

Girl's Glee Club Will Give Annual Concert on Wed.

Harp Solo, Spanish Dance, Character Sketches, Added Features

Annual concert of the Woman's Glee club will be given in the Woman's building next Wednesday evening, February 9, at 8:15 o'clock, it was announced today by Eugene Carr, of the school of music, director of the glee club.

Mr. Carr says that he has endeavored to make this program entirely different from those of preceding years, not only from the standpoint of program building, but also by varying the program with novelties of different kinds.

He included in the program of next Wednesday a group of harp solos, which will be played by Doris Helen Patterson. Miss Patterson is a student at the Eugene high school, and according to Mr. Carr, she plays the harp exceedingly well. She is to play "Fantasie," by Saint Saens, and "The Fountain," by Zabel. Also Kate Buchanan, a student in the University drama department, will give a character sketch. The program is divided into three parts, and according to the rehearsals, especially good is the second part, "In Old Madrid." The whole effect was worked out by Mr. Carr. He has put in it, scenery, costumes, and a Spanish dance, which is done by Margaret Holbrook, a member of the glee club. Alma Lawrence will play the accompaniments for the concert.

Delta Gammas Start Annual Reunion With 75 Guests Expected

Invitations have been sent to members of the Delta Gamma sorority in the state and to former members and alumni of Alpha Delta chapter, to attend the annual reunion at the chapter house, this week-end, February 4, 5, and 6.

The sorority and chapters throughout the country hold reunions in the late winter and spring, each year.

The program for the week-end will include, a gathering at the house Friday night followed by stunts provided by the active girls. Saturday is reunion day and Saturday night the reunion banquet will be held. Including active members and alumni about 75 or 80 people are expected.

Betty Beans is president of the chapter.

20% FLUNK

20% of students were dropped last year because of poor scholarship. N. Y. U. had the highest mortality with 30%—Yale the lowest with 12%.

Midnight effort is responsible for this condition. Overcome it! Don't waste so many hours taking notes in longhand. Use the A. B. C. shorthand system, based on Prof. E. L. Thorndike's Foundation Vocabulary.

Easy to learn, written with A. B. C's, not a strange symbol, mastered in about one week—enables you to take notes 3 times as fast—a great asset for scholastic success. Practical in journalism, business, court notes, sermons, lectures, research, etc.

Don't waste precious time. Send for a complete course TO-DAY! Only $2.00.

Walter Barnes Says Good Word For Athletics as Aid to Study

The average college student gets the biggest possible returns from his studies, if he participates in some form of athletics, is the opinion of Walter Barnes, professor of history. Making athletics a serious business is to be considered as opposing studies, however, and such efforts should be controlled to the minimum, Professor Barnes believes.

"It is generally acknowledged that the faculties of colleges view with disapproval the over emphasis on varsity athletics. This is because football, the most prominent major sport, and perhaps one or two other athletic activities are sometimes promoted to positions above their rightful places," declared the history professor.

"It all depends on the kind of athletics under consideration. The University of Oregon pays too much attention to intercollegiate athletics and not enough to intra-mural athletics or activities."

Professor Barnes expressed himself as favoring more athletics for women and the administration of athletics for both men and women so that a greater number may be benefited. If a student is tired from exercise, he is more likely to study. For this reason, there should be one hour of athletics to every three to six hours of study.

"If athletics are participated in as a sport, they favor study. If participated in as a serious business, they interfere with study," he said.

New Book Shipment Received at Library Has Varied Subjects

William Allen White maintains that the good old middle aged liar who talks about the good old days of the sixties, seventies, and eighties should take refuge in his imagination. He holds that the test of civilization is its treatment of youth. What did the good old days do for the boys and girls of that time, and what are the new days doing now? It is this point of view that he sets forth in his book, "Boys, Then and Now," which is one of the new books at the library.

Two books on religion are included in the new shipment. "The Heretic's Defense," by Henry Preserved Smith, is an autobiographical sketch which centers about the heresy trial which drove him from the ministry of the church in which he was born. Ernest H. Short's "House of God," shows how church architecture reveals the development of man's religious feeling.

"The Royal Road to Romance," by Richard Halliburton, tells how a gay young romanticist goes laughing and beating and fighting his vagabond way into the glamorous corners of the world.

Other new books which have arrived are: "Jesting Pilate," an intellectual holiday by Aldous Huxley; "Read 'em and Weep," the songs you forget to remember, by Sigmond Spaeth; "The Pulse of Progress," Ellsworth Huntington; "The Negro in American Life," by Jerome Dowd; "Modern American Lyrics," an anthology, compiled by Stanton A. Coblenz; "Collected Poems of John G. Neihardt;" "The New Natural History," by Professor Arthur Thomson; "Intimate Letters of James Gibbon Huneker," collected and edited by Josephine Huneker, and "The Time of Man," by Elizabeth Madox Roberts.

Members of Orchesis Plan Annual Dance Drama Spring Term

Plans have been started for the annual Dance Drama to be given in the first part of the spring term by the members of Orchesis, girls' dancing honorary, and Mu Phi Epsilon, girls' musical honorary, according to Miss Lillian Stupp, dancing instructor. This ranks with the canoe fete as one of the artistic productions of the year.

"Midsummer Night's Dream" was the theme running through the Dance Drama given last year, but the subject has not yet been announced for this year.

The following chairmen of committees have been appointed:

From Orchesis, business manager, Grace Potter; music, Elda Wilson; publicity, Beatrice Mason; costume, Constance Roth; lighting, Etha Clark; staging, Kitty Sartain; properties, Dorothy Carter; clean up, Nina Kitts; and make-up, Frances Hare. From Mu Phi Epsilon, music, Barbara Edmunds; publicity, Mrs. A. E. Roberts; costume, Olga Jackson; lighting, Margaret Spencer; staging, Leota Biggs; programs, Mary Benson; and concert, Adelaide Johnson.

Only health gleaming with health is lovely enough to look smart when closely groomed. Common hair ills such as hair too thin, too oily or too dry detract from one's personal appearance. Hastings Sisters (Minor Bldg.) with their electric and oil massage treatments can easily remedy and prevent such conditions making the hair vitally alive and lustrous.

Unstinted hospitality calls for some food on hand always. Milk chocolates, tender crunchy nuts, luscious, big caramels—all manner of delicious candy bought at McKillop's (next to M. E. church) serve the purpose of delighting the guest admirably.

Tremendously clever—Absurdly inexpensive are the many novelties offered by the Aladdin Gift Shop. Outstanding in their collection are the good-looking candle sticks, mahogany and bronze, lending an atmosphere of cultural refinement and charm to their surroundings.

An appetite needs no second bidding when there is a prospect of food from Underwood and Elliot's in view for their home-cooked pies and cakes outrank all others. Cinnamon buns, crispy brown, apple cake with its dainty fruit slices etc., or any of those goodies are very delectable at all times indoors or out.

Ever,
CAROL.
