Some six hundred high school students from all parts of the state returned home Saturday and Sunday after the close of the annual High School Conference with their heads filled with numerous and varied ideas about university life and customs. And indeed, there is no better time when outsiders can get such varying impressions about the campus than during winter term, the shortest of the year, made all the shorter by the dozens of house dances and other activities. The last official event given for the high school delegates was a banquet on Saturday night at the Woman's building, at which President and Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall and members of the faculty were honored guests. Music was furnished by the Campa Shoppe orchestra, and Ed Chaney and Ted O'Hara gave additional entertainment in the form of songs and dancing.

Of interest to Oregon students are the announcements of the marriage of two popular couples who were formerly on the campus. Miss Margaret Stahl, '26, became the bride of Edward D. Smith, Jr., in Portland last Monday. Their engagement was announced when the two were in school last year. Mrs. Smith is a member of Orchesis, honorary dancing society, and of Alpha Chi Omega. Mr. Smith is affiliated with Delta Tau Delta, of which he was president last term. While on the campus he was connected with the upper news staff of the Emerald, and is now doing police reporting for the Morning Oregonian in Portland where the two will make their home.

From Seattle, Washington, comes the news of the marriage of Miss Katherine Slade to Kenneth Bailey, on December 27. Both were former students here, and after her graduation Mrs. Bailey was connected for some time with the appointment bureau of the school of education. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Mr. Bailey was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi and was president of the house last year. He was an Oregon football man.

The first big formal affair of this season was the buffet supper and dance given at the Eugene hotel last Saturday night in honor of the members of Alpha Chi Omega by Mr. E. Claude Mills of New York City. Mr. Mills is the uncle of Miss Louise Storla, Alpha Chi Omega sophomore, and is national president of the Music Publishers' Protective association.

The guests were seated at small tables, which had beautiful centerpieces of roses and other cut flowers. Corsages were brought in for each of the girls and cigars and cigarettes passed for the men. Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. Storla, Mrs. Anna C. Hart and the host.

Preceding the dance Mr. Mills was entertained at a dinner party at the chapter house. His niece, Miss Louise Storla, has accompanied him to San Francisco for a short visit.

Dr. and Mrs. Delbert Stannard were hosts last Wednesday night for dinner party at their home and for the performance of "Blossom Time" afterward. Their guests were Capt. and Mrs. John J. McEwan, Dr. and Mrs. Orville Waller and Capt. and Mrs. Culin.

The University Cosmopolitan club sponsored a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. hut last Wednesday evening at seven o'clock for the pleasure of the foreign students on the campus.

The toastmaster for the occasion was Dr. John Straub, and blessing was asked by Dr. A. H. Saunders of the Presbyterian church of Eugene.

Among the speakers for the evening were President Arnold Bennett Hall; Dr. Warren D. Smith, adviser of the club; Gilbert Brighthouse, president of the club; and representatives from each group of foreign students including the Japanese, Chinese, Philippines, Korean and Indian. About one hundred guests were present at the banquet.

Miss Charlotte Winnard sang several solos, and the Philippine string orchestra gave several selections.

For the pleasure of Miss Evelyn Underwood, a former student at Oregon, Mrs. Henry D. Sheldon entertained with a tea on Saturday afternoon. Miss Underwood graduated in the class of 1925 and was a member of the Girls' Oregon club. She is at present teaching school at Yoncalla, Oregon, and was spending a few days in Eugene.

The rooms were lovely with pink carnations and freesias. Pouring were the Misses Evelyn Anderson, Anna Nielson, Elsie Shultze, Cavita Campbell and Loye Smith. About 400 guests called during the afternoon, including the active and alumnae members of the Girls' Oregon club.

Upperclassmen of Alpha Delta Pi entertained with a very charming informal dance at their chapter house Saturday evening. The rooms were made lovely with decorations of potted palms, pink carnations and daffodils.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bass Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Oberbauer, Miss Consuelo McMillan and Mrs. Lucy Perkins.

On Sunday afternoon from four to six in the Woman's building members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalism fraternity, were at home for the upperclass students in the school of journalism. Tea was served by active members of the chapter, and the feature of the afternoon was a very interesting talk on "Russian Literature," by Mrs. Mary Watson Barnes, of the English department.

Friendly informal men were hosts at an enjoyable informal dance at their home on Saturday evening. A very simple but effective scheme of decoration was carried out, and their own orchestra furnished music for the dancing. This is the first of several similar affairs which the men have planned for this term.

In order to make the tours within the means of more students, the association carries on its program at a cost basis. Prices for the round trips from New York and return range from $725.00 to $890.00 according to the tour chosen. Students have a choice of intensive study in limited regions, a general tour of Europe, or visits to the principal cities of the continent.

Mrs. Richard F. Scholz, of Portland, wife of the late President Scholz of Reed college, has been named as the leader of a group of women students who will go abroad this next summer. Mr. Barry expects that he will be able to name the leader of a men's group today.

Frosh Prepare For Franklin Tilt Saturday

Yearlings Weak at Pivot; Road Trip Includes Two Games

Coach "Spike" Leslie is driving his yearling hoopsters hard this week in preparation for the coming game with the Franklin basketeers Saturday, January 22. Coach Leslie is trying to work out a smoother combination than he had last Saturday against the Commerce high school quintet.

Several new men will be tried out this week in an effort to develop a likely tip-off man. The Stenog game brought out the fact that a taller man than Clark or Potts is necessary, so Van Nice and Edwards, both six footers, will see plenty of work at the pivot position.

The big road trip for the yearling basketeers comes off in two weeks when they journey to Portland and take on the Quakers in a return game. On the following nights, January 27 and 28, the frosh tangle with the Columbia university aggregation. The evening of January 29, the frosh will meet the Washington Babes in the annual game.

Spike Leslie says that it will be necessary to develop his men into a smooth working and close checking quintet before he can hope to return with a quartet of victories from the road trip.

The Franklin high school squad, with Kretzmeier, Keenan, and Seales, veterans from last year, stand a good chance to finish on the top of the heap in the Portland interscholastic scramble, according to Leslie, and are very apt to turn in a win over the frosh next Saturday evening.

The Oregon squad took a one sided tilt from the Commerce high school squad last Saturday by a 26 to 14 score. Kenneth Potts, alternating between center and forward for the frosh, showed up well.

Music Students Give First Concert Monday

The first program of the series of Monday rehearsals given by the music students was held last evening from 5:00 to 5:30 in the music building auditorium.

A selection of five musical offerings comprised the concert; three piano pieces, and a vocal and a violin solo. Celeste Campbell played two Octave Etudes by James Rogers. Myra Belle Palmer presented one of MacDowell's compositions; and George Barron played the Etude D Flat by Liszt. The violin solo, "Chansonette," was given by Buelah Wynn; and "Sittin' Thinkin'" was sung by Donald Ostrander.

Next week an ensemble of string instruments accompanied by the harp will give a suite by Saint George.

Extension Division Adds New Courses; 2000 Now Enrolled

Several new correspondence courses have just been added by the Extension division of the University, and a number of old courses have been revised.

Over 2000 persons, varying in age from 17 to 70, are now enrolled in this department. The courses are open to all students in Oregon not doing residence work.

Health Education, one of the new courses, was outlined by Miss Elvora Thomson, director of public health nurse training in the Portland school social work. Versification, outlined by Mrs. Rudolf H. Ernst and Mr. Pat V. Morresotte, of the English department; first and second year French, outlined by Dr. Ray P. Bowen, head of the department of romance languages; and first and second year Spanish, prepared by Miss Anna M. Thompson, assistant professor of romance languages, are among the new courses offered.

World history, an entrance course, is taking the place of general European history, and the courses in English history and elements of physiology have been revised.

In 1922 he was again in Europe attending the Geneva Conference and visiting the Near East, Italy, Germany, France and England. In 1923 he filled 300 lecture engagements in America.

During his last trip to Europe he spent three months in Italy and it is of Italy and Mussolini and the Black Shirts that he will speak tonight. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Thought Maturity Held Greater in Eastern Student

Far West Delegate Marked For Robust Simplicity At Conference

There is an apparent contrast between the East and the far West, in sophistication and maturity of thought, according to Joe Holaday, who attended the student conference held at Milwaukee in December.

"It is apparent from all that I could gather," he said, "that the easterners have arrived at that maturity of thought that is so often thought to be lacking in American student life."

Most of the leaders of the conference were from the far East, with only a few from the middle West, said Mr. Holaday.

"On the other hand, a certain direct simplicity and robustness of thought was apparent in those few westerners who took part in discussion and conversation." This was illustrated in the case of the delegates from California, who started the meeting with three rousing cheers for their own state. Afterward, at dinner, they entertained the conference with Californian songs, while coon-skinned eastern collegians looked disdainfully and boredly on.

Groups and clubs, expressly for the discussion of student affairs exist in the eastern colleges, said Mr. Holaday. Agora and Crossroads seem to be the nearest approach to such groups in our own University.
