Leap Year To Be Feted At U. of C. Celebration

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 2.—(P.L.P.)—Labor day is a custom of long standing at the University of California. Each leap year an academic holiday is declared on the extra day which falls in February, and the student body turns out en masse to make needed improvements about the campus. The morning's labor is then concluded by a luncheon sponsored by the Prytanean honor society.

The program for the evening is sponsored by the Big "C" Society and is known as the Big "C" Sirkus. Already the fraternities and sororities have turned their memories back to the awesome serpents; symbolic waterwagons, and throat-cutting pirates of the 1924 Sirkus, so that they may obtain a new idea and win the parade prize.

W. Schulze To Attend Committee Sessions To Plan Conference

William Schulze, president of the campus Y. M. C. A., will leave this noon for Portland, where he will attend a meeting of the committee in charge of the Seabeck Conference, held annually at Seabeck, Washington. It is attended by students from the entire northwest. Schulze is chairman of the committee. The other members are Dean U. G. Dubach, of O. S. C.; Raymond B. Culver, northwest secretary of the student Y. M. C. A.'s; and James Retty, of Willamette, president of the Student Field Council of the Northwest Y. M. C. A.'s.

At this committee meeting the work which was started two weeks ago at a meeting at O. S. C. will be continued. Plans will be made as to the program and the speakers at the conference itself, which will be held from June 11 to June 20 this year. The same evening, after the Seabeck committee has met, there will be a meeting of the Northwest Field Council of the Y. M. C. A., which is composed of representatives of both campus and city Y. M. C. A. work of the northwest.

Last year eighteen men from the University of Oregon attended the Seabeck Conference. Alton Bristol is chairman of the campus committee for the conference this year. He will call a meeting next week of the men who have already attended Seabeck in order to prepare for the delegation which will go to the coming session.

Constance Roth To Play Leading Role in 'R. U. R.'

Senior English Major Has Taken Part in Many Productions

Constance Roth, more familiarly known, both in the drama department and on the campus, as Connie, is to take the only major feminine role that the forthcoming play, "R. U. R.," provides. Those who do not recognize Connie by name will be able to place her when she is identified as the "girl who wears a leather jacket which is exactly Constance Roth the same shade as her auburn hair." During the past few weeks when she hasn't been around the Guild theatre and back stage she has been on her way either to or from there.

Lately, since Miss Wilbur's tonsil operation, Connie has stepped out of the role of leading lady and has assumed the role of "general boss and manager."

Miss Wilbur, director of dramatics, said that one reason she hadn't worried about her work during her recuperation period, was because Connie had charge of all her rehearsals.

Constance, who is a senior English major, has taken many parts in Guild theatre productions, and has, more or less, grown up with the drama department since its organization three years ago. Perhaps, the most spectacular acting Constance has done, was in Eugene O'Neil's play, "Beyond the Horizon," where she was responsible for more than a few of the tears which were shed during the last act of the play.

In the play, "Rossum's Universal Robots," Constance will take the part of Helena Glory, daughter of the president of the robot manufacturing concern. By her vivacious personality and slightly professional handling of the leading role, she will make up for the lack of feminine roles, and will provide romance in the somewhat gruesome play, "R. U. R."

'Meddling' by Other Countries Is Upheld At Cuban Conference

(By United Press) HAVANA, Feb. 3.—The United States won its biggest point today at the sixth Pan-American conference when an official report to the international law committee made a concession to her views on intervention by one nation in another's affairs.

The report on the law of intervention, feared for months as a possible source of embarrassment to the United States because of her Nicaraguan policy, accepts the contention long supported by the United States that states have duties and obligations as well as rights.

Presented by Victor Maura of Peru, the report says that nations, although secure in principle against foreign intervention or control, must not harm or violate the right of other states.

Oregon Editors Will Meet Here February 10-11

State Newspapermen To Hear Burt B. Barker At Convention

Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University, is scheduled to make his initial appearance before editors of the state at their annual banquet next Friday evening in the Osburn hotel. The banquet is a feature of the Oregon newspaper conference at the University, February 10 and 11.

Another name of interest on the program is that of Frank Branch Riley, Portland's nationally known orator. Mr. Riley's silver tongue has won him admiration in many parts of the East where he has delivered his well known illustrated lecture, according to the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge. On the campus he is recognized as one of the most pleasing speakers in the West, and his reputation alone is expected to attract many to the banquet.

Musical entertainment during the evening will be furnished by a chorus of twenty from the Eugene Gleemen, under the direction of Dr. Charles E. Hunt, and the Burton Co-ed Harmonizers.

Eric W. Allen, dean of the University school of journalism, will act as toastmaster, and J. E. Shelton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will open the banquet with a short address of welcome in behalf of the city of Eugene.

W. F. Gilstrap, head of the Chamber committee in charge of working out details for the evening, is planning for at least one hundred editors, publishers, and their wives. This will be the tenth annual banquet here of newspaper men of the state, and each year the event has proved enjoyable. Editors of the state have developed a Eugene reputation for telling good stories at this banquet and are reported to be getting some new ones ready.

U. S. Considers Move To Banish Nicaragua Rebel as Polls Near

(By United Press) MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 2.—Persistent rumors were circulated today among conservative politicians here that the United States is considering the possibility of ordering General Emiliano Chamorro, former president, out of Nicaragua if he continues in opposition to the electoral laws.

According to many of its most prominent figures, the conservative faction headed by Chamorro is so determined that the United States shall not supervise the October presidential elections, that it is planning to have all conservative voters remain away from the polls, should the United States' plans be carried out.
