon Clubs Plans Picnic for May 22

Condon club will hold a picnic Saturday afternoon, May 22, near Goshen, it was decided at a meeting held Monday. Club members, geology students and friends are expected to attend. The group will assemble at the Condon building at 2:30 that afternoon, and leave in a body for the picnic grounds.
