

Emerald Staff Appointed by Bob Galloway

Claudia Fletcher Named Assistant Managing Editor of Paper

Schoeni Chosen as Telegraph Editor Ability and Willingness Win Positions

Emerald staff appointments for the fall term have been made by Robert Galloway, managing editor of the paper.

"The appointments were made after a month's tryout and those chosen show the best ability and are the most conscientious workers available," Galloway said in reference to his selections.

Claudia Fletcher, senior honor student in journalism, has been named assistant managing editor. Miss Fletcher has worked on the Emerald for three years, having been a member of the news staff and also a day editor.

Schoeni U. P. Editor

Arthur Schoeni will be telegraph editor and will be in charge of the United Press news service that the Emerald inaugurated this year. He has had experience on a Medford daily paper in the same capacity. William Haggerty, a former day editor, will have charge of the Pacific Intercollegiate Press news service.

Ardin N. Pangborn, campus correspondent for the Oregonian, will fill the position of literary editor. Margaret Long, junior, a member of the news staff for two years, has been named society editor and editor of "Campus Chat." She will be assisted by Margaret Tucker.

Johnston Head Seer Donald Johnston has been named feature editor. He will be Chief Seer and will have charge of all feature material. Johnston has been a seer for two years and has had experience that well fits him for the position.

Richard H. Syring, a senior in journalism, and member of the Emerald staff in the sports department for the last four years, is this year sports editor and has charge of the sports staff. Syring and Johnston were appointed to the staff last spring by Ray Nash, editor.

Six day editors have been appointed this year. Although the Emerald is published only five days a week six were appointed in order that the day editors might have a "day off" once in a while to study, says Galloway. Day editors chosen are: William Schulze, Herbert Lundy, and Frances Cherry, seniors; and Dorothy Baker, Mary McLean and Marian Sten, Juniors.

The upper news staff will consist of Amos Burg, Miriam Shepard, Ruth Hansen and LaWanda Fenlason. Those who will write features are: Flossie Radabaugh, Florence Hurley, Edna May Sorber, John Butler and Clarence Crow. The members of these two divisions of the staff are experienced writers and are chosen to write special articles, cover special news events, and some of those on the feature staff are Seers.

Sports Staff Chosen Joe Pigney, Harry Dutton, Chalmers Nooe, Glenn Godfrey, and Chandler Brown have been given berths on the sports staff by Syring, sports editor.

Lynn J. Wykoff, junior and a member of the staff for one year as night editor and one year on the news staff, is "head man" among the night editors. He has named J. E. Caldwell, Robert Johnson, Floyd Horn, L. H. Mitchellmore and Ralph David night editors. Assistants chosen.

Butte Ride Postponed; Too Few Sign for It

The faculty horseback ride around Spencer Butte, which was scheduled for today, has been indefinitely postponed. This was due to the fact that too few signed up, probably because of the rainy weather, to make the affair worthwhile. Although no other plans have been made, the ride will probably take place sometime in the spring.

Gridgraph Ready To Flash Progress Of Palo Alto Game

Today, at 3:00 p. m., the Order of the "O" gridgraph, under the direction of Ed Crowley, will begin to flash the activities of the Lemon-Yellow varsity in their battle with the red-shirted Stanford warriors in the big bowl at Palo Alto.

The sportsworld outside Eugene gives the Webfoots little chance for victory, but on the campus, followers of the fortunes of Oregon football are looking more and more for a big upset wherein "Pop" Warner and his flashy gladiators may take the count.

The freshman game will start promptly at one o'clock to be over by the time the reports begin to come in from the south. Today is a great football day for the University of Oregon with the varsity playing the famous Cardinals in California and the Webfoot infants meeting the Husky yearlings from the University of Washington in their biggest and only conference tilt on the home field.

The Order of the "O" reminds students that the gridgraph is not a date, that there will be hot synecopation on tap, furnished by George McMurphy's Kollege Knights, and that the admission price is 25 cents.

Two Weeks Play Makes Dent in Donut Schedule

Linstrom, Zebra Forward, Still High Point Man With 36 Counts

Intramural basketball has filled past the reviewing stand for the last two weeks and has found favor in the eyes of the students. All of the leagues, A, B, C and D, have seen plenty of action; every team has been on the firing line, with the exception of Chi Psi, who drew a bye in the first playoff.

The Zebras still have the high point man in their midst, Linstrom, who, in two games, has made 36 counts, 18 each game. Policar, Sphinx forward, made 18 in his encounter with Psi Kappa, but heaved only enough baskets to make nine points his first game.

Alpha Beta Chi has rung up more counts in 30 minutes of scrapping than any other team as yet. They looped the ball 17 times for 34 points against Alpha Upsilon.

In league A there have been no upsets. Kappa Sigma and the Zebras seem to have everything sewed up. They do not meet until the last game in that league. In league B there have been some surprises. Sigma Alpha Epsilon wiped out Phi Delta Theta, last year's champs, 20-8. Alpha Tau Omega went down to defeat at the hands of Friendly Hall.

Leagues C and D have not played enough yet to be able to do any surmising about them. Both leagues seem to be filled with quintets that have more fight than skill. Every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday there are sure to be battles, real scraps, in progress, both at the men's gymnasium and McArthur Court.

Roumania Fears Civil Uprisings Throughout Land

Martial Law Declared; Mutiny Seems to Be Threatening

(By United Press) VIENNA, Oct. 28.—Information received through diplomatic channels today said martial law had been declared throughout Roumania and that a part of the army, suspected of disloyalty, had been disbanded and confined to barracks.

Martial law, or a state of siege, had existed for several months in portions of Roumania, including the Bucharest area and the government had hoped to weather the crisis caused by Prince Carol's throne ambitions without extending it.

Mutiny was imminent in several garrisons, the information said. A report received here, unconfirmed, from Budapest, said several anti-government Roumanian leaders had arrived at Subotica, Jugo Slavia, by airplane from Roumania.

After refueling their plane, it was added, they continued in a north-westerly direction.

Girls in Freshman Commission Make Homecoming Flags

The freshman commission of the Y. W. C. A. met Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. Bungalow. It was reported that 2,000 Homecoming pennants had been made by the freshman girls, and Jessie Winchell, chairman of the program committee, asked that all fresh come over to the Bungalow in their spare time and help make the remaining four thousand.

Short talks were given by Gwendolyn Shepard, Mildred Wharton, June Goodale, and Elizabeth Gesler, and a discussion was held on the importance of the freshman commission on the campus.

Reports were made by the committee chairmen: Oneita Jantzen, pennant committee; Dorothy Robnett, social committee; Eva Davis, activities; Hope Perry, publicity, and Lorena Wilson, rooms.

Josephine Albert gave a vocal solo. The next meeting will be held at the Bungalow Thursday, November 3.

Next Wednesday Set For Orchestras Tryouts

Final tryouts for Orchestras, honorary dancing organization, will be held Wednesday evening at seven o'clock in the dancing room of the Woman's building, Beatrice Mason, president of the organization, announced.

Selection for membership will be based purely on a point system, she said. There are 280 possible points, out of which 200 must be scored before a girl can be pledged. If 150 points are made 50 of them can be used for pointed toward a W. A. A. sweater.

Campus Chest Idea 'Godsend,' Say Two Prominent Students

"Sure, I'm in favor of the campus chest idea. So many solicitors have been around and so many of them stay to meals that the resulting reductions in house bills alone would pay for the organizations' shares in the fund," says Don Johnston, Seers Secer. This idea ought to appeal to house managers and to those who have to go without dessert in order to take care of the last minute guest.

Then there's the space wasted in the Emerald in listing appointees for different drives. It takes approximately a 250-word space every time house representatives are listed in the paper. Now that's probably the reason somebody didn't get his name in the paper as being at Mrs. Smith's tea or Maggie Merton's garden party. The space was needed for these drive promoters.

So! Anyone who wants to be sure to break into print and be known on the campus will stand a lot better show if he helps make the campus chest a success by subscribing. Thus he will be able to eliminate some uninteresting reading and conserve space for important stories.

"You bet your life I'm in favor of the campus chest," says Milton George, manager of the Oregon Daily Emerald. "Thank goodness, they're through with these dinky, little drives. I got sick and tired of them last year, every few days some one was around asking for money. I'm so much in favor of it, that I'm going to give $2." Milton confided that he didn't have the $2 right now, but he's got the right idea, a few more days in which to save his pennies, a campus chest to give them to and a student body to benefit.

Cosmopolitans Add New Members; Invite O.A.C. Group to Party

Twenty-one students were initiated as new members by the Cosmopolitan club Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. hut.

Each of the new members was called upon by W. T. Balsiged, president, and was asked to give his nationality, his major in college, and to tell what he intended to do after he had finished college.

The club decided to extend an invitation to the Cosmopolitan club of O. A. C. for a reception and dinner after the game between the University of Oregon and O. A. C. on November 11. The reception will be held at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow.

The following are the new members: Evelyn Warnke; Mozelle Hair; Bernice Raso; Mildred Baker; Alson Bristol; David Devaputra; Constance Weinman; Dorothea Lensch; Louise Lewis; Samuel Whong; Ethelyn Blossom; Violet Grek; Grace Fleming; Ruth Jackson; Enrique Navarroso; Moses Aring; N. Costoso; Luis Puntanilla; Marion Villanue; Benny Santiago; Ella Carriek.

W. S. C. To Have Animated Kitten For College Idol

Live Cougar to Replace Stuffed, Peppless One At Homecoming

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, Oct. 28.—No longer will students and supporters of Cougar athletic teams be forced to gaze upon a stuffed mascot of the institution. The Cougars are to have a real, live, cougar to fire gridiron warriors to greater accomplishments. On behalf of the state of Washington, Governor Hartley will present the animal to the college at the homecoming football classic between Washington State and the University of Idaho at Pullman, November 11.

Announcement of the intended gift came to Earl V. Foster, graduate manager, from Erle J. Barnes, director of department of agriculture of the state of Washington. The animal, which is only about a year old but which is said to measure eight feet from tip to tip, was ensnared by State Hunter Carl Johnson and two assistants in the Suez river region, 85 miles west of Port Angeles. The big cat was reported to killing cattle and sheep and terrorizing the countryside before its capture.

As a feature of the homecoming program, Governor Hartley will make the presentation between halves of the football game. The new mascot will be turned over to the Cougar Guard chapter of Intercollegiate Knights for safe keeping, and will be cared for by the Knights under the supervision of the veterinary department.

Students on the campus are elated over the prospects of having a live mascot and are looking forward to the gift with great eagerness. Never before in the history of the institution has a live Cougar acted as mascot. A fine animal mounted on a small platform has been toted out to all athletic games and sport rallies but it never seemed to excite the students' spirit as a live one might. In the past several attempts have been made to get a live cougar for the state college and promises of such a gift have been made from time to time but they never materialized.

Men to Start Practice In Small Bore Shooting

Members of the R. O. T. C. who are interested in small bore shooting and in forming a team to represent the unit are requested to assemble at the barracks at 3 p. m. Monday, October 31. There will be a second meeting at 11 a. m. Tuesday, November 1, for those who cannot attend the first meeting.

At these meetings an hour will be set for preparatory exercises, such as sighting, aiming, triangulation, position exercise, and trigger squeeze. All men must take these exercises before firing on the range. When firing starts the range will be open at certain hours each day, and a competent coach will be present. Safety rules will be published later.

Excuses Made by Men For Superior Grade Standard of Women

A paper, "Grades of Related Students," written by R. R. Huestis, associate professor of biology, and T. P. Otto, graduate of the zoology department in 1927, was published in the Journal of Heredity, May, 1927.

Of special interest was a paragraph in this paper concerning the grade rating of men and women.

"A comparison of the means of the grade indexes exhibits the customary situation; the women grade higher than the men. This is explained by the men, as being due to the greater docility and obedience of the human female, her ability in rote memorization, her shrewd choice of subjects which will not prove to be a menace to her scholastic prestige, and the disinclination of male instructors to believe that women students are as stupid as their answers to questions suggest. Nevertheless, the fact of superior standing remains, and the woman student has her own explanation for it."

Campus Houses To Start Contest For Bristow Cup

Prize Will Be Given for Best Homecoming Sign Shown

By C. G. Yes, there will be a contest, as usual, for the possession of the Bristow rotating cup which goes to the house or group each year that designs and exhibits, in some conspicuous place, the best planned and most appealing Homecoming welcome sign. The cup of honor is now held from last year's victory by Friendly Hall.

The Homecoming directorate has recommended to the student council that the old slogan, "Home to Honor Oregon," sufficiently expresses the situation and that it be permanently adopted. Such being the case the contest will probably center around the old slogan which was last year written by Dean James H. Gilbert. Opinion has it that "Home to Honor Oregon" cannot be improved on for the best means of conveying the proper idea to alumni and former students.

However, the sign contest will rage on, as usual. There is always a great congestion at the very last minute in making the signs. George Hill, chairman of the directorate, urges that all the houses and groups have the signs up by Wednesday of Homecoming week. The alumni convention will be held on Thursday and the signs should be fully prepared to greet the alums to the campus.

Each house is supposed to have a sign. Anything pertaining to Homecoming can be used and any means of attraction can be employed, such as electric lighting, if the group so desires. However, there is no need to make them expensive if care is used in design and attractiveness. The name of the winning house is engraved each year on the cup and it is considered quite an honorable accomplishment to win.

George Hill further said, "We want all the cooperation of the houses on these signs. There is no need to make any large outlays of money on them but make them as attractive as possible." He dismissed himself by saying, "Yours for success, gang. Go to it. Get in the battle early."

Hermian Club Takes In Six New Members

Formal pledging for girls recently elected to Hermian club was held Friday afternoon at the Woman's building. The meeting was presided over by Evelyn Anderson, president of the organization. It was followed by a tea which was supervised by Lela and Marjery Harton.

Miss Constance Dunne and Miss Martha Hill, instructors in physical education, were taken into membership. Others pledged to the group were Dorothea Lensch, Ruth Burcham, Mollie Knobes and Anona Hildenbrand.

Bob Giffen Urges Men To Attend Golf Classes

Every afternoon in the room just north of the physical ed office, Bob Giffen is giving golf instructions. In urging the students and faculty to attend the lessons, stress is laid upon the fact that the balls, the clubs, the instruction, the use of the driving net and the indoor tee are all free.

Varsity Faces Cardinals in Battle Today

Two Weeks' Rest Helps Put Webfoots in Condition; Robinson Out

Betting Gives Odds To Warner's Players

Gridgraph to Flash Play-By-Play Account

By RICHARD H. SYRING Sports Editor

After a two weeks rest which Coach John J. McEwan claims has done the Oregon varsity football team "worlds of good," the Lemon-Yellow grid machine is now in the best condition possible to meet the offering of foxy Glenn (Pop) Warner this afternoon at Palo Alto.

Motor Tuned Up Mechanics have worked over the motor of the moleskin contraption, which failed to function against the University of California Bears, and now have it tuned up, but it is still hitting on 10 cylinders. The one missing power man from this well-oiled mechanism will be Robert (Bobby) Robinson, Oregon's fleet-footed quarterback and ball carrier who garnered nearly half the Webfoots' yardage against California. A left wrist, injured in the Idaho game, is still bothering this triple threat.

Betting on Cards The rest of the Oregon team will be in good condition and will give the Cardinals a run for their money. The Cardinals, of course, are being bet on by the gambling aces, three to one. Football as now played is never too certain and the old story, "the worm may turn," may come true this afternoon.

McEwan Optimistic Coach McEwan doesn't expect to see the Cardinals tramp all over the Webfoots. In fact, Oregon's big grid mentor is looking for a close game. "We expect to play a very close game, realizing, of course, that Stanford has one of the best teams on the coast. Our team is in much better shape than two weeks ago, when we faced California in Portland. Naturally, Robinson's absence from the lineup will hinder us considerably," remarked McEwan prior to the Shasta's departure Thursday.

The gridgraph, under the capable management of the Order of the "O," will give a play-by-play account of the game at McArthur court. The first flashes will be given at 3 o'clock, allowing students the opportunity of viewing the Oregon-Washington freshman tilt on Hayward field.

Twins Dressed Alike Lose Personalities, Miss Daigh Declares

"Twins may be twins—but I don't like the idea of dressing them alike," says Margaret L. Daigh, instructor in household arts. "You see I may be prejudiced because I am a twin. Personality can't be expressed by sameness in dress, and clothes are a means of expressing it," said Miss Daigh.

"I find it easy to tell twins apart, because I associate their names with a certain aspect in the contour of their faces. There are four pairs of twins in my classes so it is quite essential that I have some system to distinguish them," said Miss Daigh.

The twins in Miss Daigh's classes are, Dorothy and Irene MacMaster, Ruth and Dorothy Dundore, Lois and Louise Pierce and Joanne and Justine Ackerson.

Coleridge Seminar Is Held by E. L. Griggs

Coleridge seminars are being held once a week by Earle L. Griggs, assistant professor of English. The name is slightly ambiguous, Mr. Griggs states, for this term the class is not studying Coleridge at all but are doing eighteenth century criticism, paying particular attention to Shakespeare.

The class is entirely composed of graduate students, who are anxious to express themselves, Mr. Griggs says, and who get great pleasure in talking over the various problems which are brought up in their work. This term the students will get a background for the detailed assignments which must be gone over later.

Members of the seminar meet every Friday at the home of the instructor.
