'Private Peat' Scheduled to Speak At Assembly on Popular Address

War Hero Makes His First Appearance In City Today

Old R. Peat, internationally known as "Private Peat," the Canadian soldier who became a hero during the World War, makes his appearance in Eugene this morning, when he will deliver his popular address, "The Inexcusable Lie," before the student body at the 11 o'clock assembly.

Style and Humor Praised
"A rebuilt wreck of the World War," the Raleigh News and Observer calls him; "no general in shiny boots, but Private Peat, who knew what he was talking about, last night delivered the most forceful and the strangest appeal against war that Raleigh had ever heard.

Harold R. Peat has come to be recognized as one of the most interesting lecturers on the chautauqua and lecture stage today. He has traveled and spoken in thirty countries. Other newspapers are loud in praise of his picturesque style and the fine humor that penetrates his lectures.

Lecture Heads Series
The lecture is the first in a series of interesting assemblies which are being arranged for the spring term by the registrar's office.

Dr. Alan Foster, author and lecturer, will be the assembly speaker on April 12. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins and Yale universities, and has an honorary degree from Brown.

World Debaters May Talk

Anderson Will Compete Friday

Training Completed by Oregon Swimmer

Johnny Anderson, flashy Oregon aquatic star, has nearly finished his intensive training in the east and will be in the best of shape to enter the preliminaries of the National Intercollegiate swimming meet in Philadelphia Friday night.

Johnny Anderson

Unless an unexpected change in the order of events is innovated before tomorrow night, Anderson will be entered in the 50-yard free-style and 150-yard back-stroke events.

Keen competition will, of course, feature in both of the events, but Anderson is given a little more of an edge in the back-stroke than in the sprint, due to his greater comparative ability in this type of locomotion.

Marriage Announced By Former Students

Miss Szuwa Leung and Mr. Hung Fai Chung, two former University of Oregon students who received degrees last June, and who were very well known on the campus as inseparable pals of diminutive size, but pleasing personalities, announced their approaching marriage in a letter from Hongkong received recently by Mrs. Charlotte Donnelly, director of student employment on the campus.

Accompanying the letter from the young people were two small, delicate, silken tapestries of exquisite Chinese workmanship, sent to Mrs. Donnelly as tokens of friendship.

One Tagging Suffices For Parkers, Asserts 'Dad' Emery, 'Guard'

"Dad" Emery, for seven years University night watchman, has a new job—and likes it. According to "Dad," few college men have to be "tagged" more than twice. No, his new duty isn't to amuse the youngsters with that age-old game we all know, but rather to put little cardboard slips on autos that are parked on Thirteenth street when they should be some place else.

University people have been splendid in their cooperation so far, and the number of tags is decreasing daily. Who knows, "Dad" Emery may soon be seeking a new job teaching students of other universities how to play tag as it is played at Oregon.

Medical School Receives Pledge

General Education Board Makes Payment

A certified check for $35,599.39, the second installment of the $130,000 gift to the University of Oregon medical school from the General Education Board, has just been received by L. H. Johnson, comptroller of the University.

The entire sum is to be used for research purposes and for the advancement of medical science at the medical school. Granting of this substantial sum by the General Education Board is held to be high recognition for the school, it is stated by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University.

The sum of $130,000 is stipulated for definite purposes. It will enable the school to expend $63,000 on equipment on the medical school, Doernbecher Memorial Hospital for Children, Multnomah County hospital and the Portland Free Dispensary; $57,000 for payment of salaries, particularly for research; $4,000 for library additions, and $6,000 for travel of full time professors.

In 1920 the board made an appropriation of $163,000, making a total to date of $293,000 from this source. Splendid cooperation and support accorded the medical school by the people of Oregon is given as the principle reason for the generous bequests of the board.

Washington And Idaho to Meet Oregon

Clark and Galey Speak Against Husky Men Tonight at 7:30

Davis and Taylor Journey To Meet Idaho and Montana April 2

The forensic title of the Pacific Northwest, for many years a matter of much controversy, will once more be at stake tonight when the pride of the University of Washington invades Eugene, an Oregon team goes to Moscow, and a Vandal delegation journeys to Seattle, all discussing the various aspects of the question.

Villard hall, the scene of hundreds of debates in the past half century, will be the grounds for the word battle between Clell Georgetta and Charles Strother, negative speakers for Washington, and John Galey and Paul Clark, who will represent Oregon in the denunciation of the present Pan-American policy.

Both Galey and Clark are newcomers in forensic circles on the campus and will participate in their first varsity debate tonight. Clark will endeavor to creditably uphold family traditions by following in the footsteps of his brother, Dudley. The Washington men are said to have had considerable experience and to be formidable debaters. They will be accompanied here by Frederick W. Orr, assistant debate coach at the University of Washington.

Mrs. Ruth Graham Case, debate coach at Albany College, and Dr. I. R. Fox of Eugene have been selected as judges for the debate here tonight. The third judge has not yet been chosen, but will be some Portland man. Elmer L. Shirrell, dean of men, will act as chairman.

Veterans Debate Idaho

At the same time that Oregon and Washington clash here, Roland Davis and Mark Taylor will face an affirmative Idaho team at Moscow. Both these men are veteran speakers, having participated in many forensic contests during the past several years. Taylor will endeavor to avenge a 2-1 defeat which he and Avery Thompson suffered here at the hands of visiting Idahoans in the triangular contest last year. Davis was a member of the Oregon team that was defeated by the University of Southern California here last spring. After their debate at Moscow, Taylor and Davis will continue their travels to Missoula, Montana, where they will take the negative of the Nicaragua question against the University of Montana April 2.

The Northwest Triangular debate was won by the University of Washington in 1927, with Idaho second and Oregon at the bottom of the conference. Two years ago Oregon won the contest, and the four debaters are out to duplicate their performance this year.

Second Barrage At Student Bankrolls Stated for April 11

When the University inconsiderately rolled the A. S. U. O. for $19.75 per capita last Monday its ammunition was by no means exhausted. On April 11 the attack on the student bankroll will be reopened with a barrage of laboratory, library, and non-resident fees. The season will last until April 21.

Those who are still stunned from the first blow may well heed this warning. They are admonished to recover their wits and start nursing their nickels for the happy times to come. If not paid by the twenty-first of April $3.00 will be the fine for the first day with an extra 25 cents thrown in for every day thereafter for one week only—and then—'So long, Charlie.'

This question has received a prominent position because in 1932 the Olympic meet will be held in Los Angeles.

Dr. Boynton To Write While on Year's Leave

A year's leave of absence has been granted by the board of regents to Dr. W. P. Boynton, who has been a member of the University of Oregon's physics department for 25 years.

The remainder of the summer will be spent working on a textbook on the theory of heat. This will be based on his lectures on thermodynamics and the kinetic theory of gases. Dr. Boynton will spend a month in bibliography work at Berkeley, and another in the redwood forest, thirty-five miles from Santa Cruz, where he will spend his time in writing and hiking.

Bill Hayward Plans Oregon Track Season

Relays With Beavers First on Webfoot Schedule

Actual Training Started To Develop Power of Cinder Team

With the track season but three weeks away, Bill Hayward, Oregon head coach, will start an intensive training program to condition the team for the first relay meet with the Aggies here, April 21.

Shuttle Race

A feature of the relay meet with O. S. C. will be the high hurdle shuttle race. From the onlookers point of view this race is one of the most spectacular events in track. The hurdles are placed directly in front of the grandstand, and the baton exchanged alternately at each end of the row of 10 hurdles. This will be the first time the race has been introduced on Hayward field, and if it proves successful it will probably become a regular event.

Two medley races, one for sprints and the other for distance, have been scheduled for the Aggie meet. Two men running 110 yards, one running 220 yards, and the fourth running 440 yards will compose the shorter course. The distance race will be made up of two men running the 220, and one each on the 440 and 880 yard runs. Five other relays ranging from the 440 yards to 4 miles will be run off.

Training Rules Stressed

Rigid rules of training were stressed by Hayward at a recent meeting of track men at McArthur court, and in order to make the Webfoots one of the strongest squads in the northwest strict observation was pledged. The hardest work of the season is the preliminary training. After the relay meet at Seattle, the team will be in mid-season condition and the work for the rest of the year will be merely to keep in form.

Competition for positions is keener this year than it has been for several seasons. Last year some of the Webfoot stars were handicapped in conference meet by the lack of competitive work in practice. This year, however, Hayward expects greater developments to come from the preliminary work.

Group Practice

Starting today the track candidates will work out in groups in order that each man will have the opportunity of special attention to his own event. Track is primarily an individual sport with each event independent of the other. Each racer must devote direct practice to his own event, and it is with this in mind that Hayward made the division.

Schedule

The following is a complete schedule of the Webfoots' track season: April 14, Inter-class Relays; April 21, Inter-Fraternity Track Meet; April 27, Relay Meet with O. S. C. at Eugene; April 28, Oregon State High School Relays; May 3, Frosh-Rock Relays at Corvallis; May 5, University of Washington Relays at Seattle; May 11, Oregon and Washington vs. Washington at Eugene; May 12, Oregon vs. Washington at Eugene; May 18, or 19, Oregon vs. W. S. C. at Pullman; May 25, Frosh-Rock Track Meet at Eugene; May 26, Oregon vs. O. S. C. at Corvallis; June 2, Northern Division P. C. C. meet at Missoula, Montana.
