Big Installation

Formal initiation ceremonies for the 33 active alumnae and inactive members of Kappa Omicron, now Eta Gamma chapter of Phi Mu, national Greek letter society, were conducted last night by Mrs. Z. W. Keller, of Chicago, Illinois, national executive secretary of the fraternity. She was assisted by Mary Lee Kelling, Marguerite and Lucille Jackson, members of Tau chapter who are in Eugene, and the 30 visiting girls from Eta Beta chapter, University of Washington, and Tau chapter at Whitman College. Pledging services were held Thursday, following Mrs. Keller's arrival at noon.

Eta Gamma and a chapter in Ohio, also being installed this weekend, bring the total number up to fifty chapters of Phi Mu. The society was founded in 1852, at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia. The local group has May 23, 1923, as its date of founding.

Sororities Increase
With the installation of Phi Mu on the campus, the number of National Pan Hellenic sororities is increased to 17. The feature of today's program is the reception honoring Mrs. Keller, which will be held in Alumni hall between three and five o'clock. Three hundred and fifty invitations have been issued. To conclude the installation a formal banquet will be held at the Eugene hotel in the evening. Covers for 60 guests will be laid. About 70 couples will attend the formal installation dance, also at the hotel, immediately following the banquet.

Washingtonians Visit
The visitors from Washington will leave the campus Sunday, after which election of officers and their installation will be held before Mrs.

Keller leaves for California, where she will spend several days. The visitors include: Lois Porter, Corleen Hoffman, Helen Morris, Lucille Bernard, Frances Lucher, Clarice Montgomery, Ruth James, Doris Paysse, Pauline Shyston, Marie Pahl, Iris Johnston, Anita Pinkham, Estelle Pease, Ellen Klemptner, Mary Cathern Austin, Louise Culwell, Lillian Burns, Nell Stay, Inez Walsh, Eleanor Albi, Isabel Watts, Elra Ware, Peggy Hoyt Paysse, Nan Crary, Elizabeth Galloway, Luella Still, Edna Burke, Margaret Matheson, Helen White, Louise Lockard.

Marionette

forbidden in churches by special decree.

The Punch and Judy shows are perhaps the form of puppet show most familiar to the American audience. These are descended from good English ancestors who, some say, came with William of Orange from Holland, whither they had emigrated from France.

Punch and Judy make their appearance, however, in many places where their more refined and delicate sisters, the marionettes, never venture. Surely, the accomplishments of those two old favorites are quite left behind by such successors as Jean Gros' skilled entertainers.

HELLIG: Last day: Mae Murray in "Altars of Desire," a story dealing with the story of a headstrong society girl of Virginia whose madcap ways catapult her into a charge of murder. The climax is said to reach a fine emotional character by the star. Christy Cabanne, one of the old time directors, is largely responsible for the success of "Altars of Desire."

Coming attractions—John Gilbert, Greta Garbo and Lars Hansen in "Flesh and the Devil," a picture of Germany and its life. Alice Terry in "The Magician."

McDONALD: Last day: Adolphe Menjou in "Blonde or Brunette," a feast of hearty laughter, sprinkled with sparkling romance and over
