

Frosh Dance Tonight Starts Social Season

List of Names in Receiving Line Announced Yesterday

Ten Piece Orchestra To Handle Syncopation

Glee Is Semi-formal; Music Begins at 9 o'Clock

PLANS are now complete for the Frosh Glee, which starts promptly at 9 p. m. tonight in the Woman's building. The affair promises to be one of the biggest of the year, according to Arthur Rogers, chairman.

The receiving line for the evening, which will serve in sections, has been announced by Eleanor Flanagan, chairman, and Dorothy Belle Endicott and Marjorie Jeffries, assistants, as follows:

Receiving Line Announced
From 9:00 to 9:30—Constance Lewis, Marion H. Bradley, Rosser Atkinson, Beryl Harrah, Marjorie Stemmler, Robert McMath, Wayfe Hockett, James Terry, Jean Patrick, Tim Wood, Dorothy LeFevre.
From 9:30 to 10:00—Dorothy Belle Endicott, Melvin Kelly, Edwina Grebel, Marjorie Jeffries, Wallace Shearer, Elizabeth Beans, Philip Ireland.

Style Is of Medieval Castle
For the past ten days, the class has been working steadily to turn the hall into a veritable castle ballroom. Stone archways and colonnades, with shields and other armor on the walls, will carry out the idea. The stage will be formed of one archway, with false windows at both sides, to produce the effect of being within, looking outdoors. Gay colors are being used to increase the festive appearance.

Orchestra in Costume
The ten-piece orchestra will be costumed and prepared with features to suit the setting, according to Walton Crane, chairman of decoration. The committee includes also, Harriet Atchison, Katharine Talbot, Bradford Collins, James Rogers, and Martha Stevens.

All committees gave their final reports to the general chairman yesterday afternoon, and to all appearances there was not a flaw in the work.

Information Manager, Bell Telephone Will Speak Here Tuesday

"Some Telephone Scientists and Inventors That I Know" will be the subject of a talk to be given by L. S. O'Roark, information manager of the Bell Telephone Laboratories of New York, Tuesday afternoon in 105 Deady at 3:30, as a representative of the laboratories, which are jointly owned and operated by the American Telephone and Telegraph, the parent company, and the Western Electric company, which is in charge of the manufacturing and engineering for the concern.

Mathematical Monthly Accepts Milne's Paper

A research paper in mathematics by Dr. E. E. Milne, of the department of mathematics, has been accepted for publication by the American Mathematical Monthly and will appear some time this year. Dr. Milne was assisted in the preparation of the paper, "Note on the Smoothing of Curves," by Vladimir Rojansky, research fellow in the department last year.

Mere Man Attempts Sewing and Likes It

ROBINSON CRUSOE wasn't the only man who worried about the construction of clothes. There's a man on the campus who has been doing likewise this week—and enjoyed it, so the rumor goes.

Indeed, if the medieval costumes of the music makers at the Frosh Glee informal prove a success, there may be agitation for masculine supervision of sewing classes. The slogan might be, "I won't spend much time on the seams, and they'll not spend much time on me."

Student Grades Can be Foretold By Test Results

H. R. Taylor Discusses Relation of Averages To Study Time

The prediction of a student's academic success at the time of his entrance to the University, the difference in the performance of different student groups, and the discovery of the difference between Oregon and Syracuse in this relation are the three main heads under which the statements made by H. R. Taylor, assistant professor of psychology, at a meeting of Sigma Xi last night, may be grouped.

"The grade average is far from being a perfect means of determining the real work and extent of the college training," he pointed out. "Their reliability is lower than it ought to be, and the quantity of work done receives no weight."

"The first step in the improvement of the criterion of college success is to establish the inter-relationships of grades and other relevant measures. The relation between time spent in study and college grades is low but very important. Most interesting but quite understandable is the relation between the psychology test and the hours spent in study. Students who make high test scores tend to spend less time in study, and conversely there is a tendency for those with low test scores to study more hours per week.

"A summary is possible of the predictions made from such data as we have gathered from freshman and sophomore classes at the University of Oregon, and it may be said that at the day of entrance we can predict the first quarter grades of the men nearly as well as the first quarter grades themselves predict those of the spring quarter. In the case of the women, the test score and the high school records are quite as good an indication of the first quarter grades as those grades are of the third quarter."

The respective relationships of test scores and high school records on college success were found to be very different at Oregon than those found at Syracuse by Professor Mark May, who compiled a similar table. At Syracuse the tests are twice as important as the high school grades in the prediction; at Oregon they are but half as important.

Professor Taylor is inclined to think that probably the main cause for this difference in the two universities lies in the fact that Oregon pitches its freshmen at the level of the average or below the average and so fails to challenge the real intelligence of which many students are capable. "They continue in their high school habits of 'getting by.'"

Michigan Dean to Be Guest of President

President Arnold Bennett Hall has been spending the latter part of this week in Portland, where he spoke before the Portland Alumni Association Thursday evening, and the Portland Credit Men's Association on Friday evening.

He returned to Eugene today, where he will entertain at his home, Dr. Edmund E. Day of the University of Michigan. Dean Day is an intimate friend of the president, with whom he has had many associations in the past.

President Hall will address the Oregon Civic League on Tuesday, and the Oregon Manufacturing Association on Thursday, both at Portland.

He plans to address the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce January 31.

Just Before the Battle of Copenhagen

"Swede" Westergren, the pride of Oregon's casaba colony, will meet a countryman tonight in "Big Boy" Erickson, star whoopster and southpaw pitcher of the Idaho troupe, for the championship of Scandinavia. Weather conditions are ideal.

Varsity Swimmers Have Dual Meet Today With Club Mermen

Coach Edward Abercrombie's varsity swimmers leave for Portland at 11 a. m. today to take part in a dual meet with the Multnomah club team.

On paper the club appears to be much the stronger, but the Oregon water sprites are hoping to spring a few surprises on the Winged M fleet.

The varsity team this year has been greatly weakened by the loss of men who were counted on for points at the beginning of the year. The physical education office spokesman has declared that a team of ineligible men could be picked that would defeat either the varsity or the freshman team.

Following is the order of events for tonight's meet in Portland:
Dives: Byerly, Thompson, Davis.
220 yards: Johnson, McCook.
100 yards: Sheridan, Greulich.
200 yards: Smith.
150 yards: Fletcher, Kier.
440 yards: Reid.
Medley: McCook, Kier, Fletcher.

F. S. Dunn Will Read At Vespers Program

Several readings of particular interest to students on the campus will be given Sunday at vesper services by Professor F. S. Dunn, who has given much time and study to the selection and comprisal of these pieces.

The first reading will be "Hymn to Agni," from "Rig Veda"; another the "Interposition of Elihu," which is from the drama of Job; and the third, "Paul in the Aegean."

The remaining part of the vesper program, which was arranged by Phi Mu Alpha, has for its first selection the organ composition of "The Berceuse" by Delbruick, played by Phi Mu Alpha. "Meditation from Thais" by Massandtt will be given on the violin by Edward Best, accompanied on the piano by Barbara Edmunds; and the vocal solo, "The Living God," composed by O'Hara, will be sung by William Forbis.

The closing selection is "Traumerei" by Robert Schumann to be played on the organ by George Barron.

Social Science Assuming New Approach, Day

Economist Declares Tone Is Now Realistic And Practical

"Social science has been undergoing a fundamental change in approach during the last decade," said Dr. Edmund E. Day, head of the department of economics at the University of Michigan, and former professor of Harvard, in a speech before the Social Science club at the Anchorage last night. "It has taken on a realistic tone, and is interested in finding out 'What's what,' and how it works." For example, political science, heretofore, has devoted too much time to the structure of government without finding out the processes of government. These old theories will have to go to the scrap heap.

In conclusion, Dr. Day pointed out the attractiveness of social science. "There is a zest in it which every worker along that line ought to experience," he asserted. "It is great fun to track a fact down and 'skin' the thing."

Following his address, the speaker held a discussion group with the thirty club members present.

A motor trip up the McKenzie highway is planned today for the visitor, who is a guest of the University this week-end, and this evening another group, consisting of graduate students and faculty members, will listen to a second address by Dr. Day.

'Dick Posey' Speaks at High School Assembly

"Dick Posey," or more exactly Richard Posey Campbell, for the former is his pen name, was the speaker at the University high school assembly yesterday. Mr. Campbell read a number of his own poems, among which were "The Tree Planter," "From Dad to Jim in the Trenches," "Weenin' the Calf," "The Great Compromiser," "The Marble Halls of Oregon," and "The Shepherd."

Mr. Campbell, whose home is in Ashland, travelled with Thomas Skeyhill, a recent visitor on the campus, on the same Ellison-White Chautauqua circuit in 1926. He has also had three books published, "Just Common Folks," "A Daughter of the Rouge," and "Heart of the West."

Leslie Kirkham Wins Channel Swim With 540 Laps in 10 Days

As the waves slowly subsided on the channel in the men's gymnasium swimming pool, Leslie Kirkham emerged from the foam-capped breakers many yards ahead of his closest follower, Walter Dungan. Some distance to the rear appeared Chalmers Nooe, backstroke specialist.

Thus ended the channel swim. Each contestant swam twenty minutes each day for ten consecutive school days and the number of laps made by each was recorded. Kirkham totaled 540 for the ten day period, as follows: first day, 44, second, 45; third 48, 52, 55, 60, 64, 58, and 50. Dungan completed 471 laps as follows: 48, 48, 48, 51, 53, 51, 52, 56, 56, 59. Nooe defaulted his last day's effort and swam only nine times, but received third place with 429 lengths as follows: 43, 46, 47, 46, 51, 48, 48, 51, 49.

Kirkham's two marks of 64 lengths or 1280 yards in twenty minutes are considered very unusual in that he has never received special coaching and yet swam 1280 yards at a rate that would win most 440 yard events. He will join the varsity immediately.

Governor and Wife To be Entertained

Gov. and Mrs. I. L. Patterson and Mrs. C. S. Jackson, of Portland, are to be guests of honor at a formal dinner for which the girls of Alpha Xi Delta sorority are entertaining at their chapter house this evening. A number of the university faculty members will also be guests at the dinner.

Tea Today to Honor Mrs. E. Bel Chandler

This afternoon at their chapter house the girls of Delta Delta Delta sorority are entertaining with a large tea to honor their housemother, Mrs. E. Bel Chandler. The tea will be given from 3 to 6 o'clock and more than 350 invitations have been sent out to faculty and town women to call.

Oregon to Meet Idaho Tonight

Webfoot Cagers to Open Conference Season With Wandering Vandals as Invaders In New Pavilion

Reinhart Makes Last Minute Switch in Starting Quintet

Dedication Exercises Are Postponed Because the Court Is Incomplete

Music Students to Give Rehearsal Monday

The second Monday rehearsal given by students of the music department will be held January 24, at 5 p. m. in the music auditorium. The program, which is a half hour in length, will consist of an ensemble of string instruments accompanied by the harp. A Suite by Saint George, adeptly suited to strings, has been chosen as the composition to be played. According to Professor Underwood, who has been directing this rehearsal, it is a piece that will delight all music lovers.

Probable Lineup

Oregon	vs.	Idaho
Gunther	F	Miles
Epps	F	Nedros
Okerberg	C	Erickson
Westergren	G	Jacoby
Ridings	G	Canine

Referee: Ralph Coleman, O. A. C.
Time—7:30.

By HAROLD MANGUM
COACH Bob McMillan's prize troops of wandering Vandals will put on their act tonight in the new basketball pavilion with variations for the edification of Oregon's crew of casaba men. The production will officially open the winter season in the local playhouse, but no dedication exercises will enlighten the multitude.

Governor Patterson, a delegation from the legislature, and other notables were billed to appear and officially designate the new edifice the Honorable Clifton N. (Pat) McArthur Court, but a humble contractor has upset the best laid plans of Dr. John F. Bovard, dean of the school of physical education and chairman of the committee in charge of the ceremonies, and tilted them all askew.

Contractor Falls Down
The playing floor was ready for service a week ago, but the shower and locker rooms have not been installed and the offices of the coaches and Virgil D. Earl, director of athletics, have not been finished, as per agreement. Hence, no dedication will be put on in conjunction with the premiere of the meandering Muscovites, because no basketball pavilion can be judged complete when there are no facilities for the competing athletes to take showers or lock up their clothes while performing. Actors can not get their lines across the footlights without a proper dressing space, and any old duffer knows that Saturday is the night of the bath.

Coach Reinhart, who teaches the Webfoots how to strut and quack, announced a shift in his original cast last night, and a billed understudy will get a chance to perform in big time. Coach Billy became displeased with the way Scotty Milligan says "I gottem," arguing that "I have 'em," is much better diction. Coach Billy hath his way, and Gordon Ridings, who pronounces all his "g's" and unfolds his napkin while eating, will be the man of the hour between 7:30 and 8:30 tonight.

Dave Epps to Start
Dave Epps, the long boy with the accurate shooting eye, will line up at forward when Referee Coleman's whistle says, "tweet, tweet." This shooting star holds an unpleasant memory from his youthful days. A lady with a veil offered short-trousered Dave some nice candy on the first of April many annus ago and the confection was stuffed with Fels-Naptha. Ever since, Dave has had an abhorrence of veils, and the netting that dangles from a basketball hoop bears a strong resemblance to a veil. At least that's the way Luke McGlock told the story to us.

Other scintillans who will entertain the orchestra seat holders and the gallery gods are Roy ("Twenty point") Okerberg, center; Jerry Gunther, robust forward; and Algot Westergren, ball-hounding, close-checking guard. Some one on the Idaho team made a basket on Swede last year and he has never gotten over it. These boys need no introductions to anyone. They are all aces of the Pacific coast circuit, and have had their names emblazoned over the bill-boards and outlined in

Second A. S. U. O. Concert Series To Be Thursday

Elly Ney Piano Recital Will be Given at New Court

Elly Ney, the Beethoven centenary pianist, will make her appearance here next Thursday evening at McArthur Court. This will be the second concert on the A. S. U. O. music series.

Madame Ney is considered one of the great exponents of Beethoven and Brahms. The New York Sun says of her: "Mrs. Ney's fine powers as an interpreter of Beethoven are familiar. Of a large and intellectual turn of mind, her comprehension and grasp of Beethoven's music—as also that of Brahms in which she specializes—has authority, power and conviction."

However not only does Madame Ney play the works of Beethoven and Brahms with exceptional ability, but in the playing of Chopin's work her interpretations "are flawless." The facility with which Ney can shift to such works as a Beethoven sonata to the lilting measures of a Chopin waltz has amazed many listeners. She can bring out the power of a great master's most serious work, and she can play a light "morecan" with the charm of a specialist in musical minatures.

Summer School Fees For 1927 to be Raised

Fees for the University of Oregon summer session for 1927 have been slightly raised by the board of regents, it is announced.

For Oregon residents in regular session, both in Eugene and in Portland, the fees will be 20 dollars. For those who attend from outside the state, fees will be 25 dollars. The charge of the post-session of four weeks will be 10 dollars.

Emerald Sloan, '22, To Have Hawaiian Post

Emerald F. Sloan, '22, has been assigned to the 19th Infantry, located at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii. Sloan received his assignment to this regiment last spring. Herbert Powell, '26, holds a commission of 2nd Lieutenant in the 7th Infantry at Vancouver at the present time.

Word was received recently of the transfer of John W. Homewood, '23, who has been stationed in the 7th Infantry at Vancouver, Washington, since 1924, to the aviation corps at Brooks Field near San Antonio, Texas. Homewood held a commission of 2nd Lieutenant in the 7th Infantry.
