

Frosh-Rook Tilt Tomorrow

Bloom and Sussman Are Yearling Batteries; Rooks Good

The O. S. C. rook baseball team comes to Eugene tomorrow afternoon for the first of a four-game series with the Oregon frosh. The tilt was to have been the second of the four but one scheduled a week ago was postponed.

The rooks are bringing a strong team to Eugene. They have won every game so far this year and most of them by large scores. They defeated Salem high school 22-0, while the best the frosh could do against the preppers was 16-7.

Bloom, speed artist, is slated to pitch the game tomorrow. If he weakens, Arnett, a portsider, or Chappel, will face the rook batters. Sussman will catch Bloom's throws. Park may receive part of the game, however.

Koke Smith may start at first in place of Olinger. Spith is gaining experience at the first sack and Olinger is a valuable man in the field. Both are left handed batters and have good averages for the games played so far.

Hilgers at Second

"Goliath" Al Hilgers gets first call at second base. He has started every game this season. Shortstop's position will have "Frannie" Andrews holding it down. A new man at short is a possibility as a result of the announcement that Guthrie, hitherto ineligible, will be able to play after this week. His addition will considerably strengthen the infield.

At third Blackburn has been showing better than he did earlier in the season and he will in all probability start tomorrow's game. Hollowell may get the call, however. He is a little better infielder than Blackburn but not so good with the bat. Olinger, Barnes and Hande are the heavy hitting trio who occupy the outfield. These boys should make it hot enough for the rooks.

Games All with Rooks

The rook series fills up the remainder of the frosh schedule and will keep them fairly busy for the next two weeks. The game which was postponed will be played the fifteenth or sixteenth of this month in Corvallis, according to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager. The third tilt comes on the eighteenth in Eugene, and the fourth on the nineteenth in the state college town.

The frosh returned Saturday night from a two-day jaunt to Monmouth, where they met the Oregon Normal school nine twice. They were accompanied by Spike Leslie, coach, and Austin Shepherd, manager.

The first game, played Friday, went to the Monmouth team by a 5-3 count. The frosh hit oftener but failed to bunch their bingles. Bloom and Sussman were the batteries for this game.

On Saturday the frosh woke up and drubbed the normal team eleven to nothing. Arnett, lanky portsider, pitched wonderful ball throughout the game, allowing but two hits, those in one inning, the seventh. He has nice control and a tantalizing slow curve. Park caught for Arnett.

Sophomore Girls Win First Hockey Contest

The sophomore girls' hockey team won the first intramural games of the season when they defeated the freshman team in a fast game last Friday by a score of 4-2.

The hockey schedule for the remainder of the games is as follows: Freshman-senior, May 9 and May 17.

Freshman-sophomore, May 21. Sophomore-senior, May 15 and May 25.

Sophomore-junior, May 14 and May 25.

Junior-senior, May 22.

Tennis

A few campus fans is concerning future tennis prospects. They will not argue that Oregon has not a strong tennis team this year. But they ask about the future. Tennis has been on the upward grade since Coach Ed Abererombie became coach. The summer of 1926 saw Roy Okerberg and Harry Coffin, Webfoot tennis stars, tour the middle west and then enter the National Intercollegiate held in the east. They made a creditable showing on the tour and at the tournament.

This year, Oregon chances to win the northwest championship are good. Next year varsity ranks will be ably supplied by three of the greatest tennis players to ever matriculate to the University of Oregon, Bradshaw Harrison, Sherman Lockwood and Stanley Almqvist.

All hold championships on the Pacific slope. Bradshaw Harrison, from San Bruno, California, won the Oregon state singles championship last summer in Portland when he defeated the one-armed Johnny Rizzo, another "native son." Harrison and Lockwood paired together at the same tournament to take the Oregon doubles championship. Lockwood and Almqvist comprise the 1928 yearling tennis team which defeated the Husky babes last Saturday.

Today the Order of the "O" meets to decide upon the question of making tennis a major sport and golf a minor. This body will probably recommend both suggestions. Tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock, the retiring student and executive council hold their last meeting. No more noble piece of legislation could be made by this body than to majorize tennis and minorize golf.

Golf is out of the swaddling clothes stage and is recognized by all schools on the coast except Oregon as a minor sport. At the University of Southern California they have gone even so far as to make it a major sport event. Interest in golf should be given this added impetus by recognizing it as a minor sport.

Many Learn How to Swim

Women Experts Conduct Classes in Sport 'Swim-Week'

All-Swim Week ended May 5 at the pool in the women's building. During the week the people of Eugene were invited to attend swimming classes especially organized for them. The greatest number of the classes were for beginners. Classes were held every day for children of grammar school age, high school age and adults.

The following groups were included: Third and fourth grades at 3:30 taught by Eleanor Maryin, Nellie Jones and Naomi Moshberger; fifth and sixth grades at 4 o'clock, instructed by Beth Ager and Leone swengel, who were assisted by Cornelia Meek; seventh and eighth grades at 4:30, taught by Helen Munnaw and Eleanor Cobb; high school students at 5 o'clock, directed by Virginia Lounsbury and Ione Garbe; and an advanced class for high school students at 5:30, under supervision of Eleanor Cobb and Marjory Landru.

Adults Instructed

The three classes for adults at 10 o'clock were conducted by Margery Herton, assisted by Evelyn Anderson. There were also three evening classes for adults, two of which were held at the pool in the women's building and one in the Y. M. C. A. pool. The evening classes at the women's building were instructed by Lela Horton, Anona Hildenbrand, Pauline Kidwell and Grace Caldwell. The class at the "Y" pool was taught by Betty Summers and Hazel Kirk.

There were from thirty to fifty people enrolled in each class. Much credit for the success of the week goes to the girls who taught classes for they achieved real results as was evidenced by the tests given at the end of the week. Apparel for the week was rented from the men's physical education department.

Skilled Swimmers Perform

As a climax to the swim week, a demonstration was given Friday night by skilled performers of both men and woman's departments. The girls who took part were: Virginia Lounsbury, Helen Munnaw, Alice Hesler, Margaret Cummings, Emma Cobb, Pauline Kidwell and Eunice Daniels.

Saturday afternoon a "get-together" swim was held at the tank in the woman's building to which all girls of high school age were invited. The program contained competitive events, water sports of all kinds and a few feature performances.

Library Desk Has New List of Foreign Fiction

A new list of foreign fiction has been compiled by Helen E. Haines for the California Library association, and a few of these lists may be obtained at the circulation desk of the library.

"Such books as these evoke the true movement and color, richness and depth of the world's life," says Miss Haines.

"See America First" is a good motto but on the drizzly days when the traveler is compelled to stay before the fireplace, it is possible for him to visit any country in the world, not by wading through a geographical report, but by means of the world's most interesting fiction.

University Dads Meet To Discuss Problems

Problems that come up between students and their families were discussed at a breakfast meeting Sunday, May 7, at the Multnomah hotel by the executive committee of the University of Oregon "Dads," a state-wide organization of fathers of students.

President Arnold Bennett Hall gave his viewpoint on various matters involving student welfare. He assured the committee of his earnest cooperation and expressed gratification over the purposes of the organization.

Bruce Dennis of Klamath Falls, president of the organization, presided. Several matters were considered by the committee, the nature of which will be announced later.

Members of the committee will go to Eugene on May 24 to spend the day at the University in inspecting the buildings, familiarizing themselves with the work of the different departments. The next meeting will be at Crater Lake Lodge, July 7, as guests of Richard W. Price, manager of the lodge.

Those attending the breakfast were: Dr. Hall, Bruce Dennis, C. D. Rorer, of Eugene; A. W. Norblad, Astoria; C. C. Chapman, R. W. Price, Frank E. Andrews, John O. Stevens, and Miss Marian Phy, secretary to President Hall.

Washington May Have Junior College System

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, May 7—(P.L.P.)—Probable institution within the University of Washington of a "University College" from which all lower division students must graduate before entering upper division courses or professional schools, was announced Wednesday by President

Lyle M. Spencer, who has just returned from a tour of the country studying educational problems and interviewing prominent educators.

The quality of work which was done by the student in the "University College" would determine whether he would be allowed to enter the higher schools. Dr. Spencer hopes that his plan will be realized within two years.
