

Kai-Shek Party May Receive Foreign Approval

Diplomatic Relations Point To Chang Says W. P. Maddox

By WILLIAM P. MADDOX
Certain little news items, not generally of a spectacular nature, trickling out of China nowadays lead one to believe that a movement of vast diplomatic importance may be on foot to give recognition to the Nanking government of the Nationalist party with its youthful generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek. Of course it is always hazardous to engage in predictions about China, but it need not be amiss to draw attention to some few facts which at least seem to possess significance.

At present the foreign powers recognize as the official government of China, those who hold authority in Peking, chief among whom is Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian military dictator. He drove out the previous occupants of the capital city three years ago and actually his control is certain in less than half of China, and nebulous in a few other districts. In fact, China, a sovereign united republic in name, is none of these things. She is not sovereign because of a vast network of foreign control affecting her political and economic life. There has been no central government maintaining authority everywhere for well over a decade. And lastly, the short-lived republic has never in fact been revived since President Yuan Shih-kai was seized with his imperial hallucinations about the same length of time ago.

Heretofore this has not been done. Foreign governments have generally seemed to demand that stability of government be established by one central government, and not by two governments occupying different spheres. They have waited for this now for several years and it has not come. Meanwhile the Nanking authorities go about their work of administration in the south and the diplomatic or juristic fiction which ignores it probably is doing no one more harm than the forger.

So when one reads that the French, British, and Japanese ministers have all recently made visits from Peking to Nanking, one might reasonably expect that something is afoot. And now also comes word that John Van Antwerp MacMurray, the American minister, has also taken leave from Peking and is now making extensive visits in the southern region. In addition, the British chief of the foreign customs administration, which has previously collected its duties solely for the northern government, when it could, has been discussing with representatives from Nanking the possibility of payment of certain portions of the revenues to that government. These are only several among many incidents recently which give one reason to believe that the powers are planning greater extension of recognition to Nanking.

In her opposition to foreign domination all China seems one. In her culture and tradition China is one. But in her instruments of government, facts present at least two fairly stable governments, and it is sometimes wise to face facts.

McDonald To Receive Oregon-Husky Scores

Announcement is made by the McDonald theatre that complete reports, by period, of the score of the Oregon-Washington coast conference basketball game will be given at the theatre Saturday night.

By defeating the fast shooting Montana quintet Thursday night, Oregon has fought its way from a little-better-than-fifth-chance team at the opening of the season, to a much respected five that stands on the second round of the championship ladder, and has invaded the domain of the Huskies, the only hoop threaders to stand above the fighting Webfoots, for the final game of the season, tonight.

A direct wire connection, operated through Western Union, has been established and the score-by-period reports at the McDonald will be flashed down within a few seconds from the actual playing time. The game is slated to start in Seattle at 8 o'clock, and the first report should be given shortly after that time, it is announced.

Loyal Rooters Urged To Meet Webfoots When Shasta Arrives

Sunday at 12:05 p. m. when the Shasta comes to a stop in Eugene, a team of basketball players to have worn the green to heights dreamed of by even the world's optimistic sports writer, will be down the car stairs and find what will they find? They will find hundreds of loyal rooters eager to shout approval of a record made by their new team, one which has fared far better in the uncertain seas of the Northwest conference than many a veteran outfit.

They have been playing conference and non-conference games in rapid succession ever since they left Eugene and they have met with success in all of them. Tonight they battle the Huskies, and with the final gun the curtain is rung down on their gasketball schedule for 1927-28. Win or lose they are certain of second place, and win or lose they should find YOU at the depot Sunday to meet them!

Oregon-Idaho Geology Given At Meeting

Professor Livingston Talks To Sigma Xi Group Thursday

The development of certain drainage and mountain systems of north-eastern Oregon and western Idaho was presented as a formal lecture subject by Professor D. C. Livingston of the department of geology of the University of Idaho at a joint meeting of the University of Oregon and Oregon State College chapters of Sigma Xi, which was held in room 105, Deady hall, last Thursday evening.

The findings of Professor Livingston are the result of a considerable amount of research which he has carried into the Blue and Willamette mountains of Oregon, the Seven Devils and Cudahy mountains of Idaho and the Mile-deep canyon of the Snake river which separates the two mountain groups. The problem was considered in four phases. The age of the mountain uplifts in western Idaho, the control of the mountain uplifts by faults, the history of the Snake river and the peculiar drainage pattern of certain streams in the area.

By the use of lantern slides and diagrams, the speaker traced the rise of the Blue mountains from a low dome just south of Lewiston, Idaho, and westward into Oregon, where they swing in a broad crescent back to the north and east, making their list stand in the rugged Seven Devils of Idaho. Standing alone inside the curve of the crescent as an igneous and metamorphic complex, capped in part and surrounded by miocene lava flows is the Willamette mountain group of Oregon.

A veritable mosaic of faults has raised these mountains to their present level and has exposed on their summits rocks which appear in the Snake River canyon, is an ancient terrain buried by hundreds and even thousands of feet of basalt flows. The appearance of these lava flows on the Oregon mountains and their absence on the Seven Devils group indicates that the latter range was elevated several millions of years before the former.

The present Grande Ronde river valley seems to have been cut by the Snake river which was forced from that channel by the faulting up of its stream bed. This forced it to swing to the east of the Willamette mountains where it has cut its present gorge. Many other streams were forced into a similar fate, and as a result, present a drainage pattern that coincides roughly with the fault line system.

French Noble Will Address Campus Folk Late This Afternoon

"Le Baron d'Estournelles de Constant" may sound like a far cry from an European novel of nobility, but that such a person is really a man will be proved at the Kappa Alpha Theta house this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the French club will sponsor a tea in his honor. Le Baron arrives this morning from the University of Washington, where he has delivered a series of lectures under the management of the Alliance Francaise, foreign language group. Leaving Eugene tonight, he will continue on his way to California, where he is instructor at Scripps College, a branch of Pomona.

At the tea this afternoon, where Andrie Pellion, romance languages instructor, will introduce him, Monsieur de Constant will deliver a short talk, very informal and in French, before the assembled students. The subject of his address was not mentioned in his telegram to Miss Pellion, but it will probably deal with some phase of college life with which all students are familiar.

"Le Baron's father was a senator in France," Miss Pellion commented, "and was much famed for his eloquence. His speeches would draw a crowd anywhere."

Any persons interested in French; students, faculty, or their friends, are invited to come and hear the Baron this afternoon. The tea will be over by 5:30, in time for guests to get home for dinner.

Quartet To Furnish Music for Vespers

The mixed quartet of Central Presbyterian church will furnish the music for the vespers service Sunday, February 26, at 4:30, in the music building.

The personnel of the quartet includes Mrs. T. A. Pearson, soprano; Mrs. E. E. Wyatt, alto; John B. Siefert, tenor; and Herschel D. Scott, bass. They will sing "Fear Ye Not O Israel," by Spicker, and "I Hear Thy Voice," by Edith Lang.

Dr. C. R. Wheeland, a prominent leader of the Presbyterian church of Chicago, will read the service. Dr. Wheeland is interested in students and has spoken before college audiences many times.

Junior Show Singers Pass First Tryout

Final Selection To Be Made By Committee Next Tuesday Night

Solo and Harmony Parts Not Yet Filled

Campus Talent Discovered, Says Hendricks

Following two preliminary tryouts for Junior Revue singers, 35 students have been chosen by Madge Normile and Boone Hendricks, members of the music committee, to appear Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock for final trials. A definite place to hold the tryouts has not been arranged yet but will be announced Tuesday.

In addition to the final selections of the committee on Tuesday night, a chance will be given any who are interested in securing singing parts in the Revue but who have not tried out as yet to appear at the same time.

Roosevelt Wins Back Use of His Legs by Bathing

Paralysis Attack Which Crippled Him Is Conquered

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1921 stricken with infantile paralysis and pronounced a cripple for life, today walked, with the aid of two canes, into the office of the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland and resumed his full duties as vice-president.

French Noble Will Address Campus Folk Late This Afternoon

"Le Baron d'Estournelles de Constant" may sound like a far cry from an European novel of nobility, but that such a person is really a man will be proved at the Kappa Alpha Theta house this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the French club will sponsor a tea in his honor. Le Baron arrives this morning from the University of Washington, where he has delivered a series of lectures under the management of the Alliance Francaise, foreign language group. Leaving Eugene tonight, he will continue on his way to California, where he is instructor at Scripps College, a branch of Pomona.

French Noble Will Address Campus Folk Late This Afternoon

"Le Baron d'Estournelles de Constant" may sound like a far cry from an European novel of nobility, but that such a person is really a man will be proved at the Kappa Alpha Theta house this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the French club will sponsor a tea in his honor. Le Baron arrives this morning from the University of Washington, where he has delivered a series of lectures under the management of the Alliance Francaise, foreign language group. Leaving Eugene tonight, he will continue on his way to California, where he is instructor at Scripps College, a branch of Pomona.

Few Men Competed In Intramural Meet At Igloo Last Night

Insufficiency of competitors was the outstanding feature of the indoor intramural track meet held in McArthur Court last night at 7:30 o'clock, as only enough athletes arrived to allow competition in three of the seven scheduled events. No records were either broken or dangerously threatened.

The results of the events held were: 45-yard dash, Schafer, Alpha Beta Chi, first; Bredthauer, Bachelor, second; Wetzell, Phi Delta, third; time 6.2.

440-yard dash, Ross, Theta Chi, first; Hall, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, second; Overstreet, Sigma Chi, third; time .55.

880-yard dash, Barnes, Sigma Chi, first; Steel, Friendly Hall, second; time, 2.6.

The officials of last night's meet were: Judges, Don Bealar, Fred West, Joe Standard; clerk, Schade; starter, Del Obertuffer.

It is essential that more interest be shown in the indoor track meets if they are to be continued, Coach Bill Hayward said last night. Next week all those selected for competition must appear, and it is very desirable that the spectators be increased from the mere handful who attended the meet last night.

Death Claims Brother Of Miss Julia Burgess

News of the death of her aged brother was received yesterday by Miss Julia Burgess, professor of English, when she reached Cheyenne, Wyoming, on her way to visit him. She will continue on her trip to New York to attend the funeral and is expected to be absent from the University faculty until the beginning of spring term.

Her brother, who is a retired professor, was believed to be on his death bed when Miss Burgess left for New York the first of the week.

Women's Swimming Teams Chosen; Meet Dates To Be Published

The women's swimming teams have been chosen and the dates of their meets will be published in Tuesday morning's Emerald.

They are as follows:
Freshman First—Margaret Cummings, Dorothy Davidson, Oneita Jantzen, Alberta Rives and Elise Sundbom.

Freshman Second—Alice Healer, Gertrude Kaario, Thelma Kem, and Beth Salway.

Sophomore First—Grace Caldwell, Pauline Kidwell, Janice McKinnon, Naomi Nashberger and Betty Summers.

Sophomore Second—Myrtis Gorst and Eldress Judd.

Junior First—Olive Banks, Anona Hildebrand, Hazel Heine, and Winifred Peter.

Junior Second—Marguerite Schierbaum, Margaret Thompson and Hilda Top.

Senior First—Florence Hurley, Hazel Kirk, Virginia Lounsbury, Helen Mumaw and Myra Belle Palmer.

Senior Second—Doris Llewellyn.

Roosevelt Wins Back Use of His Legs by Bathing

Paralysis Attack Which Crippled Him Is Conquered

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1921 stricken with infantile paralysis and pronounced a cripple for life, today walked, with the aid of two canes, into the office of the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland and resumed his full duties as vice-president.

Few Men Competed In Intramural Meet At Igloo Last Night

Insufficiency of competitors was the outstanding feature of the indoor intramural track meet held in McArthur Court last night at 7:30 o'clock, as only enough athletes arrived to allow competition in three of the seven scheduled events. No records were either broken or dangerously threatened.

The results of the events held were: 45-yard dash, Schafer, Alpha Beta Chi, first; Bredthauer, Bachelor, second; Wetzell, Phi Delta, third; time 6.2.

440-yard dash, Ross, Theta Chi, first; Hall, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, second; Overstreet, Sigma Chi, third; time .55.

880-yard dash, Barnes, Sigma Chi, first; Steel, Friendly Hall, second; time, 2.6.

The officials of last night's meet were: Judges, Don Bealar, Fred West, Joe Standard; clerk, Schade; starter, Del Obertuffer.

It is essential that more interest be shown in the indoor track meets if they are to be continued, Coach Bill Hayward said last night. Next week all those selected for competition must appear, and it is very desirable that the spectators be increased from the mere handful who attended the meet last night.

Dean Gilbert Speaks Before High 12 Club

Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college, spoke before the High Twelve club at the Osburn hotel Friday noon, February 12. The subject of his speech was "Management of Public Debts," with special emphasis placed on the sinking fund and the economic fallacy underlying its use in connection with national debts.

Few Men Competed In Intramural Meet At Igloo Last Night

Insufficiency of competitors was the outstanding feature of the indoor intramural track meet held in McArthur Court last night at 7:30 o'clock, as only enough athletes arrived to allow competition in three of the seven scheduled events. No records were either broken or dangerously threatened.

The results of the events held were: 45-yard dash, Schafer, Alpha Beta Chi, first; Bredthauer, Bachelor, second; Wetzell, Phi Delta, third; time 6.2.

440-yard dash, Ross, Theta Chi, first; Hall, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, second; Overstreet, Sigma Chi, third; time .55.

880-yard dash, Barnes, Sigma Chi, first; Steel, Friendly Hall, second; time, 2.6.

The officials of last night's meet were: Judges, Don Bealar, Fred West, Joe Standard; clerk, Schade; starter, Del Obertuffer.

It is essential that more interest be shown in the indoor track meets if they are to be continued, Coach Bill Hayward said last night. Next week all those selected for competition must appear, and it is very desirable that the spectators be increased from the mere handful who attended the meet last night.

Dean Gilbert Speaks Before High 12 Club

Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college, spoke before the High Twelve club at the Osburn hotel Friday noon, February 12. The subject of his speech was "Management of Public Debts," with special emphasis placed on the sinking fund and the economic fallacy underlying its use in connection with national debts.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

Walk-out Results at Mention of Quiz in Student Prof Class

If you are one of the persons who refer to professors as being "hard-boiled," just listen to what three students of the business administration school did to their fellow sufferers if you want to decide if all the hard-boiledness is on the professor's side of the desk.

Thursday, Professor A. S. Kingsmill, associate professor of business administration, assigned special reports to three students in his class in finance management and asked them to take charge of the class the next day.

The class met as usual on Friday, and the students took up the first half hour with the three reports. Then much to the surprise and horror of the class, the three student instructors handed out papers for a quiz. As soon as the class realized the situation, it walked out, leaving the three instructors minus the job of correcting papers.

The question remains whether the three students wished to bring the grades up or down, according to their own, or whether they were getting revenge for doing all the work for the day's assignment.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Webfoots to Tangle With Husky Five

Tilt To Be One of Best in Northwest Loop Tour This Season

Organization Urged To Send Telegrams

Rally Scheduled for Noon Tomorrow

By RICHARD H. SYRING
Sports Editor

After winning five successive games on the road trip, the University of Oregon basketball team faces the University of Washington Huskies in Seattle tonight. The Washington game will mark the last regularly scheduled contest for both teams.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the money necessary to continue their tour.

Faculty Man Gives Needed Cash to Team

Private Loan Pierces Pall Of Gloom; 3 Square Meals Assured

World Tour Debaters Able To Travel Again

Thirty Forensic Meets in U. S. on File

A soft, warm bed, and six-course dinners are now in reach of the University of Oregon "Round the World Debaters," for money has been sent to them and they will now be able to start meeting their guaranteed contracts with other American universities.

A private loan of sufficient size was secured and the money was sent a few days ago but before the debaters sent the telegram telling of their serious plight.

J. K. Horner, debate coach, was in Portland yesterday, but it was ascertained from authoritative sources that a faculty member had loaned the necessary money to the stranded boys until they are able to repay the loan from their guaranteed contracts. The amount of the loan was not given out and neither was the name of the professor who appreciated the plight of Benoit McCroskey, Jack Hempstead, and Avery Thompson and sent them the