

Track Try-outs For O. A. C. Tilt Will Be Today

Donut Athletes Compete
At 3:30 for Places
On Cinder Track

14 Events Listed; Two-
Mile Not Scheduled

Varsity and freshman trackmen who will appear against O. A. C. this week-end in a track and field meet to be held as a part of junior week-end festivities, will be chosen this afternoon by Bill Hayward, track mentor.

An intramural field and track meet will be held on Hayward field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and those making the best showings will be picked.

All fraternities, Friendly hall, and Independents are entering men in the try-outs. Two men from each organization is the limit applying to the events, and heats will be run off in the 100, 220, and both hurdle races.

Fourteen events will compose the program for the day including the 100 yard dash, high and low hurdles, 220; quarter, half and mile events. A half-mile relay, with each man running 220 yards, will be substituted for the regular mile relay. No two-mile will be scheduled, said Hayward.

Phi Kappa Psi cinder stars won the intramural relays held April 14, but with Hoblitt ineligible, and Browne out with an injured leg, their chances have diminished. Sport gossip appears to indicate that the Beta Theta Pi, Independents, and Kappa Sigma teams will crowd one another for the winning points. However, Pat McGinnis, Sigma Chi broad jumper, has been regularly leaping in the vicinity of 22 feet; Stadelman, Sigma Nu, tossing the javelin, and Stager, an independent, shot-putting, and McCarty, A. T. O. entry in the 440, all look like sure point reapers and of varsity caliber.

Eligibility rules applying to the contest, stated Hayward, will allow all students to compete, who have been out for track, and who have not earned a letter previous to the present season.

A silver cup has been donated as a prize to be awarded to the winning aggregation of cinder track men.

Officials for today's meet: referee, Bill Hayward; starter, Del Oberteuffer; inspectors, Paul Ager, Bob Barnes, and Lawrence Hull; clerk of course, George Craig; announcer, Bob Mautz; judges of finish, Jerry Extra, Vic Wetzel, Art Morris, Dean Walker, and Lieutenant Herbert.

Timers, Harry Scott, Earl Widmer, Ed Abercrombie; judges of pole vault, Perry Davis and Ralph Tuck; judges of high jump, Tom Chapman, Francis Cleaver, Pete Jensen; judges of weight events, Beryl Hodgen, Walter Kelsey, Chuck Stockwell; press, Bob Foster; field physicians, Drs. Romig and Miller. Marshalls of field, Hal Harden, Sherm Smith, Bert Kerns, Homer Dixon.

Final Count in Donut Game Goes to Kappa Sigma's by 9-4 Score

The S. P. E. donut nine began the afternoon with a comedy of errors, and ended it by a last inning rally that fell tragically short. The Kappa Sig outfit, overjoyed by the "humorous" beginning, laughed themselves into the championship series by a 9 to 4 score.

The Kappa Sigs scored four times in the first inning on one hit and four errors. After that, the Spees tightened their infield, and allowed no more scoring until the fifth. Hatton began the fifth by beating out a hit to short. Mautz and Shields hit safely and Jameson cleared the bags with a high sacrifice fly. Kappa Sigma counted again in the last inning when Jameson came home on Adolph's single.

The Spees garnered nine hits off Adolph's slants, but were unable to bunch them effectively. Tetz chalked up one run in the third on an error after he had singled. The Spees threw a scare into the Kappa Sigs in the last inning and threatened to overtake the lead. Ickes started the rally with a two bagger, and Gannon and Buzan were safe on errors. Successive bingles by Templeton and Neil knocked in three runs.

Score: R H E
S. P. E. 4 9 10
Kappa Sigma 9 7 6
Batteries: Gannon and Tetz; Adolph and Gabriel.

Revised schedule for this week: May 18, A. B. C. vs. Sigma Chi; May 19, Theta Chi vs. S. A. E. and Sigma Nu vs. Delta.

Net Squad to be Picked for Meets This Week-end

Oregon Has Chance to Win
Northwest Title From Husky Team

With the exception of number 5, and the second doubles team, Ed Abercrombie, tennis coach, has decided upon the line-up to be entered against the University of Washington net squad Friday morning in the first match of the Pacific coast intercollegiate tennis round-robin to be played on the campus this week-end.

Henry Neer as number one; Roy Okerberg, number two; Clare Hartman, number three; Elton Edge, number four, have been chosen by Abercrombie to represent the university against Washington.

Due to the faulty showings made by Mel Cohn and Tom Cross in the recent O. A. C. tennis meet, the coach is undecided upon the fifth man of the squad. In elimination practice matches today, Abercrombie hopes to choose the final man.

"The round-robin tournament will undoubtedly decide the Pacific coast college champion," said Abercrombie. "While Washington is strong, Oregon may have a chance of topping them for the northwest title. Stanford, following victories over California and U. S. C., appears to be the contender for the coast championship."

The program of the tournament is: Oregon and Washington, Friday morning; O. A. C. against Stanford, Friday afternoon. On Saturday, the morning matches will be between Washington and O. A. C.; Oregon and Stanford. In the afternoon, which will conclude the meet, Oregon will face O. A. C. and Washington is paired with Stanford.

Folts Returns From Business Ad Meeting With Harvard Tales

When the new Harvard graduate school of business administration was erected on "made land" across the Charles river from Harvard University, the surroundings were rather bare and unimpressive. But as the builders were not willing to forego for forty or fifty years that appearance of antiquity considered so important to Harvard, several score large elm trees were removed from their habitat of thirty-five years and transplanted on the new campus, according to Professor F. E. Folts, who has just returned from Harvard, where he attended the ninth annual convention of the American Associations of Schools of Business.

The Harvard graduate school of business administration is probably the largest and most important in the country, Mr. Folts said. It was built at a cost of $5,000,000 from a gift of Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in President Wilson's cabinet. It is designed to accommodate about 1000 students, and there are about 700 now in attendance. Students who have received bachelor degrees in business administration are given two years intensive training in business, Mr. Folts said.

The principal topics discussed at the convention, according to Mr. Folts, were the development of the cultural aspects of business training, the two theories of method in business training, and making problems of academic research available to business.

While in the East, Mr. Folts visited for a few days at the Wharton School of Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Geology Head Asked To Speak in Seattle

Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology department, who is director for Oregon on the National Advisory Bulletin of the National Council of Geography Teachers, has been invited to present a geographical report before the National Education Association in Seattle on July 6.

Woodcut Prints Are Exhibited At Art Building

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall
Follow Japanese
Technique

An exhibition of 24 woodcut prints, the work of Norma Bassett Hall and Arthur W. Hall, both former Portlanders, is now hanging in the exhibiting room of the Art building. Mr. and Mrs. Hall are familiar with the scenery of Oregon and for some time were students at the Portland Art Museum. They are especially interested in the scenic beauty of Oregon seaside country.

Cannon Beach was the setting for a number of Mrs. Hall's landscape studies. In recent years the two have continued their art instruction at the Chicago Art Institute and in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall have made special study of the wood-block prints, following the Japanese method in its exacting technique. They have specialized in this particular art, and the school of architecture and the allied arts is pleased to be able to show the collection of block prints in black and white and also in color subjects, both of which cover Oregon scenery and picturesque bits of European travels.

The prints came into the care of the school through the courtesy of Ray Nash, who is a nephew of Mrs. Hall. The artists display notable mastery of the medium as well as a keen sense of the decorative. Some of the color prints are all that could be desired in poetry of conception and perfection of workmanship. Some duplicate copies are available.

and their price is so modest as to be attractive to persons who care to make an investment in original color prints of undoubted value. Mrs. Hall will be remembered as the artist who lettered the illuminated memorial panels in the Woman's building.

The Anchorage

"Springtime is Anchorage Time"

THE Anchorage has always been popular in the spring as a place to dine. The water and the trees have a special appeal not to be found at any other place on the campus.

Three secluded rooms make it ideal, for committee or club gatherings, to which we give careful attention. A dance held at the Anchorage in the spring is always a success, because of the coolness and beauty of surroundings.

We are installing a fountain which will be finished this week and you'll enjoy eating dinner out on the board walk over looking the Mill Race.
