Webfooters and Bears Battle in Portland For Grid Honors

Vandal Team Leaves String of Injuries

Two more practice sessions remain before the Webfooters trek to Portland for the game with the Golden Bears on Saturday. Oregon's work against the Vandals, and California's wholly unexpected victory over St. Mary's has put the necessary edge on the fray that should make it one of the most interesting tilts in the conference this year.

Coach McEwan is continuing his policy of fast light drills, taking no unwarranted chances of crippling his team with injuries. The hard hitting Vandals left a multitude of marks that are keeping Trainer Fletcher working overtime conditioning the men for Saturday's battle.

Vandals Take Toll

Bobbie Robinson, the shifty speed boy of the Webfoot backfield combination, is temporarily on the side lines with a cracked wrist-bone. He is wearing a plaster cast, but it is expected that he will be able to go in against the Bears. The injury is to his left wrist, which won't slow up his effectiveness as a passer. Chuck Williams, who wrenched his hip during the last quarter of play, is back in uniform after spending two days in the infirmary. He is taking things easy and working the stiffness out of his leg by degrees. Harry Wood is wearing a bandage on his left elbow, but the injury is slight and has not kept him from practice.

The Webfoots will be opposite a team more nearly their own weight in the next game. The rapid development of the supposedly weak Oregon line into one that actually outplayed the Idahoians was the most noticeable point of the game. What they will do with the California line is not causing the same consternation that was evident at the first of the year.

Oregon Linemen Improve

The positions on which revolves the success of the Oregon attack are the guards. Not only must the guards open holes and spill enemy plays, but also run interference and protect the passer of the offense. Wood, Weems, and Keeney, although outweighed by many pounds, outcharged and outfought their Vandal opponents throughout the battle. Hodgen and Stadelman were the bright spots in the Oregon defense. Stadelman was in on every play, and is expected to be a big cog in the Webfoot machine on Saturday.

The Oregonians are again working to develop a potential passing attack to spring against Nibs Price's team. Riggs, Pope, and Handley are fighting for first string honors opposite Wetzel. Pope's excellent work against Idaho has put him in front. Neither Riggs or Pope lack in spirit, and they have coupled this with speed and ability to snag passes. Handley is considered by McEwan to be a great find, but he is lacking in experience.

mittie will foster a broadcasting program over KGW, the Oregonian station. This will include many features such as rally talks, advertising, and novelty "blues" program. Many campus discoveries in musical and speaking talent will appear on the radio program. Among them will be Ken Allen, a freshman lyric tenor; Fred West and Howard Wall, banjo players, and Madge Normite, who heads the "blues" program, will sing.

As a part of the famous Fall Follies the feature picture, "Drop Kick," will be presented at the Broadway theatre at 11:30 Friday night. Prominent University officials and alumni will make brief speeches during the showing of the Follies.

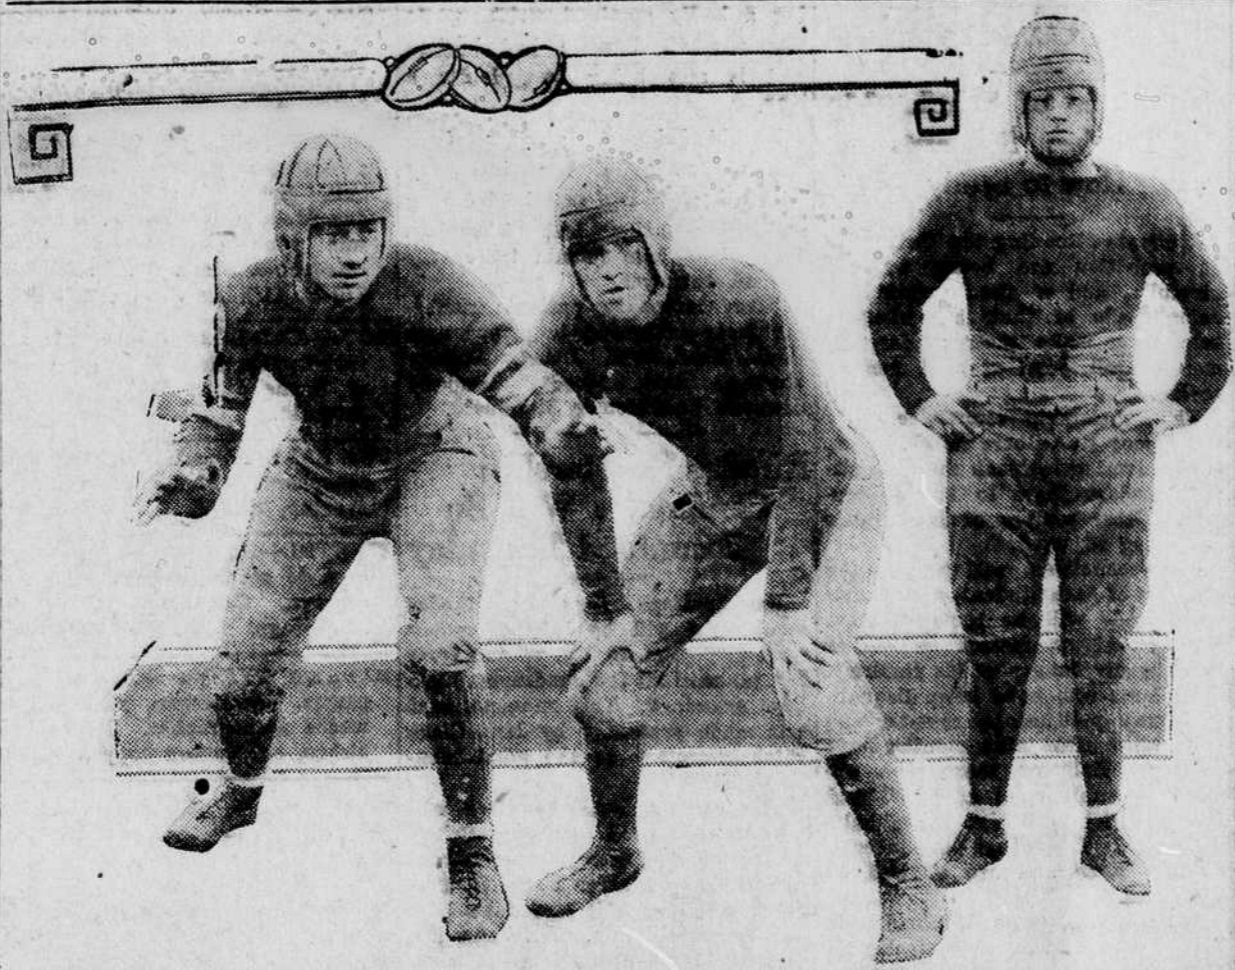

Pony Chorus to Re-appear

There will be many features to the show, all of which are expected to arouse a great deal of interest. George McMurphy and his College Knights, one of the outstanding bands of the Pacific coast, will present a program during this time. Specialty numbers arranged by Billy O'Bryant will be offered during the Friday night show which will feature many of the stars made famous in last year's Junior Vodvil. The well known Pony Chorus will also appear to renew those old friendships made last year. The University Glee club, trio and quartet, will also appear on the 40 minutes of promised entertainment.

The seating capacity of the Broadway theatre is about 2000 and it is expected to be quite full. After the show on Friday night the festivities will be over.

At 12 o'clock Saturday the band and the bunch will meet at the Imperial hotel and will serpentine down Broadway to the field. The stadium will be closed until everybody arrives, so it is urged that the

Dr. T. T. Lew Will Be Campus Guest and Assembly Speaker

Dr. T. T. Lew, celebrated Chinese educator from Yenching University, Pekin, will be on the University of Oregon campus during the week, October 20 to 26. Dr. Lew will speak at the general assembly Thursday, October 20, and will give lectures and conduct meetings during the remainder of the week. A committee has been appointed to entertain Dr. Lew, and arrange dates for special group meetings during his stay here. Following is the committee: Dean H. D. Sheldon, chairman; Mrs. Gertrude B. Warner, George Godfrey, W. P. Maddox, Dr. Warren D. Smith and Dean George Rebec.

Dr. Lew is a prominent man in educational circles; and is the author of several books dealing with Chinese education and psychology. He was scheduled to lecture at the University of Oregon last year, but because of ill health was unable to fill his dates here.

students try to be punctual. In the stunt section of the field no one will be admitted except those wearing the reversible rooster's lid. Extensive plans have been made by Yell King Bob Warner and assistants, and glee club leaders, for thorough entertainment during spare moments between exciting plays. It is a big task to entertain so many people and to do so the yell leaders need assistance. Bob Warner again urges that all rosters wear the reversible lid which has been adopted.

Tickets on Sale for Follies

John Cusick heads the ticket sale for the Follies show. Independent students can secure their ticket by seeing Cusick or buying at the stands, and there will be 25 tickets left at each house for sale to house members. They sell for 75 cents on the campus and will cost $1 in Portland. A student may get as many as he wishes at 75 cents on the campus.

Launches will be served on the trip to Portland by train officials for those who desire them. The special will leave the Union depot promptly at 6:30 in the evening, stopping again in front of Villard hall for the students to unload.

Co-op Handles Tickets For Game in Portland

Tickets for the Oregon-California football game are on sale at the Co-op, according to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager. A temporary student body ticket and $1 will give the student the desired ticket for Saturday's conflict.

Organizations Asked To Schedule Meetings

Any organization planning to hold meetings or give teas in the Woman's building should schedule the affair in advance with Mrs. Wilson, hostess of the Woman's building.

There have already been several conflicts in dates and these will be avoided if students call Mrs. Wilson and list their dates with her.

Blind man's buff

Remember the game? A handkerchief over your eyes . . . your hands searching for someone, feeling blindly over features your eyes could so easily know. It seems foolish—deliberately to blindfold yourself and go searching. You wouldn't blindfold yourself deliberately when you start out in search of purchases that help make life a game.

If you read advertisements first, you are spared the doubts and mistakes. Advertisements take the handkerchief off your eyes. They equip you with keen vision. They lead you direct to the shaving cream that will give most freshness to your skin, to the most tempting clothes, to the sparkling drinks most pleasing. They put in your hands familiar good things guaranteed to please.

You can't afford to buy under a blind man's buff. Read the advertisements to avoid the blindness—and the buff. Don't overlook these today.

Advertisements help you find the best there is to find and know it when you find it.
