

Injuries Take Toll of Yearling Football Team

Squad Scrimmages for Columbia Contest On Saturday

Boils Take Star Players From Line-up

A patched freshman football team will take the field against Columbia university in the annual struggle to be played on Hayward field next Saturday afternoon. Injuries and infections have taken a heavy toll among the freshman gridsters, especially in the last few days of heavy work. The team is indeed lucky to have as many capable substitutes to step into the places left vacant by the incapacitated men.

The team was put through a heavy scrimmage Monday night under the eyes of Billy Rinehart, coach, and assistants, picking out the flaws in the work of the men. Tuesday they were given several new plays and light scrimmage was held. Much improvement is noticeable in the playing of the freshmen and the individual players seem to be getting into form.

Fresh to Fight Varsity
The season's first scrimmage with the varsity will be staged tonight and, as the practice will not be secret, a large crowd is expected out to see the yearlings pit their strength against the first string. With the large list of injured holding them back the team does not expect to beat the varsity but is confident of holding them to a small score.

The biggest blow suffered by the yearlings was the loss of Masons, who was counted on to call signals, so now the fight lies between two ex-Jefferson high stars from Portland, namely, Minnaugh and Ridgeway Johnson. There is little to choose between these men and both will likely see plenty of action. Mason will be out at least three weeks with a bad leg. However, he will be able to get back into the line-up for the big games.

Williams, one of the stars, is also out with a pulled tendon, but it is expected he will be back in the game in a week and possibly appear against Columbia. Bus MacDowell, a promising fullback, has a case of boils which are very troublesome and will be on the bench for a few days. Ron Coleman, versatile halfback from Eugene high, is laid up with a torn shoulder.

Line-up Picked
Several ends are showing good form, but one of the best out for the team, Lloyd Sherrill of Pendleton, is out of the game with boils on his neck. He is fast improving and will, in all probability, get in the game Saturday. Reynold MacDonald, from Salem high, is also bothered with boils. So much for the injured and may we hope there will be no more for a while.

The line-up against Columbia will be picked from the following list of players, the first named men composed the first team in scrimmage last night: fullback, Hatton, Ricks, McDowell; halfbacks, Robinson, Noske, Gabriel; quarterback, Minnaugh, Johnson; ends, Murray, Harden, Brown, Stendel, Sherrill; tackles, Bates, Warren, Handy, Hodgen, Plus, Jones; guards, Wood, Temple, Crooks, Baldrige, Kelly, Neff; center, Ireland, and Staddelman.

Debate Candidates Report November 5

Debate tryouts for both men's and women's teams will be Friday, November 5. J. K. Honer, debate coach announced yesterday. Men's and women's varsity and freshman men's and women's teams will be selected.

"Everybody interested in trying out, should be sure to attend the debate next Friday at the Methodist church. The same subject used then will be used for the tryouts later," said Mr. Honer. "Present members of the varsity teams are not exempt from the tryouts," he added.

Jugs, Jigs to Prevail At First Artist Ball

Jugs of cider and stacks of pumpkin pies will adorn the usual paint-smeared, "turps"-scented studio at the art building tonight when the art students stage their first get-together of the year. Those in charge of the party have issued the proclamation that good clothes are taboo and unless the participants present themselves in a true Bohemian regalia they will not be considered one of the "bunch." Houses are urged to realize the benefit of this informal gathering and allow their freshman art students to attend.

As for other sources of delight to the artistic soul, there will be an orchestra prepared to render inspiring dance music sufficient to satisfy even the most exacting artist.

Let this then be enough to invite you out to join the revel and to avail yourselves of an incomparable opportunity to meet your professor as he looks at his easel or what-not.

Fall Intra-mural Net Championship Won By Roy Okerberg

Roy Okerberg established himself as the new tennis champion of the University by defeating Henry Neer in the finals of the fall intra-mural tournament yesterday afternoon. The scores were 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

Okerberg was playing the best tennis of his life, rushing the net at every opportunity, making seemingly impossible returns, and killing the ball from every angle. As for Neer, he was somewhat off his usual game, but this may have been due in part to Okerberg's aggressive tactics.

Three doubles matches are scheduled today and these will bring that event up to the finals which are to be played tomorrow. Okerberg and Neer are to play Mitchell and Peterson at one o'clock and the winners of this match are to tangle with Mead and Cross at two. In the only doubles match played yesterday, Coffin and Powell defeated Edge and White, 6-4, 6-3.

Five singles matches were completed in the consolation tournament as follows: Cleaver defeated Mautz, 6-3, 6-4; de Rycke defaulted to Cadwell; Haeske defaulted to Terry; Hall defeated Veazie, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4; Parker defeated Johnson, 6-1, 6-2. Below is tomorrow's schedule for this event. All matches are at four o'clock: Cadwell vs. Webb, Hall vs. Mitchell, Parker vs. Stanley, and Cleaver vs. Terry.

U. of W. Naval Reserve Starts Training 60 Men

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Oct. 11—(PIP)—Selected as one of the six American colleges to serve as training centers for reserve commissioned material, the University of Washington's new unit, the Naval Reserve Officers' Corps, is rapidly taking definite form. Limited facilities and appropriations have set the number of men this year at 60. Freshmen in the engineering college, having a strong basis of mathematics, are getting preference. The training covers a two years' basic and a two years' advanced course.

Budget Drive by Y. M. C. A. Begun To Raise $800

Hugh Biggs Lauds Work Of Organization On Campus

"The Y. M. C. A. is the most meritorious organization on the campus," said Hugh Biggs, speaking at the Y. M. C. A. campaign luncheon yesterday noon. He pointed out that the most important service which the Y. M. C. A. renders is that it serves as a place for social gatherings for the non-fraternity men.

Another great service that the Y. M. C. A. does for the University is the employment that it furnishes. The employment is in charge of Mrs. Donnelly in the Y. M. C. A. hut. Last year Mrs. Donnelly furnished about $40,000 worth of jobs to students.

In the drive for funds this week, teams have been selected among the non-fraternity men. The fraternity men are represented by one man from each house.

Anyone subscribing will be given a membership card which entitles him to privileges at the Y. M. C. A. in Eugene, Portland, and Seattle.

The Y. M. C. A. has set a budget of $800 which is for the upkeep of the hut.

$20,000 Yearly Cost Of Campus Health Department Upkeep

Approximately $20,000 a year is spent by the University of Oregon to keep the students well. The three full time doctors, Dr. F. N. Miller, Dr. Wilmoth Osborne and Dr. R. C. Romig, who is new this year and in charge of the athletic department along with his other duties, are employed. In addition, five nurses, an office clerk, and several helpers are employed at the dispensary and infirmary.

A separate house for contagious cases has been added this year. Work on the renovation of this house has been held up, but will be completed this week.

Dean John Bovard, head of the School of Physical Education, says of it: "This is one of the best things the University has ever had. It is very well equipped, and will be ready whenever the need arises."

Dry Talks to Be No Feature of Pep-Rally

One of the outstanding features of the Homecoming rally this year will be the rally-pep-assembly held Friday night of Homecoming in the armory. Instead of the hour or two of long speeches, the program will be unusually peppy, with several stunts, together with several members of the Oregon coaching staff speaking.

The stunts will be made up of campus talent and a certain amount of money has been set aside for the performers to use for necessary stage scenery or backing.

Tryouts for the stunt program will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Villard hall. Either a combination of "house" talent or individual performers are urged to sign up for the Saturday tryout either with Lee Luders or Ed Crowley before Thursday noon. Should a group be unable to perfect their act before Saturday morning, they should sign up before Thursday regardless, and arrange for a later tryout, announced Lee Luders last night.

Sophomores Meet Today in Villard

An important meeting of the sophomore class will be held at 4:00 today in Villard hall to decide up on the adoption of a class garments. Plans for the class dance will also be discussed. All members are urged to be present.

there was little detail and in many cases it was hard to identify the individuals. It is hoped that the change will make it possible to give a picture with more detail and one which takes up no more space.

Above each living organization listed in the annual will appear a photograph of the residence. This has been done before but with so many new houses on the campus this section should be of great interest to the alumni.

Dedicated to Dr. Hall
The Oregana is to be dedicated this year to Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president-elect of the University, and some space will be devoted to him and his family.

Contracts have not been let for the printing and photography but this is to be done shortly. The staff is well organized and is working on a regular schedule so that everything is running in a business-like manner.

paring this data we will have a much more realistic and faithful picture of just what these different methods and different curricula actually accomplish in the training of the student. We have then a basis for scientific judgment as to the validity of different methods and different curricula in attaining certain objects in education.

It is my confident belief that the possibility of such an experimental college, handled in a scientific spirit, will work revolutionary changes in our whole educational process. We have used the scientific method very widely in almost everything but social science and education. Education is one of the largest interests that we have either measured by its material cost or inherent importance of training men and women. The time has gone when we can afford longer to ignore the immense possibilities of applying scientific method to this great American enterprise.

But it is not to be supposed that Schools of Education have not been making genuine progress in scientific method. Obviously they have, or the experimental college would not now be a possible reality. But this is one field in which it has never yet been successfully applied on a large enough scale to afford a basis of effective criticism, in the very important question of university curricula.

An experimental college costs money and President Frank's proposal will meet with opposition from those who under the theory of economy are urging the policy of parsimony. Sound conclusions of economy require that we should invest our funds where in the long run they will ultimately return the largest dividends for every dollar that is invested. Parsimony however, is a shortsighted policy which refuses to expend a dollar today because of its myopic impossibility to see the returns that it will bring tomorrow. Money invested in an experimental college program that will tell us how to carry on the costly work of education more economically and more efficiently is the safest investment that a people can make and represents the soundest policy of economy. To refuse money for such a purpose is to be penny wise and pound foolish, and is to substitute naive parsimony for what might be statesmanlike economy. It is to be hoped that the University of Oregon and all other great universities will find it possible to carry on different aspects of this scientific work until we have a more accurate vision of how the work of education can be most economically and efficiently administered.
