

Donut Wrestling To Start Nov. 29 With Full Lists

Grapplers Warned to Lay Aside Thanksgiving Orgies and Train

"Don't eat too much over Thanksgiving," is the advice given to all men with wrestling ambitions. Donut wrestling starts November 29 at 4 o'clock and the entire first round will be run off Monday, so it behooves contestants to get light on the festivities.

Competition will continue every day during the week and every wrestler must be on the mat at the allotted hour, according to Coach Earl "Dutch" Widmer, who will have charge of the tournament.

Last year, the Four Horsemen took the championship and this term they are entering seven more behemoths ranging from fleawrights to wind-down-weights and more.

Look What Come

Theaters
Heilig: Last day: The picturization of a Mark Twain masterpiece, the "Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court." This is a reproduction of the film version and carries a world of comedy throughout. Mark Twain wrote this great piece of work to make the world laugh and now the camera is used to give to the thousands of people the chance to enjoy his humorous incidents. In "The Connecticut Yankee" Twain makes fun of King Arthur and his famous knights of the round table.

McDonald: Last day: Corinne Griffith in "Syncopating Sue," a musical comedy romance with the saxophones carrying the lead, and Corinne in her most captivating role since "Classified," a Spanish extravaganza, with the 12 Cinderella Dancers, under direction of Sid Woodhouse, featured; first motion pictures of Oregon-O. A. C. football classic; Neal Burns comedy, "Dodging Trouble;" International news events; Frank Alexander in musical comedy setting on the organ.

Rex: First day: Zane Grey's new novel, "Forlorn River," a stirring drama of love and courage painted in vivid hues by that master of American's west, and portrayed by a stellar cast headed by Jack Holt, Raymond Hatton and Arlette Marchal and adapted from the Ladies

Home Journal story by the same title; comedy, "A Jungle Romance;" International news events; Clifton Emmel at the organ.

Harold Reichstein Has Appendicitis Operation

Another victim was added to the appendicitis list today. Harold Reichstein, sophomore, was seized with an acute attack Monday night and was operated on for appendicitis Tuesday afternoon. Dr. A. F. Sether performed the operation at the Pacific Christian hospital. The patient is reported to be doing well.

Thanksgiving to Find Infirmary Patientless

To all appearances the infirmary will be deserted in honor of Thanksgiving. The one patient there will be able to eat Thanksgiving dinner at home, and the nurses will have a chance to recuperate for the inevitable business rush after vacation.
