

Yearling Team Reverses Dope; Babes Trimmed

Oregon Youngsters Pull Big Surprise; Win by 14 to 0 Score

Frosh Team at Ashland Wins 6 to 0

Last Saturday Billy Reinhart's yearling football crew took the field against the highly touted University of Washington freshman team and to the surprise of fans and contrary to the predictions of the "wise ones" sent the Husky cubs scurrying back to their northern lairs by a score of 14 to 0. The most optimistic Oregon supporter gave the invaders at least a touchdown over the ducklings, based generally on the results of the previous weeks game when the Oregon fosh were smeared 28 to 0 by the W. S. C. Kittens at Pendleton.

In the game with the Irishmen of Columbia University, although the frosh won, they looked ragged in team play. With these two instances in mind fans were apprehensive and doped Washington to have a fairly easy day. However, the ducklings were not so awed by the invading team and when they went out on the gridiron from the first gun they played a rushing, smashing game, heads up, taking advantage of breaks coming their way, and meeting all breaks against them with all their power.

Team Improved

It was a vastly improved team from the week before. The line was a stone wall on defense and many lines ripped holes in the opposition, especially on tackle plays. Speed and deception were big factors in the frosh offense and they kept the offense almost constantly. Only once did the Huskies endanger the lemon-yellow goal line. A long pass by Buzard to Lenfesty who raced 36 yards till Hill ran him out of bounds, and a 9 yard plunge by Buzard put the ball on Oregon's one yard line with three bucks to boost it over for a score. The frosh dug in at this point and held. This was near the end of the game. Washington out passed the frosh, but in every other department the Oregon infants excelled.

The first touchdown was largely the result of Lillie getting through fast. Buzard was rushed so that his pass thumped solidly against the manly chest of Lillie, who apparently taken by surprise, closed in on the ball and was more astounded to find it still in his arms. Immediately he departed in haste for the Husky goal line and after disposing of another would-be tackler slid across for the score.

Kitzmillers Kicks Goal

It was a break of the game, but it was a break that the frosh made by their rushing tactics. The next score, in the third quarter was not so freakish, but the result of a 95 yard march started when the snappy Parke ran a punt back from his 5 yard line to the 40, from where Donahue relayed it 20 on a deceptive criss-cross and Hill and Kitzmillers shoved it over with a series of bucks.

While the dope bucket was being so unceremoniously treated on Hayward field, Saturday, the frosh team that trekked to the southland was also enjoying a big day. They defeated Ashland high 6 to 0. The teams battled pretty much on even terms throughout most of the fray. The only touchdown came when a long pass, Heiberg to Boggs brought the ball to the Ashland 2 yard line where Hall bucked it over on the following play.

Why God Made Hell

Do you know why? If you don't, you should learn NOW—at once. One reviewer has said: "When Dante went to Hell he must have steered clear of the roasting apparatus. . . . It remained for Dr. Saubrah to interestingly and fear-somely describe the nether regions." Over 2,000,000 have read it. Why not you? One Dollar post-paid.

We might as well get down to brass tacks when discussing the Webfoot football team and lay off all unnecessary "blowing." Last Saturday's showing against Stanford was disheartening. There were few students on the campus who expected the Lemon-Yellow team to come home with a victory, but they were anticipating a better performance.

"The main trouble with the Oregon team," said Coach John J. McEwan, in a talk last night, "is their spirits. The whole team has football ability but they're not putting it out. They all need to get off of their haunches. During the Idaho game, the Webfoots gave evidence of smart football ability, but since then they seem to be content with things as they are. They took the Stanford defeat as a matter of course, with too much grace," he said.

A well known northern scout stopped in Eugene for a few moments Sunday after viewing the Oregon-Stanford conflict. His critical eye found many faults with the Webfoots' playing. The Oregon line was complimented on its defensive work but was very slow in starting on the offensive. Other than some good defensive work, the Webfoot backfield performed terribly, in his estimation. In their reverses they lacked snap and precision. He noted the lack of fight of among the backs, the same which has been noticeable out on Hayward field during practice. This scouter thinks the Oregon ball carriers do not try to gain that last half-inch of yardage.

Last night the Oregon football team went for a walk into the nearby hills, limbering up from the Stanford tilt. Tonight's practice will see a 1927 renaissance with Oregon's grid eleven. From now on, practices will be open to the public, scrimmage will be held daily with the freshmen. "We want to see all the friends of the team out there supporting them," said Coach John J. McEwan, extending a very cordial invitation to all students.

Same Old Story

HOW often has your S. O. S. rent the air when you received your laundry? Buttons loose, clothing torn, and poor workmanship were the glaring evidences of cheap and careless laundrying.

regular scheduled game with the freshmen.

"We're going to put an offensive into the Oregon team," added McEwan. "All last year I tried to get the defensive spirit out of them, and thought I had succeeded but Stanford saw them reverting back to it. We will begin pointing to the O. S. C. game. The success or failure of the season depends on the winning of this contest. The fellows can do it, if they just make up their minds to the fact," McEwan said.

From the above it can be seen that the captain means business. From now on any player not fighting every minute will have about as much chance with him as a snowball in the proverbial hot place.

McEwan is just about 100 per cent right in his analysis of the team. Oregon students believe the Webfoots can play football but are not exhibiting their best. Perhaps the presence of a number of sophomores, Williams, Robinson, Hatton, Mason and Coleman on the backfield squad, has something to do with it. The lack of experience is evident.
