

Radio Station Judged Burden For University

Plan of Remote Control Possible if Wires Can Be Leased

Music Building, Isolated, Could Broadcast Well

Although broadcasting University events, either through direct control here or through remote control, has been a live topic of investigation for five or six years, no definite arrangements could be made because of the cost of the enterprise, according to University officials. It was not until about two weeks ago that any arrangement was entered into; then President Hall's address was broadcasted through radio KGW, the Morning Oregonian station.

"We have heard favorable returns from different parts of the state concerning the address, and so has the Oregonian," said Karl W. Onthank, executive secretary. "The experiment was very successful."

Broadcasting the Inaugural address cost approximately three or four hundred dollars. At this rate University speeches and programs cannot be broadcasted by the remote control plan unless cheaper leased wire arrangements can be made. "We would like to make some special wire arrangements, such as with the Western Union or Postal Telegraph, but at the usual rate for using the wires we can not often broadcast through KGW because of the great expense," said Mr. Onthank. "The public will listen in on big stations such as KGW and broadcasting from there puts before the people happenings of the University. It would be too expensive to put in a good set here in Eugene. We do not want a second-rate radio which would not broadcast all music programs and speeches clearly, and a first-rate set is too expensive. The Oregonian is willing to broadcast, and, when the matter was put up to them, made the arrangements and to a great degree financed President Hall's Inauguration. If we cannot make the necessary arrangements for wiring we will have to continue as we have been doing, sending speakers to Portland to broadcast there."

Dean Landabury, who was on the committee with Mr. Onthank to investigate the installation of radio, said that the music building, isolated as it is, could easily broadcast directly or by a remote control arrangement with Portland. "When we investigated the possibilities sometime ago we found that to put in a radio and receiving sets here would cost approximately 35 to 40 thousand dollars," he said.

Fijis, Betas Winners In Donut Series When SPT, Deltas Fall Short

Freshman football practice was omitted for a day, but what the frosh athletes missed on the field, the Donut basketball players made up when the Fiji "fighting five" plowed through to a 17-7 victory over Sigma Pi Tau.

The Beta's also outscored the boys from Delta Tau Delta in the consolation exhibition of "Give and Take." The story of this feud is told in the 18-13 score.

Coleman, frosh halfback, opened hostilities with a field goal in the main event. After that the Fiji lead was never threatened. Clark, with 5 counters, and Schmeer, with 4, topped the scoring for the winners, who, as a result of this victory, are elevated into the semi-finals of the tournament. Potts and Chamer, with 3 each, scored high for the losers. Harold Kelly, playing guard for the Beta's was outstanding in the preliminary struggle. Besides playing a fast floor and defensive game, he scored three times from the field, to lead his team in this department. Llewellyn and Gordon proved the backbone of the Delt offensive.

Faculty Quota for "Y" Work Set at $900; Drive Starts Today

Faculty members will be solicited beginning today and continuing until Friday noon, in an effort to raise $900 for United Christian work on the campus, according to Dr. Homer P. Rainey, of the School of Education, who is in charge of the campaign.

The money will be used to keep up the Y. M. C. A. and for other religious work on the campus, Dr. Rainey said. Last year $700 was raised, but due to the increase in the faculty, $900 is the goal this year. This is only one phase of the work of raising money for religious work on the campus, he pointed out.

The campaign will close Friday noon with a luncheon for the workers at the Y. M. C. A. hut.

The 25 members on the canvassing committee are: W. G. Beattie, John Bovard, W. G. Boynton, C. E. Carpenter, A. E. Caswell, E. E. DeCon, E. H. Decker, M. H. Douglass, F. S. Dunn, Bruce Giffen, J. S. Gray, Robert C. Hall, Karl Onthank, H. P. Rainey, A. B. Stillman, H. G. Tanner, Howard R. Taylor, E. Thorstenberg, George Turnbull, Dean Walker, Roger Williams, Warren D. Smith, Harold S. Tuttle, M. McClain, and Walter Myers.

F. S. Dunn to Speak On War Work in Italy

Professor Frederick S. Dunn will address Phi Sigma tonight at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow on his experiences in Italy during war times.

Professor Dunn spent almost a year in Italy and during this time had varied experiences. He taught classes in English, worked an interpreter and correspondent, guided doughboys in their visits to Pompeii and Vesuvius and worked for a while in the hospitals. Many of these experiences will be given as illustrative material for his talk to the Latin honorary club this evening.

Rifle Team Try-outs To Be Held Saturday

All students interested in trying out for the R. O. T. C. rifle team are requested by Captain Frank L. Culin, executive officer of the military department, to report at the barracks Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

A rifle club will be formed of all members in the R. O. T. C. who have previously been on the rifle team, and new members who are chosen for the team this year. The old members will assist the new members to learn marksmanship.

At the meeting next Saturday Captain Culin will explain the mechanism of the new 22 caliber rifles which have recently been added to the store of rifles in the military department. He will also discuss telegraphic matches which will be held with schools in various parts of the nation.

There will be cash rewards for the ten best marksmen. Ten dollars for first prize, seven and a half for the second, and five for the remaining eight.

Advisory Council to A. S. U. O. President Has First Meeting

A new departure in student government of the University has been initiated in the form of an advisory council to the president of the A. S. U. O. Meetings will be held with him every other week.

The council is composed of all standing committees chairmen of the Executive council, thus including finance, building, publications, music, forensics, and lectures. The chairmen of the various committees include, Bob Love, Ted Larson, Calvin Horn, William Kidwell, Jack Hempstead, and Tom Graham.

According to President Hugh Biggs, the organization promises to be of great value to him. The initial meeting was held Thursday, October 27. Meetings of the council will not only benefit the student body head, but will be able to bring about more unification between the different committees of the council. The whole group will be better able to keep in close touch with the student body president and with the whole A. S. U. O. organization.

The object of the council meetings will be for the discussion of the various plans and problems of the different members and to better acquaint them with the work of the other activity chiefs.

Eef, Sigma Nu's Doggy Mascot, Tells Of Life Following His Campus Debut

Nondescript Pooch's Days Filled With Classes, Dog Fights, Musical Meals, and Hobos

Eef, the Sigma Nu dog, hails from no one knows where. He followed one of the boys home one day about a year ago and decided to stay awhile, noticing that the food was tasty and that the fellows treated him with loving kindness. One brother exclaimed, "Eef you don't feed him, he'll starve."

Hence the name "Eef."

This nondescript pooch is undoubtedly an ex-tramp, but he hasn't been since that day when he sniffed the air and followed the heels of the homeward-bound brother.

Eef looks like an airedale, though he may resemble a dandy dinnont, with a touch of dachshund, for witness the short bow-legs.

At meal time, he scents the air, then curls up by a brother at the table and sleeps without paying any attention to the liquid music of the soup-eaters.

Singing or hum of conservation has not more effect on him than a douse of cold water on a fish. When he is not gamboling about the campus or attending classes, he sits around home by the fireside with a pensive look in his eyes.

Eef is always prepared for provokers, especially those that savor of the uncollegiate. He roars like a young lion at intruders that appear trampish, he never mistakes cords however, and scares the unwelcome visitors from the premises.

He is short-legged and squatty but this does not keep him from out-running other dogs on the campus.

He attends classes more regularly than the students on occasions, especially those of the business administration and economics schools. He is present at all rallies and parades and was eager as any in the sophomore fray.

W. A. A. Secures 83 New Members When Recent Drive Ends

Eighty-three girls joined the Women's Athletic association during the drive which started Wednesday and closed last night, and $57.50 in dues added to the W. A. A. funds. Hendricks hall has the largest number of members with twelve, Alpha Chi Omega is second with eight, and Susan Campbell Hall third with seven.

The membership dues of one dollar can either be paid now, or fifty cents paid now and fifty cents in the spring. About one-third have already paid the entire amount, according to Nellie Johns, chairman of the drive.

One hundred and twenty-five girls were eligible for membership. Three living organizations have no representative in the group.

The drive was carried on by the voluntary sports committee. Vida Buehler, who has charge of the town girls, signed up thirteen girls, a larger number than any other member of the committee.

Co-ed Has Measles; Only Case Reported

Measles have now joined the ranks along with chicken pox and mumps at the infirmary annex, and the infirmary nurses have decided that the ever read Don Marquis' famously funny and humorously novel, "The Old Soak"—yea, that's it,—the one that kept Broadway in a state of intoxicating hilarity for two whole years, as a play.

Then you remember the expression—"Al's Here!"—and you know what Al had, and why "The Old Soak" welcomed him like a long lost brother.

Yes, you've guessed it,—"The Old Soak" has been reproduced as a motion picture,—and what a picture it is. Laughter, unadulterated laughter, intermingled with the most human character the screen has ever portrayed, "The Old Soak," with Jean Hersholt in that celebrated role,—and you can see it this week-end, starting tomorrow, at The McDonald,—where the "Merry-Macks" hold sway, nightly.

full advantage of the annex under the care of Miss Edna Brooke.

The infirmary proper is occupied by six patients. Poison oak is still the rage there. Glenn Savage, junior, is the latest and only victim at present, as the others were sufficiently well to leave over the week-end. The ever-present cold and the need of rest cures accounts for the other patients.

Students Represent Thirty-two Countries

If the number of foreign born students on the campus is any criterion, the University of Oregon is well known all over the world, for 127 students representing 32 countries are enrolled here. They come from Siberia in the far north to South Africa, from Japan in the east to the British Isles of western Europe.

Canada has the largest representation with 34 students registered from there, and the Philippines are next with 25. Ten students came from Russia, 9 from China, 7 from Japan, five from England, four from Australia, three from Finland, Germany and Norway, two from Bulgaria and Rumania, while Brazil, Austria, Panama, Bohemia, Sweden, Siam, Mexico, Chile, France, Greece, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Ireland, Turkey, Korea, Syria, Wales, Scotland, Siberia and South Africa are represented by one student each.
