

Follies Holds First Rehearsal In Costumes

New Talent Introduced; Scenery Worth $4000 Is Mason's Estimate

By W. H.

Costumes of every size and description were on display at a full dress rehearsal of the Dream Follies last night at the Woman's building. Louise Clark, who is in charge of costumes, arranged to have outfits enough to rig out the entire cast and the show went off just as it will be presented at the Heilig theatre Saturday, sans the decorations.

A number of new highlights showed up among the singers last night. Gretchen Kier sang "Garden of My Dreams" which undoubtedly have a brilliant future with the Follies. A brightly colored rainbow scene will be the setting for this song. Nancy Thielsen, who has already established herself in the good graces of the campus, will sing "Shadows in the Moonlight" in another scene of the show.

Allen Will Sing Kenny Allen will need no introduction. His voice has been his fortune ever since he enrolled in the University and if there exists a student on the campus who has not heard him sing, he should change his Alma Mater to the Salem Deaf school. He will be featured individually and with the Kilgore Knight's trio, which is also a part of the show.

Ed Fisher is another whose vocal talents are utilized in the presentation. Ed will also be seen as the fantastic "Maker of Dreams," around which the theme of the show is woven. Doris Helen Patterson, Eugene girl who has been one of the features of the University orchestra for several years, will play a harp solo.

Nile Will Be Scene One of the scenes will show the ancient and romantic Nile river in all its picturesque glory. Dewey Baker and Don Ostrander occupy the spotlight here. Dewey as Cleopatra will present an Egyptian dance and Don as Mark Anthony will sing a special song adapted to this setting.

Still continuing in tropical climates, we find ourselves transferred to the jungles. Faye Fishel and Jack Reynolds will be seen in an adagio dance. There is nothing amateurish about this dance, which is presented in graceful and experienced fashion. Carl Forstman, Rodney Banks and members of the girls' choruses, are included in this scene.

All Scenery Obtained Nothing has been spared by George Mason and his staff to provide realistic and appropriate scenery for more than twenty scenes of the show. George has been assisted by Walt Crane, scenic artist; Justin McDonald, electrician; Perry Douglas, properties; De Veryl Hempy, stage manager; Hal Anderson, James Swindell and Herb King, stage hands. After weeks of hard work this group has completed the scenery which is valued at $1000. The magic (Continued on page three)

Trans-Atlantic Fliers Will Leave Stranded Bremen On Island

(By United Press)

MONTREAL, April 25.—Abandoning the Junkers plane which brought them through storm and peril from Ireland to the ice-bound Labrador coast, the German-Irish trans-Atlantic fliers are coming on to civilization in the Ford tri-motored plane which went to their relief on little Greenly island.

Latest word direct from Baron Huenefeld said the Bremen, although repaired, would be left behind while he and Captain Koehl and Major Fitzmaurice flew southward with Bernt B. Quebec, Montreal, and other Canadian cities which the probable route of the awaited word of the Greenly island, sorrowful for the death of Floyd Bennett, who died that the latest co the Atlantic might have opportunity to continue their own machine.

Bennett Dies On Mercy Mission

Serum Fails to Revive Stricken Aviator

QUEBEC, Que., April 25.—(UP)—Floyd Bennett, American aviator, whose name for so long has been associated with big achievements in the conquest of the air, gave up his life today in the cause for which he had fought.

The distinguished pilot, who flew with Commander Byrd on the aerial discovery of the North Pole, succumbed in Jeffrey Hale hospital to pneumonia, contracted as he was hurrying to the aid of fellow airmen in distress.

The fraternity of the air, gathering in the frozen north to aid and honor the newcomers who had conquered the Atlantic in westward flight, lost an esteemed comrade. The growing list of martyrs in the progress of aviation gained a new name.

Floyd Bennett died heroically as surely as though he had plunged to swift and painless death in full flight. He left a sick bed last Friday to take a plane to Greenly Island where Major Fitzmaurice and his German comrades waited impatiently for assistance.

Twenty-four hours later, Bennett was desperately ill with pneumonia. He died at 10:45 a. m. today.

Byrd Honors Bennett

QUEBEC, Que., April 25.—(UP)—The Byrd expedition to the South Pole will be renamed the Floyd Bennett Expedition, Commander Richard Byrd announced here tonight.

Bennett was to have been second in command to Myrd on the South Pole trip. Byrd said that Bennett's death would not change his plans for the expedition.

Delta Gammas to Eat At Breakfast Counter

A lunch counter of the customary downtown type will be a novel feature of the new Delta Gamma sorority house, ground for which is soon to be broken. The counter will be situated next to the kitchen, and will be equipped with stools where fair co-eds will receive their breakfasts daily.

Sorority girls soil more linen at breakfast, because they are in a hurry, than at any other times, it is claimed. The Delta Gamma lunch counter will save laundry bills.

Wilkie Collins to Sail From England May 1

Wilkie Collins, assistant professor in English at the Portland extension center, who has been in Europe for the last four months, will sail for the United States May 1, according to word received by S. Stephenson Smith, instructor in the English department. Mr. Smith has taken charge of Mr. Collins' classes during his absence.

Physical Ability Test Scheduled for May 28

The next physical ability test will be held on May 28, Henry Gower, student assistant, who will be in charge of the event, stated yesterday. It will be open to any one taking physical education. Students who have already passed the test may have their grades raised by making higher scores.

Relay Races Lure Oregon High Schools

Twenty-eight Entries Listed for Annual Carnival

Unusual Interest Aroused Among State Preps For Track Event

By JOE PIGNEY

Twenty-eight high schools throughout the state have sent in entry lists to the second annual interscholastic relay carnival to be held on Hayward field next Saturday at 1:30, according to Virgil D. Earl, director of athletics, who is supervising the meet. More entrants are expected within the next two days.

Jefferson high school of Portland won the meet last year, but reports from Portland state that the Democrats are not so formidable this year. All eight of the Portland schools are bringing teams to Eugene for the relays, and pre-season records indicate that these teams will carry back a number of the trophies.

Interscholastic track has been greatly stimulated during the last year by the Oregon relay meet, and it is the opinion of high school coaches that their teams have shown more desire for development and improvement because of the possible chance of attending the relays. For several years previous interscholastic track activities had been on a woeful decline, but now they are on the upward trend again, and in the opinion of sport authorities will be back on a superior basis in a few years.

Two new events, one individual and one for the team, have been added to the meet this year. The 120-yard shuttle low hurdles race is one that is expected to furnish an extra touch of excitement to the races. The shot put has been added to complete a list of five individual events.

Twelve Cups Ready

Trophies will be presented to the schools who send winning teams to the relays. Twelve trophies and cups have been donated by Eugene and Portland business concerns as a stimulant to schools entering the meet.

The trophy for the quarter-mile relay is donated by KORE, Eugene broadcasting station. This race was won last year by Jefferson high school of Portland with a team composed of Woods, Brennan, Marrs, and Lowry. None of these men are re-entering this year. Lowry is running for the Oregon freshman squad.

Laraway Presents Prize

Seth Laraway, Eugene jeweler, has presented the prize for the team winning the two mile relay. Stone, Schappert, Perkins, and Carlson, Washington high, Portland, captured this event in 1927 with a record time of 8:38.4.

The mile relay trophy is given by the Eugene hotel management. Benson Tech of Portland placed first in this race last year with a time of 3:39.8. The cup for the sprint medley relay is presented by McMorran and Washburne, Eugene department store. The winner of this race last year was Jefferson high.

Graham Gives Cup

Shops, men's furnishings in Eugene, are donating the trophy for the spring medley. The team from Myrtle Point broke the tape first in 1927. David Graham, proprietor of the Graham Shoe company, Eugene, has donated the prize for the shuttle relay.

Donators of trophies in other events are R. A. Babb, Eugene, pole vault; Raul Green, Eugene, 100-yard dash; Wade's, Eugene, high jump; J. C. Brill, shot put, and Portland hotel, 880-yard relay.

The following is a complete list of the high school teams which have entered the meet so far: Astoria, Bay City, Beaverton, Bend, Benson of Portland, Chiloquin, Commerce of Portland, Eugene, Franklin of Portland, Gold Hill, Grant of Portland, Hill Military Academy of Portland, Hood River, Jefferson of Portland, Lincoln of Portland, Milwaukie, Myrtle Point, North Bend, Oregon City, Rogue River, Roosevelt of Portland, Salem, Silverton, Vancouver, Washington of Portland, and West Linn.

Pony Chorus Featuring In Dream Follies

Freshmen Play Ashland at 3:30

Yearling Baseball Nine to Face Crucial Test

The Oregon frosh baseball team will play its first game of the season this afternoon at 3:30 against Ashland normal school. The game is the first University tilt played on the varsity baseball diamond this year.

The game will be in the nature of a test for the yearling ball players. Nothing much is known of the Ashland players beside the fact that this is only their second year of competition since the school at Ashland has been reopened.

Due to better weather in southern Oregon the normallers have had more time to practice than the frosh. This may show in the game. The Ashland team has a nucleus of several veterans from last year and might hand the froshes a beating.

Fifteen suits were given out at last night's practice session. Spike Leslie plans to use all of the men who have been showing any promise, however. Several men who may break into the regular lineup later will be on the bench in this afternoon's tilt.

Cadet Officers Form National L Company

Installation of the active members of the Officers' club of the R. O. T. C. unit into the national military honorary, Seaboard and Blade, was held Saturday afternoon in the Craftsman's club rooms.

The fifteen present members of the Officers' club were taken into membership and Lieutenant George F. Herbert and Captain Clarence Bragg were elected to associate membership. Four members of the Oregon State chapter of Seaboard and Blade were present to assist with the installation. Mayor O. H. Schrader of Seattle and C. A. Clark of Eugene were also present.

The Oregon chapter is to be known now as Company L of the Sixth regiment of Seaboard and Blade. It is the seventy-first to be installed.

Sixty Fail to Pay Fees; April 28 Last Chance

Sixty students have not yet paid their fees, E. P. Lyon, cashier, announced yesterday. It is possible to pay the fees with a late payment penalty until Saturday noon of this week. After that time those who still have not paid will be automatically dropped from the University and receive grades of F in all their courses. Withdrawal is the alternative of payment.

Athletic Schedule for Week-end

Thursday: Baseball—Ashland Normal vs. Oregon Frosh, 3:30 p. m. Friday: Track—O. S. C. vs. Oregon (relays), 2:00 p. m. Baseball—Willamette vs. Oregon Varsity, 3:30 p. m. Saturday: Baseball—Willamette vs. Oregon Varsity, 9:30 a. m. Track—Oregon High School Relay Meet, 2:00 p. m.

Co-eds Offered Jobs As Counsellors for Girls' Summer Camp

Four weeks spent in riding, hiking, swimming, and other sports in a summer camp on the Molalla river, is the opportunity offered to university girls interested in taking positions as counsellors at a girls' camp this summer. Miss Mary Ferguson, director of the girl scout organization in Portland, is on the campus today, and will make appointments with girls who wish to try out.

The Wildwood girl scout camp is about 25 miles from Portland on the Molalla river, near Canby. The camp begins the last of June and lasts four weeks. Girls adept in crafts, athletics and dramatics are especially wanted. No salary will be paid, but the room, board, and camp tuition is given.

Appointments with Miss Ferguson may be made by calling the Dean of Women's office.

Beta Gamma Sigma Elects Four Members

Beta Gamma Sigma, national honorary scholastic business administration fraternity for men, has elected to membership Francis Coad, J. Fred Johnson, Herbert Lasselle, and Wade Newbegin.

The students represent scholastically upperclass students in the department, according to Ronald Robnett, senior and president of the organization.

Membership in Beta Gamma Sigma is limited to those with a high test scholastic average in the department. They must be seniors and third term juniors.

The fraternity extends its functions into several activities, said Mr. Robnett. Each year the organization honors the freshman man making the highest grade average in the department by engraving his name on a plaque which hangs in the B. A. building. The organization also takes an active part in the Business Opportunity day sponsored on the campus.

The officers of the group are: President, Ronald Robnett; vice-president, Claude Hadley; secretary-treasurer, Fred Niemi. There are seven active members in the group besides the faculty members, according to Mr. Robnett.

Beta Gamma Sigma was organized on the campus in 1921.

Faculty members of the order are F. E. Wolts, E. C. Robbins, A. B. Stillman, C. L. Kelly and J. A. Johnston.

O. J. Lee, Astronomer, Lectures at Villard

"Night and the Stars are Shining" was the subject of the lecture of Oliver J. Lee, of the Yerkes Observatory in California, which was held in Villard hall at eight o'clock last night. The address was given under the auspices of the University of Oregon lecture committee.

Alphi Phi Heads List for Grades

Phi Sigma Kappa Leads Men's Houses

Two presidential candidates appeared last night. Les Johnson came forth with his announcement and was closely followed with a notice that Joe McKeown would run in opposition to him. With the presidential candidates out in the open, two vice-presidential seekers announced their candidacies. Art Anderson was the first one and Bob Hynd followed him into the ring.

The first candidate for the secretaryship came out yesterday in the person of Helen Webster. Several candidates for student council positions took the opportunity to make their announcements yesterday.

This morning at the regular 11 o'clock assembly, nominations will be made from the floor and nomination speeches will be made for the various candidates. The proposed changes in the A. S. U. O. constitution and by-laws will be read to the students.

New Candidates

Following are the qualifications of the candidates who made their announcements last night: Les Johnson has been an active member of his class. During his (Continued on page three)

Contrasts and Marked Phrasing Chief Merits of Recital Soloists

By NAOMI M. GRANT

Careful phrasing and effective contrasts were pleasing features of the recital given last evening by Arthur Hicks, pianist, and Richard Adam, tenor.

Strongly marked and contrasting phrases of the introductions to the Mozart "Fantasia," the Chopin "Etude," and the Rachmaninoff "Serenade" gave an individuality to the solos of Mr. Hicks and won the close attention of the audience. Clarity of the melody gave a charm to Mozart's simplicity of style. The opening theme in faster tempo, ushered in by bass octaves, was characterized by considerable brilliance and effective accelerandos.

carried by right hand chords the tones achieved a velvet quality. The mordendo of the finale was one of the most meritorious parts of the program.

The final number of the group, the Chopin "Etude," after a deliberate introduction, broke into a brilliant passage with a suddenness that surprised the audience. The bass chords, as played by Mr. Hicks, produced a fateful effect in the midst of the right hand filigree.

The abandon of the opening, a certain tantalizing freedom carried throughout, and the delicacy of the ending made the Paul Juon "Humoresque" of Mr. Hicks' final group one of the most enthusiastically received. The greatest delicacy was shown in the prevailing calm, and the sweetly moderated dynamics of Debussy's "La Fille Aux Cheveux de Lin," while the octave progression and the final glissando of perpetual motion were the apex of technical perfection.
