Art Gallery To Be Feature at Reception

An "art gallery," in which guests will try to match the correct title with the correct "picture" in competition for a "surprising prize" will be a feature of the evening's entertainment at the reception to be given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Douglass by the young people of the Congregational Church for all Congregationalists on the campus. An old-fashioned Irish dance is among the other events planned by the committee. Students are asked to bring their fountain pens.

Those expecting to attend are asked to be at the Congregational church, Thirteenth and Ferry, at 7:30, where transportation will be provided to the Douglass home. All Congregational preference students and faculty members are warmly invited.

Conference

of Thursday carried a comment which must be given consideration. Its author must be enlightened. The Barometer says: "Last term the University of Oregon was loud in their praise (its praise would sound better) of the coming Olympic champion they had (it had) on the campus—Eddie Moeller. Moeller went to San Diego high school and just why he went to Oregon not every one was able to dope out. He had a prep school reputation in the weight events as good as Bud Houser ever had, and it is known that several California colleges were trying hard to land him. "That was the last we heard of Moeller. He went to Oregon. Now we just read about Moeller winning the discus for the Los Angeles Athletic club this week against California. What happened to Moeller?"

Since our Corvallis neighbors ended this in the interrogative, we guess we had better let them in on the inside. In the first place Moeller came to Oregon because his high school credits were good enough to allow admittance in his own state university. Secondly, he realized the worth of the University of Oregon and desired to place himself under such capable coaching as offered by the veteran Bill Hayward. Thirdly, family ties made it imperative that he be in Los Angeles at this time. Fourthly, the much-sought-after Mr. Moeller plans on returning to the University next fall. Fifthly, we'll bet our share of the recent rain fall that the Aggies would have been willing to trade one of their 300-a-year-egg-laying hens or a blue ribbon holstein for Mr. Moeller's services. Sure it isn't a case of "sour grapes?"

Weather Hurts Tennis Chances

Rain Will Make Team Slow Starter, Says Coach

Prospects for an early season winner in tennis are at the best only hopeful, according to Coach Edward Abercrombie. With the opening of the conference schedule only a week away, the Webfoot racket wielders have yet to enjoy more than a few hours' practice on the outdoor courts.

Workouts, for the most part, are confined to the indoor court at the Igloo, and the playing surface of wood and cement differs greatly, the players say. This will place them under a severe handicap when competing with opponents who have been playing out of doors all winter. "If we had not been able to use the indoor court, we could not possibly risk the trip," Abercrombie declared last night.

Reports from Berkeley and Palo Alto, where the Oregonians are scheduled to play next week-end, indicate that Stanford and California are both to be represented by strong teams. In Herrington, Wheatly, Thomas, and McElvenny, Stanford has a team that is expected to place high in the national intercollegiate meet this summer. California, though not so widely advertised, will furnish plenty of opposition for any college team.

Present indications seem to show that the Webfoot squad will be composed mostly of veterans. Henry Neer, says the coach, bids fair to retain his position as No. 1 man, while Claire Hartman, Richard Edge, and Howard Shaw seem to have a corner on the other three positions.

League To Elect Next Thursday

Sale of Grade Envelopes Brings in $37.50

According to a decision reached by the Women's Executive Council last night, the spring term mass meeting of the league for the nomination of officers will be held next Thursday, April 5, at 5 o'clock in Alumni hall. Special action was taken by the league this year to advance the date of the yearly nomination meeting a week in order that the retiring president and president-elect may attend the convention of Western Intercollegiate Association of Women Students which will be held in Seattle from April 17 to 21. The council decided at a previous meeting that its delegates this year would be these two members of the league.

Esther Hardy, president of the Woman's League, has appointed members of the nominating committee to be Gladys Calef, president of Mortar Board; Nellie Johns, presi-

African Jungle Gives Motive for New Dance

U. C. L. A., March 28.—P.I.P.—A new motive for a campus dance has been introduced by the College of Commerce of the University of California. It is known as the Congo Creep. The entire program is being carried out with decorations resembling an African jungle. It is also being whispered about that a new mode of dancing, a cross between the lobe of a giraffe and the sway of an angry lion will be introduced at this dance.

dent of W. A. A.; Pauline Stewart, retiring president of Y. W. C. A.; Edna Ellen Bell, president of Pan Hellenic; Esther Hardy, president of the league, and Dean Esterly as advisor.

A report of the grade envelope sale conducted by the league for the initial time at the close of winter term for the benefit of the new student infirmary showed that about 1500 of the envelopes were sold with the proceeds from the sale amounting to about $37.50. The envelopes will be sold again at the close of the spring term, at which time an increase in the number sold is expected.

The council also decided to discontinue the Dime Crawl for spring term. The crawls will be continued again next year, however.

Portland Trip Taken By Girls' Glee Club

The trip to Portland, taken by the Girls' Glee Club on Sunday, March 4, consisted of the broadcasting of their program over station KEX on Sunday, and a full concert given under the auspices of Unity Lodge, Mt. Hood Masonic Temple, on Monday night.

The Monday program was divided into three parts, the first in regular concert style, consisted in song groups by the entire chorus, featuring solos by Anna Kathryn Garrett, vocalist, and Doris Helen Patterson, harpist. A feature, based on the old songs, "When You Look In the Heart of a Rose," "A Garland of Old-fashioned Roses," and "An Old-fashioned Garden," was the second part. The remainder of the program was made up of novelty stunts. A quartet, composed of Anna Kathryn Garrett, Evelyn Dew, Nancy Thielson and Stella Fishburn, sang "Gray Days-Shadow March." Margaret Holbrook interpreted a scene from "The Mikado." The finale was a group of songs given by the entire chorus, with a trio, Evelyn Hollis, Janet Pearce and Louise Stork, featuring "Three Little Girls from School."

Eugene Carr, director of the Glee Club, plans to give the same program before the student body in the Women's building, April 4.
