

Huskies Have Edge in Track Contest Today

Washington Expected to Win 100 and Long Distance Events

Brix Has Coast Record in Shot-put Entry

Eighteen shining track hopes, the pick of Bill Hayward's varsity squad, will go into action against the speed demons of Coach "Hok" Edmundson at Seattle this afternoon with slim chances of wresting a victory from the Husky stars.

If Hayward's plans work as he anticipates, the meet will be close, but in the light of past performances the heavier weight rest on the Washington side of the scales. It is Bill Hayward's job to change the balance of those scales.

Husky Sprinters Fast
In the century, Anderson, Husky flash, and his team mate, Schroeder, will lead Jerry Extra to the tape, if past marks are equalled. Anderson ran the hundred in 9 4-5 seconds when Washington over-ran O. A. C. last Saturday by a score of 76 1/2 to 54 1/2. The best Extra has done this season is 10 1-5.

The 220 will be one of the hottest races of the meet, according to dope. The same Anderson runs it in 22, while Captain "Proe" Flanagan, veteran Oregon point gatherer, led W. S. C. sprinters to the string with a 22 and 1-5 mark last Saturday. He may do better today.

Herman Brix, Husky weight man, will not be pressed in the shot put. He holds the Pacific northwest record at 48 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Charteris Has Edge
The way is open for a clean sweep for Washington in the 880, unless Fern Kelly, who has been remade from a miler, comes through with unexpected strength. Jimmy Charteris, ex-intercollegiate champion, will lead the field.

With Crowley out for the season, Oregon pole vaulters will have slight chance of grabbing more than one point in this event.

The prospects of winning the mile relay are dull. The Husky squad tore off a 3:27 1-5 mile against the Aggies, while the Webfoot quarter-milers led the Cougar aggregation around four laps in 3:31 1-5.

But there is another side of the picture on which the spring sun bends its balmy rays.

Oregon Has Points
Both Joe Standard and Joe Price are expected to throw cinders all over the Washington entries in the 440 yard dash. Standard won his event Saturday in 50 3-5 seconds, and just nosed out his team-mate at the finish. Sisson, O. A. C., led Peltret, Husky quarter-miler, to the post with a 51 flat last Saturday.

Clarence Hill, sophomore distance man who made a strong bid to catch little Johnny Divine in the two-mile in the Cougar meet, and John Niedemeyer who took a strong third in that event, will be fighting for letters today. Hill made a 9:49 against W. S. C. The O. A. C. men took all three places against the Huskies last Saturday in the slow time of 10 minutes, 4 3-5 seconds.

Thirds to be Counted
Flanagan, ex-Pacific Northwest champion, should have no difficulty in winning the broad jump, while there is also a possibility of Price or McGee placing. Flanagan made a leap of 23 feet, 7 inches against W. S. C., and has gone more than 24 feet.

Wetzel may grab a first in the javelin and Stager has a chance in the discus.

That is a list of probable firsts, but it is the seconds and thirds that will win the meet today—if it is won. Other events are more or less doubtful, with the dope a little more favorable to Washington. Hayward is a foxy campaigner, however, and he may pick up enough points in the remaining events to swing the pendulum.

E. F. Lawrence Gets A. C. C. Appointment

Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the school of art and architecture, has recently been appointed a chairman on the American Construction Council.

The council, of which Franklin Roosevelt is president, has a chapter in nearly every state of the union. Among its chief aims is the harmonizing of all elements of the construction industry, arbitration and creation of state associations for the training of craftsmen.

Dean Lawrence will work with the Oregon Building Congress, a chapter of the American Construction Council, won much to CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(IP)—The athletic associations of Harvard and Princeton may have supposed that when they broke off athletic relations with each other after the disastrous football melee last autumn, they were to have the last word in the matter.

But despite these austere bodies, Harvard athletes entertained Princeton athletes on May 7 at Cambridge. The occasion was a baseball game between the staff of the Harvard Crimson, daily newspaper of the Harvard undergraduates, and the staff of the Daily Princetonian, the daily publication of the Nassau students.

The Harvard Crimson took the initiative. In accepting, the Princetonian staff wired:

"At a special meeting of Princetonian editors called here today to consider the gracious proposal of the Harvard Crimson, the telephone operator as most important member of the organization, cast three votes in favor of acceptance, thereby causing passage of the following resolutions:

"Whereas it has always harbored a sneaking desire for travel, especially in New England, which has had little prospect of gratification for some time to come, be it

"Resolved, that the Daily Princetonian accepts with great pleasure the kind invitation of the Harvard Crimson to participate in a baseball game in Cambridge on May 7."

In announcing the game, the Harvard paper pointed out that "the game, thus assured, should prove of great interest to followers of the national pastime. Both the Princetonian and the Crimson hold unique positions in the diamond game in that neither, to the time, had lost a baseball encounter. So far as is known, the Princeton Tiger has never outscored the Princetonian in a nine-inning game, and the Crimson-Lampoon diamond rivalry, although older than the catcher's mask and the rubber home plate, has yet to see the Mt. Auburn street nine victorious."

MELBOURNE, Australia.—(IP)—When two university students motored through the streets of this city recently, dressed as the Duke and Duchess of York, their make-up was so perfect that they were received with cheers as the true Duke and Duchess. The stunt was merely a part of the fun during the initiation ceremonies in which the Duke of York was initiated into the Students' Association after having been granted the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

ATHENS, Ohio.—(IP)—What was considered the worst student battle in the history of the university occurred here last week when more than 400 Ohio university students fought in the streets of the village.

The affair started when freshmen rebelled against being ducked and 200 of them held their own after ducking an equal number of sophomores. In the course of the fight one student received injuries which resulted in concussion of the brain, while another received a broken bone in his face.

Fiji Donut Nine Beating Phi Psi By 5 to 2 Score

Coleman Stars in Game Putting Phi Gams in Final Series

When Spike Leslie crossed "Bad Boy" Coleman's name from the frosh roster, the injured youth took himself to the donut league for consolation, and avenged his offended pride at the expense of the Phi Psi.

Through Coleman's villainous efforts, the Phi Psi succumbed to the Fiji's onslaught, 5 to 2. Coleman began his dastardly work in the second inning when he lifted one of Harper's slants over the left fielder's head for a homer, scoring Chiles, who had walked. The ejected frosh asserted himself again in the sixth. Flynn crashed out a single and Chiles was safe on Gregg's fumble. Coleman brought them both home with a double, and then came in himself when Schmeer was out on a fielder's choice.

The Phi Psi rallied in the fourth, and tied the count at two all in the sixth, but their brief threat was short lived. Herndon tallied in the fourth on Muir's error, and again in the sixth on a pass ball after he had tripled.

Schmeer, Fiji hurler, had a good day, allowing the Phi Psi four scattered hits. He struck out seven men, and came through without handing out a free pass.

By their victory, the Fijis reached the coveted "big series," and will fight it out with the winner of the W. P. E.-Kappa Sig affair, and the winner of the Independent vs. the consolation finalist for the intramural championship.

Three teams, A. T. O., Psi Kappa, and Phi Sigma Kappa, that lost in the first round, also tasted defeat in the second round, and are eliminated from the race.

Yesterday's score:

Phi Psi 2 4 4
Fijis 5 5 3
Batteries: Schmeer and Murray; Harper and Cuisick.
Schedule for next week: May 16, Sigma Chi vs. Chi Psi; May 17, Spees vs. Kappa Sigma; May 18, A. B. C. vs. Betas; May 19, Theta Chi vs. S. A. E.; May 20, Sigma Nu vs. Deltas.

BERLIN, Ohio.—(IP)—Although the college authorities recently placed a ban on midnight serenading at Oberlin college, the students are going to have their tradition. Soon after the college had announced that it had requested village authorities to enforce the ancient ordinance against disturbing the peace of this village after 11 p. m. a group of students appeared under the windows of a women's dormitory at 6:30 p. m., and while the sun shone sang lustily to the co-eds in the windows above, at the same time strumming banjos and guitars.

Placards stuck in the grass about the singers poked fun at the new ruling. "Our mommas say we must go to bed early," read one, while another explained that "if we can't sing to the moon, there's always the sun."

NEW YORK.—(IP)—"Everybody satisfied" was the spirit which predominated the return to America last week of the first floating university to make a college tour of the world in seven and a half months. The students and faculty of the university entered the harbor here on Monday, May 2, aboard the Holland-America liner Ryndam.

The students said they had a good time and learned a great deal. The faculty said they had a lot of pleasure teaching the students and learning things themselves. The university traveled 35,000 miles, and visited thirty-five countries. There were 500 students enrolled, 60 of whom were women. No women will be taken on the next cruise, which starts on Sept. 20, 1927.

Oregon Alumnae Named Delegates For Celebrations

Invitations of Universities Of London and Toronto Accepted

Two Oregon alumnae have recently been asked to represent the University of Oregon at two of the important Centenary celebrations to be held at London, England, and Toronto, Canada, during the year. Mrs. Mary Chambers Brockelbank of 86 rue Charles Lafitte, Neuilly (Seine), France, will be the official representative of the University at the celebration of the Centenary of the University of London, and Mrs. Norma Hendricks Starr, 321 Bloor Street, Toronto, Canada, will be present at the Centenary of King's College, Toronto, Canada.

An elaborate Latin invitation was received from the University of London by the University of Oregon, in which greetings were sent, and in which the University was asked to send a delegate to the celebration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the college, June 23.

As it was an impossibility for President Arnold Bennett Hall to be present, Mrs. Chambers Brockelbank, who holds a master of arts degree, was asked to officiate. Mrs. Brockelbank has been vacationing in Nice for the past month and has just recently returned to her home in Neuilly (Seine), France. A letter was recently received saying she would represent her Alma Mater at the celebration.

The University of Toronto also sent greetings to the University in formal manner, inviting the University of Oregon to help commemorate the centenary of the granting of the Charter of King's College, Toronto, on Thursday, October 6, 1927. Mrs. Norma Hendricks Starr, B. A. 1906, a niece of one of the founders of the University of Oregon, and former alumni secretary, will represent Oregon. Her home is in Toronto, and because of her active interest in the University and her proximity to the University of Toronto, she was selected to represent the University.

CHICAGO.—(IP)—A temple estimated to be at least 5,000 years old, has been dug up in Mesopotamia by the Field Museum-Oxford university joint expedition, according to word received here last week.

According to dispatches the temple was dedicated to the earth goddess of Harsagkemma, was constructed by the Sumerians, and was rebuilt by Nabonidus, king of the Babylonians some 2,500 years later. A number of valuable finds were made, according to stories reaching here.

Blind man's buff

Remember the game? A handkerchief over your eyes... your hands searching for someone, feeling blindly over features your eyes could so easily know. It seems foolish—deliberately to blindfold yourself and go searching. You wouldn't blindfold yourself deliberately when you start out in search of purchases that help make life a game.

If you read advertisements first, you are spared the doubts and mistakes. Advertisements take the handkerchief off your eyes. They equip you with keen vision. They lead you direct to the shaving cream that will give most freshness to your skin, to the most tempting clothes, to the sparkling drinks most pleasing. They put in your hands familiar good things guaranteed to please.

You can't afford to buy under a blind man's buff. Read the advertisements to avoid the blindness—and the buff. Don't overlook these today.

Advertisements help you find the best there is to find and know it when you find it
