

Practice For Tennis Starts

Ladder Tournament Play To Be Held on Outside Courts, Says Coach

Spring's apparent arrival has caused Coach Abercrombie to announce that all future tennis practice will be held outside. In times of inclement weather, the racket wielders may practice fundamentals in McArthur court, but under no circumstances are any more matches to be held there.

Ladder tournament play will be resumed shortly on the outside courts, the players preserving the same rating they hold at the present time. The four top rungs of the ladder are now held in the following order: "Sherm" Lockwood, first; "Brad" Harrison, second; Stanley Alquist, third; and Henry Neer, fourth. Okerberg and Shaw are not far behind, and on the outside court may be able to displace some of the leaders.

Tennis competition for the varsity will be exceptionally severe this year. Arrangements have just been completed for the Oregon racket-wielders to meet California, U. S. C. and Stanford on three successive days, April 5, 6, and 7, at the Berkeley tennis club courts. Although this series of hard contests is a distinct disadvantage to the Lemon-Yellow aggregation, Abercrombie hopes to take at least two of the opponents down to defeat.

Heustis, Gabriel Win Fast Handball Games

Twenty-two to twenty; twenty-two to twenty; and Professor Heustis and Alton Gabriel held the long end of the score. They were playing Jack Bliss and Herman Gawer in the finals of the doubles handball tournament. They won but they are not yet the champs for they must take on the champions of the consolation round, and they may meet Bliss and Gawer again.

While it lasted it was some battle. Ball after ball came out from the bottom board of the front wall without a murmur. At present Gabriel is nursing a bruised right hand which he received at the end of the first struggle. He kept on pounding the sphere but his floor ball was noticeable by its absence, for he was favoring his injured appendage.

Swimmers

State College Orators Thrilled by Mexicans

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, March 2.—(P.I.P.)—"Feet, do your work, let's move," commanded W. A. Dahlberg, coach of the Oregon State transcontinental debate team, as a shot fired by a drunken Mexican whizzed over his shoulder and buried itself in the wall beside him. This happened a few minutes before the team's departure from Tucson, Arizona, where there had already been two holdups and a pistol duel on the university campus. Dahlberg's attempt to explain his presence with a university professor in the Mexican section at midnight received a merry laugh.

"Cheap—only $5," dickered a wizened Mexican curio dealer, in bartering with Grant McMillan, debater, regarding a "six-bit" Oregon-made woolen scarf, already must with age. "Mac" didn't buy it. A wise remark uttered by Roger Ball, another debater, nearly worked havoc with the team and manager at the U. S. C. debate, when he remarked that his sore throat and inability to make himself heard was due to the results of southern California weather. He urged the audience to come to the front and they did.

Oregon Matmen Hold First Meet

Friendly Contest Planned To Renew Sport

Once more Oregon State College and the University athletes have met, but not in one of those old traditional basketball, football, or intercollegiate contests. Last evening, in a friendly gathering, representatives from O. S. C. met Coach Widmer's most select 18 wrestlers in the men's gymnasium. Reese Wingard, seer keeper, in introducing the wrestlers, the coaches, and the purpose of the meet, said, "This evening we are having a little competition just as a matter of good will, and to further the ideals of wrestling."

Chet Newton, who is volunteer coach at O. S. C., is working with his boys to stimulate interest enough in wrestling to bring it back as a conference sport. He said, "Although it is not as spectacular as the team games, it is a good intercollegiate sport and should be recommended as such. We believe, from the interest shown tonight, that it is a justifiable sport and should be reinstated. The match this evening was undoubtedly valuable in stimulating interest in intercollegiate wrestling."

Earl (Dutch) Widmer, the well known Oregon coach, was of the opinion that, "Some means were necessary to reincarnate the death of conference wrestling in Oregon and among the coast states in general," and that a friendly bout was the best medium to accomplish this.

The evening's match was refereed by George Gayer, assistant O. S. C. wrestling coach. The first bout was between Van Der Vlugt of Oregon and Pettit, O. S. C., weighing 127 and 125 pounds; next Willison, 114, of Oregon, met Farrar, 117, of O. S. C.; then Riehl, 128, of Oregon, took Newton, 129, of O. S. C. for a full 10-minute tussle; this was followed by Arnold, 138, of Oregon, and Wishart, 137, O. S. C.; Britt, 145½, of O. S. C., and Klem, 140, Oregon; Woods, 147, O. S. C., and Bowers, 151, Oregon; Wingard, 152, Oregon, and Miller, 151, O. S. C.; Palmrose, 162, O. S. C., and Johns, 161, Oregon, and the last bout was taken by heavyweights, Huddleston, 175, Oregon, and Kallander, 169, O. S. C.

Decisions were made at the match, and the matmen and audience will know the results, but in view of the fact that the meet was an amicable affair, the coaches from the two institutions, Widmer and Newton, deemed it advisable to let the decisions travel by way of general discussion, and stated their desire to not have them printed. However, the match was well attended and apparently well appreciated by audience and contestants.

had said to the co-ed sport enthusiasts that in 1928 there would be such a program of sports as we now have, they would not have been believed. The progress is not yet completed, for each year there is a greater program and more enthusiasm. Since four years ago several new sports have been added to the schedule and many more girls have become interested in those sports that have been played here before. Among the more prominent sports there is a large turn-out daily, with no means of encouragement being necessary to get attendance. Basketball, field hockey, track and field, and baseball, swimming, tennis, and gymnasium are equally well supported by girl athletes.

Baseball Men Report At University High

The spring weather has been an inspiration to the University high school baseball enthusiasts to such an extent that they have started daily practices with the anticipation of making another good record for themselves. Last year they won all the games that they played in this county. All the men from last year's team are back again and there are several good men trying out this year.

Freshman at W. S. C. Singularly Honored

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, March 2.—(P.I.P.)—For the first time in history, a freshman has been given a free ticket to the annual military ball, elite formal dance to be held March 3 at W. S. C.

Invoking a new custom this year, the military department offered a free pass to the formal dance to the best drilled freshman in the reserve officers' training corps. Joseph E. Anderson won the initial pass by surviving an elimination "manual-of-arms" test conducted among members of the Governor's Rifles, honorary military organization.

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, March 1.—(P.I.P.)—Elmer L. Shirrell, dean of men at the University of Oregon, was the dinner guest Tuesday night of Delta Kappa fraternity. Dean Shirrell was on the campus visiting Dr. U. G. Dubach, dean of men, and investigating the local co-operative managers' association.

That practical joke about looking upward

You can't help yourself. If you see someone standing still in the street, looking upward, you bend your neck backward. You want to see too. You want to know what's going on.

That instinct is perhaps the main reason for newspapers. So you can know what's going on. Going on among your neighbors, among the people in the next state, in other lands. You want to know the news.

And that's what advertising is for, too. So you can know what's going on. So you can know the news about styles in clothing, about theories in foods, about the latest improvements in radio amplifiers or automobile engines or face creams. News! You want to know the news.

The advertising in this newspaper is here to tell you things. It is here to keep you in touch with the things that are going on. Advertisements are interesting. They are useful. They are news.
