

Pajamarino Rally Begins 6:45 Tonight

Band Will Lead Parade Dressed in Official New Uniforms

Events on Skinner's Butte Will Be Featured

President Hall to Speak At Armory Program

THE thought of victory over the Cardinal eleven tomorrow has caused the Old Oregon Fight to run rampant over the campus, and this fervent spirit to win will be crystallized tonight at 6:45 when the rally pajamarino starts from the Sigma Chi corner, with the climactic annual demonstrative old-time rally at the armory.

With the attendance of every male student at the rally assured, it is predicted that this will be the biggest event of its kind Oregon has ever had. A pyrotechnic exhibition atop Skinner's butte will be one of the main features of the parade—consisting of a fireworks display, and the burning of the "Flaming O."

Bally Car to Lead

An official rally-special car will lead the rally from the campus to the downtown section. The car, consisting of two handcars, propelled by eight husky frosh, will be used as a platform for the yell king.

The R. O. T. C. band, making their first appearance in new costumes, will lead the parade, with the alumni falling in behind. The Order of the "O," under the leadership of their dean, Frank Reinhart, will head the rooster's section. Before the parade reaches Willamette street, the rally will be augmented by the American Legion drum corps—which will join the parade at Pearl street.

When the rally reaches Willamette, the parade will be temporarily halted, while the roosters view the burning of the gigantic "O," 120 by 60 feet and five feet in width. After the burning of this emblem, the parade will march to the armory. Those in the line of parade will be dressed in costumes of many colors, sophomores will, however, wear their newly adopted beer suits.

President Hall Will Speak

President Arnold Bennett Hall will make his first appearance in the role of a gridiron fan, and will give a short speech at the armory program. Several other speakers will be on the program—all of whom are well-known to the student body and are prominent in the gridiron history of Oregon teams.

Musical features will also play a part in the evening's program, and additional novelties will make this rally one of the outstanding affairs in the grid calendar of Oregon.

Immediately following the rally, all the alumni and seniors on the campus will go to the men's gym, where an elaborate program has been arranged for the entertainment of the old grads. Boxing, music, singing, and dance acts, will feature the alumni smoker.

Editor of Register Speaks to Alpha Deltas

Alpha Delta Sigma met Thursday noon at a luncheon at the Anchorage.

Frank Jenkins, editor of the Eugene Morning Register, talked to the club on the subject of newspaper advertising in a small field.

Murray Warner Collection Contains Beautiful Examples Oriental Art

Rare Gold, Bronze, Ivory Carvings in Exhibits; History Of Periods Seen in Pieces

If one was given the alternative of seeing history by motion picture or by reading about it he would undoubtedly prefer the cinema. If this history happened to be in the form of old oriental art he would prefer to see it first hand if possible. Such is the American person and such, too, are the advantages offered to the people of Eugene and students and faculty of the University together with their guests—of the week.

To see the entire Murray Warner art collection in one day is to rush a delightful occupation shamefully. When one enters a room in which

Senior, Alum Smoker Billed for Tonight

THE biggest night of entertainment ever staged on the Oregon campus is in store for all seniors and alumni, tonight at the men's gym, immediately following the rally downtown.

Three big-time boxing acts—the best jazz orchestra on the campus—Elkins and Clark, in a clever skit—Ed Cheney and Len Thompson in a clogging act—a prominent campus blues singer, and several other acts are billed on the program for the alumni smoker.

Last but not least, and a sure drawing card, will be plenty of food at the smoker. According to Dean Walker, the smoker will have the best in entertainment and food, and the only factor to insure the success of the affair will be the attendance of every senior and alumni at the smoker.

A special freshman committee has worked out a seating arrangement that will insure plenty of room for all attending. The smoker will probably start about 9:30 or 10 tonight and will last for several hours. Ward Cook, chairman, has urged that all houses giving smokers, to wait until the termination of the alumni smoker, and for all seniors in every house to be sure and attend.

Calvin P. Horn Alumni Manager For Advertising

Position on Emerald Filled by Milton George, '27

The appointment of Calvin P. Horn Jr. as advertising manager of Old Oregon, alumni publication, was announced yesterday by officers of the University of Oregon

Alumni association.

Horn is a member of the class of '27 and has been associated with the Emerald for the past two years. Last year he was advertising manager for The Emerald and this year has been associate business manager. He is president of Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary advertising fraternity, and last spring won the $150 scholarship offered each year by the Advertising club of Portland to some major in the journalism department. Horn is chairman of the Publications committee and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

"The advertisements will be artistically arranged, distinctive. Special attention will be given to typography; many of the illustrations will be artistic sketches, a trend toward making the advertisements more attractive," Mr. Horn said in stating his policy.

Randall Jones, former student body president, now in a law office in Portland, was advertising manager of Old Oregon last year. Horn will assume his duties about the first of November and his position on the Emerald business staff will be filled by Milton George, also of the class of '27.

Biggs Requests Old Traditions This Week-end

Extends Welcome; Successful Week-end Anticipated

Hugh Biggs, president of the Associated Students, submits the following communication:

I would like to ask that every student greet every alum this week with a cheery "hello."

I think I can easily say that this week has been one of the greatest that this University has ever known. The Semi-Centennial has been a success, and as it merges into Homecoming it too will be a success.

The administrative force, the student body, and the alumni are the three forces of every school, and this is an excellent occasion to welcome the alumni, to entertain them, and to make them feel at home. It is one of the commonest complaints against the school today, that this old feeling of friendliness is going, and I would like to feel that for a few more years at least, we can keep the real Oregon Spirit, if there is such a thing, alive.

One other thing I would like to ask of the students. That is that they show the same spirit to the Stanford team and the Stanford roosters, that they show to the alumni. Give them a feeling of honest friendliness and show them a good time.

I am glad to see so many friends and visitors with us, and I extend a hearty welcome to them. If the Oregon spirit is carried out, and a friendly "hello" given to everyone on the campus, I can say that this week will be a wonderful success.

Pledge Given Governor By All Students

E. W. Miller Speaks on Education and Civic Responsibility

W. F. G. Thacher Reads Semi-Centennial Ode

Willem van Hoogstraten Awarded Doctorate

FROM the time the academic procession of the University of Oregon faculty and Semi-Centennial guests in full regalia marched slowly in the auditorium of the Woman's building until the entire audience rose and sang the pledge song, the Semi-Centennial assembly and annual Oregon pledge day service was filled with members which included ceremonies, songs and musical selections and a main address by the Honorable Edward W. Miller, state senator and former president of Kansas Wesleyan university.

Civic responsibility, the debt owed the state for its service to the University and to the individual, was the keynote of the address of Mr. Miller on "Education and Civic Responsibility;" in the tribute paid Mary Lowell Rebec as authoress of the Commemorative Ode written in honor of the Semi-Centennial celebration; in the singing of the special Semi-Centennial song, "Great Oregon," in the conferring of the honorary degree of Doctor of Music on Willem van Hoogstraten, conductor of the Portland Symphony orchestra; and in the administration of the pledge by Governor Walter M. Pierce.

"The state is a co-operative organization for the general well-being of its citizens," said Mr. Miller. "Its functions are as varied as life itself. We, the people, are the state. We are stockholders in the state corporation and we must be true to ourselves in order to promote our best interests and those of the commonwealth."

Mr. Miller urged students to work toward self-realization instead of

Former Student Body Presidents to Gather

A CUSTOM that has been used in the past, although it was not carried out last year, will be resumed this year by Hugh Biggs, student body president. A breakfast for all former student body presidents will be given at the College Side Inn, Saturday morning at eight o'clock. Letters have been sent out to former student body presidents all over the United States, and a general response has been received.

"I feel that this meeting of former presidents will be quite a success," said Biggs. "It will be interesting and very profitable to hear the views of former presidents, for they truly have the greatest interest of the school at heart."

Two Teams Will Engage in Fight Against Chemawa

Indians Record Made by Defeating Strong Prep Schools

The two frosh teams:

Name	Position	Name
Murray	le	Sherrill
Warren	lt	Hande
Crooks	lg	Temple
Stadleman	c	Ireland
Wood	rg	Baldrige
Bates	rt	Pluss
Brown	re	Harden
Johnston	rh	Mimnaugh
Robinson	q	Williams
Coleman	rb	Gabriel
MacDowell	rf	Hatton

Substitutes: MacDonald (2) 180, Stendle (6) 155, Noske (11) 165, Spers (16) 190.

A real battle is promised for this afternoon when the freshman football team meets the Chemawa Indian school team at 3 o'clock on Hayward field. The Indians come here after having defeated some of the strongest prep school teams in the state. They possess one Thompson who is a real triple threat and a dangerous man at all times. This in itself is causing the frosh coaches endless worry but there are ten other Indians who are fighting players and who are all ready to try to beat the frosh. The information concerning the Chemawans is scant but from what little that has leaked out it is probable that the yearlings will encounter a fast heavy team this afternoon.

Coach Reinhart is optimistic over his chances of winning the game as his squad is in better shape now than it has been at any time this season. With the exception of Wilbur Harden, a giant end from Athena who was hurt in the Columbia game, and George Stadleman, lanky center from The Dalles, the team is in perfect condition. The extra week of work has put the men on edge for the coming fray and they are determined to keep their slate clean. Bobby Robinson and Roland Coleman, backfield aces, are rarin' to go. These men played great football against Columbia and both seemed able to gain at will.

Although Harden's absence will be felt there are several good ends to take his place. Stadleman will start if he is in condition by game time but if his injury fails to respond to treatment Phil Ireland, Jefferson high all star, will start at the pivot position.

Harry Wood, Portland, and Frank Crooks, Nampa, are slated to hold down the guard berths today. Both of these men have seen plenty of service and are fully able to take care of their weight of Indians. Scott Warren, Chico, and Ralph Bates, Milwaukie, are to play tackle. These men are two hundred pounders and are full of fight. They are considered very fast considering their weight. The wing positions will be filled by two Portland boys, Ron Murray and Walter Brown. Murray played a spectacular game last week and is a shark at catching passes. His defensive play was also of a high standard.

Three men starting in the backfield are former Jefferson high players. Roland Coleman, Eugene high star, is the only other man to start. Bob Robinson will pair up with Coleman at half. These two make a shifty pair. Both are practically triple-threat men. Robinson is especially adept at punting and has a habit of getting off boots of fifty yards or more. Ridge Johnston will call signals while Bus MacDowell

Dry Gridiron May Indicate Speedy Game

Warner Bringing 27 Men For Homecoming Fray Here

McEwan May Put in Light, Swift Backs

Counterfeit Ticket Being Sold, Is Report

By HAROLD MANGUM Sports Editor

STANFORD's red shirted gridgers will arrive in Eugene tonight, 27 strong, and primed for McEwan's men. Hundreds of old grads and sports followers are on the way to Eugene to witness a great battle tomorrow when Oregon's green shirts are opposed to Stanford's blouses of crimson. Seating arrangements have been perfected and a big rally will be staged tonight. The Oregon team is resting on its oars, gathering strength for tomorrow's struggle.

For the first time in years, a dry field faces the opposing teams. Rain and mud always has been an integral part of Oregon Homecomings, as much so as the freshman bonfire and the rally. This year conditions are reversed, and a smiling sky awaits game time. The gridiron was recently scraped, and all superfluous sawdust was carted away, leaving the bare ground for the athletes to cavort upon. This factor will undoubtedly change the style of play, as both coaches will take advantage of the fast field and unloose all the speed at their command.

Ponies Ready for Action

In this event, Woodie at quarter, Ord and Wetzel at halves, and Gould at full, is the probably starting combination. All have speed to burn.

Cardinals Find Themselves in Nevada Game

Hoffman, Triple-threat Full, Counted as Power In Backfield

By GEORGE W. STORY (The Stanford Daily)

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 21—After two weeks of grumbling and growling, Pop Warner saw something last Saturday afternoon that forced a faint smile to creep across his face. He saw his Stanford football team come to life and act as he has wanted it to act for the last two weeks, but without the desired results.

He saw it play terrible football against Nevada in the first half and at the end of second quarter he saw a big "9" opposite Nevada on the scoreboard and a big "0" opposite Stanford. Seeing this made him see red.

Then, in the second half, he saw the light of a new day. He saw his team open an attack that was entirely too much for the Wolves. He saw them make 20 first downs in the second half and hold Nevada to no first downs during that same length of time. Briefly, he saw what he has been waiting to see all season, and he saw his men do it without the services of Big Biff Hoffman, triple-threat fullback.

Hoffman was in uniform on the bench, but he was not sent into the fray, and if Stanford had been six points behind with only two minutes to play the fans would not have had a chance to see him, for Pop is saving him for the conference games to come.

Pop hopes to have him ready for the Oregon game, but if he is not in the best of shape he may not start. Ernie Patchett will take his place if need be, but the other three backfield posts will be filled by regulars. Eli Post is expected to bark signals, and Donnie Hill and Mike Murphy probably will draw the half.

University Alumni Must Register Soon

A GAIN the plea goes out to all alumni and former students of the University to register and register early. Alumni headquarters are in the main hall of the Administration building.

Upon registering and paying alumni dues, each one will be given a ticket which will admit him to every Homecoming event except the football game Saturday afternoon.

"Every alum should wear a Homecoming ticket both Friday and Saturday," says Jeanette Calkins, alumni secretary. "The ticket contains a place for the possessor's name and class and if everybody is wearing one it will make Homecoming more interesting."

On the back of the ticket is a complete program of the events for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Although not many alumni have registered to date, more are expected today and the balance of the Homecoming crowds by Saturday afternoon.

Memorial Site Dedicated to P. L. Campbell

Speakers Extoll Late President's Love For Beauty

"It is fitting that the building which is to be the memorial of the late President Prince Lucien Campbell should be a fine arts building," said the Reverend W. G. Elliot at the dedication of the site of the building on Kincaid field yesterday, "for the great, almost dominant interest in President Campbell's life was beauty. He was a philosophical lover and knower of it."

"Beauty is the supreme dynamic, provided it includes goodness," President Campbell said in what was probably his last conversation with anyone outside of his family. "In the dedication of this building we give our efforts to infinite beauty, just as President Campbell did," declared the speaker.

Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, spoke on Prince L. Campbell, the man. "We shall not travel, but we make the road," quoted Miss Marvin, pointing out how President Campbell's lot was not that of the pioneer, but that of one who traveled far on the road he built.

President Campbell's idea was that everyone should have a free and informed citizenship, his objective in life was to create more opportunities for others, and his belief that the remedy for the evils of democracy lies in more democracy declared Miss Marvin.

"The spirit of President Campbell is built into the institution, and this monument built here will recall the scholar, leader and founder, strong because of his faith in others. His influence will be felt as long as tradition preserves the pioneer spirit, courageous, pressing on, for this was essentially his spirit," said Miss Marvin. He had the essential qualities of a pioneer in that he founded his work on idealism.

"The memorial," concluded the speaker, "is an appreciation of a life made of beauty; for President Campbell made of life a fine art."

Freshman Girls to Sell 4000 U. of O. Pennants

Over 4000 miniature U. of O. pennants are being sold by freshman girls this week. The drive is being sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. for the benefit of the foreign scholarships. The pennants, which are ten cents each, will be sold Saturday at the game and also at the depot as the trains with alumni guests arrive.

Fifty pennants have been distributed to each house whose members are required to buy them. Visiting alumni are also urged to buy. The sale is going along quickly, according to Beatrice Milligan, who with Eleanor Poorman and Pauline Stewart are in charge of the sale.

Centennial Homecoming Merge Today

Dedication Set for Morning; Rally in the Evening

Luella Clay Carson Will Make Address

Saturday and Sunday Left For Alumni

THE spirit of the Semi-Centennial program will today be similar to that of Homecoming. Almost the entire program is to be given by alumni of the University. Outstanding events are the dedication of Deady hall, the memorial service for President Johnson, the Homecoming rally and the smoker at the men's gymnasium later in the evening.

Dedication of Deady hall, the first University building, which has waited fifty years for dedication ceremonies, will be held in Villard hall. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, graduate of the class of '87 and son of the first president of the University. Melba Williams, '19, accompanied by Frances Pierce, '26, will sing two solos, "To Be Sung On Water" and "Farewell."

Dr. Luella Clay Carson, former professor of rhetoric and dean of women at the University and former president of Mills college, will speak on "The Antiquity of Learning and Its Benevolence." "The Spirit of Oregon" is the subject of Dr. Claiborne M. Hill, '81, president of the Berkeley Baptist Divinity school. Dr. John Straub, emeritus dean of men, will give an address, "Archaic Reminiscences." The Reverend Johnson will pronounce benediction.

In the afternoon, the unveiling of the memorial tablet to President John W. Johnson will take place in Guild hall. Dr. Benjamin J. Hawthorne, emeritus professor of psychology and Dr. John Straub will speak. Reverend Johnson will reply.

The Memorial address, "John W. Johnson, the Founder," will be delivered by Judge Lawrence T. Harris, '93, former justice of the supreme court of Oregon. The invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. Frank B. Matthews of the class of '95. Again Melba Williams accompanied by Frances Pierce will sing two solos, "Come Ye Blessed" and "Crossing of the Bar." President Hall will speak on "The Debt We Owe."

Saturday's program includes the regular Homecoming events. A new event is the Order of the "O" banquet at 6:30 for all old members and the present members of the order at the Campa Shoppe.

The alumni reception in Alumni hall Saturday evening will be followed with the annual Homecoming dance.

Money for Webfoot To Be Turned in Today

Money and subscription books for the Webfoot must be turned in to the office in the journalism building by noon today if the subscribers expect to get a first issue of the magazine. Doug Wilson, manager of the publication, announced yesterday.
