

Futility of United States Isolation Shown by Maddox

American Total Private Investment Abroad Is Twelve Billion Dollars

By WILLIAM P. MADDOX
American investments in foreign countries mount higher and higher.

Morever, the investments for the first ten months of this year are valued at $1,318,700,000 which already surpass the entire flotations of 1926.

Our total private investments abroad already reach twelve billions and the march of the dollar around the world continues with unabated speed.

In 1919, the British government by virtue of an extensive survey known as the Montagu-Chelmsford report, made considerable alterations in the government of India by which a system known as a "diarchy" was created.

This guarantee of partial self-government satisfied most of the native demands for the time being but there have been various agitations since which indicate that all discontent was not removed.

The problem will be difficult because the bitter religious antagonisms between the vast majority of Hindus and the minority Mohammedans cause the latter to fear that full control in the hands of the former, may work injustices.

Before the war, Vienna, was the gayest city in central Europe. It was also the capital of a large and powerful state, the meeting place for statesmen and diplomats, the starting point of many a political rumor of high importance, a city of the first rank socially and politically.

The war came and in its aftermath the destruction of a once splendid empire and the reducing of its capital to virtual insignificance. The Viennese are a proud people. They are not ready to pass out of the political picture and yet the small Austrian republic is obviously hardly a second-rate power.

Move Made To Stop Threats on McMullin

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Action to stop and punish alleged attempts to intimidate William J. McMullin, chief government witness in the oil jury tampering investigation was considered by government lawyers today as they prepared to finish their grand jury case resulting from the Teapot Dome mistrial.

Swan's Popular Molnar Comedy Loses With Successful Performance

E. J. C.
an" has come and gone full movement. For two Molnar comedy played to appreciative audiences were ab staged.

Cecil Matson, as the sympathetic Father Hyacinth, carried off the comedy honors. He was diplomatic, sympathetic and carried into his role a keen sense of stage movement and dignity.

Ruth Street, as the sister of Princess Beatrice and Hyacinth, shared in the excellent characterization evident on Thursday evening.

Former Oregon Basketball Star To Coach Here

'Swede' Westergren Is Selected To Assist Coach Reinhart

Basketball prospects at the University of Oregon took a considerable leap forward when it was announced that Algon Knut Westergren, one of the greatest hoop players ever developed on the coast and guard on last year's varsity squad, had been appointed assistant coach to William J. Reinhart, head coach.

The basketball was introduced in practice last night for the first time this year. The Webfoot coach is emphasizing fundamentals, and began drilling the candidates in handling the ball and dribbling.

Although there will be no barnstorming trip to California during the Christmas holidays, Coach Reinhart has scheduled plenty of hard work for the squad. Reinhart plans to schedule games with a fast alumni team composed of ex-Webfooters now present on the campus.

There is a large squad turning out for practice, but with only two lettermen from the Northwest championship team available little hope is held for a combination to repeat the success of the 1926-27 quintet.

Borah Makes Plea for Law Enforcement

(By United Press)
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 18.—If ever it becomes impossible to enforce the 18th amendment, that amendment should be repealed from the constitution, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho said tonight in a speech before the national grange.

St. Mary's Wins For Western Championship

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—The battling eleven of St. Mary's College defeated the College of the Pacific at the Kezar stadium today, 20 to 0. The victory carried with it the far western conference championship.

Lawyers Challenge Campus to Handball; Think Selves Hot Stuff

Wanted, at once. Some school or department to accept a challenge, from us of the law school, to a few minutes of the most terrific punishment in a handball court they will ever suffer.

If two of our handball players knew one tenth as much about law as they do about handball, Phi Beta Kappa would be holding a special election this very minute.

Mel Cohn and Wil Long, two of our sizzling papas can make a handball last exactly three minutes before it bursts into flame and by then they have won their game.

Mel wears a glove over his head, because he uses his head as well as his hand. Wil doesn't wear any gloves at all.

Gridgraph Will Flash California-Stanford Game

Neither Team Strong Favorite; Cardinals Have Slight Edge

More Than 90,000 People To See Clash

This morning two groups of young men entered the portals of Palo Alto from the secluded fastness of the hills of central California, where they have been in retirement, and are now awaiting the whistle at 3 o'clock this afternoon, which will send them crashing into each other at the Stanford stadium in the 32nd Cardinal-Golden Bear football classic of the south.

The Order of the "O" gridgraph at McArthur court will be ready to record the first blast of Sam Dolan's whistle as the big game begins. The annual game between the Bears of California and the big red horde of Stanford is occupying the center of the football limelight on the Pacific coast this week-end.

In the case of the Husky game, the Cardinals were admittedly lucky in defeating the northern team. Dumb football on the part of the Purple Tornado won for Stanford, while last Saturday the Golden Bears, although losing, 6 to 0, played the Huskies an even game.

O. A. C. To Meet Idaho Vandals in Game Today

(By United Press)
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 18.—With the arrival here tonight of football teams from the University of Idaho and the Oregon Agricultural College, the Aggies were made a six to five favorite to win the game here today.

Fanciful Motif Characterizes Soph Informal

All Campus Dance To Start At 9 o'Clock Tonight In Armory

Kenneth Allen To Give Feature of Evening

Kollege Knights Orchestra To Furnish Music

As you enter tonight you will see him—huge, baffling, with open mouth pouring forth vaporous billows and rapturous music. His visage grins down upon you, red lips parted, revealing shining teeth of white. From his eyes stream rays of varied hue.

Decorations Praised

Walton Crane, Harriet Atchison, Webb Hayes, and James Campbell have achieved an effect in decorations worthy of much praise.

Dance Starts at Nine

Nine o'clock is the time set for the dance; the Armory is the place; George McMurphy's Kollege Knights will supply the music; and Kenneth Allen will give the feature.

Members of the Informal Directorate, who as chairmen of the various committees, have taken charge of the dance are as follows: Keith Hall, Tom Stoddard, Paul Hunt, Walton Crane, Kenton Hamaker, Caulean Greath, Jack Dowsett, Charles Reed, Frank Ison, LaWanda Fenlason, Carl Forsstrum, James Rogers, Robert McAlpin, Arlen McCarty, Eleanor Flanagan, and Kathryn Melh.

Dorothy V. Bassett, Ex-Oregon Student, Dies in New Jersey

Dorothy V. Bassett, a junior in English at the University of Oregon last year, died last week in Newark, New Jersey, according to word received here.

Four Students Enter University Infirmary

"It's the vogue to have a cold," so says the infirmary nurse. At least it is quite a prevalent ailment at this time of the year. They come and go at the infirmary in rapid succession.

Dean Esterly To Talk At Salem High School

Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women, is going to Salem this week-end, where she will speak on "The Value of the Girls' League in High School Organization" at the Salem high school, Monday. She will return to Eugene that evening.

Alfred H. Schroff's Oregon Paintings To Be Shown Next Week

Alfred H. Schroff's collection of oil and water color paintings of Oregon scenery will be on exhibition at the little gallery at the Arts building next week.

Don Moe Makes State Open Golf Contest Finals

Tommy Armour, National Champ, Among Few To Beat Weather

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 18.—Don Moe, representing the Alderwood country club, also freshman at the University of Oregon, today qualified himself for the finals tomorrow of the first Oregon state open golf tournament being played at the Waverly country club courts.

Although wind and rain claimed a heavy toll at the courts, the ability of Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., national open champion, overcame these elements and he had a three stroke lead at the end of the first half of the championship tournament.

After playing on even terms with the champion for 27 holes, Neil Christian, local professional, was a victim of the poor weather and fell down on the last nine to finish the qualifying round with a total of 145.

Cosmopolitan Club Has Members From Eleven Countries

Eleven countries of the world are represented at the University Cosmopolitan club this year, according to Roy Yokota, secretary.

California Colleges Tie in Football Game

(By United Press)
FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 18.—Neither Fresno State College nor Santa Clara University gained ascendancy over the other in a hard fought football game, which ended in a tie here today, 6 to 6. The scoring was made early in the game.

Cage Title For Professional Men Sought by Scribes and Lawyers

At 10 o'clock this morning the dusty law books on the upper floor of the Oregon building will be shoved back in the dim recesses of the law school library and a horde of aspiring barristers will sweep up the slopes in the direction of McArthur Igloo where they will make their first desperate stand to defend the basketball supremacy of the campus professional schools to which they recently laid claim.

Hard Contest Is Predicted For Huskies

Battle of 1925 Season Recalled by Varsity; Hope To Repeat

Williams Unable To Play on Thanksgiving

Important Conference Tilts Today

By JOE PIGNEY
The University of Washington football team has discarded the proverbial turkey, and has substituted tender duck meat for the Thanksgiving Day feast in Seattle. The Oregon gridders are the delectable morsel with which the Huskies hope to satisfy their ravenous appetite.

Team Leaves Tuesday

Intensive training in the Webfoot camp was concluded last night, and only light workouts are scheduled until the team leaves for the north next Tuesday morning. Coach MeEwan is not expectant of a victory, but is certain that the Oregonians will not be a "setup" for the overconfident Washington eleven.

The frosh team worked with the varsity during last night's practice session. The yearlings have been drilling in a style of attack similar to that of the Huskies, and presented the plays last night in order to give the varsity an inkling of what to expect in Seattle.

A fighting spirit will be one of the Webfooters' most effective weapons against Washington. Two years ago the Oregon team under Dick Smith met the Huskies in Seattle with greater odds against them than this year. The Washington eleven had been unofficially crowned champion of the Pacific Coast conference, and all that remained was the formality of bowing over the Webfooters. When the game ended the Huskies were very lucky to come off with a 15 to 14 victory.

Super-Varsity Men to Play

MeEwan will probably use a number of his super-varsity material in next week's fray. Harold Hutton, Dave Mason, Roland Coleman, and LaSalle Coles, all playing their first year of varsity competition, will undoubtedly see a lot of backfield service with the Huskies. These men will form the nucleus of next year's attack, and all the experience gained this season will be of great value.

Oregon will miss the dependable playing of Chuck Williams on Thanksgiving Day. The hip wrench received in practice on Wednesday afternoon has proved too severe to warrant his presence in the lineup.

Today will see some important games in the conference race. The Oregon Aggies play the strong Idaho eleven in Portland, and Stanford and California meet in the traditional fray of the south at San Francisco. A defeat to either the Vandals or the Cards will seriously impair their championship ambitions.

The lawyers held a big pep rally last evening in final attempts to bolster up the morale of their squad. The journalists retired to the secluded pines of Spencers Butte where they rested far from the marts of man. The scribes are in great shape with the exception of Milligan who has difficulty observing training rules.

Dave Epps will be refereed. Tentative lineups handed in last night by the coaches include the following men;

- Scribes: Dutton, Jones, Horn, Fields, Milligan
Lawyers: Gordon, Morris, Schienbaum, Reid, Tarakis