Printing of ballots for the best dressed man contest comes to a sensational halt today. Distribution of Emeralds that never reached the goal caused the discontinuance of printing of ballots.

However, the contest will not stop. All ballots now out may be placed in the boxes for counting. The five highest candidates receiving the highest vote will be chosen to vie for final honors. Next week judges will be named by Joseph Riesch and these will pick the Best Dressed Man. Voting will continue until next Tuesday.

"IT WAS AN EARLY BIRD THAT GOT HIS OWN AND SOMEBODY ELSE'S EMERALD."

(Poem dedicated to space formerly occupied by ballot)
Whatever troubles Adam had,
And he had some 'tis said,
At least he found his Emeralds
When he clambered out of bed.

HOW TO SETTLE EDITORIAL DIFFICULTIES:

Make Sol Abramson wear a green lid and refuse to let Hugh Biggs wear cords.

An interesting picture of a Portland professional thug that the S. A. E.'s wired for to come down and help collect Emeralds off front porches. His services were secured, however, too late. He is staying in Eugene over the week-end.

A robber they called Jackie Jones
Dug in graves after dark, unknown;
But they caught him one nite
And in utter delight
They pinched him for rolling the bones.

Our friend with the swishing false teeth says that when he went to college he was forced to move out of his fraternity house because the lights were so poor that he couldn't see to play poker.

CO-ED COUNCIL

Dear Aunt Seerah,
Am married and attending the University but my husband has left me. I am good looking and have plenty of money. What would you say, auntie?
Newlywed

Dear Newlywed,
Congratulations!
Your aunt Seerah

Struck by Golf Club, Graduate Loses Eye

Struck in the face by a golf club in the hands of a boy when she was teaching the rudiments of the game, Mrs. Helen Coplan Kilgore, 26, Culver, Jefferson county teacher, lost her left eye.

Mrs. Kilgore, nee Helen Coplan, received her bachelor of arts degree in the department of English last June. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega and the wife of Charles A. Kilgore, present house president of Delta Tau Delta.

To the Editor and fellow students: Apparently the long smoldering controversy over campus traditions and various student body activities, between the editor and anyone who cared to take issue with him, has come to a head.

This is well for all of us for the issue is now clear and it is imperative that it remain so if it is to be intelligently handled. The basic facts are that the Emerald editorial columns have consistently presented views at variance with the views of the student body president and the student council. This lack of harmony in our student government has naturally resulted in an attempt to remedy the situation. The reasons for eliminating friction are fundamentally to secure harmony on the campus and to prevent the dissemination of misleading information over the State at large.

It is for this purpose that the student council has evidently advanced the amendment to the A. S. U. O. constitution. That the editor should attack this as a "gag rule" and should utilize misinformed non-campus opinion to sway campus judgment is to make the Emerald a propaganda sheet instead of a newspaper as warned against by Mr. Boalt in his emphasized article.

The articles of Mr. Boalt and Mr. Hume, while undoubtedly sincere, are not applicable because the Emerald is the organ of the A. S. U. O. The mere fact that the editor is elected should not grant this office one year's freedom from reflecting the opinions of his electors. Furthermore the analogy of Mr. Boalt is erroneous because the Emerald is owned and operated by the persons who now seek through student body government to make this their publication. If owned by the editor the situation would be different. Perhaps this situation could be logically solved to the satisfaction of the Portland contributors by letting the department of journalism finance as well as operate the Emerald; then the editorial columns could wax rabid over campus traditions, the Order of the "O", the basketball pavilion, the Scandal Sheet, student body officers, athletics, ad infinitum.

Needless to say this will not be done and the Emerald will remain the official A. S. U. O. publication. As such its editorial columns should not consistently create disruption with the student body government. The proposed amendment would be a good thing for the sake of harmony, it would not necessarily make a rubber stamp out of the editor as charged, and the supervisory control over the editorial columns by the duly constituted publications committee would prevent a situation as at present. The paper would still be open for conflicting campus opinions but the paper itself would be of and by the student body.

Let us look at the facts, the issue at hand, analyze the situation sanely, and return to a state of harmony on the campus.

Students Don't Worry About Fee Payments

Never during the experience of E. P. Lyon, as cashier in the controller's office, have students been so slow to pay their fees, said Mr. Lyon yesterday.

Throughout the last three days, no appreciable number has called at the cashier's window, and if students do not begin to come in in large numbers during the early part of next week, the congestion the last few days will be such that many will be unable to reach the window, thus necessitating the late fee penalty of $3 for the first day late, and a daily accumulative fee of 25 cents. The very lack of congestion so far, thinks Mr. Lyon, should be an incentive to early payment next week.

Next Saturday, at noon, is the final date on which payment may be made without payment.
