

Oregon Daily Emerald

University of Oregon, Eugene

RAY NASH, Editor

MILTON GEORGE, Manager

EDITORIAL BOARD

Robert Galloway, Managing Editor; Walter Coover, Associate Editor; Claudia Fletcher, Asst. Managing Editor; Richard H. Spring, Sports Editor; William Hasegerty, Telegraph Editor; Donald Johnston, Feature Editor; Arthur Schoeni, P. I. P. Editor; Margaret Long, Society Editor; Arden X. Pangborn, Literary Editor

News and Editor Phones, 655

BUSINESS STAFF

Larry Thielen, Associate Manager; Ed Bissell, Circulation Manager; Larry Street, Advertising Manager; Wilbur Shannon, Asst. Circulation Mgr.

The Oregon Daily Emerald, official publication of the Associated Students of the University of Oregon, Eugene, issued daily except Sunday and Monday during the college year. Member United Press Service. Member of Pacific Intercollegiate Press. Entered in the postoffice at Eugene, Oregon, as second-class matter. Subscription rates, $2.50 per year. Advertising rates upon application. Residence phone, editor, 721; manager, 2799. Business office phone, 1896.

Day Editor This Issue—William Schulze
Night Editor This Issue—L. H. Mitchell
Assistant Night Editors—Myron Griffin, Harold Bailey

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1927.

Giving a Name To the Dog

Our correspondent quotes: "Give a dog a bad name and hang it." Yes, but if the dog has no name, what then? In this instance the dog was far too valuable to be ignored, so we nicknamed him "Junior College."

In section II, page 6 of the committee on superior students and honor courses report, the organization of honors work is delegated to a council on honor students, a label duly plastered on where honors reforms were specifically intended, by the editorial in question. This led to the belief that the council on etc. was subsidiary to the committee on . . . Our error.

But the dog still lacks a name and we are heartily in accord with our correspondent in the conviction that "Junior College" is not only misleading but also—well, a little puppyish for a University dog.

Keep the Heap Off the Campus

President Clarence Cook Little refuses to be worried by the light enrollment of freshmen at the University of Michigan this year. When the roster of matriculants fell some 200 short of last year's mark, the "failure" was accusingly attributed to the university ban on student owned automobiles. But President Little is unperturbed; he comments, "If enrollment has decreased because of the automobile restriction, I am glad of it."

Glad the students are staying away from Michigan? It smacks of heresy; page the Greater Michigan committee! But those who remember Dr. Little's visit to Oregon last year will be impressed with his remark. They became acquainted with his intellectual as well as his physical stature.

It is true that the Michigan situation is an inexact analogue to Oregon. No doubt cars are a more legitimate asset where transportation otherwise is problematical. Regulation can be satisfactorily made for student owned cars here as it has at the University of Kansas, where day-parking on campus streets is prohibited and permits are required for campus automobiles.

But all this is beside the observation of President Little that, in general, student-car combinations are undesirable additions to the university, and that the loss of persons so blind to real opportunities as to be daunted by such a restriction is no crying matter.

Last year Oregon made an important gesture in discouraging campus car ownership. The house came back with reinforcements. Narrow streets are all but impassable during the day and nimbleness is the only security in crossing the Thirteenth street thoroughfare. And scholarship.

Communications

We Stand Corrected

To the Editor:

I wish to point out what seems a misapprehension of facts in your leading editorial of Saturday. More than a year ago two faculty committees were appointed: one to plan changes in the work of the upper division and one to plan changes for the lower division. It was the latter and NOT the former to which the name "Junior college" became (unfortunately, the committee itself believes) attached. All the academic changes so far formulated and made public have had reference to the upper division, and the plans take a form that has no name, but which the committee itself sometimes refers to loosely as an "honors school"—most certainly NOT a "Junior college."

As to the lower division committee, I happen to be a member of that also. While this has been advertised as the "Junior college" greatly handicapped, but the general welfare will be served; the time has come for regulation. If some get mad and go home with their toys—who'll cry?

Campus Activities; Help Wanted

To consult Webster as to the meaning of the word, one finds, among a mass of definitions that knowledge may mean: familiarity gained by actual experience; acquaintance with fact; scope of information; and the act or state of knowing.

With this information in mind, it becomes obvious that all knowledge is not to be obtained through the reading of books or listening to classroom lectures, but that such knowledge is to be had through other channels. To the student on the University campus, the most practical of these methods is that of taking an active interest in student activities.

Participation in campus activities gains knowledge for the student by bringing him into closer contact with older students and members of the faculty. He achieves "familiarity gained through actual experience," a thing not contained in textbooks. It enables him to vary his vicarious learning from a world of words with contacts with actualities. It is an opportunity—limited, of course, by the limits of the campus world—to make his "acquaintance with fact" a concrete one.

Student activities, however, cannot be expected to supplant the classroom with its lessons and lectures, but can be made a valuable supplement to it. Most university professors admit the value of activities indulged in with discretion. No one, they will say, should sacrifice time from his studies for the pursuit of the honors to be gained through taking part in activities. This is as it should be, for the immediate value of knowledge to be gained in this way does not bulk as large as that to be garnered from study.

He who decides to take part in extra-curricular activities does best to choose the one wherefrom he is likely to derive the greatest benefit. Teamwork and the spirit of fair play comes from participation in athletics. Students preparing for the legal profession find oratory and debate of value to them. Work on the university publications afford opportunities for many to develop their talent for writing. Many others find helpful experience as managers of athletic teams, debates, concert and lecture series, and in filling offices and committee appointments in student government.

The success of worthwhile student activities at Oregon is dependent upon the quality of those who are willing to do the work. But there must be a goodly quantity of aspirants for office and position if there is to be a choice of quality. The present leaders of Oregon activities will be vacating their places as the University year comes to a close. Now is the time when those who wish to succeed to office or position in later years must make themselves known.

committee, the members are aware that "Junior college" is a term that means a certain development in high schools and not in universities, one that may have some justification in California and a few thickly settled states, but which has, nevertheless, attracted the very unfavorable notice of some of the most respected educators in the country. At its last meeting the so-called "Junior college" committee deprecated the name by which it has up to this time been called, and discussed ways and means of proceeding with its work and obtaining valuable results without being identified with the so-called "Junior college movement," in which many of the members profoundly disbelieve. "Give a dog a bad name and hang it," but please try to avoid the term "Junior college" in referring to the work of either committee. I have submitted this letter to the chairman of the lower division committee, Professor Stafford, and he wishes me to add that he heartily concurs in the sentiments expressed.

Sincerely,
ERIC W. ALLEN.
Try Emerald Classified Ads.

THERE IS TALK NOW OF HOLDING OPEN HOUSE EVERY TERM INSTEAD OF ONCE A YEAR.

Just another reminder that the University has its enemies.

There's nothing insidious about dandruff. Cleaners don't hesitate about telling you to get your suit cleaned.

Gretchen thought Beowulf to Thomas Hardy was a forward pass that helped win Saturday's game.

CO-ED COUNCIL

Dear Aunt Seerah,
I have an awfully big pair of feet for a girl. Could you help me in any way?

Down-hearted,
Dear Down-hearted,
I am sorry to say I don't need any and I don't happen to know anybody who does.

Aunt Seerah—

Rush week is also over when the house president is lying if he asks for butter.

This picture, taken early Sunday morning, shows Peter Punchguzler who has been awarded the Open House Cup which is presented annually to the Oregon man finishing the rounds in the best condition. Peter was able to get home from the last house, finished with his original shoes on, had only seven corns and the right shoulder of his coat wasn't worn quite through. Punchguzler isn't Peter's real name but it is printed as an illustration of the evolution of a name during one evening of open house. His starting name was Smith.

OPEN HOUSE OPINIONS

The stude who was a travelling salesman all summer opines that all the Alpha Chi O house needed to make it look more natural was a desk and a couple of bell boys. The bozo that drove a milk truck was very much at home, making the rounds as a matter of course.

At least 79 1/2 pounds were cast to the breeze, and a certain little frosh from the Phi Psi domicile lost 13 1/2 pounds of that astounding total, judging from the furiousness with which he rushed the co-eds 'round and 'round.

The professor with the shiny blue serge suit says the University isn't going to the dogs as long as there are entering freshmen optimistic enough to wear cords to the frosh parade.

OPEN HOUSE HYMN

"Where he leads me I will follow."

As one little freshman girl remarked when asked how she enjoyed open house, "Fine and I hope there were comfortable davenport at all the houses for the Fiji boys to park on."

When asked the other day what the height of fashion was, Bob Galloway absent-mindedly replied, "About even with the knees."

Chi Psi (awakening after auto accident): "Where am I? Where am I?"
Nurse: "This is number 13."
Chi Psi: "Room or cell?"

PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES CAN'T TAKE A BATH.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT DURING OPEN HOUSE

The House Mother: These boys surely need a chaperone.
The House President: This is a swell bunch of fellows; hope they don't blow the whistle too soon.
The Visiting President: Damn it, it's time to blow the whistle; I sure hate to leave.

Sorority Sister: Gosh, can't this fellow dance on his own feet. That's surely a pretty necktie over there.
Frater: Swell looking bunch, also fine dancers, hope they're all as good as these.

All (after finish): Thank goodness, that's over!

SEVEN SEERS.

Pledging Announcement

Alpha Gamma Delta announces the pledging of Eva Davis, Leone Barlow and Carrie Sorenson of Portland.

Only 210 of the 500 students who applied for admission to Whitman college as freshmen were accepted.

Amphibian club meets tonight at 7:30.

Alpha Delta Sigma meets Thursday noon of this week at the Anchorage. Initial meeting of the year. Important.

The gymnasium class conducted by Mrs. Lettie Mowry will resume practice Tuesday evening, October 3, at 8 o'clock in the corrective room of the Woman's building. All house mothers, faculty wives and members of the University staff are invited to join.

Phi Chi Theta meet Wednesday noon at the Anchorage.

Houses planning to give a dance must schedule the affair at the dean of women's office at least a week in advance and petition to the student affairs committee to give the dance.

All piano students are invited to a party in the Music building, Wednesday, October 5, at 7:30. t-w 103 Deady hall, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, instead of in the Decorative Design room of the Art building.

Temenid meeting, Woman's room of Woman's building, Tuesday evening, 7:30. Very important.

Theta Sigma Phi meeting has been postponed until next Tuesday noon at the Anchorage, instead of today.

Homecoming

(Continued from page one) is now senior man on the executive council.

Don McCook, senior, Pendleton, served on the Greater Oregon committee, was business manager of Junior Vot-VII last year, is a varsity swimmer and is the president of the senior class.

Lester Johnson, junior, Portland, a letterman in baseball, had charge of the recent Frosh-sophomore mix. Jeannette Calkins is well known on the campus as alumni secretary and editor of Old Oregon.

The first meeting of the directorate will be held Thursday at 4 o'clock in room 105 Journalism.

Gridgraph

(Continued from page one)

resting:
O. A. C. vs. Stanford, at Portland, October 22.
Washington vs. Stanford, at Seattle, November 5.

Washington vs. California, at Berkeley, November 12.
California vs. Stanford, at Palo Alto, November 19.
Kappa Delta announces the pledging of Helen Brattain, of Cushman, Oregon.

Who swiped the Professor's Waterman's?

There's no reason why any student should—because he can buy a perfect Waterman's for the trifling amount of $2.75 and keep his conscience clear.

If you want a low-priced pen that is as perfect as even high-priced pens can be made, ask your supply dealer to show you a Waterman's No. 52.

It will write one word or one thousand words with unerring accuracy.

No. 52 $2.75 Waterman's

Less burning of the midnight oil!

HERE'S a good business proposition! Invest in a Remington Portable and reap dividends in the form of bigger and better rest at night.

Much faster than writing by hand, this little Remington enables you to finish your long reports or theses—not fall asleep trying to finish them. Not only that, but think how much more and more business-like they look when typewritten! Examine the Remington Portable. It is the smallest, lightest, most compact and most dependable portable with standard keyboard. (Carrying case only 4 inches high. Weighs 8 1/2 pounds, net.) Monthly payments. The Recognized Leader—in Sales and Popularity.

Remington Portable

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON CO-OPERATIVE STORE
LINN DRUG COMPANY, Willamette Street, Eugene, Ore.
COE STATIONERY COMPANY, 911 Willamette Street, Eugene, Oregon
OFFICE MACHINERY & SUPPLY COMPANY, 1047 Willamette Street, Eugene, Ore.
REMINGTON TYPEWRITER COMPANY, Division of Remington Rand, Inc., 72 E. 9th. Street, Eugene, Ore.

$200.00 in cash and 7 Parker Duofold Pens FREE to Amateur Ad-writers

Find the missing Factor! Write a Parker Pen Ad and Win a Prize!

[You do not have to own a pen to enter this contest]

First Prize . . . $100
Second Prize . . . 75
Third Prize . . . 25

Seven Equal Prizes (fourth to tenth)
Choice of Parker Duofold Junior Pen or Lady Duofold Pen

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST

1. Contestants must be duly registered students of a University, College, or High School. Only one entry permitted from each contestant.
2. Entries are to be mailed before October 25th, 1927, to—Contest Judges, The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin.
3. Judges will be: R. B. Henry, Mgr. Stationery and Book Dept., Carson Pirie Scott & Co., Chicago; H. B. Fairchild, Adv.
4. Prizes will be awarded to the ten having highest merit. In the event of a tie equal prizes will be awarded to both or all contestants tied.
5. All contributions submitted become the property of The Parker Pen Company, and no entries will be returned to the sender.

Improvements unknown until recently are introduced in the New Model Parker Duofold—Non-Breakable Barrel, and Pressureless Point by means of capillary flow, combined with gravity feed. We spent 35 years on 47 improvements—made 16,000,000 pens—own 32 Pen Patents besides 12 on Pencils and Desk Sets.

How would you advertise this pen? Give us your ideas. Write an ad and win a prize.

Seven well known advantages of the Parker Duofold are told here. The new one—announced April 1st—Factor number 8—is missing. If you find it—if you write an advertisement including it with the following seven—you may win as much as $100 cash or one of nine smaller prizes.

1. Pressureless Point—starts and writes at feather-weight touch—extra strong because of extra thick gold. But tempered so it yields to any hand yet never loses shape.
2. Non-Breakable Barrel—now made of Parker Permalite—28% lighter than rubber formerly used—hand sized, and perfectly balanced.
3. Instant Ink Flow—tip always moist. Capillary attraction combines with gravity to produce pressureless writing.
4. Over-Size Ink Capacity—writes longer on one filling.
5. Duo-Sleeve Cap—a positive safeguard against leakage when cap is kept on tight.
6. Press-Button Filler—concealed inside the barrel out of sight, out of harm's way.
7. Beauty Rivalling Colorful Jewels—lustrous Black-tipped barrels in Jade, Lapis Lazuli, Mandarin Yellow, or Lacquer-Red. Also plain Black and Gold.
8. The Missing Factor! . . . What is it?

Try Parker Duofold at your dealer's and ask him about the missing factor. You do not have to buy unless you can't resist. Either way—write an Ad and win a prize. Note conditions of contest.

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN

Note: This announcement will not appear again.