

Six Lectures Will be Given By Criminologist

Luke S. May, of Seattle, To Be Guest of Law School Next Week

Addresses Scheduled For Villard Hall

Luke S. May, noted Seattle criminologist, who is being brought to the campus Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as a guest of the law school, will speak six times during his visit.

Two of his addresses will be before the League of Law Enforcement officers meeting here Monday in Villard hall. He will speak at an afternoon meeting and at the banquet in the evening in the Eugene hotel.

The remaining addresses will be made before law and sociology students and will be given in Villard in order that anyone interested may attend. The subjects chosen by Mr. May are of popular interest and are illustrated by stereoptical pictures. Two lectures will be given Tuesday and two Wednesday.

Mr. May is regarded in criminology and law circles as one of the cleverest sleuths of the present time. He is president of the Revelare International Secret Service as well as president of the Northwestern College of Criminology. Mr. May is regarded as an able speaker.

The list of topics upon which he will speak show his versatility. Monday afternoon he will speak on "The Examination of the Investigating Officer at the Scene of the Crime," and in the evening he will speak on the "Preparation of the Criminal Case for Trial." The order of the four remaining addresses is not known definitely as yet, but will be upon the following subjects: "Methods of Criminal Identification," "The Proof of the Corpus Delicti," "Systems for the Investigation of Murder, Burglary and Blackmail," "Criminal Types and Criminal Objective and Subjective Psychology."

Mr. May has been actively engaged in running down criminals in the Northwest and on the coast for a number of years and has some remarkable cases to his credit. He is the man who put together the frail evidence of the Siskiyou holdup and placed the blame upon the heads of the DeAutremont trio. May solved the mystery connected with the Covell murder a few years ago at Marshfield and does considerable research work for law enforcement officers all over the Northwest.

At the banquet of the law enforcement officers at the Eugene hotel besides Mr. May, short talks will be given by Dean William Hale, L. V. Jenkins, chief of Portland police, Honorable H. H. Belt, associate justice of the Oregon supreme court, Lieutenant Niles of the Portland police, and Guy Gordon, district attorney for Douglas county.

In the afternoon meeting of the officers they will be welcomed to the campus by President Arnold Bennett Hall. Newton Chaney will respond for the officers. Among speakers scheduled for the afternoon is Sam Bass Warner, professor of law, who will give a short address on "Civil Processes."

Dean Hale considers that the University is fortunate in being able to secure Mr. May for the lecture series, and has opened the lectures to all interested. The school of sociology is cooperating with the law school.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Palo Alto—(By PIP)—Construction of an elaborate four-story student union building will be started immediately at the University of Southern California, announcements from Los Angeles state. The new structure will house all student and alumni offices, lounge rooms for men and women, public office, student store, and a large ballroom.

Spring Weather Starts Intensive Track Practice

Many Stars of Last Year Missing; Only Three Back in School

With the first signs of spring at hand, the time for intensive track work has come, and no one recognizes the fact better than Bill Hayward, veteran coach, who is beginning his 25th year at the game.

The selection of Hayward as coach and trainer of America's Olympic track team is ample proof that he knows his vocation from A to Z.

Hayward will have his hands full this year as the loss of many of last season's mainstays will be keenly felt. Tuck, Cleaver, Kelsey, Extra, Holt, and Eby will all leave visible gaps in the lineup as they accounted for the strong showing made last year against O. A. C. and Washington.

Only three lettermen are in school this year, although some others may return to school in the spring term. The lettermen who are wearing suits this season are: Vic Wetzel, shotput, "Proe" Flanagan, broad jumper, and Ed Crowley, pole-vaulter.

To speed up the development of the track men, Coach Hayward is inaugurating a series of team meets to be held each week. The first of these is at 2:30 today, at Hayward field. The regular distances for the various events will be shortened as it is felt that the men are not yet ready to go the full distances. A three-fourths mile event will replace the mile, a 600 yard race will take the place of the half, and the 440 yard event will be shortened to 300 yards.

Twenty-two freshmen have signed up for the frosh competition and almost twice as many varsity aspirants will perform.

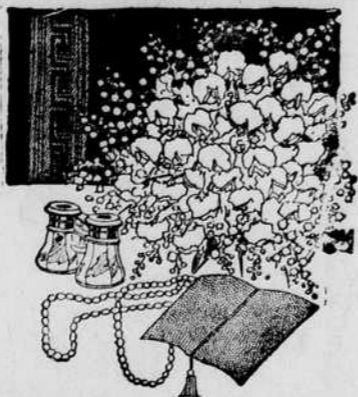

BERKELEY, Feb. 9—Another unit of the Phoebe Apperson Hearst Memorial Gymnasium for Women at the University of California is open this week with the completion of two of the three large outdoor swimming pools.
