

Warm Time Promised at Frosh Parade

No Slow Moments for Sophomore "Guests" Saturday

Prompt Arrival at Start is Demanded

Hayward Field Scene for Annual Mix

MANY will be called but few will be frozen because it will be a hot affair when the frosh and soph meet at the Sigma Chi corner Saturday morning at 8 o'clock.

To-Ko-Lo, sophomore men's organization, is in charge of the parade, which will be everything a parade should be, with freaks, color, trainers, and frosh in abundance, according to Les Johnson, president of To-Ko-Lo.

A reception committee will meet all frosh who are tardy and fail to arrive at the appointed corner at 8. Few absences are expected because a town crier will announce the event early in the morning and a vigilance committee will see that they are there. That is only part of the committee's plans.

Costume Party Planned
When the frosh arrives at the corner he is instructed to appear as follows: beginning from top to bottom, around his neck will be a garter, the left pant leg will be rolled up, he shall carry a green lid, a package of cigarettes, and one dime. All who are improperly attired will be dressed in barrels and other suitable raiment. That is also committee orders.

From the corner the troupe will proceed to the "O" on the top of Skinner's butte. At the bottom of the hill two toll takers, Bert McElroy and Al Boyden, will accept the dimes and all remaining cigarettes.

Sophs to Give Aid
Paint will be served at the "O" and after the "O" has been refinished the frosh will take turns playing shoot-the-shoots down the famous letter. At the bottom of the hill the sophomore class will be in the receiving line. Not the kind they have at teas, but the kind the Indians used to show the white men. It may here be stated that the frosh will be urged to make haste, and every effort will be made to assist them down the line.

The frosh will then march through town and to Villard hall, and all will be merry for they will sing Oregon songs and shout Oregon yells. The Oregon seal ceremony at Villard hall will be next on the program, according to the committee's plans. The frosh, each in turn, will pay homage to the University of Oregon, by kissing the great seal of the University. Again they will run the gauntlet and proceed on to Hayward field to take part in the underclass mix.

Special Hosts Named
The vigilance committee, which is in charge of the parade, consists of the following men: Bob Foster, Lyle Reddick, Bill Crawford, David Bauman, Arthur Anderson, Al Boyden, George Barons, Wendell Gray, Bill Sullivan, Bert McElroy, and Ellwood Enke.

Seniors to Publish Book on P. Campbell As Class Memorial

The senior memorial for this year will be the publishing and distribution of a book on the life of President Campbell. Final plans for the financing of the volume will be decided at a senior class meeting today at 5 o'clock in Guild hall. This book was written by Dr. Joseph Schafer, who is an eminent historian, having been head of the history department of the University for years, and who is now superintendent of the Wisconsin Historical society.

Plans in regard to senior apparel which will distinguish the fourth year student from any other on the campus will be formed. Committee appointments will be made for the senior smoker, an annual event during Homecoming. There will also be a discussion of finances.

"I hope everyone takes an interest in this first meeting, as it is of great importance to the class in future years," stated Earle Chiles, president of the senior class.

Social Swims Again In Vogue This Year

"WHAT do you say we get together?" is the name of a latest jazz hit.

That is also what the men and women of the University have been thinking so, on the strength of it, social swims will be held on Friday nights during the coming year.

For the benefit of the uninitiated swimmers were held last year in the Woman's building tank and met with great success. An open invitation is extended to men and women and bathing suits are furnished at the tank and life guards will be on hand to oversee the frolic and teach beginners the gentle art of swimming without swallowing too much water.

The time: Friday evenings, 7:30 to 9 p. m. The place: Woman's building, northwest entrance.

Local Churches To Hold Parties; Students Invited

President Hall Will Visit Each Church During The Evening

Tonight is open house in all the local churches. Church night is an annual custom of long standing in the Eugene churches, it is held at the beginning of each year to give new and old students an opportunity to become acquainted with the church members.

President Arnold Bennett Hall of the University will visit each church to extend a few words of greeting. Musical numbers, short talks, games and features are also on the programs. The following is a list of the churches and their locations, together with the programs that will be offered:

Church Names Listed
Baptist, Eighth avenue east and Pearl street, will give a carnival. Central Presbyterian, Tenth avenue and Pearl street, will offer a musical program.

First Christian church, Eleventh avenue and Oak street, has a short program to be followed by a social and games.

Methodist Episcopal, Twelfth avenue and Willamette, will give a play that will be followed by a social.

Congregational, Thirteenth avenue and Perry street, has invited all the freshmen to a weiner roast at 8 p. m. that is open to everyone.

Episcopal, Seventh avenue west and Olive street, will give a reception.

Central Lutheran, Seventh avenue and Pearl street, will give a social preceded by a musical program.

Catholic, will give a program in their parish house at 1062 Charnelton.

Church night is given preference on the social calendar and no other events are scheduled.

Hempstead Appoints Webfoot Speakers

The names of 15 men, all of whom are experienced in public speaking work on the campus, were announced yesterday as speakers in the various living organizations for the coming subscription drive for the Webfoot, the new campus magazine.

Jack Hempstead has been appointed by Doug Wilson, manager of the magazine, to take charge of instructions and arrangement of schedules for the speakers, and he has called a meeting at 4:30 this afternoon in room 107 of the journalism building to give them the information upon which to base their talks.

The men selected by Hempstead, all of whom he urges to be present at the meeting, are: Mark Taylor, Beryl Ludington, Benoit McCroskey, Donald Beeler, Wilfred Long, Avery Thompson, Dudley Clark, Ronald Robnett, Robert Mantz, Frank Riggs, Ward Cook, Robert Love, Herbert Socolofsky, Roland Davis, Ralph Staley, Jack Hempstead.

Council Appoints New Managers for Year

The executive council held the first meeting of the year yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Administration building and discussed several matters of routine business.

The following appointments were made: varsity basketball manager, Harold Socolofsky; varsity baseball manager, Harold Brumfield; varsity track manager, Clarend McCall; varsity manager of minor sports, Stewart Ball.

Frosh to Meet Dr. Hall Today At Reception

New President Expresses Desire to Know First Year Students

Deans Esterly, Straub And Walker Are Hosts

Plans for First Tea Laid By Women's League

KATHRYN ULRICH, president of Women's League, emphasizes necessity of all freshmen turning out. "We are depending upon the freshmen men and women to co-operate," she says, "and the success of the affair rests upon them."

In the receiving line will be Dean Esterly, President and Mrs. Hall, Hugh Biggs, Kathryn Ulrich, Catherine Strupler, Beatrice Peters, Myrtle Mast and Esther Hardy. Dean Straub and Dean Walker, who with Mrs. Esterly, are the freshman class advisors, will act as hosts. Members of the executive council of Women's League will assist. A musical program prepared by Olga Jackson includes piano solos by Myra Belle Palmer and Olga Jackson, violin numbers by Gwendolyn Hayden and vocal solos by Leota Biggs and Harriet Ross.

Only Informal Meeting

The freshmen reception to be given by the Women's League this afternoon from 4 to 6 at Alumni hall will probably be the only opportunity for the entire freshman class throughout the year to meet President Hall and his wife informally, says Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women.

"President and Mrs. Hall have expressed that they are particularly anxious to meet the men and women of the freshman class," Dean Esterly says, "and since it is President Hall's first year in the University, I would urge that they all come, and come directly from 4 and 5 classes."

Kwamas to Serve
Pauline Stewart has charge of the refreshments which will be served in the sun room by active and inactive members of Kwama, honorary women's sophomore organization, and Alice Douglas is chairman of the decorating committee.

Casey Reports Magazine Work Full of Interest

American Boy Demands Stories of Action And Character

Ralph D. Casey, specialty professor in the school of journalism, spent six weeks during the summer as editorial assistant on the staff of the American Boy magazine, published in Detroit.

Mr. Casey read manuscripts, including serials, short stories and special articles and wrote for the April number of the magazine a 4500-word interview with Dean Cromwell, coach of the University of Southern California track team, national inter-collegiate champion for the past two years. In this article Mr. Cromwell tells of his training methods and gives valuable hints on track and field technique.

George F. Pierrot, former national president of Sigma Delta Chi, is managing editor of the American Boy and he invited Mr. Casey to join the staff last summer.

"The experience on the magazine was very interesting," said Mr. Casey. "I think I obtained a good insight into magazine needs and magazine methods, thanks to the kindness of Mr. Pierrot and his staff. Those who work for the magazine are like members of a club; friendliness, informality and good spirit prevail throughout."

"As the American Boy is appealing to an older group of boy readers—of high school and early college age as well as to somewhat younger clientele—the fiction demands were high. Stories desired were those usually with plenty of plot and action, but the magazine demanded good character and setting as well."

Mental Tests Tell Tale of Scholarship

MENTAL tests do count, freshmen! If you are skeptical, take a look at the nice, neat correlation between the mental tests of last year's freshmen and their grades, as announced by Dr. Howard R. Taylor of the psychology department. (And bear in mind that the same tests were used this year.) Here they are: 34 per cent were low in test score, and also below average in grades, and 34 per cent had high scores in both mental tests and year's grades. The percentage that had high test scores and low grades was only 18.

Freshmen can obtain their relative mental scores from Dr. Taylor, after October 15 at his office.

Pacific Game To Test Power Of Oregon Squad

McEwan to Polish Eleven For Husky Contest Next Week

With the first Pacific coast conference game of October 9 against the University of Washington still in the offing but continually growing nearer, Coach John J. McEwan is leaving practically no stone unturned in the way of preliminary preparation.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 his Webfoot eleven will oppose the shifty Pacific university Badgers in the second pre-conference game to be played on Hayward field this year. Coach Leo Frank, Badger mentor, is coming with ten lettermen in his fold and several capable regulars from last year's squads. About five years ago Frank was a member of the University's physical education staff and nothing would please him so much as to see his prodigies drag the lemon-yellow into the mire of defeat. Last year the Oregon varsity defeated the Forest Grove team 13 to 0.

Since the beginning of this fall's grid practice Coach Frank has had a squad of 25 out of which he must mould a winning team. The ten lettermen making the trip include Captain Horn, tackle; Bryant, center; Pollock and Ingles, ends; Emerson, quarterback; Frost, halfback; Tucker, fullback; Rannow and Irvin, tackles; and Bennett, fullback. Coach Frank and his assistant, Leslie Hoar, will have to build the rest of his team from the freshman turnout and Oddie, Beckett, Jess Tucker, Baker and Tuor, who were on the regular squad, but did not make letters.

Coach Frank's gridiron teams are known for their deception. Each year the Pacific university eleven produces a new set of trick plays that keeps the opposing team on edge throughout the tilt. This year's attack is built mainly around Emerson, signal barker, and Tucker, fullback.

"The Contrast" Selected By Florence Wilbur For Early Production

"The Contrast," by Royall Tyler, which has been selected by Miss Florence Wilbur, instructor in drama, for early production, is a historical comedy bringing in the typical Yankee.

Miss Wilbur believes "The Contrast" is one of the most interesting plays ever attempted by the department, based as it is on the assumption that to be well-educated one must be "finished" in Europe. It was first produced in St. John's theater, New York, early in 1787.

"This year," Miss Wilbur asserts, "the department has some excellent drawing material, as many of those who were active in University dramatics last year have returned. I have several competent assistants, among them Perry Douglas, stage manager, and Harold Whitlock, business manager. I hope to have this play completed and presented before Thanksgiving so that we can start work on our Christmas program which is to express the typical Yuletide spirit."

"So far, 'Napoleon's Barber,' by Arthur Caesar, is only play chosen for the sophomores. This group will produce a number of one-act plays during the early part of November. Casting will begin as soon as possible after the cast for 'The Contrast' has been definitely decided.

"The Contrast" is an elaborately costumed play," added Miss Wilbur, "and will compare favorably with 'Lilium' which was produced last year in Guild theater."

Alonzo Jasmin Elected Head of Freshmen

Eleanor Flanagan, Agnes Farris and Ralph Riels Also Win

First Year Students To Meet President Hall

Yearlings Get Instructions For Mix by Biggs

DEFEATING five other candidates, Alonzo Jasmin was elected president of the freshman class at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in Villard hall. Eleanor Flanagan was elected vice-president, Agnes Farris, secretary, and Ralph Riels, treasurer.

Other aspirants for class offices were: Francis Neff, Sidney Dobbin, Richard Hawlinson, Kenton Hamaker, and James Terry for presidency; Emery Miller, vice-president; Eloise Schade for secretary, and Carl Forstrom and William Doyle for treasurer.

Previous to the meeting of the 1200 class members, two nominating committees were appointed by Hugh Biggs, president of the associated students. These two committees had nominated complete tickets for the election and the names of the candidates selected were placed on ballots which were distributed among the members of the class.

The privilege of making nominations from the floor was granted and Alonzo Jasmin and James Terry were nominated for president and William Doyle for treasurer. The candidates chosen before the meeting were introduced by Larry Shaw and Bob Porter, chairmen of the two committees appointed by Mr. Biggs. Each person introduced took a seat on the stage.

The men nominated from the floor joined the group of candidates on the stage, and speeches were made by the six presidential aspirants.

Each candidate asked that all members of the class co-operate with the man who received the election. By virtue of its number one man class was "bound to become a great power" since it contains one-third of the students enrolled in the University this term.

Dean H. Walker addressed the freshmen at the opening of the meeting and complimented them on their number before announcing the frosh parade and underclass meet scheduled for Saturday morning. Each freshman was instructed to be at the top of Skinner's butte at 8:30 equipped with a green cap and cigarettes for the upper classmen to smoke.

An invitation was given by Dean Virginia Judy Esterly asking the freshmen to come to Alumni hall Friday afternoon between 4 and 6 o'clock to meet President Arnold Bennett Hall. She assured them they would receive food, not "tea."

The members of the nominating committees acted as election boards for counting the votes cast.

Swimming Campaign By Amphibian Club Will Start Tuesday

A campaign to interest students in the Amphibian club, local swimming honorary, will be started Tuesday, October 5, at the first meeting of the club this year. Miss E. A. Troemel, instructor in physical education, and Virginia Lounsbury, president of the Amphibians, are in charge of the drive.

The requirements for membership are the possession of a life-saving certificate. The ability to dive for form, which necessitates that the swimmer be able to do four standard dives and one optional dive with an average of 85; being able to do three strokes for form, the crawl included, with an average of 93; and strokes for speed, going two lengths of the pool using two of the following strokes: crawl, side, trudgeon, English over arm, breast, or trudgeon crawl.

The purpose of the club, according to Virginia Lounsbury, president, is to encourage proficiency in swimming and diving, to assist others to pass the lifesaving exams, to gain an up to date knowledge of new things in swimming and diving, and to provide a way to gather together students interested in swimming.

Webfoot Will Waddle In Homecoming Rain

WITH a quack here and a quack there every body will quack quack as soon as Jupe instigates the sky juice falling and plans are made for Homecoming. Duck season is now open to members of the hunted group but in the University it is an open season—open to all members who keep their eyes open, for with them closed nothing can be seen. The ducks are ducky birds but not foul as one might judge. In appearance they are not dissimilar to other victims of the Darwinian theory with the exception that their toes are never far apart for they stick by each other. Ah! the Webfoot will appear during Homecoming week and then all will be quite ducky.

Route Schedule For Open House Now Complete

Chi Omegas Receive at Kappa Sigma; Three Arts Club Listed

The routing schedule of men's houses for open house to be held Saturday night has been completed by Katherine Ulrich and Georgia Benson, of the women's committee. The program starts the men on their way at 7 o'clock, allowing a ten minute visit at each of the 22 women's organizations.

"There will be very little retracing of steps," said Miss Ulrich, "but the men are cautioned to keep on schedule time, and to go to the next house at the expiration of their time allowance, even though no other group has arrived to take their place."

The routing schedule was arranged by a committee consisting of Frances Morgan, Katherine Ulrich, Anne Ranes, Dean Judy Esterly, Georgia Benson, and Mrs. G. D. Oberteuffer.

Because their house is yet uncompleted, the Chi Omega's will be hostesses at the Kappa Sigma house. Three Arts club at Fourteenth and University street will be included on the route of women's houses. Thacher cottage will receive the men at their house at 1370 Onyx street, instead of being located at Hendricks hall as previously.

In addition to the men's fraternity groups and Oregon club, a separate group of independent students will be in the line of march.

Three Hundred Spanish Volumes Added to Stacks

Library Receives Many French, Italian Books In Collection

A collection of 300 Spanish books by both old and modern Spanish authors and playwrights for use in the romance language department has been received by the library. A few volumes in French have also been received and others in French and Italian have been ordered but have not come.

One Spanish set is "Clasicos Castellanos" in sixty-six volumes and is an up-to-date edition of Spanish masterpieces. Another set of seventy-one volumes is the very valuable "Biblioteca de Autores Espanoles"—valuable because it contains all of the old editions. Five volumes of the "Nueva Biblioteca" will serve as the beginning of this collection of twenty-five volumes which the department hopes to own in the future.

The remaining portion includes fifteen volumes in the Royal Academy edition of the "Obras de Lope de Vega," Spain's greatest playwright; six volumes of the "Obras de Santa Teresa de Jesus;" seven of "Don Jose Maria de Pereda;" twenty of "Palacio Valdes;" thirty-five of Pardo Bazan, who is perhaps Spain's greatest woman novelist; and seventy-three of Perez Galdos.

Only the one collection, "Clasicos Castellanos," has been catalogued and ready for use by the students. The Biblioteca is ready to be catalogued but the other volumes will not be ready for some time.

Dr. Ray P. Bowen, head of the department, is very much interested in the development of this department and in the purchase of new books.

Initial Speech Made by Hall To Students

President to Follow Plans Of Prince Campbell for A "Greater Oregon"

Introductory Talk Made By Sheldon and Biggs

Students Warned Against Bigotry by Head-Elect

THE auditorium of the Woman's building yesterday was filled to overflowing with members of the student body and faculty, who listened to Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president-elect of the University, when he pointed out to the students fundamental guideposts on the road to a "Greater Oregon," in his address on "Leadership."

Dr. Hall in the capacity of a student leader at his initial assembly address, spoke of the possibilities for an era of growth for the University in the same way which President Campbell pointed the way to future growth when he appeared for the last time April 23, 1924 and talked from his chair concerning the launching of the student union drive to a similar group of students.

Hall Attacks Bigotry
"Conviction without bigotry, strength of character without brutality, faith without credulity, sympathy without sentimentality are the principles which will lead to a high type of spiritual and intellectual life, a larger vision and abundant achievement. Youthful enthusiasm will be my inspiration, and my ambition is service to you," declared Dr. Hall.

In discussing what he considers a requisite for developing leadership, Dr. Hall warned students of the curse of bigotry which he defined as a fixed opinion usually based on nothing more than tradition. Conviction, on the other hand, he defined as the thought and idea resulting from careful study.

Cynicism Lacks Character
"Strength of character is also important," he said in dealing with the problems of life. "Yet this strength must come without any loss in gentleness of character and an insight into the finer things of life. A man lacking in strength of character and gentleness and poise, often develops a cynical attitude toward life," he said.

The speaker illustrated the value of strength of character in the example of Abraham Lincoln who when disaster threatened the states was the one man to keep his head and definitely to meet the crisis.

"You must be one who can construct a philosophy of life. Form a definite attitude toward the problems of life and then form them into fixed habits of thought and conduct. Crystallize them into character."

Faith in Mastery
As the third point essential to the development of leadership, Dr. Hall urged faith, that is, belief in ones self and in all people. He urged a faith based on science, not on credulity.

To have faith in ones self is attained through a mastery of oneself, through self analysis and freedom from egotism, his destiny.

A belief in the higher destiny of man based on a reading of history leads to faith in humanity, is Dr. Hall's opinion. An analysis of the lives of the men throughout history who have made civilization and have left a permanent influence on the world, are the men of deep sympathy, he said. He pointed out the Great Nazarene as an example of the power of a spirit of compassion, as a source of strong leadership.

Preceding Dr. Hall's address, Hugh Biggs, president of the A. S. U. O., in a brief address of welcome to the students of the University, offered a "sincere and hearty welcome to the students for the coming year." He also spoke of the possibilities which the present school year offers and which should lead to a realization of the dreams of the University.

Two Solos Sung
Dean H. D. Sheldon, of the school of education, introduced Dr. Hall, as a friend and leader of the students, a combined business man and administrator, a college president, an oracle expected by the public to speak authoritatively on problems of foreign interest, head of the faculty and representative of the University with the public and the alumni.

Mrs. Prudence Clarke sang two solos, accompanied by John Stark
