

Frosh Baseball Schedule Altered

Leslie's Yearlings Slated For Six Games

Final arrangements of all freshman baseball games has been made. Changing of the formerly fixed schedule became necessary because of an error in the length demanded for the frosh card.

The complete list of games is as follows:

- April 28—Aggie rooks at Corvallis.
- May 3—Salem high at Eugene.
- May 4 and 5—Oregon Normal at Monmouth.
- May 9—Aggie rooks at Eugene.
- May 10—Aggie rooks at Eugene.
- May 18—Aggie rooks at Corvallis.

The frosh baseball players are receiving training these days in the art of hitting the ball, both literally and figuratively. Coach Leslie is not satisfied with the batting ability of his men and the result is intense activity on the part of the poor frosh.

"How to hit the ball in one swing," should be the title of an article written about the yearling baseball crew. With "Spike" in the box they vainly endeavor to connect with the horsehide. It's a crime the way that ball is punished! "Spike" plans to keep as many men on the squad as possible throughout the season. In this way, more men will gain experience and those who have possibilities of developing later will not be dropped from the team.

The frosh are getting in some fielding practice these days, but hardly enough to hurt them. This part of the training will come later.

The pitchers are still in the warming up stage. "Spike" is taking no chances on ruining possible good mound men by breaking them into hard work too soon.

Webfoot Swimmers To Vie at State Meet

According to Coach Ed Abererombie, the University of Oregon will enter five swimmers in the Oregon State aquatic swimming meet, to be held in the Multnomah Club pool next Saturday.

The quintet will include Johnny Anderson, sensational swim ace and who recently placed fourth in the 150-yard back stroke at the National Intercollegiate individual meet held at the University of Pennsylvania. The other four entrants will be Charles Silverman, 440-yard free style; Chester Floyd, 100 and 220-yard free style; John Creech, 220-yard free style, and Dick Near, diver.

Frosh-E. B. U. Debate Postponed for Week

The debate between Eugene Bible University and the Oregon frosh speakers, originally scheduled for last night, has been postponed until Wednesday evening, April 18, Coach J. K. Horner announced yesterday. Neil Taylor and Stanley Darling will debate against the Bible institution at that time.
