

Directorate Recommends Fixed Slogan

"Home to Honor Oregon" Selected to Eliminate Repetition

Will Not Do Away With Sign Contest

New Feature Is Planned For Rally Night

"Home to Honor Oregon," will be the permanent slogan for the yearly homecoming celebration if the recommendation voted Tuesday by the homecoming directorate is passed by the student council. This would do away with the yearly contest among students for the best slogan, but will not do away with the contest between houses for the best homecoming sign, the directorate decided.

Alphabetical Tail-Enders Deplores Unfair Discrimination in Seating

Brilliant Thoughts Dimmed by Passing Over Hundreds of Heads to Professor

Mr. Editor: May I beg the privilege of deploring through your communications column as ironclad taboo that is creating in our midst a discouraging situation for us alphabetical tail-enders?

Speaking of sanctified traditions that hang on by sheer inertia, what about the unfair discrimination that is constantly going on against the Smiths, the Thompsons, and the Williams, in favor of the Andersons and the Browns? Is our destiny and the destiny of our descendants forever and ever to be as inevitable and immutable as the destiny of our fathers and forefathers since time began? Must we always take the back seats and the last of everything just because the alphabet said ABC instead of AVT?

Oh, yes, we get to know each other, we miserable ones, and we exchange commiserating glances as we sink into our ignominious positions. And by the way, the chairs we get are often the lame, the halt, and the left-handed—you know, comes the professor with a large

Alpha Phi Freshman To Serve Punch at League Tea Today

At the regular Wednesday Woman's League tea today there will be a stronger beverage than the usual tea. There will be punch, and plenty of it, announced Glenna Heacock who is in charge of the weekly teas.

Freshmen from the various houses of the campus will do the serving from week to week—a different sorority to be represented each time. Alpha Phi freshman will serve this afternoon.

The tea will be held on the sun-porch of the Woman's building, and music will be furnished for dancing in the adjoining room. All women of the campus are asked to be present, and those in charge especially urge the attendance of freshmen girls.

Twenty-two To Make Final Try For Girls' Glee

Twelve New Members Make Up Personnel Of Men's Club

Twenty two of the 65 girls who entered the glee club tryouts have passed the second test. This evening at 7:30 they will be called upon to prove their sight reading ability.

It is imperative that all the old members who intend to sing in the club this year should be present at the final tryout Wednesday," said Eugene Carr, director. "We do not have a large group left after the quality and interpretation tests from which to choose our personnel, but old members who wish to stand an equal chance with those who enter the finals must be present."

The girls who succeeded in the second tryout are: Betty Cheney, Ruth Pettit, Florence Elliott, Cecil Coss, Kathryn Miller, Alice Edwards, Esther Saager, Pauline Guthrey, Nancy Thielson, Lucille Edwards, Katherine Blood, Irene Moore, Marjorie Clark, Maldon Horton, Violet Grek, Helen Peters, Helen Bell, Juanita Wolff, Stella Fishburn, Grace Griggs, Josephine Albert and Lucille Burton.

Twelve new members have been added to this year's personnel of the Men's Glee club, according to the results of the final tryout. The first tenor section consists of Richard Adam, Ernest McKinney, George Signor, Tom Powers, Kenneth Allen and Clement Shafer as alternate; the second tenor of Ronald Kretzer, Harold Socolofsky, Cecil Matson, Burns McGowan, Jack Dennis, John Anderson alternate; the baritone of Vincent Hill, Donald Ostrander, John Mohr Walter Durgan, Fred West, Ed Cheney alternate; the bass of Edward Fisher, Marion Sexton, Orris Page, Rolf Wolfgang, Curtis Wright, Allen Williams alternate. The bass section is made up entirely of new members. Kenneth Allen, Burns McGowan, Jack Dennis and John Anderson are the new tenors and Fred West and Ed Cheney the new baritone.

Miss Elder Starts Trip Across Ocean

"American Girl" Headed For Paris on Long Atlantic Flight

Capt. Haldeman Will Accompany Aviatrix

Take-off from Roosevelt Field Held Perfect

(By United Press) New York, Oct. 11.—Somewhere out over the Atlantic Ocean tonight Ruth Elder, the flying flapper, was assumed to be hurtling through space at 100 miles an hour toward Paris and the glory of being the first woman to span the Atlantic by air.

With a Coney Island doll under her arm and a smile of confidence on her pretty lips, the 23-year-old beauty contest winner began this hazardous flight from Roosevelt field at 5:04 p. m.

Barring accidents such as have brought death to no less than 22 of her predecessors, Miss Elder at midnight would have covered more than 700 miles of the perilous 4000-mile flight.

Late into the night land and ship radios were flashing out the "American girls" call letters W. P. A. G., in hope of picking up news of her progress.

Neat Take-Off Made

Although the plane's radio has a sending radius of only 25 miles, its receiving instruments are capable of picking messages from stations thousands of miles away.

The plane made a neat take-off from Roosevelt field nosing into the southeast wind from the western end of the runway at 5:03 p. m. ran 2800 feet and then lifted smoothly.

Mrs. Virginia Haldeman was there to bid her husband good bye. Lyle Womack, Miss Elder's husband, was in Balboa, C. Z. The girl said she had heard from Lyle and had his best wishes. In reply, she had written him a cablegram, she added, and she showed the reporters a message addressed to him but wouldn't let anyone read it.

Both Occupants Young

The girl had with her a Bible sent by her mother, Mrs. Joe Elder of Anniston, Ala. Her mother has given her approval to the flight, Ruth said.

Miss Elder is 23 and Haldeman 29. It was an adventure for youth that stirred those gathered at the field as they watched the orange colored craft speed away to dare impossible obstacles.

It was a perfect take-off. The plane began to move, slowly at first.

It gathered speed with every revolution and finally reached the enclosure, it shot aloft, clearing lines of motorcars in which were cheering hundreds by some fifty feet.

Flies Remain Low

The plane remained at a low altitude, sped over a golf links in the east of the field and soon passed out of sight in the company of two planes bearing moving picture photographers.

The American Girl was heading for the trip off Long Island where it intended to pass out to sea. Miss Elder is the first woman to attempt to be a co-pilot on the trans-oceanic flight.

Lecturer Taken Ill; Not to Appear Tonight

Mr. Edward Berwick, well-known lecturer and publisher, who was scheduled to speak here tonight before a meeting of the International Relations Club, was suddenly taken ill enroute here, and was forced to return to his home. Consequently he will not appear tonight, as previously announced.

Mr. Berwick was to deliver the first of a series of lectures to be presented by the club, this term.

Chorus Tryout Result Given Out Tomorrow

Results of try-outs for the Five-o'clock Chorus will be announced tomorrow, Glenna Heacock, leader of the chorus, declared. About fifteen girls will be selected.

"There have been some very fine voices and a great deal of enthusiasm," said Miss Heacock. "If there are any more girls who are interested and have not been able to see me, they can make arrangements for a try-out by calling Miss Dorothy Thomas, Y. W. secretary, at the Bungalow."

'We Want Beer' Vote Of Labor Convention Now at Los Angeles

(By United Press) Los Angeles, Oct. 11.—Thunderous approval of a resolution favoring amendment of the Volstead act and heated debate culminating in demands for legislation limiting the injunction powers of courts of equity, marked the 47th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor here today.

Action on the "light wines and beer" platform was but a reiteration of the federation policy for a number of years. When the question of the two and seventy-five hundred per cent liquor was put to a vote there were but few dissenting votes.

Representatives From 18 Houses Entered League

Intramural Meeting Held; Donut Sports to Start At Early Date

Representatives from 18 of the 22 campus organizations met in the office of the men's gymnasium yesterday afternoon and decided on rules and regulations to govern the intramural league, and the entry blanks, which were sent to all living organizations, were filled out and handed to the secretary at this time.

The Judge Landis of donut sports urges all organizations, which did not have a representative at the meeting, and which intend to enter in the fall events, to send a man to enter for them immediately. When the drawings are made it will be impossible to break into the schedule.

Basketball, which starts October 19, will be played in both the men's gymnasium and McArthur Court. The form of tournament will be decided by Coach Reinhart according to the number of teams entered. Handball will be a straight elimination tournament, matches being two out of three. Water polo, says coach Abercrombie, will be a round robin tournament. Rules for this game were handed out and should be studied carefully.

A new sport in intramural ranks which will be introduced this fall by Bill Hayward, track coach, is indoor track. Complete plans for this event have not been made as yet and will be announced as soon as possible. Entries will be made at that time.

O. A. C. Debate Trip Plans Nearly Finished

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oct. 11.—Plans for the O. A. C. transcontinental debate trip this winter are nearly completed and travel for this year will cover from 15,000 to 18,000 miles. The debaters will meet 15 of the largest Pacific coast, middle west and eastern colleges and universities.

Big Brother Men's Group To Aid Frosh

Harold Socolofsky Heads New Committee on Oregon Campus

Personal Contact Key To Problem Solutions

Directorate to Be Named Early this Week

A men's advisory committee, with Harold Socolofsky as general chairman, is the latest step of the A. S. U. O. toward greater friendliness between freshmen and upperclassmen and the instruction of first year students in the ways of Oregon.

The purposes of the freshmen advisory plan, in the words of Donald Bealar, student body president, are: "To establish personal contact with every freshman, with the view in mind of helping him in any of his problems and instructing him in Oregon traditions and the honor system; to uncover material in the freshman class which would not otherwise have the opportunity of being known; to teach fair play and Oregon sportsmanship."

With these ideas in mind the directorate, which will be appointed by Socolofsky some time this week, will immediately begin the work of organization and completion of plans which are yet vague.

Socolofsky Well Fitted

Harold Socolofsky, who was selected by Bealar to head this work, is felt by the student body president to be particularly well fitted to carry out the plans because of his position this summer as chairman of the Greater Oregon committee.

"With the contacts he has formed in this position with freshmen entering the University, his further work in this direction will be more effective and successful."

Elmer L. Shirrell, dean of men, will be an honorary member of the committee, and will assist in the work of organization. The men's advisory committee here will work along the same lines and keep in touch with a similar organization at the University of California.

Dean Shirrell expressed enthusiasm for the plan. "I have seen the same thing work before," said the dean. "It typifies the right sort of attitude of the older student towards the younger."

Directorate May Number 10

A directorate of about ten will be appointed, according to plans now in the minds of Bealar and Socolofsky. The general chairman will have two assistants, one in charge of all general work with freshmen in fraternities, and one who will have the same supervision over freshmen outside of houses.

One upperclassman in each fraternity will be appointed by the general chairman, and he will be held accountable to that report for the freshmen in that particular house. Independents will be assigned in groups of five to upperclassmen.

The men's advisory committee will work throughout the entire year. During Junior week-end it will dissolve, and at that time the succeeding general chairman will be appointed by the student body president, acting upon the advice of the directorate. According to the outline of the plan already in mind, the succeeding general chairman will probably be the more efficient of the two assistants.

Miss Gertrude Talbot Is Visiting on Campus

Miss Gertrude Talbot, former head resident of Hendricks hall, is visiting on the Oregon campus this week. Miss Talbot has just returned from Florence, Italy, where she has been assisting Mrs. Lucy Randberg in her girls' school there.

Miss Talbot is staying with friends on the campus during her visit here.

Phi Theta Upsilon Has First Business Meet

Phi Theta Upsilon, local women's junior-senior service honorary, held its first business meeting of the year Sunday afternoon at 5:30 in the Woman's Building.

Hall Urges Support For Oregon Team In Game Saturday

By ARNOLD BENNETT HALL I AM HOPING THAT A LARGE number of our students may find it possible and convenient to go to Portland Saturday to give courage and support to our battling gridiron warriors. The team is certainly entitled to it. Moreover, I am always glad to have a large representation of our splendid student body on such occasions in order that the public may get a better idea of the type of men and women who are getting their education here. As I have repeatedly said, the University is judged largely by the students who attend. I hope everybody who goes to Portland will go with a sense of responsibility for the University's splendid reputation. Two or three careless students, by ungentlemanly conduct, may temporarily bring the whole student body into disrepute. I hope that all of the rooters who go will go with the same determination which our team has—to give the best they have for the University.

Oregana Space Must Be Listed By October 29

Portrait Work to Be Done By Kennell-Ellis Studio Again

To assure distribution of the 1928 Oregana during Junior Week-end the editorial and business staff of the yearbook have announced that space reservations in the book must be made by living organizations and honorary groups before October 29. Sam Kinley, manager of the book, requests presidents of the various groups to prepare accurate lists of members to be given to the Oregana representative at the time the space is reserved.

"The Kennell-Ellis Studio, which is located next to the Rex Theatre, is again handling the portrait work. There will be a representative in every organization to handle the time schedules for the individual photographs of the members," said Mr. Kinley in a letter which has been sent to the heads of the campus groups.

"It will be our policy to avoid as many mistakes as possible in the 1928 yearbook. Toward this end we hope to enlist the cooperation of every house president in checking the proof of the organization pages before they are set up in final form," the letter continued.

Earl Olson is the editorial and business head of the honoraries, and Ronald Hubbs is organizing the circulation. The price, $5, is the same as in previous years.

Reservation money and membership lists should be turned in at the Oregana office in the Journalism building or to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager.

O. A. C. Local Honorary To Seek Mortar Board

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oct. 11.—Cap and Gown, local senior women's honorary, is making definite investigation toward petitioning Mortar Board, national senior honorary for women.

As soon as the special arrives in Portland the crowd will disperse at will. Those who feel the spirit strong enough, however, will be welcome to remain with the band, which will form parade and march in playful unison to the Imperial hotel.

From 10 to 10:30 the rally commences.

Experiences in South Africa Told By Professor in Bible University

Home and Burial Place of Cecil Rhodes in Capetown Is Visited by Knott

Two years ago found H. E. Knott, professor of philosophy and homiletics of the Eugene Bible university, in South Africa slating buildings and managing the advertising for Jesse R. Kellems, who had completed plans for a special series of meetings in the coast regions.

Cecil Rhodes' home and burial place, according to Professor Knott, are in Capetown, a coast town under the control of the British government.

"One of the most interesting things in my visit to South Africa," said Professor Knott, "was the study of the life of Cecil Rhodes, who annexed a large part of South Africa, afterwards called Rhodesia in his honor. Through his influence, the territory came under British control, and the Cecil Rhodes school funds were earned in the diamond mines of South Africa. He used to take inspiration from nature, while he sat on the top of a mountain overlooking his estate and all of the surrounding country."

Mount Kimberley, a few hundred miles from Capetown, supplies the world with 80 per cent of the dia-

Large Crowd Expected to Attend Game

Broadway to Be Mecca Of Oregon Students Friday Night

Stars of Junior Vod-vil To Appear at Follies

Train for Game Leaves Friday at 4 P. M.

Predictions are rife as to the number of students and townspeople who will attend the California-Oregon game on Multnomah field in Portland, Saturday, October 15. However, if the present prospects continue unimpaired there will be as large an audience from Eugene as ever was known to take the time to attend a Portland game.

The very tense situation as to the outcome of the game allows grounds for speculation, argumentation, and betting to an extraordinary degree for football fans, especially after the closeness of the first game of the season with Idaho. Also, California came through with an unexpected victory in the St. Mary's game. All this will create such a curiosity to know and see the decisive battle in details that many people are buying tickets to Portland and many more will sojourn in automobiles, afoot, and in boxcars or any possible means that will not call for the very low sum of $3.80 which is necessary for a round trip ticket.

Rally Committee Plans

The rally committee met last evening at the College Side Inn and in optimistic and well-planned discussion outlined the program for procedure from the time the cars leave the campus until they return Sunday evening. Hard work, perseverance, and managerial ability are the primary requisites for members of a rally program such as will be followed in Saturday's game, and many minor details have to be thrashed out. However, the committee feels confident that everything was fully outlined in their discussion.

A special train will leave the campus in front of Villard hall at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, arriving in Portland shortly after 7. The capacity of the cars scheduled is 750 passengers. The band will occupy the front car of the train, and there will be an official rally coach, the band instruments being placed in the baggage car.

As soon as the special arrives in Portland the crowd will disperse at will. Those who feel the spirit strong enough, however, will be welcome to remain with the band, which will form parade and march in playful unison to the Imperial hotel.

From 10 to 10:30 the rally commences.
