By BETTY SCHULTZE
 With the women of the University as hostesses for numerous high school guests and college alumnae from all over the state, one of the most socially prominent week-ends of the scholastic year has just been concluded, coming to a climax on Saturday with the annual April Frolic and the Men's Smoker.

April Frolic week-end this year was as successful as ever in the number of guests entertained and the events scheduled for their enjoyment. Spring dances, tea dances, and informals were given by the houses, with a variety of different schemes, centering around the spring motif, as the decorative basis.

The Frolic itself, staged Saturday evening, climaxed the week's program with home talent entertainment and a colorful array of costumes. The Men's Smoker entertained the male portion of the college that is annually excluded from this exclusively feminine evening.

Spring Dances Help Entertain Frolic Guests

The Alpha Xi Delta chapter house was transformed with palms and cleverly concealed blue and rose spot lights for their spring dance, Friday evening, April 13. Agnes Ferris was in charge of the decorations.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Beardsley, Mrs. Charles A. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Reynolds, and Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly.

Vari-colored hangings, odd cubic designs, and brightly hued squares and lines, carried out the modernistic motif of the Alpha Omega Pi dance, given Saturday afternoon, from two to five o'clock. Hand-painted programs continued with the modernistic scheme.

A novel feature of the refreshments consisted of punch served in huge steins. Feature dances were given by Edith Pearson and Jack Reynolds.

Patrons and patronesses were: Mrs. Lucy Abrams, Mrs. Arthur Miner, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Zane.

Alpha Lambda of Alpha Delta Pi entertained at an informal dance Friday evening at the chapter house in honor of their week-end guests. An oriental atmosphere prevailed, the dancing rooms being dimly lighted by numerous spotlights of all colors. At the far end of the dining room a large Buddha watched benignly over the guests. Clever blocked printed programs of oriental design were used.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair were: Mrs. A. T. Powell, Frank Powell, Capt. and Mrs. F. M. Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Clark.

Members of Gamma Phi Beta were hostesses at a breakfast dance Saturday from ten o'clock until one o'clock. The living and dining rooms of their chapter house were very beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Their patrons and patronesses were: Mrs. Josephine Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Earl, and Dean Virginia Judy Esterly. Miss Harriet Atchison had charge of the dance.

The upperclassmen of Gamma Zeta chapter of Sigma Nu entertained at a grille dance Friday evening.

Patrons and patronesses for their dance were: Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kerron, and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Oberthuer.

Alpha Phi chapter house was transformed into an artist's abode Saturday afternoon, when the members entertained at a tea dance in honor of their out-of-town guests. Artistic designs and pictures formed the decorations about the rooms. Mrs. O'Day was their only patroness.

A fireplace banked with apple blossoms, with spring blossoms and red tulips throughout the rooms decorated the Delta Delta Delta chapter house for the tea dance on Saturday afternoon. Small tables had centerpiece of flowers.

Green and yellow programs carried the names of the patronesses, Mrs. F. Carl, Mrs. W. O. Swan, Mrs. Jessie Singleton.

Calvin Horn, 227, Herbert Brooks, 26, Ferdinand Kruse, 26, and James Powers, 26, all members of Sigma Phi Epsilon, visited the local chapter over the week-end.

Members of Gamma Nu entertained at an afternoon dance Saturday from three to five o'clock. Mrs. A. T. Powell, Mrs. J. E. Goodfellow of Longview, Washington, Mrs. V. D. Scobert, and Mrs. Elizabeth Seacife were patronesses.

Over a hundred invitations were issued for the informal tea given at the Delta Gamma chapter house

Saturday afternoon. Daffodils and palms decorated the rooms, and bridge and dancing formed the afternoon's diversions.

Mrs. Catherine Yerex and Mrs. Etna Ransom were patronesses.

A "Movie Idea" dance was given by the underclassmen of Alpha Gamma Delta Friday evening. Their patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Nowland B. Zane and Mrs. Abbie Marsh.

Delta Zeta sorority was hostess at a tea dance in honor of their house guests Saturday, April 14. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Burden, Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins, and Mrs. Grace E. Russell served as patrons and patronesses during the afternoon.

Eta Alpha of Chi Omega entertained at an informal grille dance Friday evening, April 13. Spring blossoms carried out the decorative scheme, and during the evening a feature dance was given by Camille Burton. Dorothy Davis was chairman for the affair.

Patronesses were Mrs. Etna Ransom and Mrs. George Reed.

Dr. Herbert F. Parzen, Portland rabbi, was a week-end guest of the Delta Epsilon fraternity.

Kappa Alpha Theta entertained their April Frolic guests at an informal tea dance Saturday afternoon, using spring flowers in decoration.

Mrs. Arnold Bennett Hall, Mrs. C. B. Rorer, Mrs. George Reed, and Miss Hazel Prutsman were patronesses.

In honor of the Eugene mothers, members of the Girls' Oregon club gave an informal tea at their home Saturday afternoon. Lilacs formed the centerpiece for the tea table. Miss Margaret Daigh poured.

Musical entertainment was furnished during the afternoon by Juanita Wolf, Naomi Grant and Lois Tuttle. Julia Brauninger gave a skit entitled, "Paderwiski Plays the Organ."

Dean Virginia Judy Esterly, Esther Hardy, and Edith Dodge left Monday afternoon at four o'clock for Seattle, Washington, to attend the National Women's League convention. They will be gone for a week or more.

Portland Architect Lends Group of Paintings To Arts School

When the little gallery at the arts building opens today, two exhibits will be on display, one, a group of paintings lent to the school of architecture and allied arts by Wm. G. Purcell, Portland architect, and the other, a group of architectural studies by Bernard Maybeck, San Francisco architect.

The showing of paintings includes work by Charles S. Chapman, New York illustrator and artist, whose illustrations have appeared in the Country Gentleman, Ladies' Home Journal, and Woman's Home Companion. Paintings by Mr. Chapman have been placed in the Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts, New York.

A group of small oil paintings of the northern lakes, by Frederic D. Calhoun, Minneapolis, Minnesota, artist, appear, and also, paintings by Mr. Rubins of the firm of John S. Bradstreet of Minneapolis. Mr. Rubins, explained John A. Walquist, member of the exhibition committee, is professionally an interior decorator, and paints as a pastime. The lakes and woods of Minnesota are the inspiration for his pictures, which are mainly in oil. In addition, a few studies by other artists may be seen.

Studies for the Phoebe Hearst memorial building at Berkeley, California, comprise the main subject-matter for the collection of Mr. Maybeck's work. The drawings range from chalk and pastel drawings done in the modern manner, which give the preliminary atmosphere effect, to minute and finished renderings. Mr. Maybeck was architect for the San Francisco exposition in 1915, and some of his drawings for the fine arts palace of the exposition are included in this group. Chief among these are pencil drawings and photographs of studies of models of the building.

The exhibit, Mr. Walquist announced, will remain in the gallery for the remainder of the week, and perhaps longer.

Work Begins on Play For Drama Contest To Be Held May 3, 4

Without so much as declaring a momentary vacation after repertoire week, Miss Wilbur and students of the drama department have turned their attention to Sir James Barrie's play, "Shall We Join the Ladies?" The one act play will be produced the afternoon of May 4 in honor of the high school delegates who will be here for the drama tournament.

The annual drama tournament will be held May 3 and 4 with high schools representing various parts of the state entered. The unfinished manuscript, written by Barrie, has been chosen by the Guild theatre players to entertain the guests. The play will follow a luncheon given for the high school students.

The cast will be composed by the following: Sam Smith, played by Jack Waldron; Sir Joseph Wrathie, Milton George; Lady Wrathie, Edna Assenheimer; Mr. Preen, Arthur Anderson; Mrs. Preen, Dorals May; Captain Jennings, Lawrence Shaw; Lady Jane Wray, Grace Gardner; Mr. Vaile, Glenn Potts; Miss Vaile, Luella Andre; Mr. Gourlay, Cecil Matson; Mrs. Bland, Eunice Payne; Miss Isit, Thelma Parks; Mrs. Castro, Ailee Gorman; Maid, Joy Ingalls. Appointment of a butler will be made soon.

The play opens with thirteen guests seated at dinner after having spent a week end as guests of Sam Smith. The one-act play invites everyone to supply the proper ending, but few have ever attempted the undertaking.

Koehl and Baron von Huenefeld had remained with the Bremen on Greenly Island today, when their companion, Major James Fitzmaurice, started for Quebec with Duke Schiller in a plane sent from Murray Bay, Quebec.

Koehl's message gave no details of the proposed continuance of the flight, merely saying he expected to get away Wednesday.

Duke Schiller, famous pilot, flying in behalf of the North American Newspaper Alliance, took Fitzmaurice from Greenly Island at 10 a. m. today.

Sophomore Manager Candidates Are Urged To Report for Jobs

A chance is offered to at least fifty sophomore men students to engage in active managerial work in the spring activities; tennis, baseball, and track. In the past, mass meetings have been held to choose the men for the different positions, but this proved unsuccessful due to the inability of the candidates to report at designated times. A new system is to be used this season, a system whereby all men who are interested in working for a chance at a senior managership and a letter are asked to report personally to the present manager of the sport which appeals to them the most.

The present managers to whom candidates are asked to report are: tennis, Wade Newbegin, Phi Kappa Psi; baseball, Gordon Stearns, Phi Delta Theta; track, Carol Williams, Alpha Beta Chi.

Frank German, president of the Managers' association, has extended a special invitation for independent men to report for this work.
