

Faculty Named For Conference Committee Work

Twenty-seven Members Chosen to Serve at Prep Meet

Five faculty committees and chairmen for the seventh annual high school conference scheduled for January 14 and 15 here have been chosen. They will work with the student directorate appointed by Ward Cook, general chairman, to assure more than ordinary success to the conference this year.

The faculty committees are: student body officers, Dan E. Clark, chairman, W. G. Beattie, J. K. Horner, Delbert Obersteuffer, and Henry Sheldon; press association, Ralph D. Casey, chairman, Eric W. Allen, George S. Turnbull, W. F. G. Thacher, Raymond D. Lawrence; housing, Dean H. Walker, chairman, E. E. Decou, Charles E. Carpenter, Mrs. Charlotte Donnelly, Y. M. C. A., Florence Magowan, Y. W. C. A., and Dean Virginia Judy Esterly; entertainment, Carlton E. Spencer, chairman, John Stark Evans, Walter W. Snyder, Florence Wilbur, and Clara M. Fitch; faculty advisers program and faculty housing, Fred L. Stetson, chairman, Harold S. Tuttle, Mozelle Hair, Fred S. Dunn, John F. Bovard, and Homer P. Rainey.

With both faculty and student committees working it is planned to have all arrangements completed before the Christmas holidays, and so avoid last minute confusion.

Students Must Get Tickets for Game

Get your tickets for the game before the rush! Every Oregon student who goes to Corvallis tomorrow to see the battle must exchange his student body ticket for a pass before leaving Eugene, according to Bob Overstreet, in charge of ticket sales.

Student tickets and reserve seats are on sale at the University Co-op. One dollar presented with the A. S. U. O. ticket is the price for students. Unless tickets are secured here general admission will be charged. Reserve seats may also be bought at Jack Benefiel's office and at Obak's.

Few students have called for tickets, and unless people "get going" a mad last minute rush will be the result. Almost all of the reserved seats have been sold, according to Overstreet.

work for this season and the past two has been such that sport critics have named him as one of the outstanding guards on the coast. He is a big fellow, weighing 195 pounds and standing six feet, and is always at his best against the Aggies. He will bear watching Saturday.

Captain Sinclair, too

Captain Al Sinclair is another of the old reliables whose berth will be hard to fill. Sinclair is cool at all times and always comes up smiling. In addition to being a star tackle, he is a first rate student and all-around athlete. He plays anywhere in the line, but prefers tackle. He played in the backfield during his high school days, and worked in at fullback for a short time during his sophomore year on the Oregon varsity.

Among the staunch reserves this season is Otto Vitus, who has won two stripes. Otto Vitus, halfback, was a star during his sophomore season two years ago, but has been handicapped this fall by reporting late and a sore toe which necessitated an iron lining for his shoe which has slowed him up. "Boots" is a heavy man, weighing 190 pounds, and is speedy for his weight.

No More Jones

To start the season out with a bang and then be injured in the initial contest fell to the lot of Sherm Smith, end, who injured a knee in the University of Washington Huskies game and has since been on the hospital list until a short time ago. Smith is now in shape but has not been able to break into the line up against Ted Pope, the youthful sophomore star. Smith is a hard, vicious tackler who has seldom been circled during his three years of competition.

One of the best line plungers ever to wear the Lemon-Yellow colors goes with the passing of Lynn Jones from the Oregon varsity. For the past two seasons, "Locomotive Jones," as he has been called, has plunged his way for long gains. He is always dependable when a few yards are needed for first down. Jones is also powerful in backing up the line, and is an excellent forward pass receiver.

These men have seen service under three different coaches, Joe Maddock in 1924, Dick Smith the following year, and now Captain John J. McEwan.

Coral's Comments on Eugene Shop

Dearest Anne:

Tomorrow is the season's last and most anticipated game. All the campus seems to have caught the spirit of excitement and gaiety of the weekend. In keeping with the event Ruth Cyrus (241 E. 12) is advocating sweaters as the fashion mode for the game. Warm and comfortable and in bright, daring colors they will, indeed, "fill the bill" admirably.

Another item of great importance is the fact that McKillop's (across from Eugene Hospital) is concocting all kinds of superb delicacies and is making up special boxes at special prices for all students. Here's a good chance to take on not only a physical stimulus but a mental one as well and pep up the old school fight.

Flowers from Raup's are the accepted thing to wear to the game. We all want to show we're "Webfooters" and proud of it and this custom affords us a graceful and appealing way of doing so.

As dancing becomes more and more a part of college life the question of appropriate evening hose looms in the foreground. Densmore-Leonard with their alluring delicate chiffons and exquisitely fine silks fashioned in the most subtle of fall shades, lines and textures, is truly the home of hosiery beautiful.

Thanksgiving holidays next week and the desire to wear something new home. We've all decided that to don one of Letitia Abrams (balcony Densmore-Leonard's) attractive hats is the plausible solution of the problem and just our Irish luck they are reduced this week.

Alice gave a smart "bridge" last night and did delight everyone by the deliciousness of her refreshments. As a hint to all future hostesses she says that for all those little refinements of cuisine and service that makes one's hospitality long remembered go to Underwood and Elliotts.

As "high point man" I found myself the possessor of something really to be treasured—a quaint, castilian, marble box, trimmed with inlaid mosaic. These are but recent innovations, in the art world and are, with many others equally interesting objects, a part of the collection of the Aladdin Gift Shop.

Cutting the hair to conform to the best contours of the individual head is what the skilled artists at the Co-ed Shop succeed in doing. If you want to be improved along the lines of personal beauty let the Co-ed bring out and accentuate the flattering features of your face.

Sighs of envy are in order for Coral's uncle, bless his big heartedness, is taking all of us to the Anchorage for dinner this eve. Think of what you'll be missing, dear—marvelous food, soothing atmosphere and our sparkling, scintillating company.

Ever,

CAROL.
